DELAY IN APPEAL PAPERS SUSPENDS COURT CLERK

LOS ANGELES, April 12 (A.P.)—Arthur W. Moore, deputy county clerk, began a 30-day suspension without pay yesterday as an aftermath of the execution of Rush Griffin, confessed negro slayer, hanged in San Quentin prison last Friday while an appeal in his case still was pending in the Supreme Court.

County clerk L. L. Lampton said he held Moore partially responsible for delay in transferring the negro's appeal papers to the clerk of the Supreme Court until after the negro was hanged. Their fyling would have stayed the execution.

A Thought for Today

"In that same hour said Jesus to the multitudes, Are ye come out as against a thief with swords and staves for to take me? I sat daily with you teaching in the temple, and ye laid no hold on me."
—St. Matthew, 26:55.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

WHY SHOULD WE CHANGE?

My friend and I are different in various ways.

He is more volatile, more impetuous than I. I think he has more courage, more confidence; at least, he is more reckless. It is possible that he cares less about the appearances of things than I do. He speaks his mind to individuals more bluntly, minds their disapproval less.

Our backgrounds differ, too. He was a child in the city of New York; I grew in a little western town. We went to very different schools. We did not know each other until we were both well into manhood; and he is some years old....And though we are similar in some ways, we are more unlike than like.

We argue.

We cannot avoid that. It could not be otherwise since he is he and I am I. Our minds do not touch life identically or even approximately. He is one chemical and I am another, and we cannot possibly react identically. I could not possibly live his life, nor he mine. I would be unhappy trying to live as he does; and he would be miserable if he tried my work.

So there are times when we stand on opposing sides of the fence and discuss our belief at length and in detail. But never come together in agreement. Because he is he and I am I we are forever fixed in disagreement on certain faiths and convictions.

But I like to remember that we have never quarreled over our beliefs. I think he enourns a little over me; I am puzzled about him. But if I had the despotic power to change my friend and make him identical with me, I would not lift my little finger to use that power. And I believe he feels the same about me. I respect him, and he has that same respect for me. Of that I am sure.

We are friends, not opponents. We are not bound to agree, we are bound only to each other, and perhaps our friendship is in our difference and not in our likeness. Why should we change?

One Minute Pulpit

Beloved, follow not that which is evil, but that which is good. He that doeth good is of God; but he that doeth evil hath not seen God. —John 3:11.

LITTLE CURRENT, ONTARIO

Situated on the most northerly tip of Manitoulin Island, said to be the world's largest island in fresh water, Little Current is very conveniently placed, in that it is only a few hundred feet from the mainland.

After the surrender of Manitoulin Island in 1862 by the Ojibways and the Ottawas, the island was laid out in townships by the government and settlement began.

Long before, the Indians, who had used the site of Little Current for a trading centre, had named the place We-be-jo-ong, the translation of which is "the place where the water is running." When the white man began colonizing he renamed it Shaftesbury; but succeeding settlers reverted to the literal translation of the Indian name.

MILLBROOK

TEMPERANCE TALK IS GIVEN W.M.S.

St. Andrew's W.M.S., Millbrook, Meets in the Church.

MILLBROOK, April 12 (Examiner Correspondence) — The Easter responsive service used at the monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Church, held at the church on Wednesday at 3 p.m., took up the time allotted to the worship period most appropriately, the president, Mrs. A. L. Sisco, Mrs. G. Fallis and others assisting in the task of leading in the readings and prayers.

Mrs. Sisco gave a talk on temperance, emphasizing especially the necessity of every W.M.S. member being well informed on the subject, ready to talk intelligently on, or work actively for, the abolition of the liquor evil. The talk on peace was given by Mrs. Eric Hunter, whose theme was "European Madness," and the study period from the book, "Building the Indian Church" was in charge of Miss Martha Lunn who spoke on features of the educational activities. Mrs. L. H. Rea closed this section with prayer for the women and children of India.

Mrs. Sisco announced that it had been found impossible to secure Mrs. Langley, returned missionary, for the Easter thankoffering service, which will be the Sunday following Easter Sunday, with the pastor, Rev. A. L. Sisco, giving the address. The Mission Circle and Mission Band will join with the Auxiliary in attending at 10.30 a.m., all sitting in a body in the centre front pews.

The annual quilting will be in May, with Mrs. Fallis, Supply Secretary, in charge and five quilts to be completed; three of these are privately owned, the Auxiliary to be paid for their quilting, and the other two are for the annual bale. All members are urged to help with this meeting, at which the Mission Band will serve tea for a nominal charge. A talent table will be a feature.

An Easter suggestion for special prayer for the extension of the Kingdom was given by the president, and the meeting closed with the benediction in unison. A social hour was enjoyed at the close with the committee serving candy.

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

BRITAIN HELPED INTER-COLONIAL

On this date (April 12) in 1867 the British House of Commons passed a bill authorising the Commissioners of the Treasury to guarantee a loan of £3,000,000 to aid in the construction of a railway from Halifax to Quebec, which became the Intercolonial. It was a condition of confederation that such a railway should be built, it was no new idea. In fact, it had been advocated as far back as 1850 by Joseph Howe. The first sod of what ultimately became the Intercolonial was turned at Staint John, September 14, 1853, and on June 13, 1854, a similar ceremony took place at Halifax. In 1863 the government of the Province of Canada (as Lower and Upper Canada had become) asked for the appointment of three engineers to be selected one by the Imperial government, one by Canada and one by the Maritime provinces to survey a route. Curiously enough they all picked the same man, Sandford Fleming, so that it was a one man, not a three man, commission. Mr. Fleming began work a Rivere due Loup in March 1864, but when confederation came in 1867 the work was turned over to the Dominion. There was a long flight over the route through New Brunswick finally the northern route won out and construction proceeded. Trains were run by contractors as the sections were completed, but it was not until July 1, 1876, that the whole line was opened and trains started from Halifax to Quebec to make real the band of iron which had began to bind Canada. Since then the Intercolonial has cost a lot of money but its services to Canada cannot be measured in money alone. It was as much a unifier as was the C.P.R. later on. It may be worth noting that the Prince Edward Island Railway was completed in May, 1875, although the Island only joined the Dominion in 1873.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

By H. W. L. MAHOOD

The following article was written by the late Rev. Dr. MaHood a few hours before he was stricken. Dr. MaHood conducted this column for the past 18 months and has dealt with foreign affairs in a most able and scholarly fashion.—(Editor).

THE NATIONS OF THE WORLD

Easter Day In All Nations

No question is settled until the heart of it has been explored. Many knotty issues are before the thinkers of the nations unsolved. Many of them are of international concern. These are the most perplexing. We have come to the time of the year when in all nations Easter observation will be given a central place in the worship of the Christian churches. The world over, many devoted Christians are asking, "What is the heart, or core of the Gospel?" Three events in the career of the Christ give answer to this momentous question. They are the Incarnation, the Atonement, and the Resurrection.

Of Paul it must be said that, "He saw to the core, the Gospel which he preached, and of which he wrote. The Incarnation, the Atonement, and the Resurrection constituted his Gospel.

Throughout the church there is a search for the heart of primitive Christianity. Apostolic Christianity had its beginning, in the teaching and preaching, of these marvellous facts. If the church ever recovers its primitive power among the people of all nations, a new emphasis upon these basic facts, by both church members and ministers, is absolutely essential. In his pulpit utterances the minister must keep close to the fundamentals of the Gospel. All pulpit utterances ought to be presented in the light of the Incarnation, and the Atonement, and the Resurrection. If the pulpit is to enrich the individual experience of the members, and to win souls to Christ, the Incarnation, and the Atonement, and the Resurrection must be the sermon illumination.

ALABAMA

Gives Leadership To Prohibition

Here is some news for the wet press. Alabama has gone bone dry. The vote for a referendum was overwhelming. If there ever was a wet state, Alabama took the prize. Alabama after the repeal of prohibition wanted everything in the form of saloon, and sales room, and privilege to sell intoxicants in restaurants. Alabama was ready to pay high license for the right to manufacture and to sell wholesale and retail. All that Alabama wanted was granted. A free hand was given. But bootlegging was to be suppressed. Two years have passed.

The corruption of society was so terrible, that fathers and mothers said, "We have had enough." A return movement to prohibition was started. A referendum was demanded. The state voted solidly dry. The vote was so overwhelming that little doubt is left about the action of the Legislature as soon as it meets. The wets are saying, "Of all states to vote solidly dry Alabama is the limit."

Washington politicians did the utmost with the American dollar and with the public platform and propaganda literature to intimidate voters. This only added to the strength of the dry movement. Manufacturers of intoxicating liquors gave money and time to defeat the purpose of the referendum. But all was in vain. Whole counties in the state that had been counted in the wet column for so long nobody knows, gave huge majorities for the dry cause.

The Ku Klux Klan which has been a thorn in the flesh, in all the southern states for ten years, to a man supported the drys. The help they gave to this prohibition movement and the victory won has given new life to the Ku Klux Klan organization. It has resolved not to rest before every state in the south shall return to the dry fold. Back of all this new awakening, is the unmistakable rennaissance of a sense of responsibility in the church, touching the many moral issues now before the American people.

GERMANY

Through Karl Barth Exalts Easter Day

Rembrandt surpasses all other artists in the blending of deepest shadows and highest illumination. He would be in his right element in present day Germany. Germany has its Hitler and its Karl Barth. Long after Hitler comes to the end of the way, Karl Barth will be a regenerating power in Germany. Austria has one man whose fame will outlast that of any statesman who now figures in Austrian political affairs. His name is now commanding world recognition. He is not a political leader. He is a surgeon. To him, come from all lands, the brightest surgeons to learn of him and to see him operating upon the diseased human eye. His name is Post. In Italy there is Giovanni Papini, and his Life of Christ. When the heyday of Mussolini has come to the evening and the night, Giovanni Papini's Life of Christ will be read the world over. In Argentina a writer has arisen who will command world attention. Of him we purpose to write at some fitting time. But it is of, one saying, of Karl Barth that we write in this article, He says that there is, "a given," element in religion. He means that our Christian faith is not the result of man's movement toward God, but of God's movement towards man; that it is not the result of man's discovery, but of God's revelation; that in Jesus God really invaded human life, and by Incarnation and Death and Resurrection effected our salvation. Our Christian religion is not the final word of man about God—excelling other religions only because it is a better and a purer word—it is the word of God to man. The word of God is in the Bible, but the final word of God to man is Jesus. In Jesus we see God revealing Himself, unveiling His heart, proclaiming His sacrificial and His redeeming grace—proclaiming it in the Lord's birth and death and glorious resurrection.

This is to me the "given" element in Karl Barth's views of the religion of Jesus Christ. Jesus is not a gifted man guessing about God; Jesus is God speaking to man. He is the word of God to man.

Christianity starts from this "given" element.

If Hitler has plunged Germany deeper into the shadows, and he has, Karl Barth is a providential man lifting a goodly part of Germany into the light and glory of the word of God which is the living Christ. True the word of God is in the Bible. But the final word of God is Jesus Christ. Not all the word of God is in the Bible but it is in Jesus Christ, who is alive. There is more of God to be revealed in Christ, than has been. But enough has been revealed to lead us to God, and to make us Godlike.

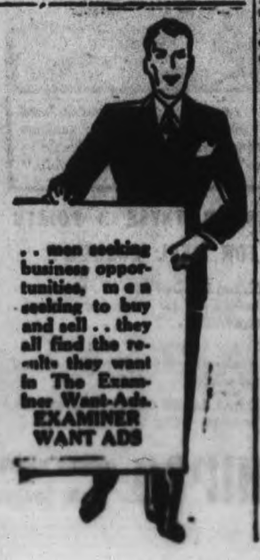
'QUAKE IN AUSTRALIA

BRISBANE, Australia, April 12 (AP)—Severe earth tremors caused buildings to sway dangerously here to-day, but no serious damage occurred.



WHITE METAL LEADERS SHOW GAINS FOR DAY

GOLDS ALSO ACTIVE.

TORONTO, April 12 (C.P.) — A few of the golds stepped out today after giving the silvers the right of way for nearly a week. The latter group continued however to dominate the market and all the leaders closed higher although the gains were pared a little under profit-taking in the final trading. McWatters, Bralorne, Gunnar Gold and Central Patricia were well up at the close in good turnover, and other golds were mainly steady. Coppers had a slow but firm day.

The big trade in the silvers was in Castle Eldorado and Bear and gains of 2, 16 and 3 cents respectively were registered.

McWatters closed at 1.50 for a net gain of 15 cents. Recessions of 1 to 3 cents each appeared for Pickle Crow, Reno, Prospectors Airways, Buffalo-Ankerite and Cariboo. Central Patricia gained about 5 cents.

Bralorne closed at 7.50. Hollinger gained 10 cents, and the other seniors were steady. Gunnar gained 13 to 78.

Hudson Bay was a strong spot in the copper group, closing at 14.60 for a gain of 30 cents while Noranda finished narrowly higher and Base Metals Corporation up 2.

ROAD CAMP WORKER IS SERIOUSLY HURT

John Bowin Taken to Lindsay Hospital—Extent of Injuries Uncertain.

LINDSAY, Ont., April 12 (Special to Examiner).—John Bowin, George street, Lindsay, who is employed at the road camp at Goodersham, was brought to Ross Rospital Wednesday night suffering from serious injuries. He was working in a pit when a crow bar fell a distance of forty feet, striking him in the back. The hospital authorities announced that it will be impossible to ascertain the exact nature of his injuries for two days, when an X-ray will be taken. It was first feared his back was broken.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, April 12. (AP)—The metals and rails held the best followings in to-day's stock market, although the utilities managed to edge higher and small gains predominated in the remainder of the list.

A loss of 2 points was suffered by Coca-Cola. The closing tone was fairly firm. Transfers approximated 750,000 shares.

MONTREAL EXCHANGE.

Ready to Seed?

HAMILTON, April 12 (CP).—An attempt by Nathaniel Harvey, fox farm proprietor, to grade an unopened but duly registered street running through the property of Councillor William Bell, fruit grocer, was frustrated when the councillor marshalled his men together and as fast as the Harvey clan graded the land into shape for a roadway the Bell men harrowed it back into farmland. All day long Mr. Harvey and his faithful mare and hired men yesterday worked on the road, but when he completed one side it was ripped and torn up again by the Bell men, who used harrows, discs, a roller and a cultivator.

Up and down marched the opposing forces, one undoing the good work completed by the other, until at the end of the day the street was the most cultivated, churned up, packed down, slice of land in the province.

FLOUR MILLING FIRMS WARNED IN PROBE REPORT

Face Bankruptcy Unless Capital Structures Are Written Down.

CONTROL THREATENED.

Surplus Capacity Cost Borne by Public Last 20 Years Comissioners Find.

OTTAWA, April 12 (CP)—Unless the flour milling companies of Canada write down their capital structures and the capital value of their surplus capacity, they are faced with bankruptcy, is the warning conveyed in the report of the Royal Commission on Mass Buying tabled to-day in the House of Commons. Given conditions of free competition bankruptcy "cannot be held off much longer," the report says.

Public Bearing Cost

The commissioners found the cost of this surplus capacity had, for the last 20 years, been borne by the public and not by the industry. If those who direct the industry persist in maintaining present costly structures to the detriment of shareholders and public at large, serious consideration must be given to complete regulation and control of the industry by the government. At present, it was undesirable, however, for the Government to intervene.

The Commission blamed surplus capacity for the present condition of the industry.

In 1932 there were 394 flour mills in Canada and 22 of them produced between two-thirds and three-quarters of the total production. Consolidation and expansion had been under way before the war, but the demand for food supplies between 1914 and 1918 and the high prices for wheat and flour resulted in continued expansion. At the close of the war milling had become a major industry and at the end of 1921 occupied first position among Canadian manufacturing industries.

A capacity beyond requirement had then been created and, suggests the commission, the companies might have employed their liquid surpluses to write off obsolete plants, thus reducing capacity by 40 per cent.

Then the Depression

The depression found the industry powerless to control its production or bitter competition resulting from the desire and necessity of individual companies to operate as large a capacity as possible, the report says. It continues:

"This intensified competition brought general confusion which was aggravated by the fact that the larger companies, in their efforts to assure themselves of markets for the disposal of their flour, tried to secure control of the baking business in the metropolitan centres of Canada." These efforts resulted in heavy monetary losses.

Despite excess capacity and the desire of the mills to increase production and so lower milling costs by the fuller utilization of their capital, competitions did not, prior to 1932, force down prices as might have been anticipated under such conditions, says the report. On the contrary, substantial earnings were maintained by most companies until the past two or three years.

Accounting System Scored.

The commission finds grave fault with the "diverse and complex accounting systems" prevailing in the industry. These made it impossible to analyze satisfactorily the various factors entering into the cost of flour and bread.

While the president of the Canadian National Millers' Association (C. H. G. Short), president of the Lake of the Woods Milling Company) stated in his evidence, says the report, that the combines investigation act by prohibiting price fixing prevented the industry from getting together to improve conditions, there was evidence free price competition between mills had not existed "to the extent that might have been expected."

"In fact," the report declares, "the uniformity of the price lists issued by milling companies, members of the Canadian National Millers' Association, points to the existence of some form of price understanding throughout this period."

Market Speculation

The commission was severely critical of milling companies which had engaged in market speculation. The report cited the Maple Leaf Milling Company which in 18 months lost $3,031,320 in operations, prior to July 31, 1930. This sum included 'losses from unauthorized speculation."

"We feel strongly that milling companies should not be permitted to make unauthorized use of their shareholders' money in this way" the commissioners say: "also that some form of publicity of a company's position in the market and of its committments should be provided for. Such information should be available at all times to the shareholders."

The condition of the industry to-day was serious, and solution of its problems was not to be found in the return of additional flour export. The large milling corporations, says the report, must reorganize their capital structure if they are to survive and place it on a basis of present demand and reasonable expectation.

The Companies' Move

"Any scheme of reorganization of the milling and baking industries, if it is to succeed, must be based on a writing-off of the capital value of surplus capacity. Such reorganization may be effected by the companies themselves or it will come eventually as the result of bankruptcies. Given conditions of free price competition, the later alternative cannot be held off much longer."

In view of the fact the industry had maintained a tremendous surplus capacity over a 20-year period, it was evident the public and not the industry had been bearing the burden of its cost, the report asserts

"There can be no possible argument for the government to take over this burden; it can best see that price competition is maintained between milling companies and allow the resulting situation to work itself out by the elimination of the inefficient.

Government Control

"The only possible alternative which might be considered is not some scheme of rationalization designed to save the industry at the expense of the public, but the complete regulation and control of the industry, or at least of the large mills, by the government.

"If those who direct the industry persist in maintaining present costly structures and capacities to the detriment of the shareholders, and, ultimately, the general public, serious consideration would have to be given to the acceptance of this alternative. At present, however, we feel that no adequate reason has been advanced to justify government intervention and that it is undesirable for the government to interfere in the internal problems of these large corporations."

PRODUCTION BY NEW GOLD MINES

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics recently reported 1934 gold production at $462,274,699, based on the average monthly price prevailing in the year. It is estimated by H. R. Bain & Company that mines newly established since 1928 produced 20.2 per cent. of this total, or $20,761,000 compared with only 7.03 per cent in 1929. In 1929, the new mines operating that year had a production of only $2,500,000. Production in ounces in 1934 was 2,964,326, compared with a peak of 3,044,287 in 1932.

New Fleet Of Jap Steamers To Dominate Pacific

The Japanese are leaving no stones unturned in their expansion to major world power. Already potential dominating factor in Africa, Abyssinia in particular, their new merchant marine fleet, the finest naval reserve in the world, is speedily dominating Pacific Ocean shipping. Above is one of six new luxury liners being built by Japan; a fleet of fifty freighters which travel at a speed of more than 20 miles per hour, span Tokio to San Francisco in 11 days with rich cargoes of silk. This constitutes a tremendous saving in time and dollars.

CITIZENS PUT UP GALLANT FIGHT

a street parallelling the main street. Burning embers flew thick. Two untenanted dwellings belonging to Mr. Pearce, one on Peterboro street and the other on Ridge street caught fire. Heat burst the glass containers of two gasoline pumps in front of the garage and flames leaped high in the air to throw a heat of even greater intensity, driving back the firemen.

About 2 o'clock when it became evident that the garage and the two Pearce houses were beyond salvation, Reeve Robert Telford called on the aid of the Peterborough Fire Department. A delay of several minutes while permission for the run was being secured from Mayor Roland Denne and then the huge motor pumper manned by six men was on the way, led by Fire Chief George Gimblett. In less than a half hour the thrilling 20-mile dash had been completed and a heavy stream of water was being forced through 1,000 feet of hose from the Ouse River to the scene of the fire.

Broken Leg

Flames had already reached the dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McDonald and gained too strong a hold to check. Mrs. McDonald, lying in bed with a broken leg sustained in a fall Wednesday, had been carried hurriedly to safety in her bed. Much of the furniture had been removed. While the Peterborough firemen gave their attention to controlling the flames from the original three dwellings and the garage, the volunteer citizens turned their attention to the houses and barns on the north side of Ridge street.

When it seemed inevitable that the flames would sweep on up to raze all the dwellings and barns beyond Ridge street, the efforts of the bucket-wielders were redoubled. At one time, a half-dozen lines of buckets were in operation. Dozens climbed to the roof tops to stamp out the blazes which were appearing everywhere. Great concern was felt for the Ontario Box plant a few yards west of the garage property. The direction of the wind, however, reduced fears for the Arcade Store of E. C. Cuffe on the other side.

Embers set ablaze the roof of Dr. H. G. Carleton's house north of Ridge street and considerable damage was done before the fire was put under control. A garage and stable close by the house shortly went up in flames, however. Tongues of flames appeared on the roof of Mrs. James Buck's residence to the west of Dr. Carleton's house but were promptly extinguished. A stable by the home of Earl Cuthbertson suddenly blazed up and was almost immediately beyond aid. And the fire swept on up north through the grass, across the C.P.R. tracks and through a grove of trees. Fences flared up but the trees in the grove and the grain elevator of Russell Thompson escaped.

Hastings Brigade

The Hastings fire brigade had been summoned by Reeve Tedford and 14 men arrived with a steam pumper. As the powerful machine got into action after a return to Hastings for more hose had been made, a new stream of water was played on the several infernos from the Peterborough street side. Through the valiant efforts of the Hastings men, the final threat to the Box Factory was removed but not before some lumber had been lost.

By 2.30 o'clock the flames at all points were well under control but the firemen continued to play their hoses on the blackened ruins. Of the garage, nothing but heaps of bricks and junk remained. Two twisted gasoline pumps stood at the front of the property, the only indication of the nature of the business which had been wiped out. Parts of the walls of the Pearce house on Peterboro Street stood but nothing remained of the one facing on Ridge street. Only half-crumbled sections of the walls remained as a reminder of the McDonald home. Nothing stood on the sites of the several wooden stables and outbuildings which had been burned.

Two storage tanks containing hundreds of gallons of gasoline, buried beneath the ground in front of the garage, escaped untouched by the fire.

Mr. Pearce had operated his garage for the past four years. His servicing plant was one of the largest in the town, measuring about 100 by 20 feet. The garage was not covered by insurance but the two houses belonging to Mr. Pearce were protected. The loss of the McDonald home will be partially covered but some of the minor buildings destroyed were reported to be uninsured.

Investigation

It is understood that an agent from the office of Ontario Fire Marshall Heaton's office will arrive today to conduct an inquiry regarding the fire.

A large crowd of spectators gathered from throughout the community and the surrounding countryside as news of the fire spread. Students at the Norwood High School were allowed out to join in the bucket brigade and offer other assistance. A rush of calls to Peterborough, Toronto and other points in the province jammed the long distance Bell Telephone lines from the town. Newspaper reporters from Peterborough arrived at the scene in short order, and, later in the afternoon, reporters and photographers from Toronto papers. One two-man crew from a Toronto evening paper, having been informed erroneously that all Norwood was ablaze, made the trip from Toronto to the village in a high-powered car in 2 hours and 15 minutes.

The area marked by the swath of flame in the centre of the town's business section, near the main corner, the intersection of Peterboro and Colbourne streets. A wind in the opposite direction to that followed by the stiff breeze which prevailed throughout the fire, would undoubtedly have brought the destruction of the entire business section of Norwood, citizens opined. As it was, the terrific heat cracked several windows in buildings on the south side of Peterborough street.

Bullet Fired

One unusual incident which might easily have brought death to one of the many spectators, occurred. A pane of glass in the insurance office of W. A. Richardson on the south side of the street shattered suddenly and Mr. Richardson stooped to pick up a .45 calibre bullet. The bullet had come from one of a number of shells fired off by the flames in the Pearce house across the street.

"It is the worst fire we've had since the Roxburgh block burned down twenty-five years ago," Reeve Tedford comented at one time as he watched anxiously throughout the afternoon. "We were severely handicapped by a lack of the proper equipment for fighting such a fire as this. We owe sincere thanks to the Peterborough and Hastings firemen for their work and we also have our own helpers to thank for the fact that the loss is not a much greater one."

As soon as the garage ruins had cooled sufficiently, a crowd of men and boys began digging in the ruins in search of valuables. Many blackened coins were salvaged on the spot where the office till had stood. Twenty-four dollars in currency and $7 in coins had rested in the till.

BLOSSOM WEEK EARLIER.

BRAMSVILLE, Ont., April 12.—Present indications point to blossom week coming considerably earlier this year than for some time past. Fruit pest inspectors who have been visiting orchards for the past three weeks claim that there is a particularly heavy showing of blossom buds, especially in the peach orchards. If weather conditions remain favorable, it would not be surprising if blossom week falls around May 1, instead of May 10 to 17, as is usually the case.

TWEED MOONSHINE CASE DISMISSED

Lack of Evidence Frees Two Men From French Settlement.

TWEED, April 12 (Examiner Correspondence)—The case against Leo LaVallee, who was jointly charged with Felix Laton in the operation of a moonshine "still" in the French Settlement, was dismissed. The evidence was heard by Magistrate J. L. Lloyd in Tweed on Tuesday of this week. There was not sufficient evidence against either man for conviction, according to Judge Madden of Napanee who heard the original appeal in Belleville. The arrests were made by R.C.M.P. officers of Belleville.

Ted Courneyea, mechanic, was injured, but fortunately not seriously while engaged in repairing a car in a garage at Tamworth.

While Ted was working on a rear bumper, his brother, Vernon, who was adjusting the generator, cranked the car without knowing it was in reverse gear. The car jumped back, knocked Ted down, ran over him, smashed the door of the garage and hurtled across the street, smashing into a tree.

Arthur Marshall of Harlowe, while cutting wood, severely gashed his foot with the axe. He was brought to Tweed for medical attention. Four stitches were necessary to close the wound.

FOOLED! NO SAVING IN CHEAP SOAP-CHIPS

Clothes cost more than soap. Strong bleaching alkalies fade colors... Dirt and rancid fats spot clothes, leave them smelly... Thin suds mean hard rubbing and weakened, shrunken materials.

"YOU GET just what you pay for—and that doesn't include safety—when you buy cheap soap-chips," is the way one woman puts it.

And listen to Mrs. A. R. Eckberg. "I washed one brightly colored dress for a year with Chipso and it never faded. Then I tried a box of cheap soap-chips and the dress was ruined! Right then I made up my mind—no more cheap soap-chips for me!"

"It took hours longer to do my washing with cheap soap-chips," says Mrs. Theodore Whaley. "Those cheap chips wouldn't hold a really good suds. I rubbed and I RUBBED and still I couldn't make my clothes look bright."

Cheap soap-chips use up fast

Thin suds that "go flat" won't do much work either. You have to keep adding soap. "I found that Chipso, besides being safe, actually goes farther in suds than cheap soap-chips," says Mrs. Stillman Pitts. "I save money in more ways than one when I use Chipso."

POOR SUDS from cheap, watery soap-chips make you do hard rubbing. Hard rubbing shrinks woolens. Hard rubbing weakens cotton materials so that they fray and tear easily. "Change to Chipso," women warn. "Chipso's rich suds loosen dirt safely."

CONSIDER THESE 3 POINTS FOR REAL ECONOMY

1. Chipso is SOAPIER ... gives wonderful suds for loosening dirt ... goes farther.
2. Chipso is made of GRADE A materials—free from lumps, dirt and bad odor.
3. Chipso SAVES CLOTHES which are far more costly than any soap.

CHIPSO makes clothes wear longer

WOMEN COME BACK TO CHIPSO'S RICHER SUDS AND SAFETY FOR EVERYTHING

"What a difference Chipso makes in my big job of washing!" says Mrs. Homer Clark, who has seven children. "Chipso is economical. It is so very soapy that it goes far. I don't have to keep adding soap to build up the suds.

"But the biggest saving with Chipso is that it's so SAFE. I can do my whole wash with this one kind of soap—even our nicest things. And I want to tell you Chipso does a wonderful job on blankets! With rich Chipso suds to loosen the dirt I don't have to rub them and so they don't shrink."

"Dazzling white clothes... unfaded colors"

"Chipso suds soak dirt loose like magic," says Mrs. T. B. Curry. "They rinse easily ... and they leave colors bright."

I'LL STICK TO CHIPSO! IT MAKES CLOTHES WEAR LONGER.

HYDRO MEASURE GETS 57-17 VOTE ON LAST READING

CABINET TO SEE FIRMS.

TORONTO, April 12 (C.P.). — The Ontario Government Bill to cancel contracts existing between the Hydro-Electric Power Commission and four Quebec power companies to-day awaited the Royal assent and proclamation of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council before it becomes law.

Final reading was given the measure by a vote of 57-17 last night, as cheers resounded from the galleries and Government members thumped triumphantly on their desks.

In the final summation of the Government's position at the third reading of the Bill, Attorney-General Arthur W. Roebuck told the Legislature the Cabinet would confer with the power companies and would "go as far as we can to preserve their interests while protecting our people first."

Four Firms Involved.

The four companies involved are: Beauharnois, MacLaren-Quebec, Ottawa Valley, and Gatineau Power Companies. They have contracts with the Ontario Hydro Commission for purchase of huge blocks of power over a period of 40 years. In addition to claiming the contracts void, illegal and unenforceable Attorney-General Roebuck said they saddled the people of Ontario with an unfair burden of debt. The contracts were entered into during the boom yearspreceding the financial collapse of 1929.

The vote last night terminated one of the most spectacularly contentious pieces of legislation ever introduced in the Ontario Legislature. Opposition members, in their determination to block second reading, instituted the first major filibuster in the House since 1923. The filibuster lasted 26 hours. The House continued in session for 11 hours after that, setting a provincial record for Marathon debate and business.

The Government stood solidly behind Premier Hepburn and all the blockade efforts of the Conservatives were surmounted. The Bill was first introduced into the Legislature on April 1 by the Premier.

KINSMEN CLUB SETS AGE LIMIT SCOPE OF WORK

Eye Clinic Work Will Be Confined to Children 16 and Under.

GINGHAM GIRL REPORT.

An important decision was made by the Kinsmen Club at their dinner meeting at the Empress Hotel last evening, limiting the scope of the club's service work to underprivileged children under the age of sixteen years.

President J. K. Sheehy in the chair, opened the meeting for a discussion of the subject and a lengthy debate followed. It was stressed by various speakers that the Kinsmen Eye Clinic was originally intended for the purpose of doing preventive work among underprivileged school children.

Recently, however, owing to pressing demands, the scope of the club's work had been extended, and many adult cases had been treated. Members of the club were of almost unanimous opinion that in future the work must be more strictly confined to children as was always intended, although particularly deserving adult cases may be referred to the executive and dealt with on their respective merits, as funds will allow.

Vern Selkirk, treasurer, presented a financial statement showing that the club has a credit balance of $513.74, representing the net proceeds from the Gingham Girl Show, recently presented in the Grand Opera House.

Total receipts were $2,058.25, with the sum of $100.00 for advertising and tickets still outstanding, while expenditures amounted to $1,544.51.

Harold McClelland was named as chairman of the Sunshine Committee, and it was stated that since the beginning of the year twenty-one cases had received eye treatment.

NORWOOD A.Y.P.A. WILL PRESENT PLAY

Westwood Young People Meet at Home of Mr. and Mrs. Seaborne.

WESTWOOD, April 12.—The young people of St. Michael's Church, Westwood, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seaborne on Tuesday evening, April 9 for the purpose of holding their monthly meeting of the A.Y.P.A. The President, Miss K. Elmhirst, was in the chair.

The business was then transacted and it was unanimously agreed to accept the kind offer of the Norwood A.Y.P.A. to put on a one-act play in the Westwood town hall on April 25.

Miss K. Elmhirst then conducted an entertaining game of Bible Baseball, after which the members all took part in a Cambridge debate, "Resolved: That Winter is more pleasant Than Summer".

Refreshments were then served and a vote of thanks extended to Mr. and Mrs. Seaborne for their kind hospitality, after which the meeting was closed by the singing of "God Save The King".

RELIEF MONIES MAY BE LEVIED

companies be forced to at least pay their share in maintaining these unfortunate men and their families on relief?"

Alderman Tuggey's resolution was endorsed unanimously by the City Council and was sent to Queen's Park. A few weeks later Alderman Tuggey with several other members of the Council, during an interview with Hon. Mr. Croll, spoke on this resolution and drew the Minister's attention to it in forceful terms.

Promised Legislation.

At that time Hon. Mr. Croll was reported to have said that this question had received his attention and he would introduce legislation covering it. Doubtless his new bill is the direct result.

Alderman Tuggey said to-day that at the time he introduced this resolution into the Council he had made a close study of the whole matter. He estimated that with the passing of the new bill approximately $16,000 will come into the city treasury for relief from local companies which enjoy fixed assessments. The city's relief taxation amounts to about 2½ mills.

LOWER TARIFFS BIG SUGGESTION

English millers to cut down their purchases. "The hope of the industry," he summed up, "lies in recovering the export business. Failing that, it would appear that some mills will have to close down permanently."

Turning to the agricultural implement industry, Mr. Young stressed the increase in prices in the last few years. He believed a reduction in tariffs might cut the cost of iron and steel.

Canada's livestock problem was one of markets, Mr. Young said, because production exceeded domestic requirements. He suggested efforts to find foreign markets, particularly American.

Futile to Blame Packers

"It is futile to blame the packers for the low prices of livestock," Mr. Young said.

"Although one large company handles 35 per cent. and another 26 per cent of the packing house business, there was no evidence of monopoly in the business." He opposed establishing a livestock board because it would be expensive and futile—it could not open foreign markets.

The minority report condemned the recommendation of prohibiting truckers from selling stock—that was the farmers own business.

Tariffs Condemned

The textile tariffs were condemned by Mr. Young which he said were 29.09 per cent from the United Kingdom and 44.35 per cent from the rest of the world. The industry, he said, had not recognized its obligation to the buying public as a result of its tariff advantages.

"This raises the question of whether this (textile) industry is not costing us too much," said Mr. Young. "If the people of Canada are required to pay $1.44 for a dollar's worth of goods in order that Canadian workers may receive about 20 cents (the total wage bill is equal to 24.31 per cent. of the selling price of the products) in wages, it would seem to be a losing proposition and we might be better off if we were to pay those people to do nothing and import our textiles."

Charge Is Reduced In Lindsay Court

LINDSAY, April 12.—A charge of attempted murder laid Wednesday by an Indian, Darcy Knott, of the Indian reserve at Curve Lake in Peterborough County, against two fellow Indians, Colin and David Jacobs, was reduced to assault yesterday by local authorities. An altercation is said to have occurred among the three Indians, and Knott is said to have been dumped out of his canoe, and with difficulty reached shore. The charge was that Jacobs tried to drown him. It is alleged by Jacobs that Knott had been molesting traps set by Indians of the district, and that the ducking administered was only to give a scare to leave other Indian traps alone. The case will be settled in court here next Tuesday.

Culbertson-Sims Battle Ends To-Night

NEW YORK April 12 (AP)—The 150-rubber bridge battle between the Ely Culbertsons and the Hal Simes comes to its close to-night with the twin mantle of victory already draped on the shoulders of Ely and Josephine Culbertson.

They hold such a lead over Hal and Dorothy Sims that nothing short of vulnerable grand slams in each of the six remaining rubbers of the match would bring the Simses out on top. At the end of the 140th rubber last night, the Culbertson lead amounted to 13,970 points which means the Simses would have to average a plus of 1,600 points on each of the remaining rubbers to win.

CHANGES ARE RECOMMENDED PROBE REPORT

ing laws and creation of a Central Bank. Similarly, the price spreads report is expected to receive fulfilment in law at the present session of Parliament.

Minority Report.

Including the minority report of E. J. Young, Liberal member for Weyburn, the reservations of other Liberal members who signed the majority report and the appendices, the document runs to 400 pages and approximately 350,000 words.

More complete organization of Canadian industrial and business life is contemplated in the report. The proposed Federal Trade and Industry Commission would be charged with strict administration of the Combines Investigation Act and retention and promotion of competition wherever possible. Where competition is impossible, however, the Commission would act to regulate a monopoly. It would be its duty to sanction self-governing agreements within an industry and to probe and prosecute unfair trade practices with wide discretion as to a definition of that term.

In the field of labor and wages reduction of hours of work with a uniform 44-hour week for all Canada is recommended, either by Federal or uniform Provincial legislation. Improved and more strictly enforced minimum wage laws are proposed. The extension of colective agreements between employers and employees is urged and another suggestion is the encouragement of the organization of trade unions and greater recognition of unions by governments and employers. Encouragement of the formation of organizations of employers of labor is also urged.

Sweeping changes in methods of livestock marketing are among reforms for the farmer. Direct shipment of all livestock to stockyards, lower commissions for agents, licensing of all commission agents, licensing of all trucks carrying livestock, discontinuance of the fixed differential methods of selling hogs, grading of cattle, removal of a percentage of canner and cutter beef from the market and reduced freight rates on livestock for export are proposed.

Inspection of deliveries of fruits and vegetables for quality, grade and weight would be continued and tightened up. The fishing industry also calls for a quota of reforming measures.

Protection of Consumer.

For protection of the consumer, the tightening up of the weights and measures inspection act is suggested. Penalties for infraction would be increased and additional inspectors appointed. Retailers would be allowed to include the weight of a paper container in the net weight of goods sold, but in the case of goods liable to shrinkage the net weight would have to be a "dry" weight. The National Reserve Council would be empowered to analyze or test any product at the request of consumers.

Sweeping changes in company laws are proposed. Issuance of no par value stock would be prohibited or the crediting of the full proceeds to capital accounts would be required. Companies would be prohibited from distributing as dividends increases in asset values resulting from write-ups or appraisals. Such funds would have to go into capital stock. Increased responsibilities would be placed on directors and promoters and more complete publicity for company operations in prospectuses and annual reports would be required. Strict provisions to prevent stock-watering are suggested.

Regulating Trade

As a part of the general scheme of regulating trade industry and functioning either under the Federal Trade and Industry Commission or some branch or department of government, the report proposes the creation of a number of boards to deal with particular phases of commercial and industrial life.

Under the commission would be a Securities Board to deal with corporate financing. A "Consumer commodity Standards Board" would also function as a division of the commission. Its duties would be to establish standards for consumers, enforce them and make public findings of non-conformity to standards of harmful or injurious substances or of excessive price spreads; a Livestock Board would be set up "under appropriate jurisdiction" clothed with wide powers to improve standards, revise grading methods, disseminate information, assist producers to secure a fair return and study market requirements.

Endowed with similar but less extensive powers would be the Fisheries Control Board which would have the general object of benefiting the fisherman and the fish-eater by eliminating unsound trade practices and cut-throat competition and improving the methods of handling, marketing and processing fish.

In the Labor Department the creation of a new Research Division is proposed. It would study industrial relations, disseminate information, draft model labor statutes and plan Dominion-Provincial conference on labor laws. The Minister of Labor, under another proposal, would be aided by an "unpaid, permanent, representative, rotating and non-partizan advisory council.

More State Intervention.

"We have been forced by the evidence," the report stated, "to conclude the situations calls for a frank recognition of the necessity of more state intervention in business."

The trade commission would be empowered to:

1. Enforce the Combines Act to retain and restore competition.
2. Regulate industrial monopolies where open competition cannot or should not be enforced. An industry would be declared monopolistic, exempted from the operation of the Combines Act and automatically come within the supervision of the trade commission.
3. Sanction and supervise agreements between industrial units modifying cut-throat competition and generally regulate the industry.
4. Prohibit unfair competitive practices.
5. Supervise or co-operate in administering laws relating to merchandising and business practice for which no agency exists.
6. Administer laws to protect consumers.
7. Regulate security issues for the protection of the investor.
8. Co-operate with Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade in development of commercial arbitration or referring of business disputes.
9. Co-operate with other government agencies, Federal, Provincial or Municipal, in solution of trade problems.

Recognize Special Monopolies.

The trade commission also would have an advisory function, not only to the government but to industry. For instance, it would recommend to the government the recognition and regulation of special monopolies. It could recommend also to the government granting or powers of industrial self-government in special situations, but the price spreads commission turned thumbs down on this method of economic management as a general system.

The trade commission would come in close touch with industry, advising about elimination of unfair trade practices. It would have power to investigate the organization and practices of any industry.

The price spreads commission ended its report with these words:

"We recommend, that is to say, not only the most complete maintenance or restoration of competition, where that is possible, but also gradual, progressive, and effective regulation in that growing field of business enterprise where monopoly or imperfect competition will continue inevitably to develop, and, if unregulated will continue to exploit the primary producer, the wage-earner, and the consumer, in the shameful ways so often disclosed by the evidence before us.

"We propose the first steps to the goal that has been well described as 'the socialization of monopoly and the civilization of competition'. Unless we can achieve this goal in the reasonably near future, there may well be forced upon us changes in our economic, social and political organization beside which our proposals, important as we believe them to be, will pale into significance."

Regulate Monopolies.

The basic function of the trade commission would be concerned with the prevention or regulation of industrial monopolies. Existence of state-recognized and state-controlled monopolies would be something new for Canada.

"Any person, firm or corporation, or group or association or persons, firms, or corporations, carrying on any business in Canada, except railroads and other public utilities, which,

"(a) by the magnitude and nature of its operations within its own class, exercises a dominating position in that class of business activity or (b) by its high buying power is able to exploit vendors, or to secure discriminating discounts or allowances, or (c) which excludes or attempts to exclude others from any class of business activity; or (d) holds an exclusive franchise or right of operation in a given territory; or (e) being composed of independent units allegedly associated for the promotion of better business conditions, endeavours unduly to enhance prices or unduly to restrict output, or in any other way acts in a manner prejudicial to public interest; or (f) evidences monopolistic control or imperfect competition by an insufficiently flexible price policy."

A combine unfair or detrimental to the public would be prosecuted under the Combines Act with full publicity. The trade commission also would consider such penalties as tariff reductions, revocation of patents.

The second major function of the trade commission would be regulation of combinations which are not detrimental to the general well being of the country. When the commission decided an industry should be treated as a combine, it would make a recommendation to the government and receive, in return, power to regulate it.

Control of monopolies, the price spreads commission recommended, could be exercised in several ways. Maximum prices might be set as in public utilities. There might be taxation of surplus profits "beyond an allowed rate of return on the real investment in utilized capacity, after provision for approved allowances and reserves, the latter to be kept liquid." Excess profits might be taxed and distributed between the state and the employees of the combine. A fourth suggestion was the unit system of income tax for multiple corporations—taxing each unit, rather than the whole organization on a consolidated balance sheet.

Use Publicity.

The price spreads commission recommended wholesale use of publicity in fighting and regulating combines and unethical business practices.

Another duty of the trade commission would be modification and simplification of standards. One of its members would be chairman of a subsidiary board for this purpose.

One of the general duties of the trade commission would be to act as a central agency for enforcing laws designed to protect consumers and to receive complaints on unbalanced scales, adulterated foodstuffs and:

1. To enforce those present or new relevant laws, for which no enforcing agency is provided.
2. Concurrently, with existing agencies, to enforce such laws in their non-technical or commercial aspects, and (3) generally to co-operate with these agencies for the more effective enforcement of all laws designed for consumer protection."

The trade commission might form eventually the central organization to administer all federal laws relating to business practices—Meat and Canned Foods Act, Food and Drug Act, Trade Mark and Design Act and others.

The price spreads commission did not attempt to define unfair business practices which the trade commision will attempt to control. It did recommend, however, prohibition of discriminatory discounts, rebates and allowances; territorial price discrimination and predatory price-cutting.

When the trade commission found a business practice unfair, it would order it stopped. If the order was disobeyed, the manufacturer could be prosecuted and a court injunction obtained.

"We did not anticipate," the report stated, "the immediate abolition of all practices alleged to be unfair, for many of the suggestions made to us in evidence seem unwise in policy and impossible to administer. But we are strongly of the opinion the commission must be given the maximum possible power, gradually in the light of experience, to develop sound policies and effective methods for the complete suppression of the evils of unfair trade practices."

Are You Rundown, Tired?

ALL women at some period in life need a strengthening tonic like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Read what Mrs. Mabel Murphy of 13 Westinghouse Ave., Apt. 4 Hamilton, Ont., said: "About five years ago I was terribly rundown, had nervous indigestion, couldn't sleep or eat, lost strength and my weight fell off 20 pounds. Before I had finished the first bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I felt much better, had more strength and better digestion. I soon gained in weight and my nerves were in good condition again."

Toronto, Birth City Of Walter Huston To See Actor First Time In Star's Role

DETROIT, April 12 (A.P.)—The urge to act manifested itself early in the life of Walter Huston—so early in fact, the Toronto-born actor played truant from public school to safeguard the job that marked his debut on the stage.

Mr. Huston makes his first appearance as a star in the city of his birth next week in "Dodsworth," the play from Sinclair Lewis' novel of a plain, unpretentious middle-aged Detroit Automobile manufacturer who is yanked out of the even tempo of an average American life and plumped down into the social whirl of the European capitols by a flighty, socially-ambitious wife.

"I was going to school at the time, (he was not sure whether it was the Wellesly Street or Winchester School—he went to both), when I was taken on as a super, in the cast for 'White Heather,' playing at that time at the old Toronto Opera House," recounted the actor. "Everything went all right until the Wednesday matinee, when it was a case of playing hookey or lose the job; so hookey it was."

REV. J. D. PATERSON IS GUEST SPEAKER

Delivers Splendid Address at Regular Meeting of St. George's A.Y.P.A.

Rev. J. D. Paterson, rector of All Saints' Church, was guest speaker last evening at the regular meeting of St. George's A.Y.P.A. in the church basement. Mr. A. Busby, president, presided for the opening devotions. In the absence of Mrs A. Busby, convenor of the Literary committee, the speaker was introduced by Mrs. O. Laderach.

Mr. Paterson gave a very interesting talk on his visit to the Old Country last summer. The points specially dealt with were the changes in the social life of the people, the good influence of the radio and the splendid system followed by the British Broadcasting Company, and the importance of the pilgrimages being made to many of the English cathedrals which is proving a spiritual advance in the lives of the people.

Mrs. Laderach voiced the appreciation of the meeting in a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Paterson.

MEMEL LATEST POWDER MAGAZINE FOR EUROPE THREATENED BY WAR

HELD UNDER MANDATE

Arno Dosch-Fleurot, renowned foreign correspondent resident in Europe, has been in Memel, sitting on the lid, so to speak, of a powder magazine that threatens to blow up any minutes and precipitate another grave European crisis. In this article he tells why little Memel bulks large in the world situation to-day.

(By Arno Dosch-Fleurot, Central Press Canadian Correspondent)

MEMEL, April 12—This little Baltic port is to-day the hottest spot in Europe.

It is hotter than the Saar ever was.

Lithuania has Memel. Germany used to have it, and wants it back.

About the time that Dollfus was killed in Austria, the Lithuanians broke up two organizations which the Lithuanians claim had as sole objects the recapture of Memel for Germany.

At this time Lithuanian arrested 126 alleged conspirators who were recently tried before a military tribunal in the capital, Kaunas, for high treason.

Memel trembles in the shadow of the court-martial.

Lithuanians claim that Germany is determined to get Memel back as a starting point for another "Drang Nach Osten," a new drive for imperial conquest which would wipe out the new Baltic states and take a big slice out of Russia.

Held Under Mandate

Lituania hasn't a clear title to Memel, as legally it is an autonomous region under Lithuania's protection—a status which is a breeder of intrigue.

The Lithuanians have added to the unrest by excluding the Germans from the directorate which runs the region. Lithuania is in consequence under a steady fire from Germany.

Put this all together in a region much smaller than a fraction of Ontario, keep it hot for 15 years, then let it boil over, and you have Memel to-day.

Memel is a mixture of German and Lithuanian and would be of little interest to anybody if it were not Germany's oldest existing frontier before the war, and if it were not the only port on the coast of Lithuania.

The Germans owned it 570 years. The people in Germany think a plebiscite would get it back for them, as a plebiscite got back the Saar. In the event of a plebiscite no doubt many of these people would vote for Germany, to which they formerly belonged, but there would be no 90 per cent. vote for Germany. Germans in Memel do not think the plebiscite would result favorably for the reich.

Have Sentimental Tie

Memel is not of itself much of a place. When it belonged to Germany it was the last and least-considered of eastern outposts and was held by French troops to keep it in order until some definite decision could be made about its fate, it was a small and tough Baltic sea port. There was nothing specifically German about it.

The German claim to Memel is historic and sentimental. The fact that King Frederick Wilhelm III of Prussia and his wife, Queen Louise, the favorite of all Prussian queens, took refuge there after Napoleon won the battle of Jena and remained there until peace was signed, at the nearby Tilsit on the Niemen, gives the Germans their strongest sentimental claim to Memel.

The people of the town, some of English and Scotch descent, were engaged for hundreds of years in the lumber trade. The Niemen brought them logs from the hinterland of Lituania and Poland. Tilsit and Koenisberg, the real outposts of German civilization, also profited from these logs.

Polish Coup Blamed

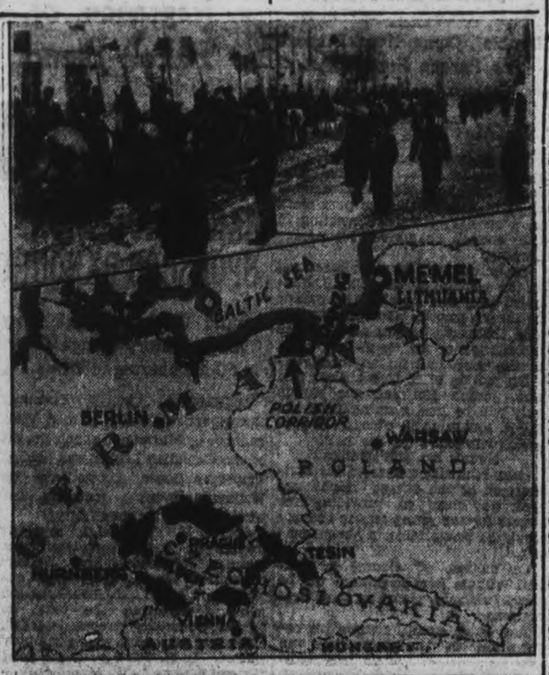
This has all been changed by the quarrel between Lithuania and Poland which has never ceased since Poland seized Vilna in 1920. The Poles now route their timber down the Vistula to Danzig and their own port of Gdynia.

However, Memel is growing steadily as the port of import and export for the two and a half million Lithuanians.

The Lithuanians got it with a "putsch" of their own.

In 1923, armed Lithuanians drove out the French troops—sent to Memel to keep order until Memel's future was decided—who were thoroughly fed up and glad to go, and the Council of Ambassadors some months later decided to let the Lithuanians keep it. The decision was meant as a sop to the Lithuanians to make up for the seizure of Vilna by the Poles, also as a cover for the four years the status of the territory had been left hanging in the air.

If anybody is to be blamed for the mess of Memel it is the Council of Ambassadors. Its lack of decision has left a train of consequences.



Lithuanian troops are shown at the top marching through the port of Memel in 1923 after it had been taken from Germany and handed over to Lithuania by the League of Nations. Map shows the position of Memel in relation to Berlin and Warsaw (Poland). Lower is a general view of the city of Memel and inset, President Antanas Smetona of Lithuania in whose hands rests the fate of four Nazis condemned to death for allegedly plotting to return the port to Germany.

DUST DAMAGES 15000000 ACRES

Crop Loss Expected to Exceed $30,000,000—20,000 Families on Relief.

RAIN ONLY SALVATION.

KANSAS CITY, April 12. (CP)—Crop damage exceeding $30,000,000, a seriously affected area of more than 15,000,000 acres and relief rolls carrying well above 20,000 families were figures which swirled with the dust out of the United States west and southwest to-day.

The figures pertained to the brewing zone of the Recurring dust storms: Western and west central Kansas, southeastern Colorado, all of the Oklahoma panhandle, the southeastern corner of Wyoming, the northeastern corner of New Mexico and the northern two-thirds of the Texas panhandle.

In the Texas panhandle, Walter Barlow, Amarillo grain elevator operator, said a Conservative estimate of losses ranged between $18,000,000 and $20,000,000.

In Kansas, the difference in the value of last year's crop in the dust-ridden parts and the estimated value for this year exceeds $5,000,000.

In 2,500,000 eastern Colorado acres, one of the sectors hardest hit by the dust, farmers have reported their crop losses will be complete unless rain comes quickly.

Fred Daniels, New Mexico state college agriculture statistian, reported wheat in that state is "almost a total loss."

Have You a "Child Problem?"

READ WHAT THESE MOTHERS WRITE!

Mrs. Frank Hewitt and family
"He has picked up marvellously."

Mrs. Frank Hewitt writes: "I give Vip to all my three children. Jackie had a very poor appetite and was too thin. He has picked up marvellously.

"I was very weak, rundown and constantly tired before my last baby came. I bought a tin of Vip which did me so much good I continued taking it. I consider that my smiling, sturdy baby is a testimonial to Vip. I find that a cup of Vip at bedtime makes me sleep restfully."

Dianne Blackstock
"No more fuss over food; no nervousness; no restless nights."

Mrs. Blackstock, Toronto, writes: "If anyone had told me a year ago that Dianne would win a medal at the Centennial Bonniest Baby Contest, I would have thought them crazy. Dianne simply would not touch solid food. As a result she was quite rundown, nervous and fretful.

"More or less desperate, I bought a large tin of Vip. My trouble with Dianne ended. No more fuss over food; no nervousness; no restless nights. At 2 years Dianne weighs 35 pounds, strong, sturdy and happy."

Helen Higson
"Helen was very thin, rundown and nervous."

Mrs. James Higson writes: "My little girl, Helen, was very thin, rundown, and so nervous she was afraid to go upstairs alone even in the daytime. And she caught the most dreadful colds.

"One day I bought a tin of Vip. Both Helen and my little boy, who was very nervous also, liked Vip. You would hardly know them for the same children now. Helen has gained weight, her cheeks have filled out, and she has a wonderful colour."

Raising children raises many problems in one way or another. Jackie has no appetite. Mary is underweight. Billy is backward at school. Little Helen is nervous and high-strung. Albert is hard to keep "regular". If you have a child in any of these classes, read what these Mothers write.

HAVELOCK LAYS JUBILEE PLANS

Double Committee Prepare For Parade From C.P.R. Square to Town Hall.

ROYAL FLOAT INCLUDED.

HAVELOCK, April 12 (Examiner Correspondence) — Extensive plans for a most appropriate observance of the King's Silver Jubilee were made at a special committee meeting in the council chambers Wednesday evening.

On account of the radio broadcast in the morning of May 6th, J. Kinnaird suggested holding the parade in the afternoon. George Kennedy said this could be put aside by the installation of an up-to-date radio in the town hall for the occasion.

On motion of H. T. Mathison and Mrs. Joseph Hoffman one parade only will be held starting from the C.P.R. square at 10 o'clock. A program will follow in the hall.

Sweets for the Kiddies

John Kinnaird suggested the businessmen of the village might see their way clear to providing free sweets for the youngsters so the day would be outstanding in their memory.

On motion of George Kennedy and William Rice all citizens will be asked to display their flags and decorations.

Rev. S. A. Kemp, assured his co-operation in the proceedings and said Bandmaster Ronald had signified his intention to do his utmost. Already the band is preparing special numbers for the occasion each Thursday night at practice.

Harry A. Anderson assured the co-operation of the Havelock Kilty Band, so the citizens will march to both village bands.

Messrs. H. T. Mathison, John Kinnaird, C. F. Roberts and P. Yuill will make all arrangements for the elaborate parade. The committee to have charge of program arrangements is Mrs. Joseph Hoffman, Rev. S. A. Kemp and chairman E. J. Leeson, reeve.

Short Addresses

There will be short addresses by the various clergymen and T. P. Lancaster, M.P.P. will be the guest speaker.

On motion of H. T. Mathison and John Kinnaird a silver collection will be taken and after the souvenir flags are purchased for the school children the proceeds will be donated to the Queen Mary Cancer Fund in honor of the Jubilee observance.

MUCH DISCUSSION OVER POWER BILL

Increase of $100 for February Over 1934 Seen in Omemee Hydro Report.

OMEMEE, April 12 (Examiner Correspondence)—The members of the Hydro Commission met Monday night, April 8th in the council chamber with Commissioners T. C. Ivory, S. Mills, C. Shaw and Dr. McPhee and Reeve W. L. Moncrief present.

A number of bills presented by the secretary having been found correct, cheques were authorized to be drawn. A bill of $336 for power for February was an increase of over $100 for the same month in 1934 and caused considerable discussion among the Commissioners.

LINDSAY

MUSKRAT SEASON IS REPORTED POOR

Water is Very Low and Presence of Ice in Marshes Hurting Trapping.

LINDSAY, April 12 (Examiner Correspondence)—Trappers in this district report a very poor muskrat season. The water is very low and the presence of ice in the marshes and creeks has played havoc with the rats. The rat run is pretty nearly over and the trappers are hoping for an extension of the season.

The first tourist of the season arrived to-day in the person of M. Jellett, who spends his summers at Rosedale. He spent the winter months in Florida, and passed through to-day to open up his cottage for the season.

Lindsay town council received a jolt the other day which may result in a deficit at the end of the year. When the estimates were prepared the sum of $5,300, which had been received the year previous from the County Road Committee, was included, the council believing that the same amount would be forthcoming this year. However, official notice has been received from the Department that this amount would not be forthcoming this year as the auditors had reported that the sum was too high. A deputation will interview the Minister of Highways at Toronto in connection with the matter.

MARMORA LEGION SPONSORS BANQUET

Annual Celebration of Vimy Ridge Victory Brings Out 50 Members and Wives.

MARMORA, April 12 (Examiner Correspondence)—The annual Vimy banquet of Marmora Branch No. 237 of the Canadian Legion was held at Tipperary House, Crowe Lake on Wednesday evening, members and wives numbering about fifty.

Col. A. V. Yates, M.C., acted as toastmaster in his usual efficient manner. Following the "King" community singing was much enjoyed with Mrs. L. R. Rundle at the piano. Next came the toast to "Fallen Comrades" proposed by Col. Yates and responded with a minutes' silence. L. R. Rundle then sang "Friend O'Mine." W. Mumby president of the Marmora branch fittingly proposed "The Canadian Corps" and Major C. F. Walt of Stirling in replying gave an interesting description of the battle of Vimy Ridge. More community singing was followed by a short talk by Major Noble of Madoc on experiences en route to the scenes of his service in the South African War.

Past President P. Gray was called on to submit the last toast "The Canadian Legion" and reply was made by W. J. Cottrell. L. R. Rundle then gave his second song "On the Road to Mandalay."

Appreciation of the presence of the ladies and thanks to host and hostess Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Potts were voiced by Col. Yates and then the rafters rang with the marathon sing song of the evening in which no old favorite air of the days of active service, seemed to be forgotten.

Messrs. George Brooks and Harry Loveless are attending the annual convention of the Industrial Accidents Prevention Association in Hamilton this week as representatives of the Deloro Safety Committee.

Many Offer Aid To Windsor Woman

The young woman was reported to be "just about holding her own" today with a loosening of the internal bleeding from her kidneys.

"The only development to report is that letters are coming from farther away," said Dr. Levine. "It is remarkable how many persons are anxious to help her." Letters have been received from Nebraska, New York and Philadelphia.

A Windsor girl telephoned the doctor to say she was the daughter of a seventh son of a seventh son and she had asked her father to pray for Miss Knisel.

It was just a week ago the patient was stricken with the malady, known as essential thrombocytopenic purpura.

MILLBROOK

LEAGUE MEETS THORNDYKE HOME

Grace Church League of Millbrook Holds Successful Meeting.

MILLBROOK, April 12 (Examiner Correspondence) — Mrs. C. Thorndyke, president of the Presbyterian Women's League, and her daughter, Miss Ruth, were joint hostesses for the Easter gathering held at their home, Park road, on Wednesday at 3 p.m., with over twenty members present; this number was augmented to sixty at the tea hour following the business session.

The treasurer, Mrs. F. J. Deyell, made a report of the amount made by the various groups during the first quarter of the year, Mrs. Harry Ball's leading with $15; Mrs. T. C. Ingram's group came next with $10.81; Mrs. Thorndyke's had $5 but this was increased after Wednesday's meeting; the other three have not made any special effort yet, and their earnings to date are small.

Mrs Coyte's group will look after flowers for the church during May, the president's group having performed this service for April. The visiting committee, Mrs. Fred Deyell and Miss A. Johnston, were asked to look after the following sick members: Mrs. L. Lancashire, Miss Aileen Hunter, who is in Dr. H. A. Turner's private hospital having undergone an operation for appendicitis on Tuesday; Mrs. R. Gibson, has had 'flu; and Mrs. M. Kinsman, who is at her mothers and is making progress toward recovery after several weeks of serious illness; she was remembered with a box of fruit this week.

The tea tables emphasized the Easter atmosphere with their centrepieces of shredded green crepe paper, fashioned into nests, in which were placed colored eggs, and a fluffy yellow chick; the committee assisting the hostesses were Mrs. J. R. Thompson, Mrs. J. N. McGill, Miss Nina Gibson, Mrs. T. Wilson, and Mrs. R. J. McMahon. Mrs Thompson was in charge of the talent table and found a ready sale for its supply of homemade baking, plants, fancy work and other articles. Over seven dollars was realised from the tea and the talent table.

BISHOP FLEMING DEFENDS 'MAD TRAPPER OF ARCTIC'

TORONTO, April 12.—(C.P.) — "Albert Johnson, called 'the mad trapper of the north,' was not a gangster—and he was not mad," Rt. Rev. Archibald Lang Fleming, "the Flying Bishop of the Arctic," said to-day on his return from a trip to England.

"I knew Albert Johnson well," the Bishop said. The trapper was shot down in 1932 in a fight which also ended in the death of Constable E. Miller and the serious wounding of Constable A. W. King and Staff Sergeant J. Hersey.

The Bishop described Johnson as a man "capable of marvellous endurance and skilful in all that makes for effectiveness in the wilds."

"Stories that he was riddled with bullets are also untrue. He had six bullets in his body," said the Bishop. "On his person was $2,400. The payment of a miserable $75 license fee would have saved all the trouble, sorrow, bloodshed and death."

BUILDING FOREMAN DIES

HAMILTON, April 12 (CP) — Christopher Hennessey, foreman for W. H. Yates and Company, contractors on the new federal building here, died in hospital early to-day as a result of injuries he received Monday.

Hennessey was standing on a plank on the third floor. He signalled for a quantity of stone to be dumped and as the material fell it struck the board upon which he was standing. He was precipitated to the floor below and suffered a fractured skull and broken back.

LIGHT KEEPER DIES OF BLOW

Wife Signals Mainland For Days Before Attracting Attention.

AID ARRIVES TOO LATE.

CLINTON, Conn., April 12.—(A.P.)—A tragic drama of the sea in which a woman stood helplessly by on rocky Duck Island a mile from here and watched her husband die of a fractured skull while improvised signals she rigged up to a lighthouse went unnoticed from the shore occupied authorities today.

Charles W. Neurer, acting keeper of the light, was injured Monday and his wife saw him die at noon the following day while she frantically tried to attract the attention of shore dwellers by inverting a flag, suspending bed sheets from windows of their dwelling, and finally attaching a dress to a pole.

The dress was seen fluttering in the breeze yesterday by Mr. Walter Libby, of Clinton, who, with her husband, owns Duck Island. The relief party found Neurer had died either from a fall or a blow from a swinging block attached to the boom of his 15-foot fishing boat, which was tied to the island dock.

THREE TEAMS HAVE MADE OBJECTIVE

'Y' Campaign Workers Report 74 Per Cent. of Objective Obtained.

The Y.M.C.A. financial campaign which is seeking to raise $7,500 for current budget requirements had attained 74 per cent of the objective, by last evening, Charles Shaw, campaign chairman was informed in receiving the reports of the various teams, at a supper meeting in the 'Y'.

In a similar campaign last year, approximately the same results were attained at the end of the third day of the campaign. So hearty has the response been on the part of the public generally that the officials of the Association, have every confidence that the required amount will be subscribed fully within the next few days.

So far the members of the various teams have made an aggregate of 639 calls, which have resulted in a total of 497 subscriptions, amount to 74 per cent of the allotment.

Three teams captained by Charles J. Ray, C. Max Rishor and the Rev. C. D. Daniel are reported to have obtained over 100 per cent of their individual allotments, while Max Rishor's team has the added distinction of having collected the largest amount of money with the sum of $464 to the team's credit.

The special names committee, composed of the Board under leadership of Past President W. A. Richardson, have canvassed their prospects thoroughly and report they met with a most gratifying response from the manufacturers of the city, as well as from some out of town friends.

Weddings

MORTON—BROWN

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Brown, West Seymour on Wednesday, April 10, when their eldest daughter, Mary Alice, became the bride of Mr. Gerald Albert Morton, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Morton, Norwood. Rev. S. A. Kemp of Havelock officiated.

The bride looked charming in a gown of coral crepe back satin made on princess lines with a white net veil caught with orange blossoms and carrying a bouquet of maiden hair fern and yellow daffodils. She entered the beautifully decorated drawing room on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding music played by Miss Ruby Dunham, cousin of the bride.

Miss Evelyn Brown, sister of the bride was bridesmaid, wearing pink flowered organdie and carrying a bouquet of maiden hair fern and pastel daffodils. Mr. Harold Thompson, cousin of the groom, acted as groomsman. Little Goldie Glenn was flower girl wearing a dress of peach canton crepe trimmed with silver lace and carrying a basket of maiden hair fern and daffodils.

After congratulations and best wishes Miss Reta Longmuir sang "O Promise Me" accompanied by Miss Pieda Thompson at the piano.

The groom's gift to the bride was a sum of money, to the bridesmaid and pianist, sterling silver pendants set with amber and amethyst stones, to the soloist, accompanist and flower girl, bracelets and to the groomsman, gold cuff links.

A sumptuous wedding dinner was served in the dining room, decorated in pink and white by four cousins of the bride namely, Misses Florence and Ethel Shearer, Phyllis Brown and Ruby Dunham, all wearing dainty white organdie aprons with trimmings to match the bride's table decorations.

Amid showers of confetti and best wishes the happy couple left for points east and on their return will reside on the groom's farm in Bemont township.

Revenues of railways of Germany increased 15 per cent in the last year.

"While the midnight stars are gleaming,
In a lone and silent grave,
Beneath sleeps dear mother,
The one we loved but could not save.
Her weary hours, her days of pain,
Her troubled nights are past;
Her ever patient, worn out frame
Has found sweet rest at last.
Long days, long nights she bore her pain,
To wait for cure, but all in vain;
Till God Himself knew what was best,
He took her home and gave her rest."

Retail Wine Store Is To Be Opened In City

Announcement is made by the Hillrust Wine Company Limited of St. Catharines that they have leased the old Robinson Building on Charlotte street, where they shortly intend to open a retail store for the sale of native wines and champagne.

E. Stanley Brown, secretary-treasurer of the company, who is to manage the store here, stated that he was hopeful of being ready to open for business at the end of next week. The store, he said, is to be operated under a special commission from the Liquor Control Board of Ontario.

Prior to the introduction of the beer and wine amendments, Mr. Brown stated, it was only permissible for wine companies to retail their product in the place where it was manufactured. Under the amended law, however, stores may be operated under special license in various place throughout the province.

At the moment the premises are undergoing certain renovations, the work being in charge of H. T. Hickey, local contractor.

To Our Friends---Citizens of Peterboro
We Require One More
BOOST---then
We Will Be Over the Top
May we take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation to the many friends of the Y.M.C.A., who have so generously contributed to this campaign, we also convey our thanks for the many kind thoughts expressed by those, who through adverse circumstances have found it necessary to reduce their donations and in some cases were unable to contribute.
There is still an opportunity for those who have not as yet contributed to the welfare of Peterborough youth to lay aside the old criticising bug and enter into the spirit of true fellowship which Peterborough is noted for, and in the final last boost put the campaign over the top. $1,300 will do it.
WE NEED YOUR HELP NOW—SOME DAY YOU MAY NEED OURS.

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, April 12.—Guests at Carole Lombard's party got their thrill when Jean Harlow and Bill Powell made their appearance. Bill and Carole have always been that way about their divorce but everybody wondered what would happen under the particular circumstances. Nothing did, of course. Nothing sensational, that is. Only there was something funny when it came time to go home. Sorry, but I can't let you in on the laugh.

Jean Harlow

HOLLYWOOD TICKER-TAPE—

The biggest recent laugh was the "Producers' Rumba contest" supposed to come of in a local gay-spot. Wires commenced to hum from the east, and the affair was called off, with several of the supposed contestants showing up at a rival spot....D. W. Griffith is supposed to be headed for Hollywood. ....You can't expect to see Josef von Sternberg form an independent company . . Peggy Watters and Lyle Talbot were together again at the Sebastian's Cotton club..... And, at a nearby table, Frances Drake and Henry Wilcoxon...., "Fats" Waller, the dusky blues singer and piano tapper at this spot is the town's newest hit among night club entertainers....Joan Blondell says please tell you not to write in for the baby clothes she was to distribute. They are all gone....She got 250 letters from Los Angeles and vicinity alone after the story was printed in this column.

Even if Hollywood beckons, Laura La Plante will have to turn away. For Laura's producer husband, Irving Asher, refuses to be separated from her by 6,000 miles.

"I wouldn't mind it for one picture," he says, "But if she did one, I know they'd want her for more, and that's not my idea of marriage."

Irving, who won his real spurs, handling Warner Brothers producing interests in England, goes back there with a new seven-year contract and with Jack Warner's okay on his program for the coming year.

He and Laura have been widely entertained during their stay in Hollywood. She remains a couple of weeks, but unless she can make Irving change his mind, there'll be no picture work here.

Laura is now a big favorite in British films, you know. She did five last year and must report in May for Guy Bolton's "Water Nymph." Autograph seekers, who are now as numerous in London as in Hollywood, swarm around her when she appears in public.

Just another case where Hollywood said "through" too soon.

Joey Lee, orchestra leader at the King's club, local gay spot, is making it tough on a thief who stole his Januarius Gaglino violin. An instrument valued at $7,000.

The police are watching the pawn shops, the musical houses here are all on guard and a description of the violin has been published in the papers read by the trade.

Joey is giving the thief one chance to collect. He'll pay $500 for the return of the instrument, no questions asked.

April first came several days early for James Cain, author of "The Postman Always Rings Twice." The author gives informal singing bees at his Hollywood home on Friday nights. The guests are required to have singing voices, or to bring someone who has.

He turned out to be a bespectacled fellow named Mike Swartz. But when his voice pealed out, Cain rubbed his hands with glee. A discovery!

Then came the big laugh. Swartz really was Michael Bartlett, just brought out from the Philadelphia Opera company to play opposite Grace Moore in "Love Me Forever."

CONTRACT BRIDGE

REVISED 1935 SCORING

The International Bridge Laws, 1932, have been amended, to go into effect March 31, 1935. Naturally, the most important changes are in scoring. These are given below.

First no trump trick, 40 points. Each subsequent trick scores 30 points. Game remains 100 points. Spade and heart tricks remain 30 points each. Diamond and club tricks remain at 20 points each.

The 1927 values of slames have been restored, as follows: Small slam, 500 points when not vulnerable, and 750 points when vulnerable; grand slam, 1,000 points when not vulnerable, and 1,500 points when vulnerable.

The premium for winning the rubber remains: 700 points when one side wins the first two games, 500 points when two out of three games have to be won.

Undertrick Penalties

Score Above Line

2	100	300	200	500
3	150	500	300	800
4	200	700	400	1100
5	250	900	500	1400
6	300	1100	600	1700

The new code has in mind simplicity and reduction of losses to a side not having its fair share of high cards. For going down when not vulnerable, multiply the number of tricks down by 50. If vulnerable, multiply the number of tricks down by 100. For going down doubled, when not vulnerable the first trick costs 100 points, each subsequent trick costs 200 points; when vulnerable the first double trick costs 200 points, each subsequent trick costs 300 points.

Premiums for overtricks remain unchanged: If undoubled, the trick values, whether not vulnerable or vulnerable; if doubled, 100 points each when not vulnerable, or 200 points each when vulnerable. Of course, redoubling doubles the 100 or 200 points awarded for each overtrick when doubled.

The penalty for a revoke remains unchanged. The penalty for looking at a quitted trick is now 50 points. If a player looks at a card dealt to him before completion of the deal there must be a new deal. A card exposed during play is no longer "subject to call"; it must be played at the first opportunity. To understand all the lesser changes in the laws each player should provide himself with a copy of the full text, which should be obtainable at any book store.

As should have been done, the rights of declarer's partner to protect himself have been restored, provided he does not intentionally look at a card in any other player's hand.

In general the new code is simpler and better than the old one, even if there appears to be no reason for altering some of the old names for less simple ones.

Be Beautiful

By GLADYS GLAD

"Dear Miss Glad: I have lovely brown eyes, and I want to take excellent care of them. I've been told that eyewashes help to keep the eyes clear and sparkling. Is that so? And what sort of an eyewash would you recommend?

"AGNES."

Eyewashes do, indeed, help to keep the eyes clear and sparkling. They remove any accumulated particles of dust and grime that may tend to make the eyes inflamed and bloodshot. A boric acid solution is most commonly advised for eyewashes. To make this, one teaspoon of boric acid should be dissolved in a glass of tepid, sterilized water. Another eyewash that is effective is boiled water to which a very little salt has been added. The plain water tends to cause a smarting that the salt allays. It has the same effect as tears, the natural eyewash.

"Dear Miss Glad: I've been following the reducing course in your 'New Figure' booklet for some time now, and have succeeded in losing 27 pounds. What's more, my figure is now not only slender, but firm and well-proportioned as well. And am I pleased! However, I've another problem now that worries me. My hair continually splits at the ends, and really looks quite terrible. I have not the faintest notion of what to do about this, and would be grateful for your kind advice.

"MARILEE."

Singeing formerly was always recommended for split ends, but I personally do not think this is the best remedy. For often, after a while, the ends split again. The best thing to do is to have the ends of the hair clipped about one-fourth an inch above the splits, and to get into the habit of brushing the hair vigorously every day. It is dryness, you know, that causes the ends to split. The brushing will distribute the natural oil evenly over the hairs and give the ends their share of lubrication. A series of weekly or fortnightly hot oil treatments, too, will lubricate the hair and scalp, and will help to eliminate any splitting of the hair ends.

"Dear Miss Glad: Every night before I retire, I massage a good hand lotion well into my hands. And yet, despite this fact, my cuticle is always hard and dry, and my nails very brittle. I've heard that oil manicures are good to correct such conditions. Could you tell me just what the proper procedure is?

LORRAINE."

The hot oil manicure differs from the ordinary manicure only in that the fingertips are soaked in warm olive oil, instead of warm soapy water. To administer such a manicure, cleanse your hands and file your nails to the right shape. Then dip your fingertips in a bowl of warmed olive oil and allow them to soak for about five minutes. After this time, remove them and wipe off the excess oil. Then continue your manicuring in the usual way. Hot oil manicures not only help to correct dry, brittle nails, but also soften the cuticle and keep it smooth and supple.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

The average home medicine closet may be roughly divided into those articles which are regularly used and a second group which may be called the "accumulation of the ages." The accumulation of the ages consists in such things as capsules in a pasteboard box which Dr. Lysander gave father for a peculiar attack of jaundice that he had about seven years ago.

The first thing to do in preparing a family medicine closet is to clear out all the debris that nobody is using regularly. Most of the liquid preparations have probably been decomposed and become inert by this time so they will not be much of a loss.

In recommending what should in a medicine closet, people usually say that the poisons should be put on the top shelves and nothing but poisons should be put there. As a matter of fact, the best thing to do is not to have any poisons in the medicine closet at all. The only one that possibly might be permissible is lysol, and if you have a bottle of lysol it should be in a bottle with a rough outside. If not, put three bands of adhesive around the bottle so that you will be able to feel it as well as see it, and know immediately that you have hold of a bottle containing poison.

Adhesive plaster, sterile gauze, gauze bandages, absorbent cotton, vaseline, and tincture of iodine, should be kept in a box (a cigar box size) by themselves and labelled "Surgical emergency."

Four Classes of Drugs

Of drugs, there are only four classes which should be allowed in the medicine cupboard:

1. Cathartics—Which cathartic you have is not particularly important except that no household where there are children should have a cathartic pill containing strychnine—the so-called A.S. & B. pills—aloin, strychnine and belladonna. Strychnine poisoning from the eating of these pills is the most common cause of death due to poisons in children in this country. Of the cathartics, I believe the best to have on hand is castor oil. It works, it is a thorough cleanser and its taste is so disagreeable that it is not likely to form a habit. For chronic use by all adds the best, in my opinion, is mineral oil or petrolatum.

2. Headache Tablets or Pain Killers—There is probably nothing better than aspirin in five-grain tablets, although aspiring and phenacetin, two grains each, and one grain of caffeine citrate in a capsule or tablet make a somewhat more efficient remedy.

Bicarbonate of soda or milk of magnesia, or the combination in the form of bisodol and other similar preparations, may be handy in case there is some member of the family who suffers from acid indigestion or gas.

2. Hypnotics or Sleeping Potions—In the form of the barbiturates—veronal, medinal, alonal, amytal, etc.—we have extremely efficient sleep-producers. They are doubtfully habit-forming and, in my experience, not habit-forming at all for 90 per cent of the population. For many people these are almost a necessity—for those who lead a life under pressure. However, other people do not like the idea of having a sleep-producing drug, which might be habit-forming, in the house, and this opinion must be respected.

4. Ointments—Some ointments for external use in case of irritation may be considered a part of the family medicine chest. Zinc oxide ointment and ammoniated mercury ointment are both efficient and should cover all requirements.

DINNER
Beef Pot Roast Gravy
Boiled Potatoes
Creamed Fried Onions
Cabbage Salad
Pennsylvania Brown Betty Coffee

Substantial is the word to describe this menu, I suppose. It is designed for people with healthy appetites.

Today's Recipes

Creamed Fried Onions—One dozen medium-sized onions, three tablespoons fat, three tablespoons flour, one teaspoon salt, pepper, two cups milk, toast. Slice and fry the onions in the fat. When the light brown, dredge with the flour, stir well, season and add milk slowly, stirring constantly. Let boil one minute and serve on toast.

Eggs Shirred With Asparagus.—Grease individual ramekins with butter or margarine, sprinkle generously with bread crumbs. Put one tablespoon cream in each. Warm ramekins. Drop an egg into the center of each and over the top arrange several spears of canned asparagus; sprinkle bread crumbs mixed with grated cheese over the top, dot over with bacon and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees Fahrenheit, until eggs are firm.

Pennsylvania Brown Betty—Three cups diced stale bread, two tablespoons butter, three cups sliced apples, two to three cups sugar, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half cup water. Mix the bread with melted butter, sprinkle with sugar, put a layer in a greased baking dish, add a layer of apples sprinkled with sugar mixed with cinnamon. Repeat until the material is used, having crumbs and sugar on top. Add water and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees Fahrenheit) until the crumbs are browned and the apples are cooked.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Fried Toast or French Toast

Twelve slices bread one-half-inch thick, two eggs, two cups milk, one-half teaspoon salt. Beat the eggs, add the milk and salt. Dip slices of bread into this mixture and saute in a little hot fat until a delicate brown.

Entertainment at Home

Games have been coming back in favor for several years, and with the renewed liking for them has come the demand for new games. A new book, "Let's throw a Party," by Sam Whiting, offers games and refreshment suggestions for the hostess. It is a small book, and while it will not solve the winter's entertainment problem, it does offer some splendid amusement suggestions.

Rhubarb and Raisin Sauce

Two pounds washed and cut rhubard, one-fourth package seeded raisins, one and one-fourth cups granulated sugar, one-third cup water. Stew rhubarb until done, with water; add raisins and cook for five minutes. Stir sugar in well and let cool to serve.

AERIAL SURVEYS ARE EXPLAINED

A. M. Narraway Addresses Local Members of Engineering Institute.

RESUME COUNTY BLOCK.

When explorers took wings and a camera along with them, they rolled back the last frontiers of Canada to the coast of the Arctic Sea, and came home with photographs and exact information of vast unknown tracts of country that have simplified and facilitated surveys for many branches of industry, A. M. Narraway, associate director of topographical surveys and chief aerial engineer of the federal Department of the Interior, related in his address to the Engineering Institute last night.

The airplane and the camera have become within the last ten years efficient and reliable handmaidens of the mining prospector, the geologist, lumberman, the civil engineer and surveyor, and also to those who are interested in locating power sites, railway extensions, drainage areas and other ventures through new and unbroken stretches of country.

Photographs taken from the air are returned to the offices of the department providing all the necessary data for the map- maker, and are also compiled in a pictorial library which Mr. Narraway said is being frequently used not only by those who seek a bird's eye view of remoter district but also of the older parts of the country. In this connection he stated that the photography of the remaining block of land north of Peterborough county to Algonquin Park would be resumed in a few weeks for the completion of a topographical map of Ontario which has already been invaluable to the canal department and to lumbering and tourist interests.

Experts in photography can interpret the details of the terrain as to the varieties of timber showing in the plates and the rock formations that suggest deposits for the prospector's ground work. Canadian aviators have swept their cameras over 470,000 square miles during the last decade, and have brought to the offices departmental engineers pictorial information that had been locked since time began behind the natural barriers of vast distances and the obstructions of forest and lake, hills and flat muskeg country far beyond man's old horizons.

Mr. Narraway, in his matter-of-fact discourse, conveyed some of the dramatic aspects of the accomplishments of a group of airmen who in ten years have completed the map of their country, immense blocks of which had been only sketchily and inaccurately drawn from the knowledge gained by slow and tollsome exploration in the past.

J. W. Pierce was chairman of the meeting.

Honeymoon Blasted As Law Steps In

Mrs. Vera Lee Ryan (above), beautiful blonde Baltimore girl, saw her romance shattered when her husband of four months, Jean Ryan alias Jean la Blanc (top, right), was taken into custody by Washington police and held for Montreal authorities on charges of participating in four bank robberies in the Canadian city. La Blanc, police said, admitted the Montreal bank robberies, and told them that he would not contest extradition. He asked only that his wife be spared, declaring that she knew nothing about his past and "is a lovely, straightforward girl." Walter Nevin, alleged accomplice of Ryan, is shown (below).

EXPECT RUNS—

UNLESS you use Lux for your stockings!

Climbing stepladders, running upstairs and down, bending over—it's all in the day's work for a housewife. Pretty hard on her stockings, though, if they've lost their elasticity.

That's why clever, thrifty wives wash stockings each day in Lux. It's made to save elasticity so stockings give instead of breaking into runs so often.

Cake-soap rubbing and soaps with harmful alkali weaken elasticity.

NEW YORK MAY GET PARI-MUTUEL LAW

ALBANY, N. Y., April 12.—(AP) — A highly controversial proposal for a constitutional amendment to legalize pari-mutuel betting in New York State was advanced to the order of final passage in the Senate of the New York legislature last night.

The assembly concurred with the Senate in passage of a bill to give broader powers to the state racing commission. It now awaits the action of Governor Herbert Lehman.

The bill would give the commission full and exclusive right to grant dates and specify places of race meetings; authority to approve all officials connected with the actual conduct of racing appointed by the jockey club or the various racing associations; the right to examine and inspect the books of any and all associations or corporations associated with racing.

BETHANY

A.Y.P.A. Meeting In Staples Home

BETHANY, April 12 (Examiner Correspondence).—St. Mary's A.Y.P.A. held their meeting on Wednesday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Staples, who had kindly invited them.

A croquinole and Easter party is to be held in Lifford Hall on the next regular meeting night.

Ben Page had charge of a musical program. George Times gave a violin solo, Karl Monk a talk on the band leader, Sousa, Robert and Isabelle Sisson a pleasing duet, Jimmie Drysdale a guitar and mouth organ selection, Theresa Holden a reading on "Church Music" and Ben Page trumpet selections.

Lena Mulligan arranged a "kitchen band", which, though not very musical, was much enjoyed.

An instructional music contest closed a very interesting musical program.

Mrs. Lloyd Staples and Miss Hickson served a very delicious and appetizing lunch.

Rev. Holden gave the vote of thanks to the host and hostess, which was followed by a hearty clap of hands and the singing of, "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows".

Mother, 3 Children Flee As Home Burns

ISLINGTON, Ont., April 12 (CP) —Fire early to-day forced a mother and three children to flee in their night attire from a home on the farm of Col. Harry McGee, near this suburban Toronto town. The blaze, which started in an ice house, gutted the home.

Only the warning of a neighbor roused the two of Mrs. Taylor and the children sleeping as the fire raged through the house.

ROSENEATH

PLANS DISCUSSED ANNUAL MEETING

Roseneath Women's Institute to Sponsor Entertainment May 24th.

ROSENEATH, April 12 (Examiner Correspondence).—The regular meeting of the Womens' Institute was held in the town hall, with Mrs. C. W. Varcoe and Miss Joy Morrison as hostesses. The Vice-president, Mrs. Barton Thackeray, presided.

The sympathy of the branch was expressed to the President, Mrs. Frank Nichol, in her recent sad bereavement.

The annual meeting in May, with the election of officers, will be held in the township hall, with Mrs. James Webb and Mrs. Alex. Brown as hostesses, and their assistants will be Mrs. John Blodgett, Mrs. Ednel Blodgett, Mrs. Barton Thackeray and Miss Rosella Taylor.

Plans for an entertainment for May 24th were discussed. On motion of Mrs. Leslie Sherwin and Mrs. Marcus Radley, a committee be appointed to secure a play for that date and appointed Miss Beatrice Sandercock, Mrs. Sam Ryan and Mrs. Ednel Blodgett responsible for the evening's program. On motion of Mrs. E. Braithwaite and Mrs. Ednel Blodgett that a dance be held after the play. Carried.

Miss Joy Morrison and Miss B. Sandercock were appointed a committee to secure an orchestra.

Mr. Charles Wilton, of Cobourg, gave a demonstration on Fuller brushes, which was quite interesting. The young ladies of the Institute provided an excellent program for the meeting, Miss Sandercock, convenor, taking charge of the following program:

AFRAID TO GO TO BED

Woman's Dread of Rheumatic Pains

THANKS KRUSCHEN FOR RELIEF

The effect of rheumatism upon this woman was a peculiar one. She so dreaded the numbness that used to overcome her at night that she was afraid to go to bed. She tells her experiences in the letter published below:—

"I have been suffering from rheumatism for years. At one time I could scarcely walk with pains in my feet. The thumb of my left hand was so stiff I could only bend it with the aid of the right hand. I was afraid to go to bed, as my right hand and arm up to the elbow used to go numb, and the pain was just terrible until I got the circulation going again. I started to take a half-teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast, and believe me I feel a different woman. I tell everyone what I take, and the good it has done me."—(Mrs.) W. A. B.

The pains of rheumatism are caused by deposits of needle-pointed uric acid crystals in the muscles and joints. The most effective solvents of these crystal deposits are sodium and potassium. Glauber Salts contains sodium only. Epsom Salts has no solvent action at all, as it is not absorbed by the blood. Now Kruschen Salts contain both sodium and potassium. They are the only salts which bring a double action to bear in dissolving the uric acid crystals. Then other constituent salts of Kruschen assist Nature to expel these dissolved crystals through the natural channel. Still other salts in Kruschen prevent food fermentation or decomposition taking place in the intestines, and thereby check the further formation, not only of uric acid, but of other body poisons which undermine the health.

Earl Of Dundonald Noted Warrior Dies

LONDON, April 12.—(C.P. Cable) —The Earl of Dundonald, who had had a long and distinguished military career, died today at his home in Wimbledon. He was 82 years old.

In 1921 Dundonald was the special British ambassador to the Peruvian centenary. From 1902 to 1904 he commanded the Canadian militia and directed its reorganization.

But WONDER BREAD has come to town
And everything's all right!

"It just has everything!"

It's quite an achievement to make a bread that suits every taste—but that's just what "Wonder" Kracked Wheat Bread does! It gives you relish with your roughage—the white-flour taste of white bread, the nut-like flavour of brown, and the goodness of both—in the same loaf!

Mother and Dad, Sis and Junior all agree that "Wonder" Kracked Wheat Bread has everything. It's great news for the family meal-maker. No more half-loaves wasted, no more buying of two kinds of bread. No more turning-up of noses at the morning toast, no more complaint about school sandwiches. What a relief!

If you haven't tasted "Wonder" Kracked Wheat Bread, get some right away. It means a real treat for all the family. But be sure it's "WONDER" Kracked Wheat Bread. There are other kinds that look something like it, but THERE'S A WORLD OF DIFFERENCE IN TASTE!

Babe Brings Color To Braves

Bambino Can Still Pack 'Em in Whether He Plays Ball or Not.

BOSTON NEEDS DOUGH ARTISTICALLY Babe Ruth will not be all that could be desired as right fielder for the Boston Braves this year. He is not nearly the fellow he used to be. Financially, however, he will be a great ball player, whether he can go ten feet after a fly ball or not. He'll pack 'em in, and that's what the Braves need. The Braves, with Ruth, add color, but may not go any farther toward a pennant than they went last year when they finished fourth. Pittsburgh and Brooklyn, which finished behind them, have improved a lot over last year, and the Braves haven't.

With Ruth, though, the Braves will be one of the most interesting clubs in the league to watch. The Great Man, at the age of 41, playing his first season in the National League, gives the customers a whole lot of questions they want to see answered for themselves. How will Ruth fit into the Braves' wigwam? There was a story around in the training camps that some of the Boston players miffed a little as the Great Man matriculated. Ball players are a bit funny that way. Some of the Braves figure that Ruth is not going to help them or the club.

MORE THAN a few of Babe's Yankee teammates expressed relief at his departure. More than a few of the Braves hailed his advent not only without enthusiasm, but with no attempt to hide the feeling that Ruth, in his advanced years, is a liability as a ball player, rather than an asset, even though his bat still can boom.

How will this feeling show itself during the season? How will Manager Bill McKechnie react? What will the Boston clubhouse be like if the Babe fails to field a couple that would have been easy for some young rookie, and blows a game by reason of his senility? These are matters that will have to take care of themselves as the season swings along. The fans will go to the park to see Babe belt a few, and to see him strike out. Even now the shadow of greatness that the fans worship lingers over the Great Man.

HOW ABOUT the rest of that ball club? The pitching is good. It was good enough last year to keep the club in the first division without the help of much hitting. Brandt, Frankhouse, Betts, Cantwell, Bob Smith, Rhem, Bob Brown and Lee Mangum are the names. The infield isn't great. Baxter Jordan at first (who has been a stubborn holdout, by the way) is an up-and-coming ball player, Maranville hasn't much longer to go at second, and if he folds, there's Les Mallon to replace him, with Bill Urbanski at short. Pinky Whitney still is a Grade A third baseman. Reserves are Joe Cascarart and Elburt Fletcher.

Besides Ruth the outfielders are Berger, Randy Moore, Hal Lee and Rupert Thompson. A pretty fair punch when they're hitting normally. None was up to normal last year. Hogan, Spohrer and a youngster named Buddy Lewis from the Cardinals are the catchers. Both Hogan and Spohrer slumped at bat last year. The team needs more hitting. All in all, it is not a club that should be ashamed of its right fielder, even though he isn't quite the guy he used to be.

PINKY HIGGINS JIMMY WILSON

Though the weather suggested football, 3,000 brave souls turned out to see the Athletics and Phils begin their city series in Philadelphia as a big league curtain-raiser. GIRLS' SOFTBALL LEAGUE WILL AFFILIATE WITH ONTARIO UNION

Keene, C.G.E. and Westclox Are Certain Entries in 1935 Loop.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The Girls' Softball League decided to affiliate with the Provincial Women's Softball Union this year at the annual meeting held last evening in Duffus'. A large representation built the foundation for another successful season with considerable pre-seasonal business handled. Ev. Thomas was elected president, succeeding Russ Kitchen who declined to stand for re-election.

Following a reading of the minutes and a report on the girls' softball dance, the treasurer's report was read and showed a balance on hand of $62, considered highly satisfactory. The election of officers followed.

These were the officers elected for 1935: Honorary President, Bob Cotton; honorary vice-presidents, Percy Bond, Joe Duffus and Dr. Wright; president, Ev. Thomas; vice-president, Jim McCormick; secretary-treasurer, Gladys Mortimer; auditors, Barbara Blade and Russ Kitchen; executive, the managers of the teams. The executive will appoint a protest committee. It was agreed that the appointing of a groundkeeper and umpires will be left to a later date.

Teams represented at the meeting included: Keene, Omemee, C.G.E., Westclox and Maple Leafs. The latter team was not certain of entering yet. Omemee asked to be allowed to enter only for the second half, since most of their players were attending school in May and June. This matter, after some discussion was left over till the next meeting. Westclox, Keene and C.G.E. are certain entries at present.

It was moved and carried that the league affiliate with the P.W.S.U. Delegates named to attend the annual convention of the Union in Toronto this Sunday were Genevieve Mann and Marjorie Creighton. Several men will attend also but not in an official capacity. The delegates were advised to use their own judgment as to entering right away or reporting back to this league before paying the entry fee. The league will be entered as a four-team one and additional fee paid later provided more than four teams comprise the circuit.

The meeting voted in favor of splitting the gate for league games two ways, with two-thirds of the gate going to the home club and one-third to the league. It was moved and carried that, provided the Peterborough groundkeeper received ten per cent of the gate, out-of-town teams should be allowed to keep this ten per cent for their home games. There was some further discussion on various matters but other business was left over till the next session and the meeting adjourned.

JUNIE BARNES WINS FROM WILMINGTON

WILMINGTON, N.C., April 2.—(C.P.).—This was June Barnes's day in this section of the Carolinas, and the eccentric left-hander turned it on for the benefit of the old folks at home holding the Corsairs to five hits and winning the baseball game, 7 to 3.

He further distinguished himself by going the full route, the first Toronto boxman to do the trick this spring. At that, he couldn't get warmed up, and in that respect he didn't have anything on anybody else in the park, as the weather was far from being of a Florida variety.

MUST BE DECISION HALIFAX TO-NIGHT

President Gilroy of C. A. H. A. Orders to Play to Finish.

HALIFAX, April 12, (CP)—President E. Gilroy of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association last night confirmed his edict that Montreal Royals and Halifax Wolverines must finish their Eastern Canadian title series Friday "if they have to play all night."

One of the teams must go into the Allan Cup finals against Port Arthur Bearcats on Monday, and there are no ifs or buts. A possible tie game would have to be broken, the 30-minute overtime rule having been waived to permit the Eastern rivals to play until it is broken.

This was a decision of the association officers, President Gilroy explained.

So Royals and Wolverines, each with one game and a tie to their credit, rested up last night for the battle of their lives.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX J. MORRISON

Number 585

If you had to keep yourself from falling 100 feet to the ground by holding onto a rope where would you prefer to grasp the rope, at the very end or up toward the top?

The answer is obvious. Holding the rope at the end minimizes your chances of saving your life. The same applies to your hold on a golf club.

You have everything to lose by grasping the end of the shaft. When you keep your left little finger down at least two or three inches from the top of the grip you'll have a number of advantages. The shorter hold enables you to have better control over the club. Your left hand will function better and you'll find it much easier to get the necessary wrist action.

The short hold means better shots in the long run.

STUART SINKS FOUR GOALS IN NORTHERN WIN

Dynamic Sudbury Left Winger Big Menace to Monarchs in Second Game.

PLAY AGAIN WEDNESDAY.

BY HERBERT HONEY
Canadian Press Sports Writer

WINNIPEG, April 12. —(CP)—Sudbury's rampaging Cub Wolves were on the loose in the west today. They ripped a jagged hole in the defence of Winnipeg Monarchs with a 7-2 victory here Thursday night that tied up the Dominion Junior Hockey Title series for the Memorial Cup and left Manitobans wondering who poured water on their gun-powder.

Art Stuart, slender but dynamic Sudbury left winger, was the menace to western hopes of winning the Dominion junior hockey title in two straight games. He bagged four goals and was one of the main reasons why a third and deciding game will be played Saturday night. Monarchs won the first game, Tuesday, 7-6.

Monarchs Try Hard

Matched in speed and backchecking, Monarchs tried desperately in the second and third periods to pull the game out of the hearth. The packed crowd of more than 4,500 were pulled from seats time and again. Successive rallies were thrown back by the thrusts of 'Chuck' Shannon, Eastern defence express, and the spearhead of insistent Sudbury raids.

Nursing a one-goal margain at the start of the third period, the Cub lineof Stuart and Ab Conick led by Bill Hiller pushed deep into Monarchs' territory to rattle pucks off Gauthier, staunch little Manitoba net guardian. Hiller made the play that opened the barrage. He coasted clear through Monarchs defence area and crashed a waist-high shot from the right wing that found the back of the Monarch net.

Heavy Checking

For a time Monarchs paid strict attention to checking attacking waves that came in on the Winnipeg citadel with tireless regularity. At the 17-minute mark Stuart sifted through after picking up a loose puck in the Monarch defence zone and beat Gauthier with the opposition in full cry.

Then it was Hiller's turn to apply the pressure. Joe Krol, Monarch left-winger, was given a tripping penalty and the sandy-haired cub centre-man raced away to flash the eastern champion's sixth marker into the Manitoba net. Hard checks were exchanged as Monarchs rallied to attack and sticks were not infrequently carried high.

Crowd Disapproves

Wilf Field and Johnny Prokaski followed Krol into the penalty box for minor infractions and that was the signal for the crowd to assert its disapproval. In a few seconds the ice was littered with paper and peanuts. Play was halted several times while ushers cleared the ice.

With seconds to go, Don Grosso completed the debacle when he gave the visitors their final goal. There was little organization in the Manitoba defence during the last minutes of the game. Fourteen penalties were handed out in the 60 minutes of play and they were equally divided between Sudbury and Winnipeg.

List Of Nominations O.A.S.A. Announced

GUELPH, April 12.—Several interesting contests for office in the Ontario Amateur Softball Association are forecast at the annual meeting of the association in Peterborough on Good Friday, according to the list of nominations announced last night by Secretary Verne McIlwraith.

Ernest B. Smith of Hamilton, President of the organization in 1934, will be unopposed, along with Treasurer W. J. Innes of Paris, but there is every indication competition will develop for the other positions, including a battle among sixteen nominees for four seats on the executive. The nominations follow: First Vice-President—Geo. H. Spooner, Galt; Homer Frezsel, London. Second Vice-President—V. C. Collett, Toronto; George H. Spooner and Homer Frezsel. Executive—W. Easson, Stratford; W. L. Alguire, St. Catharines; F. Kent, Brantford; D. Leether, Peterborough; H. H. Bowman, Owen Sound; W. Y. Shaw, Windsor; V. C. SERIOUS INJURY TO 'DIXIE' HOWELL

Alabama's Football Star Struck on Right Temple by Line Drive.

LYNCHBURG, Va., April 12 (AP) Millard "Dixie" Howell, football star of the University of Alabama's Rose Bowl champions and now a rookie with Detroit Tigers baseball team, was injured seriously yesterday when a line drive struck him on the right temple.

Hospital attendants watched his condition closely for fear of a brain hemorrhage. X-ray pictures disclosed a fractured milar bone, but the full findings of the pictures were not immediately determined.

Howell was hit by a ball batted by Johnny Mize, Cincinnati first baseman, just before an exhibition game between Detroit and Cincinnati Reds. Practically the entire right side of his face and head was injured by the terrific blow.

Howell rose to the peak of football fame when he led Alabama to a victory over Stanford in the last Rose Bowl game with an amazing exhibition of forward passing.

MACK PICKS TROSKY TO SUCCEED RUTH

Veteran Leader of Athletics Predicts Big Season for Cleveland Clubber.

PHILADELPHIA, April 12.—Take a tip from Connie Mack—keep your eye on Hal Trosky, Cleveland Indians' up-and-coming first baseman as the lad likely to sit down in Babe Ruth's vacated throne of American League "Sultan of Swat."

Connie "looked 'em over" in his league yesterday from his position as dean of the diamond game, saw the Indians' fortunes in the 1935 race resting almost solely on Trosky's performance, and even ventured to predict that his own Athletics may grab off the pennant in as wide open a chase as the circuit has seen in years.

His opinions on the coming season were delivered in a speech at a luncheon in honor of Philadelphia's major league clubs—the A's and Phillies.

"In Trosky," Mack said, "the Indians have a wonderful young first baseman, who hit 35 homers last year, batted .320 for the season, and drove in 142 runs.

"As he goes, so will go the Cleveland team. It depends solely upon him, to my way of thinking, whether Cleveland finishes first or last."

GLASGOW RANGERS HAVE SAFE LEAD

Lowly Clubs Will Provide Features of Scottish League Program.

GLASGOW, April 12 (C.P. Cable) Scottish Soccer Cup finalists having been definitely decided, leading clubs are now bent on keeping Glasgow Rangers from making the race a one-team show. The champions are six points in front of Celtic with the end of the schedule in sight. While there is no doubt about leadership, the cellar occupants have become involved in a great fight to stay in the league.

Two of these clubs, St. Mirren and Ayr United, have created quite a stir during the past month, and have collected much-needed points at the expense of some of the leaders. Just what teams will go down is a matter of conjecture, and the few remaining games should produce real "dog-fights."

Rangers, who qualified to meet Hamilton Academicals in the Cup final by defeating Hearts 2 to 0, return to league warfare on Saturday, meeting Aberdeen on the latter's ground, he champions had a tough game in disposing of the Tynecastle club, and will have to fight hard for victory at Pittodrie.

Electric Shop Bowlers End Successful Season

About fifty-five members of the C.G.E. Shop Bowling League (affiliated with the Social and Athletic Association, wound up a very successful season, with a dinner at Empress Hotel last evening. Alderman Robert S. Cotton, chairman of the association presided, and along with R. E. Layfield, assistant works manager was included among the speakers.

Team prizes were presented as follows: 1, E. Montgomery; 2, E. homas; 3, T. McPhate. Three other prizes were also presented in recognition of 100 per cent attendance throughout the season to Messrs. T. Miller, D. J. Emery and W. Brown.

Prior to the dinner meeting a doubles tournament was bowled on the Duffus alleys, the prize winners being declared as follows: 1, Frank Doris and W. D. Shiner; 2, T. Martin and F. Lockhart; 3, A. Day and R. Dyer.

The program was greatly enhanced by an eye-witness account of one of the recent National League hockey games played in Toronto, presented by a member of the bowlers organization who displayed evidence of not only being a keen observer, but an orator of no mean calibre.

WESTCLOX FIVE RANK HIGHEST IN CAGE AWARDS

ANNUAL BANQUET.

The presentation of silver trophies to winning teams, of pins to the members, and of team gifts to individual coaches, marked the annual banquet of the Ladies' Basketball League of Peterborough, held last evening in the green room and library of the Young Women's Christian Association, with an attendance of nearly one hundred people.

The silver trophies were presentd by Miss Annie Wood, honorary prsident of the league, while Mrs. E. E. Harvey, president of the Y.W. Board, presented pins to the individual members, and the captain of the various teams acted on behalf of their associates in presenting gifts to the various coaches.

A coincidence of this year's play was the fact that the final games, in both Senior and Junior sections, were won by the slim margin of one point in each instance.

The Westclox team, winners for the third time of the Senior silver trophy, ranked highest in awards. The captain, Miss Mary Terrace, received the trophy for her team, which is composed of the following players; the Misses Audrey Livingstone, Barbara Blade, Gladys Mortimer, Marie Ferguson, Dot Webb, Isobel Thirnbeck, Irene Vivash, Goldie Robinson and Queenie Brand. To the coach, Rus Kitchen, the presentation of a handsome signet ring was made by Miss Terrace, on behalf of the team members.

The Westclox players, who won every game straight through the schedule, nevertheless had a hard fight with their opponents, as the runners-up, the Blue Petes, last out in the final tussle by only one point.

To the Blue Petes went the honor of second-play trophy for the second season in succession. The captain, Mrs. Gordon Young, received the award, and also presented the coach, Howard Macdonald, with a pair of "Scottie" book ends. The team members are; the Misses Myrtle Burns, Sadie Levine, Edna Morrow, Patricia McClellan, Beverley Rogers, Helen Cole.

Junior Section

The silver cup to the winners in the Junior section, the team from Murray Street Church, was received by the captain, Mrs. Arthur Mann, who expressed admiration for the splendid playing by the runners-up in this division, the Wohelo team members, who also lost out by just one point in the finals. Miss Josephine Carson presented the coach, John Dundas, on behalf of the members, with an encased pen and pencil set, and a complimentary letter signed by the girls and encased in leather. The team personnel is as follows: the Misses Genevieve Mann, Chris Valentin, Josephine Carson, Jean Barringer, Ruth Ellis, Phyllis Rome, Doris Armstrong, Bernice Weart and Marion Armstrong.

Pins were then presented to the individual members of the teams, including the other players in the schedule.

Gifts from the other teams in the schedule to their coaches were presented. Miss Christine Whatman, captain of the Wohelos, presented the only girl coach, Miss Belle Thirnbeck, with a pretty hand bag; Miss Bernice Cappasoli, acting for the captain, Miss Minnie Hodson, presented the coach of the C.G.E. team, Dick Williams, with a shirt and tie; Miss Margaret Lytle, captain of St. Andrew's team, presented a shirt to the coach, Elmer Pearse; the coach of the "Y" Elementary team, Robert Sager, received the team's gift, socks, tie and handkerchiefs, from the captain, Miss Margaret Dunlop, and Joe Cooper, coach of the "Y" Seniors, was presented with an electric coffee percolator by the captain, Miss Leone Magee.

The chairman of the evening was Rus Kitchen, president of the Basketball League, who spoke briefly of the season's games and extended especial thanks to Miss Caroline Littlefield and to the vice-president of the League, Joe Cooper.

Words of welcome from the Y.W.C.A. were voiced by the president, Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner, who said that the girls had learned a good deal in the past season when they "had learned to win modestly and to lose graciously."

Brief Speeches

A number of brief toasts were honored, including "The King" and the toast to "Basketball," voiced by Miss Barbara Blade of the Westclox Senior champions, with response by Miss Marion Armstrong of the Junior winners from Murray Street Church.

Miss Littlefield referred to the "remarkable season" just ended and spoke of the "gratifying exhibition of sportsmanship exhibited by winners and losers."

Words from the referees were heard, when S. O. Shields and Joseph Cooper spoke, the latter drawing to the attention of the girls six definite changes in rules which will be in effect next season. Both referred in glowing terms to the excellent showing made by the winners in the Junior section, the members of the Murray Street Church team, and to the runners-up from the Wohelo group.

The Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, a guest of the evening, echoed the same sentiments and also voiced a tribute to the referees. He spoke of the "gracious spirit" with which the Wohelo team accepted defeat by such a very close margin.

The entertainment of the evening included community singing led by Howard Macdonald and Miss Jessie Pattison, some peppy tap dancing by the Misses Irma Beatty and Kay Thackeray, with Mrs. J. Foster at the piano, and a very fine repast catered for by the members of the Women's Association of Murray Street Baptist Church, with Mrs. R. Gavine in charge. The tables were decorated with blue and white streamers, daffodils and pussy willows. A Friendship Chain and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" formed the closing.

Active in receiving the guests and in arrangements for the banquet and table decorations were Mrs. Stanley Robinson, Mrs. Gordon Young, the Misses Doris Ackford, Belle Thirnbeck, Jessie Pattison.

Members of the Wohelo team who were runners up in the Junior section and made such a splendid showing, losing out by one point in the race for the silver trophy, were the captain, Miss Christine Whatham, the coach, Miss Belle Thirnbeck, and the Misses Patricia McCarrell, Mary Kingsbury, Katie Rogow, Esther Rogow, Bernadette Flynn, Frances Bastard, Adele Guiklick, Edith Lynch.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two.

DAY BY DAY

(By C. J. P.)

And so the gals start things off. They held their annual meeting last gloaming in Duffus' maple-dumping parlors and a goodly crowd was there. It was a neat session and they certainly cleared the decks for future activity. About twenty present, half ladies and half gentl.... well, fellows. Pay no attention boys, we're including ourself in that last crack! As usual, the men did most of the talking, although in fairness to them the gals didn't have very many suggestions. But we agreed with the lass who up and spoke her mind when it looked like all men were being elected. Says she: "I think there ought to be a girl or two elected; isn't this a girls' league?" And so they elected a gal or two.

• • • • • •

The treasurer's report showed the loop has something like sixty-two berries on hand and that's not hay in these times. In fact, they're practically plutocrats with all those potatoes in the cellar. When they got through marvelling at this glad news, they elected officers as follows: Hon. Prexy, Bob Cotton; honorary vice-presidents, Percy Bond, Dr. Wright of Keene and J. J. Duffus; president, Ev Thomas, vice, Jim McCormick; sec.-treas., Gladys Mortimer (ha, this proves it's a gals' league); auditors, Barbara Blade and Russ Kitchen; and managers of the teams make up the executive committee. Protest committee, groundkeeper and umps come later.

• • • • • •

Two delegates named for the P.S.W.U. convention in Toronto Sunday to affiliate the league are Mrs. J. Mann and Marjorie Creighton, with a few guys along for advice if necessary. Only teams we're sure of yet are Westclox, C.G.E. and Keene. Maple Leafs will likely enter and Omemee will be in part time, anyway. They wanted to enter only for the second half as higher education—in the form of some players who go to school—might interfere the first part. This could probably be overcome by scheduling them Fridays or Saturdays, or maybe having games they were in count as two games, or something. Probably something. Anyway, it'll be taken up again at the next gabfest of the loop.

• • • • • •

The gathering agreed that home clubs should collect two-thirds of the gate with the league taking what's left. And out-of-town clubs will take an equivalent to what the groundkeeper puts the clutch on here, that is for their home games. Don't you understand it? Well, maybe, you're not a home club out-of-town, maybe that's why. Anyway, that's practically the whole works that transpired at last night's session. We think it was a very good start. After the delegates do their stuff in Toronto on the Sabbath, and another session is cleaned up here a week or so later, the gals should be all set to go to it just as soon as the ground is ready and the weather oke. It looks like a hot time this summer in the Girls' Softball League and any other outfit wanting in had better lock lively.

• • • • • •

We're sorry to see Russ Kitchen drop out of the ladies' softball circuit as prexy, he being the first one elected and a good worker. But his baseball pitching would cut in on his time, Russ figured, this summer so he's relinquishing the reins—although he'll still help out. And Genevieve Mann was a conscientious secretary last season and did fine work. President Ev. Thomas, Secretary Gladys Mortimer and the new officers all are capable and quite interested in the game, so the affairs of the loop should continue to be handled efficiently. More girls, no doubt, would be elected to offices in this and similar women's leagues but the fair ones themselves decline as a rule. They go for the athletics but not the offices.

The Ladies' Basketball League championship banquet in the Y.W. last p.m. was a gala affair with a big crowd present. Presentations of cups, pins, ribbons, rings, coffee percolators, etc., were the order with everyone being cut in on something. Westclox, senior winners; Blue Petes, the runners-up; and Murray St., junior champs, all came in for praise. Their coaches, respectively, were Russ Kitchen, Howie Macdonald and Johnny Dundas. And Miss Littlefield of the Y.W.C.A. deservedly came in for much credit. It was a fitting conclusion to a successful basketball season.

Art Rowden of Oshawa is running for the executive of the O.A.S.A. this year, as is Dave Leether of Peterborough. Rowden no doubt will be down with a Motor City delegation here Good Friday. The Oshawa writer remarked yesterday: "Speaking of Good Friday reminds us of the O.A.S.A. annual convention which gathers in Peterborough soon. The wide-awake Peterborough softball moguls are leaving no stone unturned to assure making this event a feature. Even the City Council gave the softball league a grant of money to help defray expenses." Final meeting of the local executive is Monday eve at seven in Duffus.

The Tri-County Lacrosse League will likely hold its annual meeting here some evening next week. Things are shaping up very well with Millbrook, Lindsay and two local teams all figuring on coming in. And we were talking to some lacrosseers in Norwood yesterday—having chased down there to see the big blaze, being a nut on following fires—and they are hoping to get lined up all right. They said they'd have a team at the Lindsay tourney May 6th. Chief trouble confronting 'em is a place to play home games but this may be overcome. They should attend the annual session here, anyway.

ARSENAL HOPES TO TAKE TITLE ENGLISH LOOP

Gunners Are Three Points Ahead of Sunderland With Six Games Left.

INJURIES BREAK UP TEAMS.

LONDON, Eng., April 12. (C. P. Cable).—Sunderland's chances for English soccer supremacy were given a crushing blow Wednesday, and as a consequence of Manchester City's 1-0 victory at Maine Road, Arsenal leads in the closing drive for the championship with a margin of three points.

The three clubs each have six games to play before the close of the season. Arsenal is on the top of the heap with 49 points, Sunderland has 46, and Manchester City 45. While the Gunners have a distinct advantage the heavy Easter holiday program may yet result in a change in the positions of the clubs.

The Londoners will be without Copping, their interntional left-half, when they visit the midlands Saturday for a tough game with Wolverhapton Wanderers. The player is suffering from knee cartilage trouble, necessitating an operation. He will be unable to play again this season. The Gunners are enthusiastic over their chances of winning the championship three years in succession.

Tottenham Hotspurs' cup of bitterness is overflowing. Added to their desperate position at the bottom of the league, further casualties are reported and the composition of the team to play Birmingham at White Hart Lane was not decided on yesterday.

Four Others in Danger

Who will accompany the Spurs into the Second Division is a question agitating supporters of several clubs. Middlesbrough, Leeds, Birmingham and Leicester are all in the danger zone.

Leader of the Second Division, Brentford, is always to Manchester United, and a point will make promotion to the First Division certain. The Bees will field their strongest team and the United will again be at full strength with the return of Rowley to inside left.

West Ham United and Bolton Wanderers also have eyes on the First Division. Bolton should improve its chances by defeating Norwich City, but the Hammers will have to fight hard against Notts County, struggling rather vainly against relegation to the Third Division.

Charlton Athletic is at home to Watford in the Third Division, Southern Section, but the Valley Parade outfit is practically certain of promotion.

A different situation exists in the Northern Section, where Doncaster Rovers assumed leadership yesterday by defeating their rivals, Tranmere Rovers. At home to Lincoln City the new leaders should widen the margin over the runners-up.

LAZER HAS HOPES OF BEATING LOUIS

New Jersey Heavyweight Believes Detroit Negro is Over-rated.

CHICAGO, April 12. — A 21-year-old Jewish heavyweight, Roy Lazer, of Paterson, N.J., will attempt to stop the amazing surge of Joe Louis, Brown bomber of Detroit, in a 10-round battle in Chicago Stadium to-night.

Not a man in boxing, with the exception of Lazer himself, figures he has a chance of achieving something that seventeen other heavyweights have failed to do. Lazer, undefeated in 35 professional bouts, is confident Louis is overrated and that he is capable of pulling the outstanding ring upset of the year. That is exactly what it would be if he succeeds in defeating the Detroit negro, who in his short career has compiled 13 knockouts.

Lazer expects to enter the ring near the 198-pound notch, which will give him practically an even shake with Louis in the weights.

DOGERS RETAIN VANCE

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP). Dazzy Vance, once the leading pitcher of the National eLague, who has been with Brooklyn Dodgers on trial since drawing his release from St. Louis Cardinals two weeks ago, was formally signed to a Brooklyn contract yesterday and will start the season with his former teammates.

Manager Casey Stengel did not reveal the terms of the contract, but indicated the Dazzler will receive more than he was paid by the Cardinals last year. Stengel plans to use Vance in relief roles.

Boy Fractures Arm In Fall From Wagon

LINDSAY, April 12 (Examiner Correspondence) — Frederick Kennedy, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kennedy, of Dunsford, is in the Ross Hospital as a result of an accident which he sustained after falling down from the rear of a wagon on which he was riding. The horses gave a jump and he was thrown from the vehicle to the road, breaking his right arm.

Little Grace Junkin, who was injured in an auto accident on the main street of Bobcaygeon during the week-end, has been moved to the Ross Hospital. The girl is suffering from a fractured skull and body injuries.

The death is announced at the Ross Hospital of a popular young resident of Bobcaygeon in the person of Mrs. Delbert Freeborn. Deceased was the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garner Nicholls of that village. Left to mourn her loss are her husband, two sons, her parents, two brothers and five sisters.

Seeking Peace Formula In Moscow

Captain Anthony Eden scratches his head at question that came up in discussion of German threat to peace of Europe in conversations in Moscow with Joseph Stalin (centre), Soviet Dictator, and V. M. Molotov, Commissar for the Russian War Department. Illness now is preventing Eden from communicating personally results of his swing around Europe to statesmen gathering at Stresa tripartite conference.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, April 13

The lunar aspects of this day emphasize the prospect of promotion, preferments or favors of superiors or those in authority in employment or other affiliations where power and prestige count. This friendliness may be at the instigation of social, artistic or romantic interest or in connection with functions of this order. While it is proper to take advantage of such affiliations for promotion or power, yet a proclivity to shrewd and craft methods should be regulated.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of pleasant and profitable prospects, with those in power and authority ready to recognize and advance worthy projects and propositions. This interest may be friendly enough to react on the social or private life.

A child born on this day may be capable and ambitious but given to show and self-exploitation.

Charged with abducting over 25 girls of various nationalities in Shanghai, China, and elsewhere, a Czechoslovakian has been arrested in Tokyo, Japan.

SOME OPPOSITION

WINDSOR, Ont., April 12.—(CP)—The proposal of the Ontario government to appoint finance commissioners for the city of Windsor, as announced in the Amalgamation Bill brought down in the Provincial Legislature, was criticized at a meeting of the Border Cities Independent political party last night.

Mayor George Bennett saw in the proposal the government's desire to merge municipal politics with provincial politics so that a 'grip' may be kept upon the affairs of the new city.

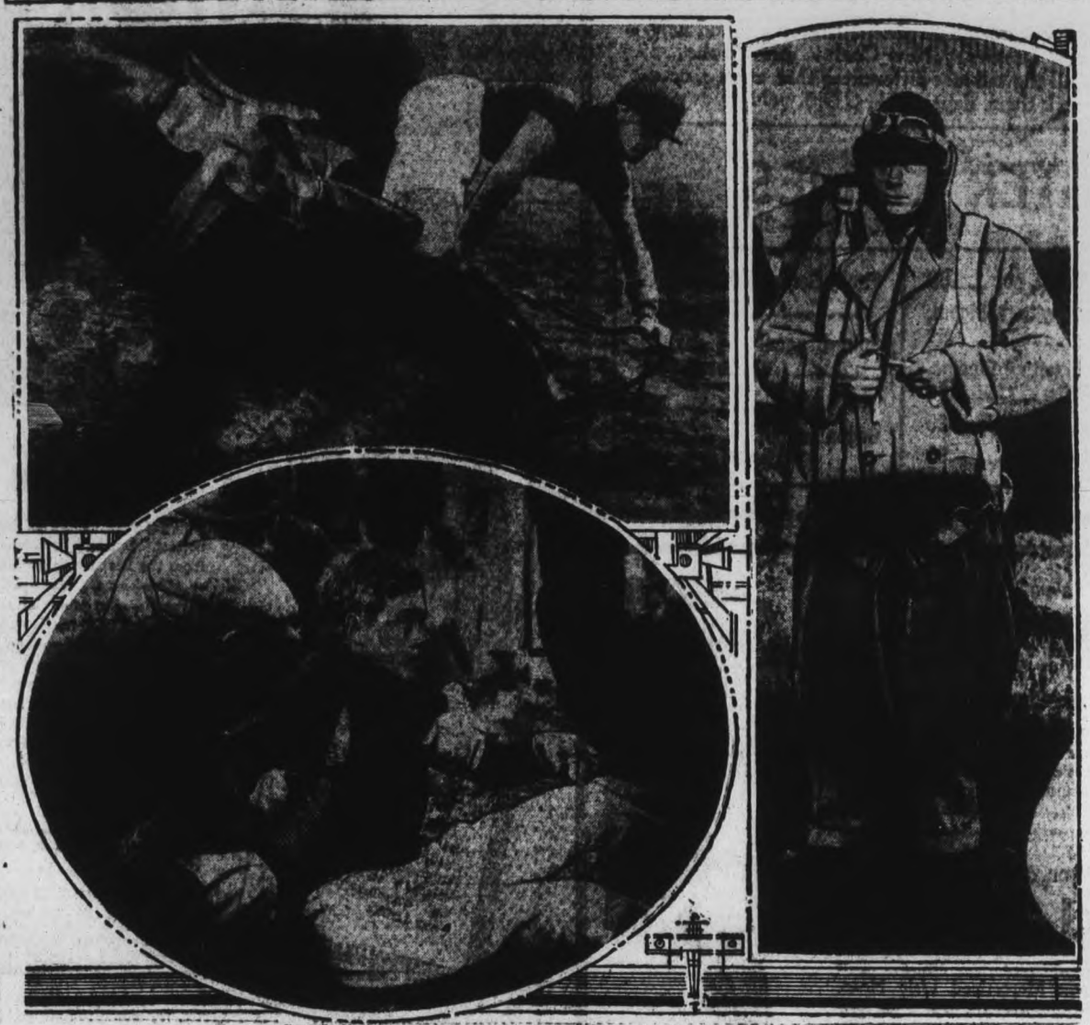
Our King and Queen



Canada first discovered an amazingly popular and active Prince of Wales

NEVER has there been a more popular or active Prince than the Prince of Wales. And it was in Canada that this fact was first discovered.

When the Prince visited this country in 1919, he was an untried, seldom heard-about Prince. True, he had been active in the war, but had always managed to keep out of the headlines. But his trip to Canada revealed a young man actively interested in the affairs of the Empire and at the same time a democratic youth who wanted only to be looked upon as an ordinary person.

Like most members of the royal family, he is possessed of amazing qualities of endurance and vitality. He seldom rests; if he is not aeroplaning, he is riding, playing polo, squash or golf; or perhaps he is dancing. One may even find him early in the morning out for a run or a brisk walk.

He takes part in games not for any desire to win, or love for the game itself, but simply to keep himself in perfect physical condition and to placate that nervous desire to be always doing something.

Perhaps his most notable exploits are in the field of horse racing. Invariably, it seemed, he would fall—and often he was painfully injured. It became a byword. But he persisted until it became necessary to take some action to prevent anything serious happening. This also was necessary in the case of flying. The Prince can fly his own aeroplane, but he is not permitted to do so.

Our pictures today show the Prince caught by the camera topping off his horse, and garbed for a flight. At TOP he is shown going over the head of his horse, the occasion being in September, 1928. BELOW, one of the reasons why he was forbidden to take part in these races. This was taken after a fall in the same year. The photo of the Prince in flying togs was taken during his wild dash from Africa during the serious illness of his father, King George. It was this illness that did much to quieten the activities of the Prince and cause him to settle down to more serious matters.

Tomorrow: The King's Horses.

CHICAGO, April 12. — The Washington Athletic Club of Seattle established a new world's record last night to win the 400-yard medley relay in the National A.A.U. women's swimming and diving championships.

Fast Double Play Pair In Lazzeri And Crosetti

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 12. — (AP)—Due largely to the comeback of Tony Lazzeri, the Yankees threaten to have one of the best double play combinations in the big leagues this year. Lazzeri, much lighter and livelier than last season, has teamed with Frank Crosetti for an average of better than one twin killing a game. The Yanks have completed 24 double plays in 22 exhibitions.

Positions Unchanged as English League Leaders Tie Opponents.

RANGERS CLINCH TITLE.

Glasgow Finishes League With 54 Points, Six Up on Celtic.

LONDON, April 13 (C.P. Cable).—Seven out of the 11 games played in the First Division of the English Soccer League to-day resulted in stalemates, and with leading and tail-end clubs participating in all of these drawn matches, positions in the League table remained unchanged.

Arsenal, the leaders, shared two goals at Wolverhampton, while Sunderland at Roker Park was unable to overcome Sheffield Wednesday, Cup finalist, the result in this game being 2-2.

Rangers Clinch Title.

GLASGOW, April 13 (C.P. Cable).—Glasgow Rangers clinched the Scottish Football League championship to-day by a 3-1 triumph at Aberdeen. The Rangers, with 54 points, are six points ahead of Celtic. Elsewhere in the League interest centred largely in the doings of the lowly-placed clubs fighting to avoid demotion to the junior division.

Falkirk, cellar occupant, seems doomed to go down. At home to-day the Fir Park side was beaten 3-0 by Motherwell, while St. Mirren improved its chances of avoiding relegation with a 3-0 shutout over Dunfermline.

CATASTROPHE'S THE WORD!

The meaning of the word "collision" was being explained by the teacher of the class of small boys and girls.

"A collision," she said, "is when two things come together unexpectedly."

Immediately a small boy jumped up and said: "Please, teacher, we've had a collision at our home."

"Whatever do you mean?"

"Well, mother's just had twins."

$15,000 FIRE THREATENS VILLAGE OF NORWOOD

NORWOOD FIRE RUINS AND VOLUNTEER BRIGADE

On a Spree

LANESBORO, Mass., April 13 (CP).—Members of the volunteer fire department of this Berkshire Hills town, recently recognized as fire fighters by the state legislature, saw red to-day.

Last night they were called to save the summer home of Mrs. George Briggs of Chicago. The house was destroyed. It seems, alas, the fire truck was hauling snow for a maple sugaring party when it should have been on hand to battle the fames.

WAR AT PRESENT IS IMPOSSIBLE

Lloyd George States Germany is No Match Yet For Any of Neighbors.

3,500,000 FRENCH READY.

PARIS, April 13 (C.P.-Havas).—Despite the size of her present forces, Germany could not attack any of her neighbors with the least chance of success, David Lloyd George declared in an article appearing to-day in Volta, Paris weekly.

The wartime Prime Minister of Britain added, however, there could be no question of the powers eventually forcing Germany to abandon her armaments for this would provoke immediate war, "the cost of which nobody can afford."

"In any event," he writes, "I cannot see Britain joining any combination calculated to intimidate a particular power. We will probably make an effort to induce Germany to return to the League, where her attitude will be 'under observation'."

Mounties Skeptical Of Wheat Smuggling

WINNIPEG, April 13 (C.P.)—Royal Canadian Mounted Police here to-day doubted "very much" whether wheat smuggling on a large scale was at present under way from Canada to the United States, as reported in Chicago advices.

Some months ago, however, United States police made a drive on alleged wheat smugglers, which resulted in several convictions, chiefly in the St. Paul, Minn., area.

Unconfirmed reports were current here last summer the practice was to bring pigs into Canada and exchange them for wheat.

Plunged Into River In Escaping Arrest

WINDSOR, Ont., April 13 (C.P.).—When Maurice Laforest, 23, appeared in court to-day charged with receiving stolen goods, it was revealed by police testimony he had plunged into the Little River while trying to escape arrest yesterday.

Non-plussed for a moment, the officers finally obtained a rowboat and located their quarry underneath a dock, bedraggled and chilled to the bone.

Laforest pleaded not guilty and was remanded on bail of $5,000 until next Wednesday.

NO COMPETITION HOLDS UP PRICE OF IMPLEMENTS

Situation is Reflected By Domination of Canadian Trade By Three Firms.

PRICE PROBE REPORT.

OTTAWA, April 13 (C.P.).—"Imperfect competition" among agricultural implement manufacturers is reflected in the domination by thee large companies of the whole industry in Canada, according to the report of the Royal Commission on Mass Buying made public yesterday. Even in the absence of a direct agreement among them, substantial similarity in prices and practices have been demonstrated over a long period of years.

While severe competition in other industries had led to abuses, complete lack of competition among agricultural implement manufacturers had resulted in higher prices to the farmers. The policy of the companies had been to maintain prices and to adjust production to sales at those prices—"in other words, price inflexibility and production flexibility," the report said.

Salesmanship.

What competition there is in the industry expressed itself in salesmanship, in keeping and supplying [illegible] and in giving service. This, the Commissioners suggested, was responsible for the "high-pressure salesmanship in the years prior to 1930, and which presumably caused a proportion of the bad debts which were subsequently incurred."

The commissioners recommended a trial be made of the United States system of sales distribution of agricultural implements. In that country the manufacturers sell to

Vermilyea Does Not Want To See Children

BELLEVILLE, Ont., April 13.—(CP)—Sentenced to hang for the murder of his mother, Harold W. Vermilyea regrets his children will face a future with memories of the way their father died. Vermilyea will hang May 2 for the hatchet slaying of Mrs. Nathaniel Vermilyea of Belleville.

Vermilyea was said to have informed Adjutant A. W. Martin of the Salvation Army he was "Sorry my children will have to face the future with the memory of my dying this way always with them." The adjutant said he was "beginning to understand" the condemned man and that "Vermilyea was coming along satisfactorily in his spiritual frame of mind."

Vermilyea doesn't wish to see his children in Ontario, Cal. He prefers they "remember things as they were back home."

Veteran Passes

FOREIGN POLICY STIRS FRICTION BRITISH CABINET

Press Comments on Statement "Gov't Authority is Now in Stresa."

BREACH HINTED.

LONDON, April 13 (C.P.).—There were disturbing signs to-day of unrest within the Cabinet over foreign policies.

Following up statements which were made by a leading member of the Cabinet which were published as Cabinet views in nearly all national papers in the country yesterday, most of the same organs today remarked the surprising claim was made by British spokesman at Stresa that "Government's authority is here."

Reports of the Cabinet split came after the statement emanating from the British in Stresa the substance of which was to "pay no heed" to the declaration of British views expressed in London by a leading member of the Cabinet.

Split on Policy?

None of the eight leading London newspapers of all political complexions which had published the "authoritative" statement backed down upon its authenticity. Some of the papers, however, raised the question to-day of whether the Cabinet had failed to unite on its policy before Premier Ramsay MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon left for Italy.

"Whatever faith was left in the British Cabinet has been rudely shaken," said The Post, which added the statement given out at Stresa that the authority of the British Government now is there, "is ridiculous" in the assumption the Prime Minister and the Foreign Minister represent the entire Government.

The Herald said: "It is now realized there are considerable differences in the way high personages have stated the objects of British policy but fundamentally the Cabinet is agreed on the essentials."

LAST MINUTE NEWS FLASHES

BALTIMORE, Md.—The engineer of the Baltimore and Ohio express train that ripped open a Williamsport, Md., school bus at Rockville and took the lives of 14 pupils asserted today he approached the crossing with the engine whistle screaming and the bell going full blast.

EAST WINDSOR—When a piece of concrete was hurled through the shop window of Edward Legace, it marked the resumption of hostilities between barbers in East Windsor over the price of hair cuts.

OTTAWA—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett was not expected to leave his apartment today for the outing he had looked forward to because of the inclement weather he was advised not to venture out of doors.

Life at 140

LOS ANGELES, April 13.—(CP)—It's only a matter of time before human beings may live to an age of 140, says Dr. Serge Voronoff, noted European scientist.

He arrived here after extensive experiments with orang outangs, chimpanzees and gibbons in India, Indo-China and Java, all for the advancement of the monkey gland rejuvenation theory which has made him famous.

JUBILEE TO SEE NAVAL REVIEW

MILES OF SHIPS.

LONDON, April 13 (CP Cable)—More than 160 fighting craft will take part in the royal jubilee naval review off Spithead, July 16. The flags of 12 admirals will be flown and the assembly will constitute the biggest peace-time demonstration of naval strength since the "test mobilization" in the same waters in July, 1914.

The Home and Mediterranean Fleets in full strength will be present with the greater part of the commissioned reserve fleet. This means the entire capital ship fleet and practically all the "A Class" cruisers will be in line, probably in a formation of three parallel lines, with auxiliary vessels and small craft. Each line will be several miles long and a spectacle of almost unprecedented impressiveness will be presented when this modern armada weighs anchor, upon the King's instruction to proceed seaward for tactical exercises.

First in 15 Years

Although London is the largest port in the world it is 15 years since she has seen anything of the royal navy in her own waterway. As a prelude however to the Spithead review, a large contingent of the Home fleet will put into the Thames next month. The vessels will include the 35,000-ton Nelson, flagship of the Home fleet, and her sister Rodney, at present the two largest battleships in the world; along with the battle-cruiser Hood, largest warship afloat. Against her will lie two ugly but efficient craft, the mammoth aircraft carriers Furious and Courageous.

Find Clothing Racket in B.C. Relief Camps

VANCOUVER, April 13 (C.P.).—The Royal Commission investigating conditions in British Columbia relief camps was back in Vancouver today after visiting points in the Fraser Valley.

Chairman W. A. Macdonald and his fellow-Commissioners heard evidence that men often carried on a "clothing racket."

The Commission was told that some men entered camp, received clothing, then left within a few days and disposed of the clothing, later registering in Vancouver and repeating the process at a different camp.

TORONTO, April 13.—(C.P.)—Mr. Justice John Millar McEvoy of the Supreme Court of Ontario died at his home here to-day. He had been in ill health for some time and death followed a cerebral hemorrhage. He was born in Middlesex county in 1864 and formerly lived in London, Ont.

Suffered Stroke.

In January, 1932, he suffered a stroke and was unable to continue presiding in Ottawa at the trial of J. D. Leo Bouchard, who was charged with fraud and breach of trust in connection with Civil Service examinations.

He escaped serious injury a few days after having the stroke. When at the Union Station here, as he was being removed from a train on his cot through the window, the locomotive started moving and hurled him to the ground. The mattress broke his fall and he suffered only a slight shake-up. He had a narrow escape, however, from falling under the wheels of the train.

Able Criminal Lawyer

In the years of his law practice before his elevation to the bench in 1927, Mr. Justice McEvoy was recognized as one of the ablest criminal lawyers in Ontario. During his brilliant career he defended 18 persons charged with murder. Not one of the 18 defendants paid the death penalty, a remarkable record in the eyes of the profession. One of the most notable of those cases was that in which Gerald Sifton of London township was jointly charged with Walter Herbert, a

Hollywood Physician Divorces Mary Astor

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., April 13.—(A.P.).—Another of screenland's much publicized but seldom successful "perfect-marriages," the union of titian-tressed Mary Astor and Dr. Franklin Thorpe, Hollywood physician, was in ashes to-day.

In failing to appear in court yesterday to contest her husband's divorce suit, Miss Astor not only gave up the man she credited a few years go with restoring her health, but she relinquished custody of her three-year-old daughter, Marilyn.

The divorce was granted on grounds of cruelty. Dr. Thorpe said his 30-year-old wife made disparaging remarks about his earning powers.

Unwise to Leave Germany's Neighbors Without Adequate Forces.

FRANCE IS OPPOSED.

British Receive Favorably the Proposals of Italian Dictator.

STRESA, April 13.—(AP)—France will go before the League of Nations on Monday with a precise memorandum on Germany's violation of the Versailles Treaty but without the strong resolution of condemnation which she had previously desired, it was stated on reliable authority today.

The moderating influence of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and the British Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, upon the conference here has had the effect of removing much of the sting from the French action.

Some of the conference delegates believe the protest may eventually die in a League committee.

Permit Re-arming.

The Central European nations, Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria, must be permitted some measure of re-armament, Premier Benito Mussolini told the delegations here at the three-power conference.

The present weakness of Austria, Il Duce pointed out, with only 30,000 troops permitted her by the treaty of St. German, could lead to "inconveniences" as regards her territorial independence and political integrity.

In the face of the illegal German re-armament, the Italian Premier said it was "perhaps unwise" to leave the Reich's neighbors in a state of almost complete disarmament. Moreover, the treaties with the Central Powers provide for eventual revision of the military clauses.

British Attitude.

The British delegates were reported as "welcoming sympathetically" the recommendations of the Italian Premier.

Foreign Ministre Pierre Laval of France pointed to the dangers of a hurried decision. He saiad the nations of the Little Entente (Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Rumania) would view with alarm any re-arm-

Clerk Rules Stevens Notice Out Of Order

OTTAWA, April 13. (CP).—Arthur Beauchesne, clerk of the House of Commons, said to-day Hon. H. H. Stevens notice of motion seeking approval of the Price Spreads and Mass Buying report would not be placed on the order paper. Mr. Stevens gave notice of the motion yesterday after Hon. R. B. Hanson, Minister of Trade and Commerce, had tabled the report.

Mr. Beauchesne said Mr. Stevens' notice was out of order on two grounds, first it would involve expenditure of money in implementing the Mass Buying Commission's report and such a motion cannot be made by a private member, secondly the commission reported to Mr. Hanson and the Government and not to the House.

It was not expected the report would be debated before the Easter recess. The Government already has said it wished the long adjournment to afford time to digest the report.

Move to Put House on Record as Adopting Price Probe Findings May Be Questioned.

OTTAWA, April 13.—(C. P.)—New angles to the resignation of Hon. H. H. Stevens, former Minister of Trade and Commerce, from the Bennett cabinet were discussed on Parliament Hill today as the politically minded sought to appraise the significance of yesterday's proceedings in the House of Commons.

Just as the voluminous report of the commission, with its sweeping recommendations for the reform of Canadian business was being laid on the table of the House, Mr. Stevens clashed with Rt. Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, Liberal leader, and Hon. C. H. Cahan, Secretary of State. He admitted responsibility for a premature publication of parts of the report in the papers, expressed regret and said the disclosure had been unintentional.

Then, following tabling of the report, he moved to put the House on record as adopting it. This procedure may be questioned when the motion is called, as reports of Royal Commissions are made to the government and not to Parliament and are not ordinarily adopted by Parliament.

Throughout a long explanation of his activities, Mr. Stevens avoided

HAVELOCK

SPAWNING AIDED BY LOW WATERS

Veteran Fishermen Claim Conditions Best For Muskies in Past 50 Years.

EASIER FOR SPEARERS.

HAVELOCK, April 13. (Examiner Correspondent).—The most favourable maskinonge spawning conditions in fifty years are caused by the very low water levels the district lakes and rivers, according to no less than three old fishermen who have lived on the shores of Belmont and Round Lakes for more than half a century.

There is only one disadvantage and that is, the lower level favours law breakers who engage in spearing the muskies while spawning in shallow waters. It makes them more accessible, but the increased millions of eggs that will be deposited in the deep waters will more than make up for several years poaching.

A life-long resident of Belmont Lake district says the water is anywhere from three to four feet lower than any year for fifty years back. In other years the water was at its highest level right at the peak of the spawning season and always millions of eggs never matured when they were left high and dry by the receding waters.

PAN-EUROPEAN PARLEY BUDDING IN STRESA TALKS

Germany's Wish to Adhere to Non-aggression Pact Cheers Powers.

PLAN TREATY GUARANTEES.

BY ANDRUE BERDING
(Copyright 1935, by the A. P.)

STRESA, April 13. — A general European conference to seal the stability of Europe was seen today by observers as possibly emerging from the Stresa tri-Power meeting which closes its sessions today cheered by Germany's wish to adhere to a pact of non-aggression.

A conference of Danubian nations with France and Italy and possibly with Germany also present was reported in conference quarters to be the probable immediately outcome of the Stresa meeting among statesmen of France, Italy and Britain.

The place of this conference has not yet been chosen but Rome and London were mentioned with emphasis on the former because of Premier Mussolini's vital interest in the Danubian problem and Austrian independence. The meeting is expected to be held reasonably soon.

Security In Broad Way.

It was said this conference may be followed by a general European session to consider the question of European security in a broad way.

Mr. Hensley, a young radio operator dissatisfied with wages, posted a sign yesterday, stating he was on strike.

The burly union longshoremen came down, five crews of them, to load the ship. There was a picket line. It was Mr. Hensley. Union longshoremen do not pass picket lines, so they quit trying to load the boat. The picket line marched up and down all day. The ship was not loaded.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Front-page display of Dunn-Bradstreet trade reports forecasting the sharpest business rise in 25 years went hand-in-hand yesterday with dollar wheat.

Following the publication of newspaper editions giving unusual prominence to asserted likelihood of forthcoming big mercantile expansion, speculative trading in grain, especially wheat, broadened out to a feverish extent, and prices shot skyward, showing a maximum new rise of 3½ cents, and rivalling Thursday's sensational gain.

Further sensational crop damage reports from drought and dust regions of domestic wheat territory Southwest added momentum to the buying stampede. Fresh upturns of quotations on silver were also given much attention among grain traders.

Wheat closed buoyan, 2⅜ to 3½ cents above Thursday's finish, May $1.00⅜ to $1.00½; corn 1c to 1⅜c up, May 88⅜c to 88½c; oats 1⅛c to 1⅜c up, and provisions unchanged to 7c down. Corn and oats followed wheat. Provisions went lower with hog values.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 13. — Wheat values resumed their upward movement on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday. In a last-minute buying spree prices closed near the session's tops, ⅝ to ¾ cent higher, May at 90 and July at 90½ cents.

Soaring prices at Chicago, where gains of more than three cents were scored, and wheat mounted to one dollar a bushel, brought out the local bulls in force. The previously quiet session was prodded into life, and the July future whirled up to a new season's high of 90¾ cents.

Declines at Liverpool, where prices closed ¾d lower, and a lull in foreign demand for Canadian wheat, previously had restricted the market's operations. Futures most of the day had idled at levels unchanged from the previous close, with traders showing little interest in the proceedings.

Yesterday's export sale scomprised only small, scattered lots, but it was reported nine vessels were being loaded at Vancouver with 1,225,000 bushels of wheat, presumably previously sold. Freight rates there, it was said, were steadily advancing.

Cash grains continued dull, but coarse grains prices mounted swiftly with wheat in last-minute speculative buying.

SILK COMPANY TACTICS SCORED BY PRICE PROBE

WOOLLENS SOME BETTER.

OTTAWA, April 13—(CP)—While manufacturers in important branches of the textile industry have benefited materially from increased tariffs "which came into force coincident with the beginning of the depression," certain silk companies have exploited the situation and shown "a callous disregard for the decency of their wage scale," is the conclusion of the Royal Commission of Mass Buying whose report was made public yesterday. The report adds investigation of some of those whose operations have been extremely profitable "disclosed wage and employment conditions which can be described only as shocking."

Competition in the cotton group was "imperfect." The larger companies failed to compete with each other in certain goods, some being the sole producers of important lines.

The situation was better in the woollen industry, where the average woollens manufactured was a relatively small unit. The wage scales in the woollens were higher than in cottons, but in four companies wages were "exceedingly low."

Synthetic silk was manufactured by two companies in Canada—Courtland's (Canada Ltd.) and the

Mania For Roller Skates Leads To Ban In Lindsay

LINDSAY, April 13 (CP)—Because the town of Lindsay, as one official stated, has gone roller skating crazy, the police have issued orders that no further roller skating will be permitted in the business section of the town. Within the past month local merchants have reported sales of roller skates to exceed all previous records. Not only the younger set have taken to wheels here, but married men and women are out until late hours at night skating in pairs and parties. Many near accidents have resulted, and two elderly persons have been knocked down on the sidewalks within the past three days, medical attention being required in one instance.

KNOX CHURCH YOUNG PEOPLE PRESENT PLAYS

MIXED MUSICAL PROGRAM.

Two one-act plays and a musical program formed the entertainment in Knox Lecture Hall, as presented last night by the choir of Knox United Church and Knox Dramatic Club, to a good-sized and very appreciative audience.

The organist and choir leader, W. R. Potter, acted as pianist and conductor for the entertainment of a musical nature, while Mrs. A. Huffman directed the one-act plays which formed no inconsiderable portion of the interest of the evening.

"The Way (Weigh) of All Flesh", was a one-act comedy which formed the opening of the evening's program, while a one-act drama closed the entertainment, entitled "Detour Ahead". Both were exceptionally well presented, with the honors, perhaps, to the latter play, which had two outstanding bits of characterization, in the portrayal of the role of Grandpa Dave Ramsey, by Howard Hall, who always gives such a fine presentation of his parts, and in the role of his grand daughter, Linda, an equally fine delineation by Miss Gladys Gerrard, whose acting was exceedingly natural, as if she lived, rather than acted, the part.

This little playlet dealt with the troubles of an old peach-farmer, Dave Ramsay, who is unable to raise the money for principal or interest of a mortgage held by a neighbor of the skinflint variety, Jim Moorehead (Ormond Benson). However, Jim's wife is on the side of the Ramseys, and so are the tourists who flock to the peach orchard for hard cider drinks and also to buy antiques. This engaging little drama had a cast that included Mrs. Hy Wood, as Mrs. Moorhead; Norman Wood, as 'Chuck' Allen, suitor to Linda; Harry Anderson and Miss Mary Wallace, as a pair of tourists, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens.

In the little one-act comedy, the action revolves about the efforts of a pair of 'banting' ladies to keep their husbands on a diet to match their own weight-reducing menus. However, the wives go to a show and the husbands decide to have a nice juicy steak and some 'French fried, all with the help of a comely aluminumware agent. It is an engaging bit of acting that includes the following cast: Miss Cora Tully and John Donaldson, as Mr. and Mrs. Jim Peters; Miss May Pollock and Norman Hughes, as Mr. and Mrs. Bert Pigeon; Miss Margaret Hill, as Jennie.

Both playlets were acted with charming ease and skill by the talented players.

Mixed Program of Music

A varied program by members of Knox Church choir added to the interest of the evening, with A. Pitchford acting as announcer from Station KNOX. The ladies, in dainty gowns that formed a "bouquet choir", as it is well termed, were seated in the foreground, with the men standing at the back, in a delightfully informal arrangement that gave an impression of ease in the presentation of the music.

Several selections from "Bulbul", which was presented by the choir last season, and one from "The Nautical Knot", the dramatic offering of two years ago, were included, in an opening chorus by the choir; in the frisky "Housemaids' Chorus", in which the ladies wear maids' caps and gowns and dust as they sing; and in the very graceful music of the "Croon" song, all from the first-named production, "Bulbul", with Miss Marion Ralston taking the solo in the last number.

The "Nautical Knot" selection, "Little Water Lilies", was a very pretty quartet sung by the Misses Marion Ralston and Margaret Hill, with John Donaldson and Arthur Pitchford.

Solos that were heartily applauded were those by Miss Marion Ralston, whose brilliant, dramatic soprano was lovely in "A Brown Bird Singing", and by John Donaldson, who sang with impressive effect the popular baritone number, "That's Why Darkies Were Born".

A male chorus gave an excellent presentation of scne "Cornfield Melodies", and choral efforts by the ensemble included a two - part "Peddler's Chorus"; "I'm a Peddler Peddling Perfumes", and "The Song of the Peddler", also "When Lights Are Low", the finale of the choral program. Reserved for especial mention is another choral selection entitled "Tell Her I Love Her So", that was striking in its very beautiful presentation, so sweet, flowing and melodious were the romantic, soft-toned stanzas.

An addition to the program that was most entertaining was a sketch by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Binks, that demonstrated in song the trials and tribulations of spring housecleaning.

A. Pitchford acknowledged with gratitude the contributions made by Knox Dramatic Club to the choir's program. Don Charlton had charge of the stage management and furnishings were lent by Belleghem & Sons.

ONTARIO HOUSE WINDS UP WEEK OVER 60 HOURS

Roebuck's Workmen's Compensation Board Measure Shocks Ellis.

STIRS SHARP ATTACK.

TORONTO, April 13 (C.P.). — With just a few days of deliberations before the session ends next week, possibly Thursday, Ontario legislators to-day anticipated a week-end of rest to recuperate from the strenuous series of "Marathon" sessions, in which the House sat for more than 60 hours since last Monday, and prepare for the final drive to achieve Easter prorogation.

Highlights of yesterday's brief session was a sharp attack by Arthur Ellis (Cons., Ottawa South) on Attorney-General A. W. Roebuck's Bill to make positions of the members of the Workmen's Compensation Board tenable at pleasure and have the effect of confirming replacement of former members by appointees of the present Government.

Your Problems

Religious and Social Questions Answered By DR. WYLIE CLARK

What is the cure for the ills of the world?—F. I.

The cure, is to discover the truth about human relationships and put it into all our actions as we try to live and possess the affairs of life as they move forward to capture and hold the future that there may be improvement in our thinking and achievements.

Dr. Wylie Clark

The trouble of finding the truth is a sore one: because what seems true to-day may be different to-morrow. That is our knowledge of truth is progressive. True may remain the same, but our understanding of it grows as we grow in experience. We therefore require a lot of patience and a courage to proceed in the face of all difficulties.

Is religion gone static? — L. G.

Religion is very far from being at rest. It is being tried, tested, criticised, torn and still it holds up its head and counts its followers by the millions. Perhaps the questioner is thinking that the church is at a standstill and having little influence in meeting the problems of the day. It is true that the church has felt with other organizations a certain helplessness in meeting the needs of the times, but all the same there has been much activity and research with high hopes of coming success.

Is the "linen" of the Old Testament the same as that mentioned in the New Testament?—ALTAR CLOTH.

In the New Testament the terms all mean linen of various degrees of fineness, but in the Old Testament where the Hebrew word "pishteh," meaning "flax," is used there is no doubt linen is meant. Otherwise the meaning is doubtful and may have reference to "cotton."

Can a continual "grouch" be a Christian?—S. E. G.

Not a very happy or useful one. A Christian should cease grumbling and start making the world a better place to live in. If he does this he will be surprised at the happiness which will come his way and the good he will be able to do. If he is a chronic grumbler there will be few tears at his funeral.

I notice that many preachers in the United States are preaching about Lincoln. Would it not be better to stick to the Bible? —F. S. E.

How many preachers preach about the men of the Bible and their influence upon the times in which they lived? How many lessons have been drawn from the actions and teachings of the disciples? What sermons have been preached about Peter, John, Judas, Paul. Surely a man like Lincoln has something to say like Lincoln has something to say to the different generations that is worth while for them to hear and which will help them to a better understanding of life and service.

"A PRAYER."

Lord, search our hearts and take away
All unjust thoughts and motives wrong;
And as we live from day to day,
Make us more worthy of a song.

And fill our hearts with gratitude,
And fill our minds with love sincere,
And give us strength for daily task,
And give us more of faith for fear.

And give us hearts that can forgive,
Help us resist temptation's snare,
Help us to sacrifice and give
Our lives to Thee, our cross to bear.

And make us faithful, humble, kind
So we may live and do and dare,
To stand for right and have more hope
For peace serene, this is our prayer.

A National Message

THE throne of David is rigidly bound to administer the commandments, statutes and judgments of the Lord. In these is bound up the national constitution. In these are preserved, and for ever guarded, the rights and privileges of the individual, even the most humble, and the rights of the state. The people of Israel are now divided into the "nation and company of nations." In each of these, save in the U.S.A., the rule of the king is a fact dejure. The Lord is the supreme Ruler and King in the state. The House of David is His appointed "chief governor" in the state. (See 1 Chron.) The Levites are to be found ministering in the clerical and learned professions. The national council, consisting as it now does of the cabinet, actually carries on the government. Seven great nations, namely, Britain, America, Newfoundland, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, constitute the "English-speaking world." All of these nations have sprung from Britain, and have inherited the same history, language, laws, covenants, promises, prophecies, faith, literature, culture, ideals, etc. In fact, the life is one, the blood is one, the continuity of race and nation is manifest since and from the beginning. Add to these, also of the same blood, law, faith, ideals and sharers in the covenants, Holland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Finland and other Baltic nations. Add also the widely scattered remnant of Israel in Europe and Asia. All of these have their inherited part in the divine covenants, and in the racial privileges and tasks. Akin to these are the Arabs of the Ishmael descent. Their charter is inset into our own racial charter, as in the seventh chapter of Genesis, and they cannot be separated from us for ever.

Reckon the restoration of Judah to her share in the Kingdom, which she forfeited when she rejected Jesus Christ the Messiah, and the present status of the Kingdom of God in Israel will be seen to be well advanced.

CATHEDRAL MUSINGS

THE core of all the religions, exoterically lies in their expression of the relationship between God and man, and between man and his fellows. Esoterically they taught in addition, the relation of man to himself. We need not now concern ourselves with the esoteric side, for the days have long gone by when there was an outer circle taught by symbol and parable and an inner selected group to whom the truths of man's being were taught in secret. Also the esoteric teachings were practically identical and being held secret they were less liable to accretion and mutilation than were the outer teachings.

All religions originally expressed some aspect of the brotherhood of man under the common Fatherhood of God, no matter how imperfect those expressions may have been, and no matter how they may have degenerated through the years from the ideals of their founders. But the tendency of all religions once they have attained a position of authority is to limit that brotherhood to those who accept the teachings and refuse it to those who reject them.

Now of all the evils that man inflicts upon his fellowman one of the worst is intolerance. It is well to remember that we must not judge lest we ourselves be judged. One does not mean to say that all religions are equal, for with the unfolding of man's consciousness there must necessarily be an unfolding of the idea of God. This is indeed evidenced in our Bible, for there is a vast gulf between the God of the ancient Israelites and the sublime conception of the Master. But if instead of seeking points of disagreement with others, we sought points held in common, the bitterness of intolerance would cease. With a common viewpoint as a foundation the higher form of belief would have an appeal that too often is now lacking, and we should remember that it is quite possible that in other circumstances we might have been born into a race and of a religion that we now in our ignorance despise and condemn.—Frater IX., Rosicucian Order, San Jose, Calif.

Christ the Saviour — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Luke 2:11, 30-32; 15:3-7; John 3:14-17; 10:9-11, 14-16, 27, 28; Acts 3:1-18; Rom. 5:1-11; Phil. 2:8-11; II Tim. 1:9, 10.

Jesus came to earth primarily to save sinners. His name Jesus means Saviour. The angels announced his birth to the shepherds as "good tidings of great joy, for unto you is born a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord."

To Nicodemus Jesus likened his mission to that of the brazen serpent Moses lifted upon a pole in the wilderness: "Even so must the Son of man be lifted up, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish but have eternal life."

Jesus also likened his mission to that of the shepherd seeking his lost sheep until he find it. "I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep. I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish."

All this teaching was fulfilled when Jesus gave himself in death for us on the cross, not because we were so good but because he was so loving: "God commendeth his love to us in that while we were yet sinners Christ died for us." (GOLDEN TEXT—John 3:16)

SATURDAY, APRIL 13, 1935

PETERBOROUGH GAINS MOST.

That Hon. David Croll, Minister of Public Welfare, has seen fit to incorporate in his relief commission bill now before the Legislature a clause empowering municipalities to levy unemployment relief rates against factories which have a fixed assessment, is a feather in the cap of Ald. Fred. T. Tuggey and the Peterborough City Council.

The desirability of requiring industries enjoying the benefit of a fixed assessment to pay their share of the cost of relief as all other taxpayers have to do was first brought up in the local Council by Ald. Tuggey, and his resolution to that effect was unanimously passed and afterwards referred to the Minister of Welfare.

It now appears as part of his relief legislation, and will undoubtedly be adopted by the House.

In two particulars the measure is of peculiar interest to Peterborough; in the first place, as we have already said, the idea originated in this city, and secondly, the total fixed assessment here is the largest in the province, and the benefit of the plan will therefore be most widely felt by local citizens.

By levying the relief taxes on the total assessment of the plants now possessing the advantage of fixed assessment, it is estimated that Peterborough will gain the neat sum of $16,000 for relief purposes, certainly a welcome lifting of some of the burden from the shoulders of the general taxpayers.

THE ARMY'S JUBILEE.

The fact that the whole community is interested in the golden jubilee of the Salvation Army in Peterborough and extends its congratulations to the local members of the organization, is proof of the radical change in the status of the Salvation Army since it made its first appearance here.

A news story elsewhere in this issue tells of what happened when the first Salvationists in Peterborough attempted to hold street meetings, and this generation will probably read it with blank amazement, finding it almost incredible that a religious and social service movement whose splendid work is now recognized the world over should have been regarded only half a century ago as something to be stamped out by the machinery of the law.

The history of the Salvation Army in Peterborough has been one of steady advance both in the strength of the organization and in its influence and activity; the corps has grown from a handful of faithful members to a body comprising hundreds of citizens, enthusiastically devoted to the work of the army and unselfishly devoting themselves to its manifold activities.

The Peterborough of to-day has learned to know that the Salvation Army stands for service, and that its efforts have always been directed toward bettering the lot of the unfortunate, caring for the waifs and strays, and extending a helping hand to those who have been buffeted about by the winds of mischance.

Citizens generally rejoice, therefore, in the completion of the army's first fifty years of service here, and on this anniversary extend their best wishes to the officers and members of the Peterborough corps.

INDUSTRIAL REVIVAL INDICATED.

That industry is showing signs of a revival from the slight set-back it suffered in the mid-winter season is the gratifying statement made by the Canadian Bank of Commerce in its monthly commercial letter.

The March statistics may not reveal this condition, the summary admits, for preliminary reports which the bank receives regularly from numerous industrial points, large and small, indicate a continued recession in the majority of manufacturers.

Accompanying these reports, however, were advices of an increasing volume of new orders, in many cases well in excess of those in the corresponding period of last year, particularly from agricultural districts.

Construction and automobile manufacture helped to sustain the entire industrial structure.

Construction contracts awarded in March had a value about 20 per cent. less than was recorded in either January or February, but a decline is usual in the first mentioned month.

Taking the current quarter's figures as a whole and allowing for the uncompleted portion of the contracts, the bank estimates the building and engineering work actually in progress during the period as about one-third greater than in the first three months of 1934.

The automobile industry has made a still more impressive showing, for the February production was the largest for that month since 1929, and nearly double the output in February last year, owing not only to a marked strengthening in domestic demand but to a substantial increase in export trade. March production, it is evident from reports from the leading centres, will exceed that of February.

EXTENSIVE CHANGES RECOMMENDED.

If the majority report of the Royal Commission on Price Spreads and Mass Buying is implemented by legislation, as the Government has promised, extensive changes in Canadian business and industry are inevitable.

The most important feature of the recommendations deals with the setting up a federal trade and industry commission of five members which, with a status similar to that of the Board of Railway Commissioners, would be given sweeping powers of supervision, regulation, arbitration and investigation, and would act as an advisory body to the Government on all trade and industrial matters.

The commission, in the light of the mass of evidence it has heard, has endeavored to provide a system of state control that would on the one hand assure workers of fair wages and primary producers of a more adequate return from their products, and on the other would protect the consumer against too high prices and inferior goods.

The commission frankly admits that it does not anticipate the immediate abolition of the unfair practice.

It is, however, strongly of the opinion that the trade and industry commission, if given the maximum possible powers, will be able to develop sound policies and effective methods for the complete supression of the evils of unfair trade practices.

The Government is now faced with the task of incorporating the many recommendations of the commission into effective legislation, and it is presumed the long recess at Easter will be used for that purpose.

LIBERTY IS THE ISSUE.

A splendid survey of the present position of the Russian experiment was recently made by W. H. Chamberlin, American newspaper correspondent, who has travelled extensively in the U.S.S.R. Mr. Chamberlin feels that the real test of the Russian experiment came in 1932 and 1933 when the attempt of the Government to deprive the kulaks of their civil liberties produced a famine, a famine that would never have occurred if there had been a free press and opposition parties in parliament and an opportunity of discussing the true position of the country.

Mr. Chamberlin concludes:

"Until the Soviet can develop, along with its intense crystallized power and its immense concentration of political and economic forces in the hands of the few men at the top, a few safeguards for the protection of the individual against the omnipotent state, it is very doubtful whether the material achievements which undoubtedly have been made and of which there will be more in the future, will not always demand a disproportionate price in human suffering."

In this sentence, Mr. Chamberlin touches the core of the world's chief problem to-day. Governments, whether Communist, Socialist or Capitalist, are constantly increasing their control over every phase of economic social life. The bureaucrats are in the saddle in Capitalist countries, the politicians in Socialist countries and the tyrants in Communist and Fascist countries. And with their control, civil liberties disappear.

The issue before the world has been well put by thinkers of the character of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Rt. Hon. Jan C. Smuts, Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin. The issue is simply this: shall personal liberty survive in the world, or shall individuals submerge themselves and their most wholesome aspirations in new systems in which the individual is nothing and the state is everything.—Financial Post.

WHAT A HIGH TARIFF DOES.

U. S. Secretary for Agriculture Henry Wallace says his country must reduce his tariff. He goes as far as to say he is sure of it. Mr. Wallace has been in the midst of nearly all the schemes attempted to breathe new life into trade in United States, and he has come to the conclusion that basically something is wrong—high tariffs. The manner in which high tariffs erected by United States against Canada gives an accurate demonstration of the stifling influence of such legislation.

Our cattle entered United States market free of duty prior to 1921, and Canadian exports amounted to $42,495,000 in a year. Now the tariff is 3 cents per pound up to 700 pounds, and 2½ cents on lighter grades, and the export has dropped to $1,389,000.

In 1921 fresh beef entered United States free of duty from Canada, and in that year this country shipped beef to the extent of $5,829,000. In 1930 the tariff had risen to 6 cents per pound and the trade had dropped to $465,473.

When mutton and lamb were on the free list Canada exported a million dollars' worth to United States. The rate since 1930 has been 5 cents per pound on mutton and 7 cents on lamb. The trade has disappeared.

In 1927 there was a tariff of 20 cents per gallon on cream going from Canada to United States. In 1930 the tariff was raised 56.6 cents per gallon. Under the lower tariff we exported $7,749,000 to United States in a year, while under the high tariff the shipments have come down to $129,258.

United States tariff against Canadian butter has advanced this way:

May 27, 1921, from 2½ to 6 cents per pound; September 21, 1922, from 6 cents to 8 cents per pound; April 5, 1926, from 8 cents to 12 cents per pound; June 17, 1930, from 12 to 14 cents per pound.

In all, the tariff increase on butter from Canada entering the United States has increased from 2½ to 14 cents per pound. Under the 2½ cents per pound tariff we shipped to United States $5,712,000 worth of butter. To-day our butter exports to United States amount to virtually nothing at all.

In 1921 when there was no tariff on condensed milk Canada shipped to United States $2,353,000. Now the tariff is as high as 3¾ cents per pound and the trade is dead.

Until 1930 there was no tariff on cattle hides and skins and the trade was as much as $5,000,000 per year. Under a 10 per cent. ad valorem duty the trade has dropped to $2,000,000 per year.

In the list given above it is possible to trace the loss to this country of $84,000,000 worth of exports because the tariff on produce entering United States was placed so high that exportation was impossible. The trade was killed and $64,000,000 is a huge amount of trade for our farms to lose. It is about as apt an example as one can find of what a high tariff in one country will do to the trade and outlook of a neighboring country.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

With the amalgamation of the Border Cities, the new Windsor promises to be quite a place—even if the Liquor Control Board inspectors are apparently ignorant of its existence.

In the Legislature they send each other flowers—and then proceed to toss verbal brick-bats around.

By the vote of the majority in the Legislature, the Quebec power purchase contracts "are now, and always have been, void, illegal and unenforceable"—or will be when the Cabinet decides it is time for the bill to become effective.

Apparently Mr. Bennett is convalescing. At least he is given credit for pruning many juicy appropriations out of the unemployment relief measure his colleagues had prepared.

So much legislation is being slammed through at Queen's Park these days that the man on the street should be pardoned if he happens to miss some of it.

There is just one thing about taxation on which people are ready to agree. That is that it be put so far as possible on somebody else.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

Mush ball enthusiasts from all over this fair province is to gather here the last part of next week, starting the 1935 convention season off with a bang, so to speak. Well, it's a good game if you don't take it too series, say we in passing.

Up at Queen's Park, west of here, the legislators has been burning the midnite oil and calling theirselfs names all week. Looks like from here as if none of the boys knows the election was last year, so they're fighting it all over again. We advise the neighbors to try and get a laugh outa it. Remember, you're paying for it.

They aint been a rabbit seen in Otonabee since Thurs. p.m. when the village fire brigade sent a flying squad down to a blaze in Norwood so fast that wild life in these parts headed for James Bay, picking up speed with every jump.

Nothing makes you feel so rich as a pocketful of small change—even if that's all you have.

I'm sorry that I never had a nickname. But my stickout-ears always attracted quite a bit of attention.

The fairest time of day is just after sunset, when earth is so lovely with its darkest greens nad blues and purples and all is misty-strange and you feel as if you could write a poem. Sunrises have also been praised, and quite properly, I suppose. But my experience of sunrises was mostly during the war, after nights that were dark and unfriendly, and those sunrises had more relief than charm about them.

When I was ten I longed for the day when I might chew tobacco and spit it far and with precision.... But when I tried it, I changed my mind....My brother had more will power.

ARMSTRONG, B.C.

The town of Armstrong was founded in 1912 by Robert Wood, Daniel Rabbit and E. C. Carghill, who traded under the name of E. C. Cargill Co. at Lansdowne, a village three miles north of Armstrong.

The original townsite was surveyed by R. S. Pelly and every alternate lot was deeded to Riley, Paterson and Co., builders of the Shuswap and Okanagan Railway.

A Mr. Armstrong, a financier of London, England, made possible the construction of the railway by purchasing their bonds and the grateful promoters and townspeople named the place for him.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

A POLITICAL MARTYR'S FUNERAL

On this date (April 13) in 1868 Montreal was in mourning. It was the day of the funeral of Hon. Thomas D'Arcy McGee, who had been assassinated at Ottawa on April 7. There had been a state funeral at Ottawa, but the burial took place at Montreal, which Mr. McGee represented in the House of Commons and where he was among his own people. It was a clear, cold morning with lots of snow on the ground. The night before and early in the morning hundreds of mourner passed the coffin to take a last look at their much loved friend. Finally the casket was closed and carried by reverent hands to the hearse, a large lorry of the Grand Trunk Railway, re-modelled for the ocassion and covered with floral tributes. A guard of honor was provided by the Highlanders and the old timers remember seeing these soldiers in their bare legs shivering as they stood outside St. Patrick's church, where the requiem mass was sung. After that the cortege moved to the "French Church" (as Notre Dame was known in those days) where another service was held to pay the tribute of the French section of the population and then the procession made its way to the Cote des Neiges Cemetery where today a monument tells of the great Irishman, who, having been exiled from Ireland as a rebel, became one of the Queen's most able and loyal advisers in her new Canada. Many claim that it was he who, by his persuasive eloquence and prophetic vision, did most to arouse the enthusiasm of both the English and French population for the union cause, for he was equally eloquent in both languages. By a strange coincidence of destiny the day of his burial was the anniversary of his birth in 1825. Thus today will be the 110th anniversary of his birthday.

WARSAW

BRANCH APPROVES OF CLEAN-UP DAY

Several Suggestions Discussed at Warsaw Meeting of Women's Institute.

WARSAW, April 13.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A delightful W.I. gathering was held at the home of Mrs. George Weller, East Peterborough district secretary, on Thursday afternoon, April 11. Mrs. Anderson presided, and after the opening exercises and routine business, the members were surprised and pleased at the arrival of the district president, Mrs. Davis, of Lakefield, and some other Lakefield ladies.

Mrs. Robert Moore reported the boys were asking if prizes were to be given for destroying starlings. The question was left over.

The president announced there are still two Indian clothes-baskets and two hampers unsold.

A special committee, Mrs. E. N. McDonald, Mrs. G. Weller and Mrs. W. S. Anderson, with the relief committee, was named to aid the family which was completely burned out.

Clean-up Day.

Roll call was answered by each member making a one-minute impromptu speech. Cleaning up the village and backyards was spoken of with the suggestion the Council be asked to appoint a general clean-up day.

Mrs. H. Clements passed around pie pumpkin seeds for any to take as many as they wished. Mrs. Wilkinson repeated a verse, ending with "It is not what is done that hurts, but how you take it." Two ladies read selections. All but two gave something.

Mrs. McDonald read a paper explaining the work of the League of Nations, and Mrs. W. Forsythe read one on the report of the fifteenth assembly.

Mrs. Davis said a few words of greeting, and reminded the members that they get out of the institute what they put into it. Mrs. R. Moore read, "Do's for Institute Members." Mrs. Davis left a copy of "Country Women of the World."

The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Roland Payne's home on Thursday, May 9. As it is the annual meeting, it is desired that every member be present.

After the National Anthem, Mrs. Weller, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. A. Payne and Mrs. McCauley served a special lunch, and a very happy half hour was spent. Mrs. Davis met members whom she had not met previously. Mrs. Hugh Kidd, who came with her, was an early member of Warsaw branch until, with her family, she removed to Lakefield, was warmly welcomed by old friends. Miss Margaret Sanderson also is known to many Warsaw members.

The syrup season is over. There was a good run and generally a superior quality of syrup made. The price at the latter end was discouraging. It cannot be made for 90c a gal. $2.00 is about as low as gives profit.

SCHEME REVIEWED DAIRY MEETINGS

O.C.P.A. Plan Receives 100 P.C. Endorsation in Cheese-Producing Counties.

Throughout the twenty cheese-producing counties of the province individual factory meetings are being held to hear discussed the plans of the Ontario Cheese Patrons' Association. The Association has at the present time a marketing scheme before the Dominion Marketing Board, which, if approved of, will come under the Natural Products Marketing Act. This scheme is being presented at individual factory meetings and during the last three weeks over 300 meetings have been held with the scheme receiving practically 100 per cent. endorsation.

The most gratifying feature about this organization work is the intense interest that is being shown by the patrons. At the commencement of the campaign considerable difficulty was experienced in getting factory meetings, but today requests are coming in from officers of individual factories for an opportunity to hear the scheme explained. As the campaign progresses the meetings grow larger and in many cases factories that were doubtful about opening this year have held quite enthusiastic meetings. Before the campaign is completed the scheme will be presented at every factory in the province.

The Executive Committee of the Association expect to be called before the Dominion Marketing Board at any time to have the plan discussed with the view of bringing about the final decision of the Board. As soon as the scheme is accepted at Ottawa the overseas representative will be definitely appointed and the Association will be ready to begin its marketing operations.

The cheese factory patrons have shown great confidence in the plans that have been developed by the officers of their Association, and with patience and perseverance the aims and objects of the Association will undoubtedly be attained.

LAKEFIELD

Mrs. M. Smith Reads Interesting Paper

LAKEFIELD, April 13.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Mrs. M. Smith gave an excellent paper at the A.Y.P.A. on Monday evening on the foundation of the Church in Ruperts Land and the establishment of the Endowment Fund.

The church in western Canada began at Fort Douglas on the Red River, a small but cosmopolitan community and the first missionary was the Rev. John West, who arrived from England on October 14th, 1820, a lonely figure, the only clergyman west of the Great Lakes. In six years he was joined by that gigantic figure, William Cochrane, who labored for Christ and the church in that great north land. Other figures included Henry Budd an Indian convert, whose contribution to the establishment of the church was one of service and sacrifice and he is truly the founder of the church on the Saskatchewan, beginning in 1840.

Another native son who played a conspicuous part in the establishment of the church in the north west was Thomas Vincent, whose body lies in the church yard at Moose, taken there by dog sleigh by the Christian Indians, to whom his life service had been given.

Financial aid from the Hudson Bay Company and private subscription formed the Endowment Fund which financed a great work of extension and the loss of this money was a great blow to the church and the restoration is a cause near the heart of every loyal churchman.

Nazi Will Contest Dutch Elections

AMSTERDAM, April 13 (C.P.-Havas). — A Nazi ticket will be in the field for the first time in Dutch elections when Hollanders cast their votes in provincial elections next Wednesday.

The Nazi movement in Holland claims to number 40,000 adherents. Its leader is O. Mussert, formerly Engineer-in-Chief of Public Works in Utrecht.

Mussert is an opponent of Socialism and Communism and envisages creation of a Dutch Nazi state with himself as leader.

Sharp Higher Tone In Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, April 13. — (AP) — Broad speculative buying, more pronounced than at any time in recent weeks, swept grain prices sharply higher today, with all future deliveries selling well above $1 per bushel.

After the first hour of trading in the wheat prices had advanced 1⅛ to 2⅛ cents above yesterday's close, with May only fractionally below $1.08.

NICKLE CLOSES ON THE UPSIDE

Consolidated Smelters and Industrial Alcohol A Also Active Leaders.

ADVANCES IN OILS.

TORONTO, April 13 (C.P.).—Industrial Alcohol A and the two metals, International Nickel and Consolidated Smelters, were the leaders on the up side on the industrial section of Toronto Exchange to-day.

Nickel and Smelters were helped by the New York display of strength in the metals, the former closing ¼ up and Smelters 3 up at 143. Industrial Alcohol advanced ⅝ to 9¾, Walkers Common was half a point higher, and Distillers Seagrams ¼. C.P.R. and Brazilian firmed.

In the oils, British American closed unchanged while gains were posted for International Petroleum, and Imperial Oil. Quebec Power stocks responded to the outlook for a compromise on the power contract issue and closing prices were higher for Beauharnois, Shawinigan, Power Corporation and Montreal Power.

Steel issues had some firm spots and in the foods higher prices ruled for International Milling Pfd., Canada Bread and Laura Secord.

LIGHT SETBACK SILVER ISSUES

Gold and Base Metal Issues More Active as Silver Boom Lags.

TORONTO, April 13 (C.P.).—The gold and base metal stocks shared more actively in the trading on the mining section of Toronto Exchange in the closing session of the week as the boom in the silver issues developed lagging tendencies.

Eldorado Silver closed at 189, off 2 cents, Castle dropped a couple of cents and Bear held steady, while Nipissing had 5 cents to the good at the close.

Noranda was active in the copper group at an advance of 75 cents to $38. Base Metals Corporation closed on the up side and Pend Oreille did a little better. In the senior gold group volume expanded in Dome, attended by a price advance of $2 to 40.75 and Bralorne, Pioneer and McIntyre were also stronger.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, April 13. (AP).—Wall Street's baby boom showed further signs of growing to-day as the utilities stepped up in the stock market to vie with the metals for leadership. Other sections of the list also moved ahead at a more sedate pace and the activity broadened. The closing was firm. Transfers approximated 725,000 shares.

The Canadian section of the list, aside from firmness in Dome and McIntyre, shares of International Nickel and Canadian Pacific traded about even. On the curb, Hiram Walker got up a point, while Lake Shore ruled steady. Dominion Government Bonds were narrow. Canadian funds held unchanged at 99 9/16 cents.

MONTREAL EXCHANGE.

MONTREAL, April 13 (C.P.). — The usual Saturday morning dullness prevailed during to-day's hot session of the Montreal Stock Exchange and price changes were held to narrow limits with trading light. Montreal Power lost ⅛ at 28¼ and B.C. Power ¾ at 23½, while Canadian Hydro-Electric Preferred managed to show a small gain, moving up ⅛ at 44⅛.

Industrial Alcohol A gained ¾ at 9¾, and the B shares ⅛ at 8¾. Consolidated Smelters and International Nickel continued strong, the former rising 2¾ points at 142¾, and the latter ¼ at 26⅝.

Lad Rescues Family From Blazing Home

TORONTO, April 13. (CP).—Mr. and Mrs. William Henderson and a son, Bruce, 11, were rescued from their blazing home early to-day by George, 15, another son and his chum, Arthur Bricco. George, dressed only in his night attire, aroused young Bricco and they obtained a ladder assisting the trio to safety.

Screams of his mother, helpless by illness, wakened George who rushed to a neighbor's. When the rescue party returned with a ladder, Mr. and Mrs. Henderson and their young son were on the roof, flames shooting about them.

OFFICERS HOLD MESS DINNER

BECOME QUALIFIED.

Officers of the Peterborough Rangers last evening gathered at the Armouries for their annual mess dinner, and following established custom extended their hospitality to headquarters staff of Military District No. 3 and to officers of sister units of the local and district garrisons.

Captain Fred Hart, presided as President of the Mess and following dinner voiced a cordial welcome to the guests of the unit, which included Colonel W. B. Anderson, C.M.G., D.S.O., District Officer Commanding; Colonel C. E. Con-Col. L. T. McLaughlin, C. M. G., D.S.O., V.D., Lieut-Colonel I. R. Moore, M.C., Lindsay; Lieut.-Colonel A. Thorn, V.D., Major C. E. Jamieson; Major A. W. Black, M.C., and others.

Lieut.-Colonel G. G. Winterbottom, M.C., D.C.M., Officer Commanding the Rangers, in reply to a toast to "The Regiment" proposed by Lieut. Neil Gemmell, the junior officer confined his remarks chiefly to the younger officers of the unit, urging upon them the importance of becoming qualified to take their places as leaders of men in the eventuality of another outbreak of war.

"This job we are playing at may become a serious reality, and it is up to you younger men to take your training seriously and to keep physically fit", he stated with reference to the trend of events in Europe and the possibility of another outbreak of war in the near future. Other speakers referred to the possibility of war in similar terms.

Colonel Winterbottom expressed some disappointment that the Rangers standing in the Infantry Competitions had not been higher than it was, but believed it mainly due to the fact that other units in the district had shown greatly improved efficiency, and not so much because the Rangers had taken a backward step.

More Serious Work

Without going into details as to the nature of the training to be undertaken by the unit this year, Colonel Winterbottom intimated that the work was to be of a more serious nature, and he urged the younger men particularly to specialize on musketry and the Lewis gun.

The first toast on the list following that to "The King" was one proposed by Major A. G. Howson to "His Majesty's Forces".

Briefly the speaker reviewed Britain's part in the last war, and making reference to his own service in various parts of the world stated that he was greatly impressed by Britain's might. While he believed that war was a futile thing and that modern warfare was almost more than flesh and blood could stand, the speaker expressed the opinion there would always be wars so long as human nature was what it is. And he argued, "if we are to have wars we have to have an army and somebody to carry on the old army tradition".

Colonel Connolly in response to the toast spoke of the army in its relation to other arms of the service and stated, "we are fortunate in being known as His Majesty's Forces in so much as we are not serving any political party but absolutely serving His Majesty". The saving grace of the army the speaker believed was that it inspired loyalty, inculcated discipline and developed in a man a keen sense of humour.

Some Sound Advice

Colonel McLaughlin who followed the officer commanding the Rangers enlarged upon the remarks made by Colonel Winterbottom and offered the junior officers some sound advice for the improvement of their general efficiency.

"Our Guests" was the toast ably proposed by Major J. E. R. Munro, the responses on behalf of the guests being capably expressed by Lieut.-Colonel Claire H. Stuart, O. C., 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons; Major A. W. Black, M.C., and Major V. Williams.

Colonel Anderson contrary to expectation out did all the previous speakers for brevity, and failed to make any reference to the proposed re-organization of the militia as had been expected from several quarters. Announcing that he is going to England this summer as commandant of the Bisley Team, Colonel Anderson wished the Rangers success during their present training season and hoped the unit would continue to improve, "as you have each year since I have known the unit".

An enjoyable program of music was provided during dinner by the band of the Peterborough Rangers, under direction of Lieut. W. Peryer.

EGGS 13 CENTS BUTTER 24-26

Maple Syrup is Priced at $1.50 and $1.75 Per Gallon.

35 CENTS A QUART.

The large yield of maple syrup in Ontario and Quebec this year had its effect on syrup prices at the Market this morning. Prices ranged from $1.50 to $1.75 a gallon. Farmers in the indoor market were selling syrup in quart sealers, slightly less than an imperial quart, as low as 35 cents. Maple sugar was plentiful in the form of five-cent cakes.

The price of eggs was firm around 13 cents, although large whites were bringing as high as 15 cents. Eggs were plentiful. Butter sold at 24 and 26 cents a pound. Only a few checkens were to be had, the price ranging from 16 to 20 cents a pound depending on the type of bird.

Small bunches of greenhouse leaf lettuce, onions, and radishes were offered in several indoor and outdoor stalls, five cents being the price. Twelve cents a pound was asked for white honey, with minor quantities in evidence, the dark bringing 9 cents.

The current apple prices were: Ben Davis, 35 cents a peck; Baldwins, 50 cents; russets, 50 cents, and Starks, 40 cents.

Peterborough's Possibilities

By HOMER MOORE

ARTICLE 29

Peterborough city being the largest industrial centre between Toronto and Ottawa, we have the right and the opportunity, to bring any raw material from northern districts which can properly be considered as our district. "Far fields look green" but in this case "fields" are rocks and timbered areas. And what an important area it is! More so, from an undeveloped mineral standpoint, than our own county. Being practically undeveloped it offers great business chances for the business and industrial men of Peterborough city who have the "vision" to see those opportunities. Mining and timber camps will spring up and these will need machinery and tools and foods and great quantities of explosives, which only a city like Peterborough can supply. Smaller towns can supply some things, but not the large orders. That is left for firms in the city. The development of that extensive northern area, would mean much to the business men of our city who in turn would circulate the money to the advantage of everybody in our county. The circulation of money or the passing of it from one person to another giving each in turn the use of it, is what makes the city and county develop.

The areas north and north-east of Peterborough County will be looked into from basic facts secured from government sources. South of Lake and Tudor and Grimsthorpe townships in the County of Hastings has been developed and some worth-while results achieved. There is no geological map of the Crowe Lake district but the perusal of many different kinds of reports, translations of books on minerals plus my own observation and advice by resident engineers, brought the conclusion that the territory south of Lake and Tudor and Grimsthorpe townships clear down to Lake Ontario, is not likely to produce any more kinds of minerals than what has already been found there, so we will leave that to those now there, and go much farther north for wealth.

A gentleman holding a position which necessitates travel into every nook and corner in his township, wrote me thus: "Every once in a while a cry is raised about some one finding something but it soon dies down and that is the last of it." Now that statement coming from a person who knows everybody in his township, shows that mineral is looked for in a desultory way. In these articles we will try to show "where" to look for particular minerals and thus put science in action instead of luck as formerly. This method may hasten the development north of Bannockburn. Anything south of Bannockburn is considered developed.

I have been in those northern areas and know by observation and reports and reflection based on facts, some things not commonly known, but of value to inspire development. For instance: why did a famous American motor magnate go into that northern area surrounded with iron, presumably on a fishing trip? To think? Yes! And to think about alloys!

Why did two of the most prolific American inventors go into northern Hastings County? To fish? Yes! And to see material out of which their brain could conceive innumerable articles of commerce! I saw the three of them there, together, and know they did not take that long trip merely to fish. There must have been something of high quality not found elsewhere. This of itself is a remarkable tribute to the area visited. Three of the greatest industrialists of the U.S.A. with literally millions of dollars at their command, able to acquire the best materials in their own country, able even to build branch or spur line of railway, making the journey into that northern area! And they did not go in a pullman car or on a train. They went in a motor car over those roads, up and down those little hills and around those sharp turns! Surely there was something unusual and important for them to view with their highly trained minds! Perhaps in these articles, we will describe something they may have seen.

The writer knows personally, another great American motor magnate, who wants something similar, but so far doesn't know of Hastings County deposit, and wants to create a great smelter in Ontario. Could we get him to build it in Peterborough city? Perhaps the other motor-king acquired all the material so much sought after? If so, could we get him to build a smelter in our city? No doubt he knows what he is going to do and where and when. I asked the other American motor magnate if he had, in his travels been through Peterborough and Hastings counties in search of the needed material and he replied, "No." When I was in consultation with him in regard to materials for his process, he was in Ontario and had visited several districts where deposits of mineral were said to be. This particular gentleman, like the other, didn't judge from mining engineers' reports, but wanted personal appraisal! He was willing to spend millions when he found what he needed.

I have before me as I write, a geological map of the entire northern district to be looked into scientifically by citizens of Peterborough city and county who have the time and the inclination to prove themselves equal to the pioneers who cut down the forests in our own country; who built the early bridges to cross the streams; who cultivated a small patch of ground to feed their families until a greater area could be cleared; who built our first schools and churches; who helped make the early paths into roads for quicker communication with neighbors—in short those who were our grandfathers of early Ontario and early Peterborough County and Peterborough city. They did not hesitate or falter for lack of sufficient money — they did it anyway. Now, we have, thanks to the cumulative efforts of those before us—means of getting into the northern areas rich in mineral and timber resources, but having sparse population. An undeveloped territory of great potential value for the ultimate enrichment of Peterborough County and city citizens if we do our part in the pioneering or opening up of the district referred to, which will eventually pour wealth of various kinds into our county, if we want it. If we are afraid of the wild animals (not as wild as our grandfathers saw) in those districts we might help open up, and refuse to go—then if Canadians elsewhere, or Americans do it instead, the resultant products will benefit people besides our own. This great area of rock-enclosed wealth is waiting for the magic touch of brain and brawn, like our grandparents had, with this difference, such brain and brawn will open up areas rich in minerals instead of productive soil. Ontario's productive soil produced grains to sustain life; these northern rocky areas will produce, when opened up, minerals and timber products to make life worth living. Progress is a natural consequence, if we do our part, or are we going to just remain a small city, when these northern treasures were intended for use.

We can't live and work always! Those who are physically able to be out in those northern districts, have a wonderful chance to feel the thrill which comes to adventurers as they explore territory in its natural state and all-of-a-sudden come across something of value. A noted divine in our county says "there is no such thing as 'luck' but there is 'pluck'." Most stay-at-homes who hear of some one finding mineral, say "It was luck"—but to my mind, "It was pluck, plus knowledge," would be a better way of expressing their views.

Any person can get a railway map showing location of district, the next articles will discuss. Such maps give the impression the district is small. A road map also gives that impression, as if the distances were short between roads. The size of the map is misleading as to the area of a district. Some of the geological maps are on a small scale and consequently some areas appear squeezed together but walk over them and see them! A real good geological map such as I have before me, shows all the lakes, rivers and creeks, roads and trails, so that I can judge distance of districts which should be producing for benefit of Peterborough city. Knowing this and also size of various mineralized areas, also, kind of resource there, makes me marvel that people are unaware of vast treasures so near!

farmhand of the murder of Sifton's father, James Sifton. The defendants were finally acquitted after a protracted legal battle. Mr. McEvoy was associated in that case with E. F. B. Johnston, K.C.

Probably the case that lingers longest in the minds of those who knew Justice McEvoy during his years before the bar was that in which he, with W. R. (now Mr. Justice) Riddell and E. F. B. Johnston, acted as counsel for Hon. J. R. Stratton in the Royal Commission to investigate a charge of attempted bribery, preferred by the late R. R. Gamey, M.L.A., for Manitoulin. This was a political "cause celebre" and the defence finally triumphed.

John Millar McEvoy, K.C., B.A., LL.B., was born in Caradoc, Middlesex County in 1864, the son of A. M. and Sarah (Northcott) McEvoy. His father came of a family in County Down, Ireland. The future member of the Ontario Supreme Court was educated at Strathroy Collegiate, the University of Toronto and the Osgoode Hall Law School. During his student days he was recognized as a man of more than average ability and on his graduation from the university was elected a Fellow of Political Science, and in that capacity taught Canadian constitutional history there. Later he became a lecturer for one year under Prof. Mavor in the Political Science Department. At that time he contributed frequently to magazines and wrote various pamphlets. He was the author of "The Ontario Township; and History of the Growth of Municipal Institutions in the Province," printed under Government auspices as the first of the Toronto University studies in political science. He also wrote an essay on "Currency and Banking" which brought him the Ramsay Scholarship and which was printed at the request of leading bankers of the Dominion. At the invitation of, the American Academy of Political and Social Science he contributed a series of articles to their publication.

In the early 90's he returned to his law practice in London, Ont., where he has since resided. A staunch Liberal, he unsuccessfully contested the East Middlesex dominion riding in 1904, and London in 1911. In the provincial field he ran against Sir Adam Beck in 1908, but was defeated. In 1894 he married a daughter of John Anderson, of East Williams, Ont. There was one son, Capt. A. M. McEvoy of Detroit, and one daughter, Mrs. Alton Neil of Stratford.

Mr. Justice McEvoy was called to the bar in 1893. He had been for three years a student in the office of Hon. David Mills of London. Later he read law under Hon. Edward Blake, then of Blake, Lash and Cassels. When he returned to London he commenced practice with William Wilson. After some changes the firm eventually became McEvoy, Judd and Henderson, and in still later years, McEvoy and Henderson.

ament by Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria. The present political line-up in Central Europe, he said, exercised a certain equilibrium and a premature decision might serve only to disturb existing relations.

M. Laval also urged against any changes in Central Europe without the consent of all the major participants in the Great War.

It has been generally recognized at Geneva, Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria will demand the right of conscription. Military experts have estimated compulsory military service means armies totalling 15 per cent of the population.

The three nations have indicated, however, they will not follow Germany's example and violate their treaties unilaterally. Rather, they would seek equality rights through negotiations.

To-day's developments indicated, with the calling of a new conference, that Austria is considered the prime danger problem of Europe. It was believed efforts must be concentrated on a pact eliminating Austria as a powder keg.

TWO SQUADRONS TOLD TO TURN IN EQUIPMENT

District Officer Declines to Comment on Current Rumors.

MAY DISBAND DRAGOONS

Lindsay Regiment May Become Company of the Rangers.

Colonel W. B. Anderson, C.M.G., D.S.O., Officer Commanding Military District No. 3, who was in the city last night, declined to make any statement to the press regarding rumored changes pending in the militia organization in Peterborough and district garrisons.

"We all know of course," Colonel Anderson remarked, "that the militia in Canada is to undergo some reorganization, but so far as this district is concerned nothing has been definitely decided upon."

While Colonel Anderson did not deny that the Millbrook and Norwood squadrons of the 3rd Prince of Wales' Canadian Dragoons have had orders to turn their equipment in to district headquarters at Kingston, he declared that it had no connection with the rumor that the unit is to be disbanded.

"The Norwood and Millbrook squadrons did not do any training last year; they are not going to do any training this year, and for that reason rifles and other equipment was ordered to be returned to Kingston," Colonel Anderson told a reporter.

He refused either to deny or to confirm rumors current in the city that two squadrons of the Dragoons are to be permanently disbanded with the possible reorganization of the city squadron as a mechanised unit of the local garrison, and was equally non-committal regarding rumors that the Victoria and Halliburton Regiment is to be disbanded, and a company of the Peterborough Rangers established at Lindsay in its stead.

Colonel Anderson stated definitely that he was not in the position to make any statement to the press, and that while certain reorganization of the district was being considered by the authorities, he was unaware that any decision had been reached.

During his visit in the Peterborough Rangers Officers' Mess Colonel Anderson was engaged in a lengthy discussion with Lieut.-Colonel Claire H. Stuart, O.C., Dragoons.

Salvation Army Celebrates 50th Anniversary

EARLY LEADERS CHARGED CREATING A DISTURBANCE EACH WERE FINED $5.00

First Temple Occupied by Sal vation Army Was on Aylmer Street in Part of the Building Now the Gillespie Garage.

WITHIN ONE YEAR AFTER ESTABLISHMENT ARMY HAD 60 MEMBERS. TEMPLE BURNED 1923

Fifty years ago this week the Salvation Army came to Peterborough.

It was on April 9, 1885, that the order to "open fire" in Peterborough was given in Army headquarters at Toronto, and, to the astonishment of disapproving Christians of a more conservative die in the town, a little band of officers and workers began a militant crusade for souls here. That crusade continued with ever-increasing momentum down through the years to the present. And now, with their eyes turned toward an even more prosperous future, the Peterborough officers and soldiers along with Commissioner William A. McIntyre of Chicago and other national and international figures in the Army will climax their Golden Jubilee celebrations this Sunday.

Reports of the arrival of the advance guard of the Army for the first "attack" in Peterborough were published in the Daily Examiner and the Daily Review of the day. But they were meagre reports. It is obvious that the townsmen looked askance at a body of uniformed Christians who went about the spreading of the gospel with a spectacular military procedure. And it is apparent that they thought the movement a fad which would have no permanent significance in Peterborough. The reports were only a few lines in length and well dotted with such adjectives as "unusual", "curious" and "fantastic".

Inaugural Officers

Records reveal that the inaugural officers were Aide-de-Camp William Eadie and a Captain Dyer, both from Toronto. With them were the officers who were to remain stationed here—Captain Ethel Mills and Cadets Langtry and Hart. A personage known as Happy Jack Rogers and comrades from Fenelon Falls and Lindsay accompanied the attacking forces. Branches had already been established in Lindsay and other centers in the region for a year and more. The extension of the Army to Peterborough had been delayed because of the activities of a somewhat similar organization here—the Saved Army.

The first home of the Army in Peterborough was the old church which had housed the original Baptist congregation in the city. It stood on the site now occupied by the Gillespie Garage on Aylmer street. Part of the building, which the Army rented from the Baptists, still stands as part of the garage structure.

Some Resentment

Apparently as the workers went about the task of getting the Army branch under way during that first year, many of the local citizens looked on with continued disapproval. A resentment of the ostentatious proceedure of the Salvationists smoldered. And the blaze broke out in 1886. Eight officers and bandsmen were arrested and charged with creating a disturbance in the street and marching on the sidewalks contrary to the statutes. There will be some to-day who will remember the names of those arrested: Captain Bertha Smith and Cadet Minnie Leadley, John Bacon, Isaac York, George Boyler, Henry Bacon, John Howland, and Bandsman W. J. Sloan and Bandsman Marshall.

At the conclusion of a brief trial, the court found the company guilty of the charge and assessed each member a fine of $5 and $7.85 costs. The crusaders were practically penniless and, unable to pay the fine, were faced with the alternative of five days in jail. As the story goes, the town judiciary felt that insisting on jail terms was carrying the matter too far, and suspended action regarding the eight for one week pending some kind of settlement.

There may have been considerable opposition to the Army at the time but, as the conclusion of the story reveals, the Salvationists had already gained at least a small group of friends. A subscription for funds to appeal the case brought a total of $235. However, when the culprits reported to the court at the conclusion of the week some boy whose identity is not known volunteered to pay the total of the fines and court costs in postage stamps. It is understood, of course, that anonymous givers in the town provided the boy with the stamps.

When the matter had been settled, the eight Army men and women marched from the court room and paraded through the streets playing the cornet and flute. That was the origin of the Army band here. Growing year by year and annually taking a more important part in the work here, the progress of the band has never been interrupted since that day.

Within a year of the establishment here, the Army had sixty members in Peterborough. There were among them such locally-famed characters as Mark Spencely, proclaimed far and wide on spectacular posters as a great drunkard reformed. Paying tribute to the saving influence of the Army, Mr. Spencely used to tell Army audiences of his early waywardness and of the night he fell drunk in the gutter by the old Bradburn stable on London street hill to be found frozen to the ground the next morning. Mr. Spencely's widow still remains to carry on Mr. Spencely's great work in the Army, and several of his grandchildren are on the roll.

Mrs. Spencely will officiate at the cutting of the Golden Jubilee cake on Monday.

An Early Soldier

In the summer of 1886, the Peterborough branch was presented with its branch flag, signalizing its recognition as a regular fighting corps on the great Salvation Army front. Through years of wear and tear and through the great Army fire here in 1923, the flag has come down as a treasured symbol to the present. The wide border of blue about the square represents purity. The inset square of red represents the blood of Christ and the yellow star in the centre symbolizes the purifying power of the fire of the Holy Ghost. The old standard bears the words: "Salvation Army. Blood and Fire. 112th Canadian Corps."

The Army moved from its original Aylmer street quarters to its present site in 1888. A rough-cast dwelling with a reputation as a house of ill fame had been moved off the property and a temple building 50 by 90 feet erected. It contained a basement suitable for the Sunday School which was already well organized, and a relatively spacious auditorium. Until 1900, the corps staff lived in quarters provided in the building. In 1900, house on King street was secured for the staff.

The first major expansion in the Salvation Army property here came in 1922. For years the Sunday School section had been cramped for space, its enrollment having grown rapidly. In 1918 the purchase two houses and lots facing on Aylmer street and adjacent to the Temple property was made. In 1922 the new Junior Temple was built on the newly-acquired property, joining the rear of the main Temple. A two-storey structure 30 by 100 feet; the Junior Temple provided the two halls for the Sunday school as they exist to-day.

Mission Sunday School

The mission Sunday school which had been built on Chamberlain street in Byersville in 1915, had established itself as a permanent institution in the Byersville community by this time. House in a building of modest size, the mission filled a long-felt need in Byersville and continued up to the present as the only religious institution in the suburb.

Although arson was suspected, the cause of the big fire which razed the Salvation Army Temple during the early morning cold of January 11, 1923, has never been definitely ascertained. Some said a window was broken during the night and flaming materials thrown in, pointing out that the Army had stirred up some enmity through its connection with a raid on a local resort. At any rate, the result of the disastrous fire was the complete destruction of the main Temple and extensive damage to the Junior Temple.

Undaunted by the heavy $35,000 loss only partially covered by insurance, the Army moved temporarily to the G.W.V.A. Hall—now the Legion Hall. Within five weeks, the Junior Temple had been repaired and was used to house the entire organization. And the great drive for funds to rebuild the Temple began.

Mayor Roland Denne formed a committee of citizens to handle the fund and the entire city responded. All contributed to the worthy cause, both Roman Catholics and Protestants of all denominations. The fund swelled to $20,000 and soon the rebuilding operations had begun. The present fine structure was the result, including only the reinforced walls of the old Temple. Expansion of the auditorium to seat a total of 650 people, the construction of a gallery and of class rooms in the basement represented improvements over the old Temple.

General Booth's Visits.

On two occasions the Peterborough Salvation Army has been honored by the presence of the famous Army founder, the late General William Booth. Both visits were during the early years of the existence of the corps. When he paused here for an inspection and to hold a service on November 6, 1886, he provided great encouragement for the pioneer soldiers of the branch. But it is significant that the daily papers published at the time of the visit, made no mention of him whatever. The fact that General Booth's organization had already begun to spread throughout the world from its London headquarters made little impression locally.

During October eight years later, General Booth again visited the local branch. By this time the Salvation Army was accepted as a power even in Peterborough, apparently, for the gates of the town were thrown wide for him. Newspaper files reveal that Mayor James Kendry and his council with other dignitaries and representatives of the other local churches gathered at the Temple to present the great visitor with an address of welcome. Citizens crowded into George Street Methodist Church, the largest auditorium in town, to hear his address, entitled "The Christianity of Christ." The address was quoted fully in the papers.

In regard to its contribution to Army work elsewhere in Canada and in the other countries of the world, the Peterborough Salvation Army has a record of which it is proud. During the fifty years of its existence here, it has sent forth fifty preachers. In the first five years, twenty preachers went forth from this city as officers. The average of one a year has been maintained up to the present. Last year three officers were contributed to aid in the great national and international battle of the Army.

Many Figured Prominently in Army Work in Canada and Other Lands.

R. C. BRAUND LOCAL LEADER

Looking back over the long list of men and women who have been in charge of the Peterborough Salvation Army Corps during its fifty years of existence in this city, many names which have figured importantly in Army work in Canada and other world fields of the Army are to be found. Following are notes of a few of those who have served in command here between 1885 and 1935 in chronological order:

Ensign Ella Comstock—One of the first commanders here, now living ni retirement in Westwood after many years in the field.

Adjutant Pearl Payton—Now in charge of the Winnipeg Grace Hospital.

Adjutant Herbert Payton—Now in Fargo, North Dakota, in charge of the Salvation Army Corps there and serving as town relief officer.

Richardson; Young People's Sergt. Major R. C. Braund; Corps Cadet Guardian Mrs. H. J. Parnell; Bandmaster, R. G. Routley; Songster Leader, Ben. Smith; Recruiting Sergeant, T. H. Brooks.

Although many other officers have gained distinction in the Salvation Army work since service here, none can be said to have figured as importantly in the welware of the Peterborough Corps down through its history as Young People's Sergt. Major R. C. Braund. Mr. Braund began his career in the Army as a drummer in Pickering in 1885. He joined the local corps in 1892 and on January 1, 1897 was appointed Young People's Sergt. Major. He hac continued actively in that post ever since, serving at all times as the leading lay figure in the corps.

J. T. Braund and W. J. Braund, brothers of R. C. Braund, have been active in army work over a long period.

PAN-EUROPEAN PARLEY BUDDING

France's protest against German rearmament, a movement broad in nature presumably will be inaugurated in connection with the Paris Government's appeal. It is expected by an exhaustive examination to arrive at the best method of assuring the sanctity of treaties.

Political measures to restrain and even punish treaty repudiators—for example, economic and financial isolation—may develop from the inquiry by the League. Present plans call for the appointment of a League commission of study.

The League assembly several years ago adopted a report interpreting the covenant in the sense that economic and financial measures could be applied against an offending nation and that even naval demonstrations could be resorted to.

To-day's final deliberations began at 9.30 a.m. with no light on two outstanding questions. These are the prospects of getting Germany into the League of Nations and into a conference with the limitation of armaments.

The German Colonies.

The problem of German colonies stands out as a possible impediment to Germany's return to Geneva. Reichshuehrer Adolf Hitler virtually made this return conditional upon equality in all things including colonies, all of which Germany lost in the Great War.

An air of cheer — "light after darkness" — as the delegates expressed it, prevailed as Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Britain, Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin of France, and Premier Mussolini of Italy put their heads together for the final talks.

The closing hours of the conference showed there is no united front against Germany as a result of her unilateral abrogation of the military clauses of the Versailles treaty.

Although the League of Nations will pass judgment upon France's protest against the German action in the special session of the Council convoked for Monday, no one foresees any penalties against the Reich. It was thought possible, however, penalties may be devised for future treaty breakers.

$30,000 REWARD.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., April 13 (C. P.). — William Penn Lodge, athletic instructor, has a $30,000 gymnasium as a reward for reducing a woman's weight from 400 to 240 pounds. Judge J. Burnett Holland awarded him the gym, upholding a verbal promise which Lodge said Mrs. Elisa Jarman Tetlow, wealthy widow, made in gratitude before her death in 1931.

Negroes compose approximately 90 per cent of the population of Haiti.

Mosquito Preserved In Amber For Ages

SAINT JOHN, N.B., April 13. (CP).—In the year 600 B.C. mosquitoes apparently were just as annoying as the modern species, if size is any indication. A mosquito whose proportions are larger than those of its average present-day descendant is preserved in pure amber owned by H. C. Page, Saint John.

Geologists estimate the insect was entombed more than 2,500 years ago. The neatly cut piece of amber, crystal-clear, preserved the mosquito perfectly, including even the fibrous hairs on its body and legs.

Amber, a solidified refinement of tree balsam, is found mostly in the bituminous fossils of timber along the shores of the Baltic and other parts of maritime Europe, Page said. The jewel in his possession came from the northern coast of Russia, where vast areas were under water for centuries.

CAMPBELLFORD

REV. FRANK RAYNOR GIVES GOOD TALK

Addresses Members of St. John's United Church W.M. S at Campbellford.

CAMPBELLFORD, Ont, April 13 (Examiner Correspondence).—There were about sixty members present at the W.M.S. of St. John's United Church, meeting which was held in the Sunday School Hall on Tuesday afternoon at which the president, Mrs. E. C. Roberts, presided. Mrs. Neil H. Thompson read the Scripture lesson which was in the form of a beautiful Easter story. An Easter duet was sung by Mrs. Hilliard Jones and Mrs. C. J. Vesey.

The speaker for the afternoon was the Rev. Frank Raynor of London, England, who in a most interesting and inspiring address outlined his experiences in European countries, stating that Christianity at the present time was in a condition of sickness; there being an ebb tide away from Christ, all over the world; even in England he had found the churches sadly depleted in their congregations and telling his listeners that on one occasion he attended service in a large cathedral and found only twenty people there.

"In Canada, we must not let the Christian faith lose ground," said the speaker, "the reason it is losing ground rapidly is because we have made Christianity dull, commonplace and uninteresting. Christ brought a radiant Christianity, full of adventure and lovingness, which is a magnificent thing, but we can't pass it on unless we have it ourselves." After a fervent vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Taylor, Mrs. Roberts closed the meeting with prayer.

SILK COMPANY TACTICS SCORED

Canadian Celanese Ltd. "In the matter of employment policies, both companies were found to have relatively good records" the report declares.

Will Organize

Associations of employers in the textile industry are well organized and representatives of these associations acted in the interests of other members in matters of public relations and public propaganda. They regularly represented the industry before the tariff board.

"According to evidence, however, no attempt has so far been made to regulate wage scales or working conditions generally" said the commissions "the reason being that the existing associations had not the power to control their members. We are forced to the conclusion that while manufacturers are prepared to come together for the purpose of seeking benefits or protecting their reputations, they have not taken advantage of the existence of a permanent central organization to promote individual operating standards or prevent exploitation by their members."

The commssion recommends one way in which trade associations might perform useful service is in the promotion of proper standards in consumers' goods, eliminating dishonest marking and labelling, and curbing unfair competitive practices.

Reverting to the "imperfect competition" prevailing in the cotton branch, the report saw signs of an increasing degree of concentration in the appearance of certain interests in fields other than that in which their main activity lies.

"Through interlocking directorates, at least, there appears to be a positive connection between some of the largest companies in the cotton, woollen, silk, and knit goods field," said the Commissioners. "Thus while concentration has not developed to the point where two or three very large corporations, operating in all the important fields of the industry, dwarf the remaining companies, the presence of the same management interests in important units in different fields cannot but suggest the possibility of such a development."

Hits Montreal Firm.

The Commissioners score the M. E. Binz Co., Ltd., of Montreal, for the wages paid by that firm.

"In an industry with all the advantages that this one possesses there should be no room for even a small factory, such as the M. E. Binz Co., Ltd., of Montreal, where in February, 1934, the average wage rate for all male workers was 10 cents an hour; where 93 per cent. of all male workers in 1934 were paid less than the minimum wage rate for the female workers; where on a 55-hour basis, the average full time weekly earnings in 1934 for male and female employees was $5.72.

"Almost equally bad are the conditions in the Associated Textiles of Canada, Ltd., Louisville, Que., a United States controlled company, which accounts for more than 20 per cent. of all the natural silk sales in Canada, and over 19 per cent. of the total employment in this group."

"This company," said the Commissioners, "has been increasingly profitable since it began operations in 1929, net profits in 1933 amounting to 11 per cent. of sales or 2b per cent. on invested capital. Nevertheless, average weekly wage rates in this company, based on a 55-hour week, in the two weeks ended February 26, 1934, were: male employees $13.43, female employees $9.73. Ninety male and 130 female workers were paid at rates below $8.00 a week."

As compensation for the above conditions, comment the Commissioners, the employees have a social club which they support by their contributions.

OIL FIRM RUSHES NEW BUILDING

Erection of Two Extra Service Stations Gives Havelock Even Dozen.

ROAD WORK GOES AHEAD.

HAVELOCK, April 13 (Examiner Correspondent). — All twelve men employed in the construction of the McColl- Frontenac service station at the corner of Oak street and No. 7 highway which began Friday are local men. H. Harvey, of Deseronto the contractor in charge of the elaborately planned building, which is to be one of the finest East of Toronto, had most of the excavation work completed in the morning and late in the afternoon the powered cement mixer was turning out material for the footing and foundation work.

Robert McMillan, of town former C.P.R., bridge and building carpenter, is in charge of the carpenter work and had most of the forms in readiness Friday evening.

Nelson Wellman is making good progress with his spacious service station at the junction of highways No's 7 and 30. This property on the north east corner was once the old brick grist mill the corner of Ottawa and Concession streets. When this station and that under construction at Oak street are complete there will be an even twelve outlets where motorists may purchase gasoline and oils, or more than one for every hundred population.

Easing Sharp Curve

Four village men are also finding employment on the county road to Cordova Mines. Those from here are working under the superintendency of W. A. F. Steenburgh of Belmont on the sharp curve a short distance from Cordova Gold Mines, where the old road is having its face lifted and remodelled along "stream-line" plans. It is planned to have the road connect with No. 7 six miles east near the farm of W. J. Russell. This will do away with a great deal of new construction on the twisty old Cordova road as far east as Freeman's corners, although would necessitate the widening and resurfacing of the better part of a mile from Freeman's corners south to No. 7.

A gang of men is engaged in repair work at the Ontario Rock Company's plant three miles east of the village and they will shortly be prepared for a busy season. Activity in the building trades which usually starts in earnest any time now, will as usual be the long suit of the district quarrymen.

More than forty men are employed at the Cordova Gold Mines twelve miles east of the village. Re-timbering of the old disused shafts and cleaning up the surface about the property are taking up most of the men while the buildings are being put in a better state of repair.

Weddings

DUCK—COLLARD.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 13.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—A pretty wedding was solemnized at the Salvation Army Citadel on Wednesday evening at 7.30, when Miss Batrice Eva Collard, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Collard, of Simpson street, became the bride of John Arthur Duck, son of Robert and the late Mrs. Duck of Dartord. Captain William Houslander performed the ceremony. The bride who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a dress of brown crepe with hat and shoes to match, and carried a bouquet of roses with fern. She was attended by Miss Mary Duck, sister of the groom, who was gowned in blue crepe and carried pink carnations. The groom was supported by Charles Collard, brother of the bride.

During the ceremony Mr. Carmi Runions sang "O Promise Me," the S. A. Band furnishing the wedding music. The opening hymn, sung by the congregation, was "Saviour Let Thy Sanction Rest" and at the close "Forth in Thy Name I Go." After a brief honeymoon the young couple will take up residence near Peterborough.

Campbellford Lodge, Supper Visitors Here

(Examiner Correspondence)

CAMPBELLFORD, April 13. — Members of Campbellford Lodge, No. 113 on Friday evening. After degree work, exemplified by the officers of the Peterborough Lodge, supper was served by the Rebekah Lodge of Peterborough and the visitors journeyed homeward with pleasant memories of a most enjoyable and instructive evening's entertainment.

Lakefield Brigade Busy On Grass Fires

LAKEFIELD, April 13.—(Examiner Correspondence). — The fire brigade have had a busy week with several chimney fires, and more dangerous still, grass fires. One fire in the south-west end of the village threatened the grandstand at the Exhibition Ground, but was extinguished by the brigade.

At 2.30 Thursday a grass fire at the cement plant got out of control and menaced several dwellings in the neighborhood. A general alarm summoned the brigade, who soon had the blaze under control.

WILL SPEND SUM OF $200,000,000 ON SAFETY PLAN

Points to Loss of 14 Children's Lives at Crossing as Need For Elimination.

WORK TO BE SPEEDED.

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP) — President Roosevelt yesterday laid down the principles to govern the spending of between $100,000,000 and $200,000,000 of work-relief funds for making safe the places where highways and railways meet.

Points to Fatality

He cited the accident last night at Rockville, Md., in which fourteen pupils were killed when a school bus was smashed by a train, as an illustration of the need for grade-crossing elimination.

President Roosevelt outlined four basic principles to govern the spending of money for grade crossings. They were that:

The States or localities shall provide the land for doing away with the crossings.

The crossings eliminated shall be on main line railways.

The Federal Government will pay the full cost of the work.

He specified that all the work that can be done shall be completed before July, 1936. Because of this, he said, there would be no time to settle disputes that might arise in securing the land for elimination work.

Train Speed Raised

The development of streamline trains, which were changing train speed from 45 and 50 miles an hour to 70 or 80 miles an hour, emphasized, he said, the need for the elimination of crossings.

Robert Fechner, director of the Civilian Conservation Corps, pushing plans for the enrolment of 300,000 more men in that organization, said he would have them enrolled within the next sixty days.

The plans call for the establishment of almost 1,500 more camps, to be built by the War Department.

ST. PAUL'S W.M.S. THANK OFFERING

Mrs. G. Wilson Craw Gives Paper on Dr. Jessie MacBean.

There was a fine attendance at the Easter Thankoffering meeting Friday afternoon. Following the opening hymn and prayer, part of the last chapter of the Book of Proverbs (verses 10 to 31) was read. This is the same passage which was read when 700 women from all over Ontario gathered together in Knox Church, Toronto, at the first meeting of the recent Provincial, and which is to be reported in full by Miss Cullen next month.

The secretary and treasurer submitted their reports. Mrs. James Sands, as library secretary, reported a number of books and magazines had been collected and sent to start a Sunday School library at Snake River, near Pembroke.

The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. G. Wilson Craw, who gave a most interesting review of the life of Dr. Jessie MacBean from her early years to the present time.

After the thank offering was received the boys and girls of the Mission Band marched in and sang very pleasingly, "Soldiers of Jesus," one of the girls, Frances Latimer, playing the piano accompaniment. Miss Violet Davidson was thanked for her work in training the children.

The singing of a hymn and a prayer offered by Mrs. James Dutton, the president, brought the meeting to a close. All remained to enjoy a cup of tea and a short social time together.

Magistrate's Court

Described on the police records as F. McGuire, sailor, a transient appeared in the dock before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., to-day, and was given the option of paying a fine of $10 or 10 days.

The defendant had a bad list to starboard, the result of having imbibed too freely the night before, and pleaded with the cadi that he might be allowed to clear out of "port."

Testing the veracity of the defendant's statements regarding his seafaring experience, the Magistrate examined him as to his knowledge of sailing ships, whereupon the defendant retorted, "I am not a windjammer. I sailed in steam." He might very appropriately have added that he got up too much steam the night before.

George Croxon, 231 George street appeared on a similar charge, and shared the same fate as his seafaring companion. Arrested in a helpless condition, and with his face badly battered about and somewhat the worse for wear generally, the defendant claimed last night that he had his "face run over by a truck."

He was exaggerating somewhat, because police declare that the man in his drunken condition received his injuries through colliding with a sawing machine in a King street wood yard.

PAPUA COMMEMORATIVES

A special issue of four denominations, one, two, three and fourpence was recently released. The issue commemorates the jubilee of the declaration of Papua as a British protectorate on Nov. 6, 1884.

The one-penny and three-penny are similar in design and represent the scene on H.M.S. Nelson when Commodore Erskine met the gathered chiefs of the district on board in the harbor of Port Moresby. Among the group of officers surrounding the chiefs are also included the first two missionaries of the London Missionary Society. The scene is a replica of a photo taken at the time by an official photographer.

The design of the two-penny and the five-penny values, represent the scene of the ceremony of hoisting the British flag at Port Moresby, with British sailors and marines surrounding the ground within the enclosure, in front of the L.M.S. mission house. In the two lower corners appear portraits of Commodore Erskine and Boe Vagi, the recognized head chief at that time.

The stamps are to be on sale for one year from the date of issue. The colors are as follows: 1d, green; 2d, brown-red; 3d, blue; 5d, dull violet.

Australia, new one-shilling and sixpenny, is ostensibly for use on Australia-England air mail route. It actually is not an air mail stamp, but nevertheless is quite attractive, in many ways resembling our own air mail issue of 1930. The design depicts "Mercury" between two hemispheres; color, violet.

New Zealand—The annual health issue of New Zealand depicts the figure of a knight of the olden days. The inscription beneath reads, "Crusade for Health, 1934." Color, carmine.

Canada—On reliable information we are informed that Canada is to have a complete new permanent issue this year, probably early next fall.

This is due to the contract for the printing of postage stamps expiring as of the end of this month, and a change is possible as of that date.

This being the case our jubilee issue will doubtless be handled under the new contract, and we may expect some change in design, paper, centering and perforating.

It is indeed difficult to determine the reasons of the officials of our post office department, for adhering to their usual course of secretiveness, regarding details of new and impending issues of postage stamps and the definite date on which they will be released.

By the establishing of a philatelic branch of the post office department, the officials cannot deny but that they appreciate the importance of philatelists to their department, and the not - to - be - sneezed - at amount of money which the department derives yearly from the sale of mint stamps to these collectors.

In view of this, it would seem good business to make a point of giving out all information regarding impending new issues, at the earliest possible date. This would be of benefit to collectors and dealers alike, as well as to the department, as it would enable many overseas collectors and dealers to make suitable arrangements for ordering first-day covers, which have now become so popular. As it now stands, the post office department undoubtedly lose thousands of dollars withholding information, which will eventually become public, until the very last moment.

At the time of writing practically every dominion and colony of the British Empire have not only announced the values of their jubilee commemorative issue, but have also announced a definite date of issue. This information has had time to reach Canada from all parts of the world, while we, right here at home are still in the dark regarding the actual date on which Canada's jubilee issue will appear.

SEVEN GOTHIC TALES — Isak Dinesen.

To give a thoroughly adequate impression of these Seven Gothic Tales would require the reviewer to be as much a literary genuis as the author herself. It is seldom that we refer to an author as a genuis and it is equally as seldom that we find ourselves at such a complete loss for words to describe these tales. Everyone may not like them. We did.

The author comes from an old Danish family and the scenes are for the most part wholly or paritally laid in the Baltic regions, approximately 100 years ago.

We hesitate to compare them with any other literature. One might mention Arabian Nights, Don Quixote, Edgar Allan Poe's stories or the fairy tale of our childhood. For they combine the magic of fairy tales, the sheer grace of fantasy, the rigorous flavor of legend and a background of simple truth. The persons in these tales live and are of the human race, yet they have their being as apart from their fellows as the Greek gods were apart from mortals. A curiously rare spirit animates them all.

In plan there are certain common elements. There is but little direct plot or action. The scene is briefly set and the characters tell their story. The action is almost entirely within this narrative dialogue. In "The Deluge of Norderney" four people are brought together in a flood when death is a matter of hours. Each tells his life story. "The Dreamers" opens: "On a full-moon night in 1863 a dhow was on its way from Lamu to Zanzibar..." But the tale which is told takes one to Italy, Switzerland and Sweden.

The other common element is the sense of disillusionment of youth and the contrast of age and youth.

The author's style possesses an unemotional and even leisured air quite unrelated to the beauty, or horror of incident. The reader is no more surprised to read of "herds unicorn which come out of the woods to graze upon the grassy slopes" than of the supper party of two sisters with the ghost of their departed brother or the following: "Have you not noted that I have no shadow. Once upon a time I sold my shadow to the devil for a little heart-ease....The devil sometimes allows it to walk about. It naturally tries to come back and lay itself at my feet. But I will on no account allow it to do so.

In "The Dreamers" the teller of the tale says: "I will give you no explanation. You must take in whatever you can. It is not a bad thing in a tale that you understand only half of it." Those might well be the author's own words, about the "Seven Gothic Tales."

MACKENZIE KING — Norman McLeod Rogers (George N. Morang and T. Nelson & Sons, Toronto).

Far be it from us to impute motives to anyone when such might be unfounded. We, therefore, merely make the statement that, by coincidence, during the past three months, a biography of each of the three Federal party leaders has appeared. It is true, however, that the plan of execution in each has not been identical. Andrew MacLean's "R. B. Bennett" was little more than a sketch of Mr. Bennett as Mr. Bennett. Olive Ziegler in her book of "W. S. Woodsworth" included to some extent an outline of the social pioneer work of her subject. The book under review at the moment is perhaps as much a history of the Liberal party since 1908 and an enunciation of its policies as a biography of Mr. King. We appreciate, however, the difficulty of separating the life of Mr. King from that of the Liberal party whose leader he has been since 1919. Rogers, at present Professor of Political Science at Queen's University, and who was at one time secretary to Mr. King, has very ably written this biography against a background of Canadian politics.

Mackenzie King, as is well known, is a grandson of William Lyon Mackenzie, the leader of the Reform Party in the momentous, if somewhat rebellious days of 1837, and the first mayor of Toronto. Mr. Rogers repeatedly refers to Mr. King's firm belief in the Liberal principles as embodied in the appeals of his grandfather.

Mr. King is a graduate of the University of Toronto and had post-graduate work in social and industrial studies in the U.S.A. These things he made his special interest and he was well equipped with experience when in 1900 he was appointed to the position of Deputy Minister of Labour in this newly-formed department. Eight years later he abandoned the civil service for active politics and upon election was made Minister of Labour in the Laurier administration. Much new labour legislation was passed, the most widely known and most effective being The Industrial Disputes Investigation Act of 1907.

During the war Mr. King worked with the Rockefeller Foundation toward reconciliation in industrial disputes.

Upon the death of Sir Wilfred Laurier in 1919 Mackenzie King became party leader and was Prime Minister of Canada from December 1921 till July, 1930. We shall not concern ourselves here with controversial subjects covered in the book on such problems as the tariff, preferences, social and labour laws and constitutional rights.

In an appendix devoted to the current situation the stand is taken that while the Liberal party does not oppose the proposed measures of the so-called "new deal" as such, it does oppose the method of enactment and the fact that their constitutionality is not made the prior consideration.

At the risk of being accused of facetiousness we might add that in 1918 Mr. King wrote a book entitled "Industry and Humanity" which is a study of industrial reconstruction.

Knox Church W.M.S. Meets At The Manse

The April meeting of the Women's Association of Knox United Church was held at the Manse on Thursday evening, with a good attendance, and the president presiding. Mrs. Long had charge of the devotional period, and the program. After the usual routine business was disposed of, various projects were discussed as a ways and means of raising money. It was decided to sponsor a play, to be presented in the Lecture Hall by Bridgenorth Dramatic Club early in May. Tentative plans were formed for catering to the delegates to the conference the last week in May, and for billeting the same. At the conclusion of the business session, Mrs. George Wallace delighted the ladies with a beautiful solo. A social hour followed, which included several amusing contests, and the service of dainty refreshments by the social committee.

The manufacture of cigarettes in the United States began about 1864, in which year 19,700,000 were made in the United States.

Warning To Drivers

Motorists, take warning!

Inaugurated to-day, a campaign is being waged by the city police to put a stop to the abuse of parking privileges in the downtown section of the city.

Disregarding traffic by-laws, it was stated by the Chief Constable, motorists are causing serious congestion in the business section by parking their cars for more than the thirty-minute time limit; leaving cars too far out from the curb; and parking horizontally in double lines.

Shoppers and visitors to the city are not the only offenders, the Chief observed, several merchants have been in the habit of using George Street for a garage.

The departure of the winter season is bringing with it a daily increase of traffic, and in the interests of public safety, it is decreed that abuse of parking privileges must be stamped out. No further warnings are to be issued, and police threaten offenders with prosecution.

Two officers were detailed for special traffic duty this morning, and their check-up will continue each Saturday, when the flow of traffic reaches its weekly peak.

FISH and GAME COLUMN

Peterborough will have a small zoo this summer. The local Utilities Commission decided at a meeting yesterday to accept the suggestion of Fred Marshall, county fish and game inspector, to create the foundations of a zoo at Filtration Park.

In outlining the plan to the Commission, Gordon S. Matthews, chairman, said that there was more than sufficient room in the grounds of the park for a zoo. He pointed out that the park with its natural, well-kept beauty and the attractions of the illuminated fountain had become very popular. He considered that the zoo could be established and maintained at very little cost. "Employees at the filtration plant are keen about the idea," he said, "and are quite willing to take charge of the animals that may be placed there."

Inspector Marshall has urged the establishment of a zoo here for many months. He can easily supply young deer, bear, beaver and other animals natural to this district for the zoo.

Besides interesting citizens in game life, this zoo will arouse an interest in the conservation of game in this district. Viewed from every angle the project is most worthwhile and the Commission is to be congratulated on their decision to put it into effect.

NO CHANGE IN SEASON

Despite early rumors, there has been no change in the opening date of the trout season. Undoubtedly the Department had no intention of opening the season on April 15, as had been suggested, and the season will open as formerly on May 1.

Trout fishermen are great addicts to this superlative sport. Yesterday a trout fisherman was heard to say, "Just 548 hours to the blessed event." Questioned on what he meant, he answered, "The opening of the trout season of course. I have it counted right down to the hours."

Reports coming in from Cavan state that the brown trout fingerlings placed in the streams in that district last year by the request of the Peterborough Fish and Game Association have come along splendidly. It was said that one stream is "teeming with 'em." There will be good fishing there in a few years.

TRAPPERS NEED LICENSE

Many trappers have been trapping muskrats in this district illegally, that is without a license, it is reported. The law is that the only persons not requiring a license are farmers and their sons living on the land over which they are trapping. All others need licenses. The fact that a man owns a marsh does not give him the right to trap it without a license. In the same need of a license is the man who rents a marsh on which to trap.

The game warden has been making a close check among trappers and it is reported that last week he could have had about six charged with trapping without license. However, he merely issued warnings. There will be no further warnings.

UP IN ARMS

A change in the Manitoba fishing law, requiring all fishermen to pay $1.50 for a license is creating a storm of protest. The fishermen object to paying the license on the ground that the Fish and Game Department of that province is doing nothing to assist fishing and that the license is merely a form of hold-up.

ASSOCIATION WANTS HATCHERY

Peterborough sportsmen are not resting in their efforts to have a portable hatchery for maskinonge located at Burleigh Falls, and the following resolution has been sent by the association here to the Department, "That in view of the serious depletion of maskinonge in this area that a portable hatchery be operated at or near Burleigh Falls and the fry propagated be released in this district." The association points out that only one small hatchery or spawning station is being operated in this county, the one at Omemee, and fry from this hatchery is being distributed widely.

It is learned that the Department proposes to abandon the portable hatchery at Omemee. However, all possible eggs will be collected there and these will then be transferred to the hatchery at Belleville, where facilities exist for the culturing of maskinonge to the fry stage. It is explained by the Department that sudden changes in the water temperature at Omemee has interfered somewhat with the success of the hatchery there. Another field station will be located at Beaver Creek, in Hastings County, and eggs from this station will also be taken to the Bellville hatchery.

However, despite these plans of the Department, members of the local association are sincere in their belief that a portable hatchery near Stoney Lake would prove of great worth in the restocking of district waters.

PICKEREL IN INDIAN RIVER

The local association has applied already to the Game and Fisheries Department for the placing of pickerel in Indian River above Keene. It is thought that if pickerel were placed in the upper reaches of this stream the fish would soon find their way into Stoney Lake and perhaps help to make up for the shortage of bass and maskinonge there. The Department is seeking more information concerning the suitability of Indian River for pickerel.

The association has also sought permission from the Department to transfer pickerel from the Otonabee River to some of the waters above Lakefield.

WANT YOUTH TO HELP

The co-operation of Boy Scouts and Cubs of the city is being sought by members of the local Fish and Game Association in the effort to protect fish and game of the district. Sportsmen are keenly alive to the great assistance the youth of the district can give in this worthwhile work. Last week Chris Graham addressed the Cubs of the St. John's Troop on sportsmanship in fishing and angling, and last night Alex Weddell, past president of the Peterborough Fish and Game Association, presented honor awards to the Scouts of the St. Andrew's Troop and at the same time urged the boys to interest themselves actively in the conservation of fish and game.

In this same direction of educating the youth to a realization of the importance of fish and game to this district, members of the association have interviewed L. W. Copp, school inspector, regarding the possibility of an educational campaign among school children in the county. Inspector Copp promised every assistance and it has been suggested that movie films of fishing and hunting be shown in the schools. The executive of the association is working on this plan and an interesting program will be arranged.

BUSY AT MARMORA

Employees of the Fish and Game Department have been busy at Marmora shipping eggs from fish and transferring the spawn for use in the Belleville hatchery, it is reported.

BIG NIGHT AT OSHAWA

The Oshawa Fish and Game Club is planning an important function for sportsmen of forest and stream on the evening of April 29. Bishop Renison, formerly stationed in the Hudson Bay area, will be the guest speaker and his address should prove of great interest and value to hunters and fishermen. An invitation to members of the Peterborough Fish and Game Association to attend this meeting has been extended by the Oshawa Club and a number are planning to be present.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

An item in the New York Herald-Tribune of recent date informs us that during the next few weeks hundreds of truck-loads of over-legal-size trout will be rushed from various State hatcheries in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut for planting in the streams prior to the opening of the fishing season, and mentions the fact that many fish and game associations vie with each other in planting sufficient fish to compensate for the losses during the droughts of the last few years.

However, the interesting part of the same article to us in Ontario comes a bit later, and reads: "I often wonder if those trout fishermen whose only contribution to the sport is the $2.25 they spend for a fishing license appreciate or even realize how much is being done for them by a comparatively few unselfish sportsmen ...A roster of these associations would constitute the honor role in the conservation activities in this state. They are working, not for their own interests alone, but for the good of all....For this they often receive nothing but criticism from non-members who complain that the fishing or hunting is not what it should be."

This brief quotation strikes home in more ways than one. We have no resident license fee and if a few of the critics of our provincial and county associations would join these bodies, and lend their voices to constructive suggestions, rather than to carping criticisms, we would soon have hunting and fishing better than any of us has ever hoped to see it. The idea is worth trying, isn't it?

DEFENDS THE CROW

The Chicago Daily News has just come to the defense of the crow with an attack on the Illinois Department of Conservation for its boast that its "bombing squad" took a toll of 150,000 of these birds since the first of the year, and that by the time spring definitely arrived they hoped to add 200,000 more to the total. The article in question declares that the insatiable appetite of the crow for field mice, other small insects and cutworms make him a valuable aid in keeping down these crop-pests. Opinions on this question differ so radically that we almost hesitate to express our own, but the observers in the west condemn the "black menace" of the crow on the duck breeding grounds, and declare that he takes a toll of many a young duckling and many eggs in the course of a season.

STRANGE REQUEST

According to an exchange a hunter in Steuben County, N.Y., who caught his own dog chasing deer recently, shot the animal and then sent a bill to the State for $15, to reimburse himself for the loss of the animal. The courts are now having a bit of a puzzle to unravel in trying to decide just what action to take in regard to the matter.

JANETVILLE W.M.S MEETS HOWE HOME

Easter Pageant and Program Be Presented Good Friday.

JANETVILLE, April 13 (Special). —The April meeting of the Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. James Howe on Wednesday afternoon, April 10th, with an attendance of fifteen members and a few visitors.

The president, Mrs. Harry Blatherwick, opened the meeting by reading the W.M.S. motto, "Not by might," and this was followed by the printed program, "The Easter Service of Worship."

Mrs. N. W. McGill agreed to act as leader for the May meeting, which will be held in the church instead of the homes as heretofore, and lunch will be dispensed with owing to the busy season.

Mrs. J. R. Magee and Mrs. Sam Stinson were appointed to distribute envelopes for Easter Sunday.

Mrs. Robert Henders and Mrs. N. W. McGill were asked to sell tickets at the Easter pageant and program which is being held Good Friday evening in the church.

Mrs. Charles Deyell, Mrs. R. J. Burn and Mrs. Alb. Heaslip were delegated to arrange for supper to be served to the Courtice talent who are providing the main items on the program.

Mrs. (Rev.) Wolfraim suggested dividing the members into three groups, each with a captain, the object being to increase interest in the society, and to raise money to meet the allocation.

Interesting readings along missionary lines were given by Mrs. James Thornton, Mrs. Sam Stinson, Mrs. N. W. McGill, Mrs. A. Heaslip, Mrs. R. J. Burn and Mrs. J. R. Magee.

After the Mizpah benediction, refreshments were served by Mrs. Howe, Mrs. Henders and Mrs. Sam. Stinson.

local dealers on contract. The latter stock implements and parts and pay for them. Thus the manufacturers avert the load of bad debts.

Standardized Parts

There was also room for further standardization of parts, the report suggested.

As in many other industries, the manufacture of agricultural implements had a large excess capacity. The commission believed it difficult to adjust this condition satisfactorily unless compulsory deflation was applied both to industry and finance. In this industry the dominating companies had not been guilty of social abuses.

A solution to the troubles might come from external sources—a return to normal demands through inreasing purchasing power on the part of the farmers—or through a winding-up and recapitalization of one or more manufacturing companies, the report declared.

But... is he crying for exercise?

HIS little cries go on and on ... so pitiful! True—a baby must do some crying, just for exercise.

But when he cries too much you're right in suspecting that something is really wrong.

The trouble may be colic due to gas, acid stomach or that ailment which affects so many babies—constipation. Be ready for these difficulties.

Give the children's laxative

Give Castoria! It belongs in every nursery just as definitely as the delicate powder, the pure soap that guard a baby's petal-soft skin.

For Castoria is made especially for children. It is gentle and safe. Free from narcotics and harsh purgatives. It acts as an intestinal stimulant—not an irritant. It will not upset a baby's stomach or cause griping pain—as strong adult laxatives may do.

Ask your doctor about Castoria next time your baby has his regular health examination.

For every growing child

And remember ... Castoria is the ideal laxative for older children too. Give it from babyhood to 11 years—for colic due to gas, diarrhea due to improper diet, sour stomach, flatulence and constipation. And as a first aid when a cold threatens.

Buy the family-size carton. It's more economical.

DEVISE PLANS OF CELEBRATING KING'S JUBILEE

Proclamation Will be Read in All Churches on Sunday, May 5th.

BROADCAST KING'S SPEECH

The enthusiasm with which the special committee is working to devise a program for the observance of the Silver Jubilee Anniversary of the Accession of King George V, would indicate that Peterborough is going to celebrate the occasion in a wholehearted manner.

The executive committee met in the Chamber of Commerce under the chairmanship of James Dutton, when plans for the celebration were further advanced.

It was stated, that the committee decided to ask Mayor Roland Denne to issue a proclamation to be read in every church throughout the city on Sunday, May 5. In the proclamation people of all denominations will be asked to conduct their respective services in accordance with their own usage, paying particular attention to the religious side of the event to be celebrated on the day following.

Celebrations on Monday, May 6 in which the combined organizations of the city are invited to participate will be purely civic in character, and will probably consist of His Majesty's Empire broadcast to be received over amplifiers erected in Victoria Park (or such other place as the committee might later decide); a program of National songs by the Madrigal Singers and Peterborough Male Voice Choir; a series of speeches, and other features.

The chairman of the committee announced that through the courtesy of C. A. Salmonsen, works manager of the C.G.E., and William M. Cruthers, the committee had accepted the loan of the receiving set and amplifying equipment from the Kawartha Golf and Country Club.

Speakers at the big civic gathering will include Mayor Roland Denne, the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, chairman of Peterborough Ministerial Association, and the Rev. Paul Costello. The latter, it was said, was delegated by the Right Reverend Bishop Denis O'Connor, who regretted his inability to accept the invitation of the committee, due to the fact that His Excellency had previously completed arrangements for a visit of the Diocese covering a period of two months.

A suggestion, which the committee has under careful consideration, and one that might well be adopted by other municipalities, was made by Dr. Barr that the celebrations conclude with a beacon fire on Armour Hill along with a firework display. The suggestion is in line with the chain of beacon fires to be lighted throughout the British Isles as a part of the Jubilee celebrations in Great Britain.

Pour Hot Water On Girl's Head

SAVANTWADI, India, April 13 (C.P.) — Five persons are being prosecuted here for having scalded Yamunabai Harmalkar of Danoli by pouring boiling water on her head.

The prosecution story reveals that at the instigation of Devki of Danoldi, believed to be versed in witchcraft and to possess supernatural powers, the father-in-law of the complainant tied her to a post with the help of Dattaram Gavadi and two women neighbors, and poured on her head and body boiling water, in the hope of turning Yamunabai had to lie in the civil hospital at Savantwadi for

HAVELOCK, April 13. (Examiner Correspondence).—The Ladies' Aid of Knox Presbyterian Church held a very pleasant afternoon on Wednesday, April 10, at the home of Mrs. John Howe, who has been ill for several months, but is now rapidly recovering. For many years Mrs. Howe has been a valuable member of the Society and it was with much pleasure they met with her and joined in singing her favourite hymns: "Lead Kindly Light," "Shall We Gather at the River." Reading the Psalm "The Lord is My Shepherd" was a very pleasing feature together with a beautiful solo by Mrs. J. L. H. Squire "Just Abide", all request numbers.

After the usual amount of routine business was dispensed with, Mrs. (Dr.) A. S. Thompson gave a most humorous reading "A Genius Pig". Before closing Mrs. Howe was presented with a beautiful spring plant. A social hour was spent in visiting.

Tea was served by Mrs. Clark and her daughter, Marguerite, assisted by Miss M. McBurney.

The regular meeting of Knox Church W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. John Kinnaird on Monday night with the President, Miss M. Sexsmith in the chair. After the regular devotional exercises Mrs. Robert Scott read a most interesting letter on the life and work of Dr. and Mrs. Goforth. The study lesson was taken by Mrs. (Dr.) Thompson. Dainty lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. A. Watson and Mrs. J. Kinneird.

MILLBROOK

Addressing a local branch of the Women's Institute at its April meeting, the story of "The Beginnings of Agriculture in Ontario," was taken up by the appointed speaker, many interesting facts being presented.

"In 1780 it was decided to place some land under cultivation on the west side of the Niagara River, the cutting of virgin forest having cleared a plain that could be used for the purpose. This was the initial sowing in Upper Canada, as Ontario was then called, and the amount of grain that made up the allowance for this first preparation for a harvest included ten bushels of spring wheat; four bushels of buckwheat; four of oats, and four of peas and small seed, and one barrel of Indian corn. So you see one hundred and fifty-five years ago marked the beginning of the industry which has since become the most important in our province, and of which we speak as the basic industry of all Canada.

The need of food products to help in supplying the garrison at Fort Niagara, as well as the many hundreds of women and children, and other non-combatants who had been driven from their homes in the old colonies by successes of the revolutionists; the numerous Indians and other fugitives forced from their ancestral homes and hunting grounds; together with the supplemental units sent to the Fort, all made such a demand on the commissariat that transport facilities on the St. Lawrence and Lake Ontario were taxed to the limit to bring in needed supplies. The cost to the British Government was also enormous, and hence it was decided to make the attempt to raise a certain quantity of grain, etc., to help out the situation.

As early as 1779 there had been correspondence between General Haldimand, Governor of Canada, and Lieutenant-Colonel Mason Bolton, the Commandant at Fort Niagara, regarding putting land under cultivation for food products, and though there was some fear that the Indians might resent the beginning of agriculture in the heart of what they still held was their country, and so demand the right to help themselves to what ever was grown; and though some of those high in authority thought the possibility of successful farming but a remote possibility; yet in the end it was decided the scheme was practicable.

It happened that there were some experienced farmers in the Rangers Regiment, and some of these had become unfit for active and arduous campaigning, so these were finally placed on the land with advantage to all. On the west side of the Niagara River a range of barracks had been built for the Rangers and their dependents in 1778, and here the soil appeared suitable for tillage, another advantage being that the tribe of Indians, the Mississaugas, who regarded this territory as their own were less likely to cause trouble than the Senecas who claimed the ground on the eastern side.

The great day dawned when farming was begun in Ontario, though the occasion was delayed one year because the wheat which should have arrived in the fall of 1780 from Montreal was received too late, the founding of agriculture having to be unavoidably postponed until the spring season of 1781. The little group of farmers garnered their first harvest just one hundred and fifty-four years ago next autumn, and as results had proved highly satisfactory it was immediately arranged to place a large number of men on the land, and for greatly increasing the acreage under cultivation.

While last year the celebration of the coming of the U.E. Loyalists two hundred years previously to Ontario and other provinces, was fittingly commemorated, we as rural women of this fair section of Canada should feel proud to remember there was already a settlement of consequence at Niagara, and agriculture was actually a well-established industry here.

salaries of $500 for rural school teachers and an attempt to curb the any express criticism of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett. He said he was sorry to have to discuss the matter in Mr. Bennett's absence, but others had started the discussion.

Stevens' Resignation.

The former Minister said he had not resigned his Cabinet post because he had been asked to explain certain allegedly untrue statements in his famous pamphlet of last summer. He had resigned because a full account of proceedings of the Cabinet meeting when the matter was discussed had appeared in the newspapers, despite the Cabinet oath of secrecy. By remaining in the Cabinet he would have placed himself in the position of taking a public spanking, something he would do for no one. There had been a suggestion of a misunderstanding, he added, but he preferred not to discuss it at that stage.

Explaining the pamphlet which led to his resignation, Mr. Stevens said he addressed the Conservative Study Club of the House late last session. His subject had been the work of the Price Spreads Committee.

Never Circulated Speech

A shorthand reporter was present. When the speech was delivered to him, Mr. Stevens continued, he edited it and it was "mimeographed at my own expense. I never circulated it. It has never been circulated as far as I know."

A few copies of the pamphlet were sent to "representative press men," Mr. Stevens said, and eventually it was published. "I have no apologies to make for anything in that speech. It was accurate in the main."

C. L. Burton of the Robert Simpson Company, Limited, protested the accuracy of the report to the Prime Minister, he said. Mr. Bennett telephoned Mr. Stevens in Winnipeg and, at the same time, stopped circulation of the pamplet.

Mr. Stevens said he was asked to apologize to those offended by his pamphlet or resign. "I declined. I resigned from the Cabinet, and as chairman of the committee because I felt it desirable the chairman should be in harmony with the views of the Government."

It was true, as the Liberal Leader charged, he had made speeches on what was going on before the commission, Mr. Stevens said. He did it deliberately so the commission would not be allowed to die.

Going back to Jan., 1934, when the original Price Spreads Committee was formed at his suggestion, Mr. Stevens said he told the Prime Minister he would raise his voice at every possible opportunity against conditions which he believed existed. He said he asked originally for a judicial inquiry with a judge presiding, but was granted a House committee.

The Liberal Leader had charged he served as judge, jury and prosecutor, Mr. Stevens said. "I ask him or any other member in so far as I ever acted as a prosecutor, to show the one instance where I have been unjust to those who have been brought before the commission."

No Rubber Stamp

"My fate in this thing amounts to nothing," he said. But he refused to be a mere rubber stamp and if he had any views he would express them.

There had been criticism, opposition and obstacles placed in his path ever since the committee was formed, Mr. Stevens said. "I happen to know thousands of dollars have been spent to try and find something that will discredit me."

Mr. Stevens said he could look any man in the eye and state he had played the game. "I have no apologies to the leader of the Opposition, this House or any one else for my conduct on the committee or commission. I have made mistakes but I tried to do my duty as fearlessly as I could."

The whole argument over publication of the report he described as "Lilliputian" and suggested Parliament drop trivialities and get down to the serious business of grappling with the concentration of wealth in Canada in the hands of the few.

Mr. Cahan entered the picture by reading parts of Mr. Bennett's letter accepting Mr. Stevens' resignation, and Mr. Stevens retorted by reading his letter in reply. Mr. Cahan referred to premature publication of the commission's report and said members of the commission took an oath to report to the Minister of Trade and Commerce and not to the newspapers, while Mr. Stevens said there was nothing in the oath binding members to secrecy.

Message To King George.

Party and intra-party disputes laid aside the Commoners a few minutes later united in a message of congratulation and loyalty to the King on the occasion of his jubilee. Sir George Perley, acting Prime Minister, moved adoption of the message, and after Mr. King and Robert Gardiner, United Farmer leader, had joined in the expression the whole House rose and sang "God Save the King."

For the rest of the session business proceeded smoothly and speedily. Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, obtained approval for a lot of his estimates and a number of Government bills were advanced. These included the Minimum Wage Bill which received second and third reading and was sent to the Senate.

The bill aimed at a reduction in interest rates on policy loans by insurance companies encountered opposition and was talked out by R. S. White (Cons., Mount Royal). Sponsored by George Coote (U.F.A., McLeod), the bill as it emerged from the banking committee would have fixed a maximum rate of five per cent. on such loans. Mr. White moved to change this to six per cent. and the private bills hour expired before a vote was taken.

activities of "adjusters" who settled claims growing out of automobile accidents were features of Bills introduced.

After Mr. Roebuck explained his bill which was up for second reading, said it was designed to remove any doubt such positions were the gift of the administration and management of the Board must be in the hands of the Government of the day. Mr. Ellis declared he was "shocked" at such procedure.

"That's shameful condition for things to get in, that the moment a new government takes office these men will resign," he said, and added the Attorney-General's action meant introduction of United States' ideas.

No Hydro Interference.

Mr. Ellis said previously no governments had interfered with the Hydro Commission or Liquor Control Board and he hoped no government in future would interfere with Hydro to the same extent the present administration had done.

The bill Mr. Croll introduced for second reading was regarded by Mr. Heightington as "an admission that municipalities cannot be trusted." Mr. Henry, however, said the legislation had long been needed and Mr. Ellis declared it represented a progressive step. M. M. MacBride, Independent member for Brantford, regarded it as a move in the right direction.

SPACE

MR. ADVERTISER?

Space in a daily newspaper possesses a power that is lacking in the lineage of other advertising media.

It is not only more economical . . . which is a matter of easy computation . . . it is not only more flexible, it is not only more timely and rapid, but also it is the advertiser's unfailing point of contact with the mass market and every spot market of the Dominion of Canada.

The Daily Newspaper possesses a power by means of which an advertiser, who knows how to use it, can reach and move to action all or any part of the Canadian consuming public.

In this North American continent there was spent during 1934 in the columns of the daily newspapers more than $500,000,000. The strongest of all supplementary media was used to the extent of $114,000,000. Why?

Because for prompt action on sales plans . . . for quick consumer influence at minimum cost . . . for willing co-operation from the retail trade, the daily newspaper is today, as it always has been, the outstanding and most economical basic advertising medium.

FOUR PEDDLERS OF FRUIT TAKE OUT LICENSES

Toronto Firm Sends Fruit Store on Wheels Here Twice in Past Week.

COMPLY WITH BY-LAW.

Four peddlers' licenses issued this week at the city hall at $75 each for a total of $300 aroused more concern than satisfaction with the contribution to the treasury. It was a trading toll exacted in accordance with a municipal by-law from a Toronto firm of door-to-door vendors of fruits and vegetables who began operations here this week.

A big specially equipped truck with a driver and four leg men comprised the outfit that loads up with everything from grapefruit to spinach, arrives here in the morning and rings door bells under the noses and even at the homes of resident and tax-paying grocers and fruit and vegetable dealers at the very season of the year when this branch of business begins to show a liveliness stimulated by the incoming crop.

The leg men accompany the truck, two on each side of the street. They are equipped with two baskets slung together by a handle, and in the other hand carry a display of their wares on a large shallow rack built on the proportions of flat trays used by the market gardeners in assembling baskets of berries in the fields.

With such a staff the M. Brown, 420 Bathurst Street, Toronto, can cover quite a mileage of streets in a day, and doubtless unload a lot of green stuff for the advantage and profit of the invaders from Toronto. It is a strictly cash game right at the door, and two visits this week, Tuesday and Thursday, with probably sorties into other cities and towns around the counties, suggest that a substantial trade must have been diverted from the ordinary channels leading to so many of Peterborough's merchants. Possibly the Brown truck's total business does not represent a serious intrusion, but its emergence with the new season brings no comfort to the fruit and vegetable men who have been carrying on all through the winter months, and in many instances on a credit basis.

Tradesmen made enquiries about the new competitors, and learned that they had breezed into Peterborough with a cheque for $300, anticipating the peddling license as required by the city by-law. The cheque was confirmed by the bank before its acceptance, and with a year's permit to go to work the first truck load of asparagus, lemons, oranges, onions and so on started rolling on its way into the residential districts, in opposition to the local dealers and their scores and probably hundreds of locally residing employees.

But the by-law was complied with to the letter, although some merchants have been wondering whether the fee might not be tilted appreciably against seasonal competition from out of town middlemen.

Obituary

NOBLE CUMMINGS.

A life-long resident of Peterborough County was taken in the death of Noble Cummings at his home in Lakehurst yesterday. Mr. Cummings was in his 74th year, and succumbed unexpectedly to pneumonia.

The deceased was born in Bridgenorth and spent the greater part of his life farming. His wife predeceased him. He leaves two sons, Wesley and Nathan, and four daughters: Mrs. O'Keefe, Mrs. B. Halpin, Mrs. C. C. Mowry and Mrs. Walter Tebb.

The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock from the Lakehurst residence to the Lakefield Cemetery. The Rev. Mr. Joblin will conduct the services.

IDA MAE TURNER

Resident of this city for the past twenty-one years, and fondly remembered by the residents of Roseneath and Campbellford, where she spent several years as a music teacher and organist and choir director, the funeral was held on Friday afternoon from the family residence, 395 Monaghan road, of Ida Mae Turner, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Turner.

A native of Roseneath she spent her early years teaching music in and around that district, and for several years was organist and choir leader in the village Methodist Church. Later she secured a music class at Campbellford and was organist and choir leader there for eight years. When her health failed she went to Vancouver, where she resided for five years before returning to her mother's home in Peterborough in 1914.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. A. E. Moorhouse of St. James' United Church and Mr. William Blackwood of Assembly Hall. The pall-bearers were Messrs Roper, White, Martin, Keefer, Hewitt and Hamilton comprising a complete circle of next door neighbors. Many relatives were present from outside of Peterborough including Mrs. Lily Turner and family, Roseneath, Mr. Charles Brown and sister, Roseneath, Mr. Ira Solomon of Brighton, Ont.; Mrs. Harry Perry, Oshawa. Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Turner of Los Angles, Calif., who, on account of distance were unable to be present, were among the large number of relatives and friends from whom beautiful floral tributes were received. Besides M. A. Turner of Los Angeles, there are left to mourn Miss Turner's loss, one brother, Leslie, and three sisters, Mrs. F. B. Elliott and the Misses Eva and Hattie, Peterborough and W. W. Turner, California.

Her loved ones miss "the touch of a vanished hand and the sound of a voice that is still," but rejoice that her sufferings are exchanged for unspeakable joy "for ever with the Lord." Miss Turner endured much suffering all through her illness without complaint so that it may truly be said of her that "she was perfected through suffering." The memory of her unselfish Christian life will always remain a cherished inspiration to her sorrowing family.

MRS. ANDREW McFARLANE.

The many friends of the late Mrs. Andrew MacFarlane, formerly of Peterborough, regretted to learn of her death in Vancouver a few days ago. The deceased was born in Peterborough, the daughter of the late John S. Wills and Elizabeth Livingstone and had resided in Peterborough all her life, with the exception of the last few years spent with her daughter, Mrs. George McCuish, at Vancouver, B.C. Her husband, the late Andrew MacFarlane, former superintendent of the Wm. Hamilton Co., predeceased her several years ago.

The deceased was a member of St. Andrew's church, in which she was greatly interested all her life. Her many friends availed themselves of her kind hospitality at their home and many of the younger people of the times, many newcomers to the city, had reason to thank the late Mr. and Mrs. MacFarlane for their kindly interest in them.

Surviving are three sons, Charles D. in Peterborough; Bruce, Vancouver, B.C., and Ernie at Losbanos, Cal., and one daughter, Mrs. George McCuish, at Vancouver, B.C.

The body will arrive in Peterborough at Monday noon and will be taken to St. Andrew's United church, where service will be held at 2 o'clock. Interment in Little Lake Cemetery.

The King loves horse racing

WHEN King George ascended the throne, there were many who thought that he would dampen the ardor of royal sports—the royal stables in particular.

King Edward had always been a lover of horse-racing, while King George had never shown much liking for it. But when he became King, he astonished everyone by his knowledge of horseflesh. He was a better judge than his father.

Our picture today shows the King chatting informally at a race track where he is often seen when any of the royal stable are racing.

But horse-racing is not the King's favorite sport. There are two others that take priority, shooting and yachting. The King is an expert rifleman and grouse shooting on his Scottish estates is a favorite pastime. Yachting at Cowes is another real attraction for his majesty and there is nothing he likes better than to climb aboard the royal yacht Britannia for a sail in a spanking breeze.

King George never had the luck with horses that his father King Edward had. Always some unforeseen mishap marred what seemed to be a splendid opportunity. But this lack of success never worried the King much. He like sports—just like the Prince of Wales today—for sport's sake, not for any desire to gamble or win.

To-morrow: The King and the Heir Apparent.

PUTTING REFUSE ON STREET

A notice appeared in Thursday's Examiner to the effect that the placing of leaves, branches and other refuse from lawns and gardens on the roadways in the city is strictly prohibited, and residents are particularly requested to observe this notice. It has been the habit of a number of residents to rake all the refuse from the lawns onto the roads apparently just after the Board of Works men had swept the pavement, and instead of the city streets presenting a neat appearance it was decidedly the opposite. It is believed this refuse put in containers at the rear will be removed by the garbage collectors.

SEE FILM SHOWING.

Members of St. Andrew's Scout Troop last evening witnessed the showing of some intresting reels of movie films taken in and around Peterborough, as a part of their weekly program of Scout training. The pictures were filmed and presented by Fred L. Roy, who was accompanied by Alex Weddell. The latter undertook the presentation of several efficiency awards to members of the troop.

Anyone having information that might help to locate Mr. Roberts is requested to communicate with the City Police Department.

OSHAWA CLUB VISITS HERE

Kiwanis Club of Oshawa Presents Program at Dinner in Empress.

SKETCH OF LLOYD GEORGE.

The masterly presentation of a word sketch of David Lloyd George by Rev. Andrew Robb of Simcoe Street United Church in Oshawa featured a combined meeting of Oshawa and Peterborough Kiwanians here last evening. With the program entirely in the hands of the Oshawa club, an evening of jolly fun resulted.

Ivan Lillico, Peterborough president, relinquished the chair to the guest president, Lou Beaton, shortly after welcoming the visitors to the city. Jack Marks of Oshawa, in charge of the evening program of entertainment, called on a fellow clubman, Jack Powell for an impression of Hal LeRoy. Demonstrating an amazing ability in two tap dance numbers, he was recalled for encores on two appearances. Matt Colbourne played the piano accompaniment.

Assisted by Mr. Colbourne, George Walsh led the singing throughout the meeting and won hearty applause on two solo offerings of his own. His version of "The King's Horses" proved the hit of the program.

Observing the fact that Kiwanis are this week celebrating "Progress Week", W. A. Richardson outlined Kiwanian service activities in Peterborough at the request of the chairman. Citing it as the outstanding interest of the club, Mr. Richardson described the Kiwanis work in connection with the Jackson Park Health Camp.

The visitors invited Peterborough Kiwanians to pay a club visit to the Oshawa club in the near future and extended an invitation also in regard to the annual Kiwanis sports' day in Oshawa on June 19.

BEAUTIFUL HEIRESS PLUNGED 500 FT. FROM MOUNTAIN PEAK

ROLLS TO DEATH

Bangor, Caernarvon.—Wandering dazed on the slopes of the dreaded Tryfan Peak near here, recently, a 22-year-old heiress plunged 500 feet to her death over a precipice. Her body was found after a search party had scoured the mountain all night by the light of torches.

She was Miss Edna Gray Pritchard of Pendyffryn, Bangor, an undergraduate at Oxford university, and only daughter of a wealthy Liverpool stockbroker, William Pritchard, who died in 1930, leaving her half a million dollars.

Miss Pritchard was one of a party of four Oxford undergraduates who left Bangor for a climbing week-end in Snowdonia. They took rooms at Bethesda, and set off to conquer the Tryfan Peak, which is 3,012 feet high.

In the party were: Miss Daphne Valentine Faulkner Simpson, John Neston Mills and Mr. Richard Cayley Muggridge. By 4.50 p.m. they had reached the top.

Dash For Aid

On the way down, Miss Simpson and Mr. Muggridge went on in front. Mr. Mills and Miss Pritchard were some distance behind them when Miss Pritchard slipped and fell. Mr. Mills found her lying unconscious with a cut above her left ear, and apparently suffering from a leg injury.

He could not carry her down the mountain, and chose the only apparently safe plan—he placed her in a sheltered spot and hurried off for aid.

It was dusk when he returned with assistance, but Miss Pritchard had vanished. Her distracted companions searched until dark, but there was no clue.

They telephoned to Bangor. Dr. Idwal Griffiths, a Bangor physician, a policeman, and a farmer, set off with lamps and torches.

Dr. Griffiths had never climbed a mountain before, and to add to the party's dangers thick banks of mist settled down. All through the night they scoured the slopes of Tryfan.

They found Miss Pritchard's shoes, but that was all . . .

Crawling Searchers

Before dawn a party of Manchester students staying at the foot of the mountain reinforced the searchers, and eventually Miss Pritchard's body was discovered at the foot of a 500-foot precipice.

"We were summoned from Bangor at 8.30 p.m. and did not discover the body until 6.30 in the morning," said Dr. Griffiths.

"It was one of the most nerve-racking experiences I have ever encountered.

"Four of us took part in the search. We carried bicycle lamps and electric torches. In addition to the darkness the mountain was wreathed in mist, and we had to keep within touching distance of one another to prevent ourselves from being lost.

"At times the slopes were so precipitous that we had to crawl with our arms outstretched to safeguard us from unexpected precipices.

"At a height of 2,500 feet we discovered the ledge of rock where Miss Pritchard was left unconscious. It was apparent that she had rolled off—possibly during a period of semi-consciousness—as the ledge was only two or three feet wide."

Dr. Griffiths sprained his ankle during the search and received severe bruises.

R. J. Pritchard of Pendyffryn, Bangor, the uncle and guardian of the dead girl, said that she was an orphan and had been at Lady Margaret Hall, Oxford, for 18 months. She was intensely fond of climbing and had paid frequent visits to the Welsh mountains.

KITCHEN BOY PLANS TO OWN GRAND HOTEL

Young Baronet Slaves in White Coat to Learn Business

London.—A slim, fair-haired youth of 18 stands peeling tomatoes, trussing fowls, and cutting sandwiches for more than eight hours a day in the kitchens of Grosvenor House, Park Lane W., and his fellow-workers call him "Pat."

He is Sir Patrick Ivor Heron-Maxwell, baronet, of Springkell, head in the male line of the Maxwells of Pollok and chief of the Clydesdale Maxwells.

At the hotel he is known as a chef's apprentice. He wears a chef's hat, white coat, and gray check trousers, and his salary amounts to a few shillings a week.

"I have taken on this job because I do not see that there are very great prospects in any of the other careers open to a public schoolboy nowadays."

His Ambitions

"I work from 10 o'clock in the morning to 2.30 in the afternoon, and then from 5.30 in the evening until 9.30.

"Eventually I hope to become a waiter. Or I may be promoted to the post of telephone operator. That will mean better money.

"But my main idea is to have an hotel of my own one day. Having served in a first-class hotel, I shall know what to do."

URGE JUBILEE GIFT

PLAN GRAND DRIVE AGAINST SMUGGLERS

To Spend $450,000 on Fast Motor Boats

London.—Nearly $450,000 more is to be spent during the next 12 months in a big new drive against Britain's smugglers.

Most of the money will be spent on the building and manning of fast motorboats able to penetrate the tiny, unfrequented creeks where smuggling is increasing every year.

The report of the commissioners for customs and excise for last year states that 7,110 seizures of smuggled goods were made and more than 3,000 people were convicted.

The bulk of contraband goods reaching this country from the continent comprises silk, scent, lace, watches and cameras.

WOMAN LEFT $6,000 TO TORTOISESHELL CAT

But 15 of Spinster's Relatives Inherit Without Waiting Feline's Demise

Bolton Gate.—A legacy of £1,200 (about $6,000), left in trust by Miss Barwise, a retired schoolmistress, aged 73, to provide maintenance for her pet tortoiseshell cat, is, after all, to be divided forthwith among the 15 residuary legatees—relatives of Miss Barwise—without waiting till the cat loses all its nine lives.

A year ago the cat was left in the care of the rector of this Cumberland town, Rev. George Pallister, who was a friend of Miss Barwise.

The money will be a boon to some of the 15 elderly recipients, who are cousins of Miss Barwise. The youngest of them is over 60.

The cheques are being sent out at once.

One provision of the will was to the effect that: "No kittens are to be kept."

The cat is six years old and may quite probably live for 12 or 14 years.

It is an animal of no pedigree and of no special distinction, but Miss Barwise, who had declared that she once owed her life to a cat, was much attached to it.

FIND WOOD STONEHENGE

Newly Discovered Buried Temple Believed Older Than Stone Exemplar

Norwich.—A wooden edition of Stonehenge, older than that famous monument and at a spot at Armingball, near Norwich, is to be excavated this summer.

At the Wiltshire Woodhenge, which is nearly two miles from Stonehenge, there are six concentric rings of holes which contain wooden pillars (perhaps tree trunks).

The four inner rings are in positions and dimensions almost exact parallels with the four rings at Stonehenge. Both monuments are orientated towards the midsummer sun rise.

The excavators of this Woodhenge consider it to be the forerunner and prototype of Stonehenge.

BABY LOST TWO DAYS

Grantown-on-Spey. — Margaret Wilson, aged two and a half years, was found among the heather on the moors near here, none the worse for her adventure, after having been lost for two days, during which search parties had been hunting for her.

WATERS ARE BLESSED WHILE 3,000 WATCH

Choir Sings Hymns While Priest in Boat Performs Ancient Rite

Bournemouth.—More than 3,000 people stood bareheaded beside a salmon run at Mudeford, near here, the other afternoon, to take part in a revival of the ancient ceremony of blessing the waters.

Fishermen, picturesque in their blue jerseys, stood beside their boats and joined in the singing, while salmon could be seen leaping in the sunlit waters.

The crowd stretched along the shores of the run from which the fishermen of the village get their livelihood, while robed clergy and choristers, headed by a golden cross, walked in procession from the village church to the edge of the water, where a short service was held.

All Saints, the tiny fisherman's church at Mudeford, was until two or three years ago unnamed, because it had never been dedicated.

The custom of blessing the waters—so that they may yield a good harvest for the fishermen—was revived by Rev. Eric Dixon, priest in charge of the church.

While the choir sang hymns on the shore he went out in a boat and, standing facing the sea, prayed aloud that a blessing should "descend and abide on these waters for ever."

HUSBAND PROTESTS WIFE'S EXHUMATION

"Slanderous Tittle-Tattle" Is Reason For Police Action

Newport Pagnell.—A protest against the exhumation of his wife was made by the husband at the resumed inquest on Mrs. Gertrude Elizabeth West here recently.

When the inquest was opened on Feb. 18 the coroner, Mr. R. G. Walton, stated that the case was unusual, as Mrs. West's body was exhumed for the purpose of post-mortem examination and analysis.

Dr. Roche Lynch, the home office analyst, stated that there was ample evidence to show that death was due to natural causes.

Mr. West asked the coroner: "What were you working on to have the body exhumed?"

The coroner replied that it was not in the public interest that he should state all the information upon which the decision to exhume was based.

Mr. West: I think it is a very funny business, that is all I can say. "I know it was the slandering tittle-tattle of certain townspeople that caused the police to take action."

PEGGY, SMITHY'S DAUGHTER A POWERFUL ARM WIELDS SHE

Tiny Girl Blacksmith Wears High Heels and Breaks Father's Record

HORSESHOE EXPERT

Newhouse, Lanarkshire. — The smith is usually a mighty man, but in this little village the smith is a pretty young woman who, while she is making the sparks fly from red-hot iron bars, wears a pair of high-heeled shoes.

She is Miss Peggy White, a 21-year-old brunette. At work in her father's smithy, crashing massive hammers on white-hot bars, she shapes them into horseshoes with energy that make mere man feel ashamed.

Although of small stature she wielded 10-pound or 14-pound hammers with equal skill and with almost no effort, the only indication that she was exerting herself being a small wisp of hair which kept falling over her forehead and was impatiently swept aside.

Miss White first began to take an interest in the blacksmith's shop nine years ago.

Soon she graduated to swinging small hand hammers, and then when she was 16 she had acquired skill with heavy hammers.

Now she is an expert at shoeing, but she said that her special job is tiring wheels.

"You would think from the way that I swing these heavy hammers that I must have an extraordinary amount of strength," she remarked, "but in my case it is more knack than muscle.

"I do not know how many horses I have shod, but I remember a few years ago sharpening 25 roadmen's picks in 27 minutes.

"My father told me that he had never been able to equal that record."

FILM-LIBEL PRINCESS STARTS SCENT SALON

$25 to $90 a Vial For Creations of Yousoupoff's

London. — Prince and Princess Yousoupoff, who figured in the sensational libel action in connection with the film "Rasputin," have opened a perfume salon in Mayfair in the name of Messrs. Irfe, Limited.

The word Irfe is made up from the first two yetters of their Christian names—Irina and Felix.

In Russia before the revolution the ability to blend a fragrant and original perfume was considered an artistic accomplishment.

Like many other members of ancient families, Prince Yousoupoff has his own formulae, and recently introduced two new scents, one for blondes and the other for brunettes, in bottles ranging in price from about $25 to $90.

SOMEBODY BLUNDERED

Informed of Appointment to Long-Sought Job But in Error

Preston.—Hubert Hull, a London barrister, recently received the official announcement from the home office stating that he had been appointed recorder of Preston in succession to Sir John Edward Singleton.

Later in the day another official communication reached him which said: "The home office regrets that the announcement of your appointment was incorrect. The position of recorder of Preston was filled a month ago."

Such are the facts of one of the most extraordinary blunders ever made by a government department.

CHURCHES TO INQUIRE INTO DIVINE HEALING

Want It Dissociated From Fanaticism, Folly and Superstition

Liverpool.—A combined move by the churches to deal with the question of Divine healing is foreshadowed by two great conferences of Merseyside clergy and ministers to be held here.

The conference, which will be presided over by the bishop of Liverpool, Dr. A. A. David, and the lord mayor, F. T. Richardson, aim at discovering "the relationship of spiritual to physical forces in health and disease, and the duty of the churches in promoting thought in this matter along Christian lines."

The organizers believe that the churches can no longer avoid their responsibility in dealing with the subject of Divine healing without betraying their sacred trust. Already, they state, the door has been left open to every kind of superstition and chcanery. Guidance from the churches is essential.

Prominent churchmen from all denominational, medical men, university professors, and civic leaders will attend.

Discussing the proposal, Canon Bezzant said: "The Church of England as a whole welcomes the movement. We are anxious Divine healing should be rescued from ignorance and abuse."

Rev. Bernard G. Theobald of Garston, Lancashire: "The orthodox recognition of Divine healing is part of the Christian faith, but certain modern doctrines are using it in a very fanatical and one-sided manner. They claim 'miracle cures' and 'faith cures.' We need to show the real place of Divine healing in recognized teaching dissociated from fanaticism and folly."

WAS DARWIN RIGHT? NEW SKULLS FOUND

Scientist Finds Oldest Anything-Like-Human Head —Teeth Like Ours

London. — Ape-like men, who were yet more like modern man than any prehistoric human species yet discovered, were living on the shores of the Mediterranean 80,000 years ago.

This is the conclusion of a young American anthropologist, Mr. Theodore D. McCown, of California University. At the age of 26, with the three other research workers—two women and a man—Mr. McCown is making discoveries of the highest importance to the first and obscure history of the human species.

The material on which he is working was brought from the northwestern slopes of Mount Lebanon, in Palestine.

The strong, squarely jutting chins are not merely uncharacteristic of the ape-type, but are far more like chins of the human beings of today than the lower jaw of the chinless Neanderthal man, who is only a mere 25,000 years old.

Moreover, the teeth of the Carmel man (perfectly preserved in one of the skulls) are small and regular, and much the same as present-day human teeth.

CLERIC BIG ADDER KILLER

London.—Rev. F. W. Brandreth of Buckland-Newton, Dorset, warned visitors in the southwestern counties against adders, said yesterday that in the last 40 years he had killed about 1,000 adders on his estate.

'DO YOU TAKE THIS WOMAN?' 'NO,' SAYS GROOM AT ALTAR

Changes His Mind—Weeping Bride Doffs Wedding Dress at Church

MAY AGREE LATER

Hendon — A young and charming bride, whose happiness was snatched from her on the steps of the altar, was the central figure in an astonishing wedding drama at West Hendon Baptist church, N.W.

The organ was hushed to silence. The ceremony had reached its crucial point. Before the altar, radiant in her white silk wedding gown, filmy veil, and orange blossom, stood Miss Eva Mary Horton, aged 22, of Mansfield, Nottinghamshire. Beside her was her bridegroom, Leslie Francis Kitching, aged 21, of Sturgess Ave., Hendon.

"Wilt thou have this woman to be thy wedded wife?" came the solemn question of the minister, the Rev. H. S. Rudge.

Bowed Head

In the quiet of the church, all eyes were on the bridegroom, who stood silent with bowed head. Again came the question, again there was no answer. Then in a muffled voice the bridegroom replied, "I cannot say that."

Then the bridegroom slowly shook his head, and the bride, tears staining the whiteness of her face, staggered back into her mother's arms.

Friends led her from the altar while the bridegroom accompanied Mr. Rudge to the vestry.

Half an hour later a motor car drove up to the church with Miss Horton's going-away costume. Tearfully she took off her bridal dress in an ante-room, and with her bridesmaids left the church.

"Mr. Kitching and Miss Horton originally arranged to be married a fortnight ago," she said, "but there was a hitch and the parties did not arrive at the church.

"Mrs. Kitching, the bridegroom's mother, told me that she had impressed Leslie with the seriousness of the undertaking and urged him to be quite sure he wanted to go on with it.

Leaving Home

"He replied that while he wanted to get married, he was anxious about having to leave home.

"Another worry was that he did not feel he could provide for his intended wife as well as he wished. But he apparently had finally made up his mind to carry on.

"The clergyman did all he could to get the parties to settle their differences, but without avail. The guests who had been invited to the reception to be held after the wedding had to be hurriedly advised of the position."

"I cannot make any comment about my action, but I hope that Miss Horton and I will be able to come to an agreement very soon. I think there is every prospect that we may," said the bridegroom.

WIDOW CAN'T REMARRY

Income of $5,000,000 Goes to Children If She Disobeys

London.—The will of a millionaire who was once a baker's boy, reveals that if his widow should remarry she will forfeit her life income from more than $5,000,000.

It is understood that Mr. and Mrs. Scribbans had a very happy married life, and that Mrs. Scribbans, who is elderly, intends to maintain Little Aston Hall exactly in the style it has been during her husband's time.

If Mrs. Scribbans should remarry, her interest in the estate will pass to the three children on their attaining 21 years of age.

MIND WAS IMPROVED BY ATTACKING WIFE

Shock Cleared System, Says Doctor—Had Delusions

London.—Since Thomas A. C. White, bus driver, attacked his wife with a spade his mental condition has vastly improved, according to medical evidence submitted at his trial.

Following the attack he was sent to prison and hospital and will be well in six months.

Undoubtedly the outburst caused a shock which helped to clear up his condition," said the doctor. "Sometimes sufferers from delusions try to commit suicide and that helps.

"Why can't they relieve themselves by just hitting a wall?" the judge asked.

JAILED HEIRESS SAYS SHE'S BEEN WRONGED

$5,000 Reward Offered in Attempt to Prove Innocence of Fraud

A luxurious motor car drove up to Holloway prison early one morning recently. The chauffeur stepped out and, in response to his ring, a warder appeared.

After a few moments' conversation, the doors of the prison were opened and the chauffeur drove the car into the courtyard, where a beautiful girl, wearing a fur coat and a fashionable black hat, stood waiting with a wardress.

The girl was Miss Esmee Marie Dorothy Sibley, the 19-year-old heiress to a fortune of $200,000, who was being released after serving a sentence of six months' imprisonment for obtaining goods by false pretences from a West End store.

As she walked to the car, an Alsatian dog leaped from the dickey seat and welcomed his mistress as warmly as did the girl's mother.

Fearing that there might be a crowd of curious sightseers outside the prison waiting for the girl's release, the governor ordered her discharge an hour earlier than usual.

While taking breakfast in her home at Hendon, N.W., Miss Sibley told of her determination to trace a woman who, it is thought, might be able to throw fresh light on the case.

Her mother has offered a reward fo $5,000 for information leading to the discovery of this woman.

Miss Sibley looked ill after her six months in prison, and she spoke with bitterness of the miscarriage of justice from which, she alleges, she has suffered.

"It has been terrible," she said. "I have had to scrub floors and do all sorts of work, mixing with other prisoners who admit that they have committed much worse offences than those of which I was found guilty.

Two Scotland Yard detectives interviewed Miss Sibley at her home and asked her a number of questions concerning a woman who the police now believe may have had some connection with the case.

Miss Sibley afterwards said: "From the description which the detectives gave me I am almost certain that the woman is the person for whom I am looking.

"The detectives told me of an address which the woman had given, and I intend going there to see if she is the person. If it is the woman I want, I shall spare nothing to get my case retried and vindicate myself.

PALACE OF CONQUERING LION A BIT OF ENGLAND IN DESERT

New Home of Abyssinian Emperor Furnished in Old English Style

PRIVATE THEATRE

Addis Ababa—Haile Sellassie, emperor of Ethiopia, successor of King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, has just moved into a new palace.

It stands in Addis Ababa in the heart of Abyssinia, ringed about by deserts and dense jungle country.

Yet if you walked into it you would think you were in the home of an English country gentleman.

It is a bit of old England dropped into the wilds of Africa. Almost every room in the palace is furnished in English style of the 17th and 18th centuries.

The emperor chose the styles himself, and had the complete furnishings for the palace brought thousands of miles from England to ensure their absolute correctness in every detail.

Georgian, Queen Anne, Chippendale—each period is represented. Only in the case of one or two of the guest bedrooms has the emperor selected furniture of modern design.

His own bedroom suite is in hand-carved walnut with rich crimson and cream hangings above the head of the bed.

The empress has chosen a suite in blue lacquer for a private apartment.

The emperor's crown, together with his initials in Abyssinian, is incorporated in every piece of furniture in the palace.

The magnificent ballroom is the only room in the palace which is not furnished in English style.

This, in token of the veneration in which he holds his illustrious ancestors, the emperor has decorated in the style of the Solomon dynasty.

Museums and historical records of early Egyptian life were consulted before the ballroom furnishings were designed—and now the hall, with its huge 40-feet high windows hung with scarlet damask, is the show piece of the palace.

Not only the two great thrones, but every chair and settee is hand-carved from solid wood, and picked out in the royal scarlets and rich golds of ancient Egypt.

The palace contains its own motion picture room, electric light plant and telephone service. And there is a modern bathroom, complete with hot and cold water and a shower, attached to every bedroom.

The contracts manager of a big London firm that furnished the whole palace says that the emperor was delighted.

Special Boat and Train

The manager made a special trip to Addis Ababa to discuss the preliminary arrangements, and Haile Sellassie sent a special aeroplane to bring him from the coast to the interior.

"That meant doing a three days' journey in three hours," said Mr. Harrington. "And the time-saving was invaluable, for we had less than two months to complete the contract and ship the entire furnishings to Abyssinia."

A special boat was chartered from Aden, and a special train carried the consignment on the three days' rail journey from Jibuti, on the coast, to Addis Ababa.

"The emperor was anxious to have his new palace ready to entertain the king of Sweden," the manager explained, "and by working day and night at our English factories we were able to have the last rug laid and the last piece of furniture installed right on schedule."

$125,000 PRIZE AWAITS NEW-TYPE AEROPLANE

Encourage British Films to Supply Special Needs

London.—The air ministry has decided to offer a prize of $125,000 for the best medium-sized air transport machine produced by any United Kingdom aircraft firm.

Sir Philip Sassoon, under-secretary for air, said: "There is one type of aircraft in which American development has been very striking and that is the fast medium-size transport machine, though the majority, if not all, of such machines produced to date would be incapable of economic operation on our empire routes.

"There has hitherto been no real demand for this type in the United Kingdom."

SEX NOVELIST'S ASHES SENT TO NEW MEXICO

Last Wish of D. H. Lawrence Being Fulfilled

Vence, Alpes Maritimes.—The ashes of D. H. Lawrence, the man of many loves, the novelist, poet and philosopher of sex and marriage, have begun their long journey from Vence, where he fought in vain against tubereulosis to a New Mexican ranch.

An Italian friend sent by Mrs. Lawrence has had the body exhumed and it will be taken to Marseilles for cremation when it will be taken to Kiowa Ranch, San Cristobal.

There, remote and high above the surrounding country, the ashes will be placed in a little temple which has been built by Mrs. Lawrence, Indians and others who loved her husband.

MARRIAGE, PEARL KING JOINS JUBILEE THRONG

Arabian Has 84 Wives, 800 Pearling Ships, 4,000 Slaves

Bagdad.—The richest sheik in the world—Abdullah Ben Jasim, Sheik of Elcatar, in Eastern Arabia, is going to London for the silver jubilee.

He is the pearl king. The finest gems in the Rue de la Paix and Bond St. come from his fisheries.

A house is being found for him on the outskirts of London. He is a devout Moslem: he prefers not to share a roof with infidels.

The sheik has 84 women in his harem. It is the custom for his nobles to present him with a new bride at each Bairam—the Moslem festival.

He is the only ruling monarch who openly registers the fact that he owns slaves. He has four thousand, negroes, engaged in the pearl fisheries.

They dive for, roughly, sixpence a day, and feteh up gems sometimes worth hundreds of pounds. They man the 800 pearling vessels of this Arabian magnate owns.

He lives in a castle guarded night and day by negroes with drawn swords. His court is composed of astrologers, jesters, dancing girls and dervishes alleged to be gifted with prophecy. Great piles of pearls are heaped before his throne each evening for his inspection.

He can boil an egg by burying it in the sand outside his dining room for two minutes. He has never before left his distant domain, although he is a good friend of Britain and has been made a commander of the Order of the Indian Empire.

POSES AS HUSBAND, FATHER TO WIFE OF DEAD COMRADE

Doctor Exposes Fraud of Man Who Resembled War Victim

WIFE ACCEPTS HIM

Marseilles.—For more than 15 years a prisoner of war who returned to Marseilles with the military paybook of another man has been received as that man by the entire family and has been husband and father to his dead comrade's widow and children.

The imposture, one of the most remarkable recorded in any country involved in the world war, was discovered by the merest chance when the man, Georges Reynaud, was obliged to submit to examination by a medical board to determine the grade of pension he was entitled to.

Instead of going on the day originally fixed, Reynaud made a mistake by appearing the day before with the result that he was examined by a doctor who had known Benoist, the man he was impersonating, very well.

And on comparing the records, the doctor saw at once that certain distinguishing marks were absent from the body of the man who claimed to be Benoist.

Wife's Faith

Taxed with his imposture, Reynaud told a strange story. He and Benoist had often been chaffed about their close resemblance, and when afterwards they were taken prisoners together and Benoist was condemned to death for attempting to escape and killing a German sentry, Reynaud promised to advise his family of his fate.

But when he saw the photograph of Benoist's young wife he fell violently in love with her, and decided on the imposture that not even the most intimate friends of the family suspected until the doctor raised doubts.

The "wife" still maintains that the doctor's denunciation is wrong, and that the man who has been her husband for 15 years since he returned from the war is the same man she married the year before the war, and presented her with two children.

The relatives of Benoist, however, are divided, some saying they had always had suspicions.

LITTLE KING PLANNING NEW TOURIST RESORT

"Albanian" Riviera to Put Country on Financial Legs

Belgrade.—King Zogu of Albania, who regularly smokes 100 cigarettes a day, is developing plans for making his tiny kingdom into a tourist resort, and envisages a not far distant future when the "Albanian Riviera" will be a rival to the Lido and the Cote d'Azur.

Experts in one of the Albanian ministries are considering the founding of a special Albanian travel office which will be given a monopoly of tourist development in the country.

King Zogu sees in tourism, it is believed, the future prosperity of his tiny kingdom, which is mountainous and sparsely cultivated, and can never develop a considerable export trade.

GAS WORKS EXPLOSION BLOWS OFF TROUSERS

Nine Men Injured—Housewives Imperilled By Hail of Bricks

Newport.—Nine men were injured when a giant gasometer at the British Mannesmann Tube works blew up recently with a roar that rocked every house in Newport and shattered many windows.

The gasometer dome was wrecked, reinforced concrete was smashed and bricks were hurled 100 yards away.

Women in nearby houses had remarkable escapes.

Mrs. Lewis, a widow, was reading in her bungalow, when a piece of the bungalow roof fell, injuring her back.

Crockery in two houses was hurled from the shelves. Mrs. Haime, an elderly woman, who was ill in bed, was struck by flying glass as windows at the back of her house were blown off. The ceilings were extensively damaged.

The driver of a shunting engine, A. Edwards, was blown from his seat, which was later found 50 yards away.

One of the most seriously injured men had his trousers torn off.

GIRLS IN TROUSERS CRASH MALE SHOW

Oxford—Four girls, dressed and "made-up" as men, tried to gain admission to the annual smoking concert held by the O.U.D.S. in their own private theatre.

Since time immemorial it has been a strict rule that no women should be allowed to watch this concert, the sketches and tunes of which are all composed by members of the society themselves.

But this time four undergraduettes nearly succeeded in getting past the carefully guarded door.

One of the ushers noticed that two of the audience were very carefully keeping on their coats. Then he noticed that one was quite obviously wearing a wig. The ejection followed, but not until the show was half over.

This was a Fashion Extravaganza presenting ladies' and gentlemen's wearing apparel "From Daylight to Dawn," under supervision of Etienne Fredericks, famous European Couturier, with a ballet of beautiful girls, twenty-five mannequins and twenty-five gentlemen stylists. Stanley St. John and his orchestra played for the dance which followed the presentation. At this Extravaganza, the featured artist was Ming Toi, the "Golden Venus," direct from the Kit Kat Club of London, in her sensational dance of India. An excerpt from last evennig's Toronto press regarding this dancer, follows:

"The famous Silver Venus dance of Ming Toi was given last night at the Fashion Follies Extravaganza at the Royal York Hotel. It lasted about two minutes. The dancer wore, in addition to her costume of silver paint, a piece of silver ribbon worn low on the torso, and a brief brassiere. The number constituted considerable movement back and forth across the stage, and opened with a silhouette view of the dancer posed at the top of a flight of steps. She then turned and walked towards the audience under a bright spotlight. There was no scrim curtain. She did several backbends, a couple of walkovers, and then stood on her head. The dance ended with a repetition of the upstairs pose, under a rose spot.

A lovely Rainbow tea brightened the rainy hours of yesterday afternoon for the guests in the Sunday School auditorium of George street United Church, where the J.O.Y. Class of the church held one of their notable Easter teas. The large auditorium was beautifully decorated for the occasion in rainbow colors while a rainbow arch in pastel tints formed the entrance and also rose over the booths devoted to the sale of home-made cooking and candy. Shredded paper in mauve, green and pink decorated the pillars, while large square, shirred paper shades on the electroliers were done in sections of yellow, pink and green. Individual tables, covered by embroidered linen cloths, were centered by lighted rose candles in glass holders skirted with frills of green and pink paper. The dainty refreshments were carried out in rainbow-tinted sandwiches and iced cakes and mints, while the central tea-table also demonstrated the lovely pastel colors of the spectrum. Covered by a lace cloth, it was centered by a large silver basket holding rose and white snapdragon, mauve stocks, rose tulips, white narcissus and yellow daffodils. The basket was wreathed with amethyst tulle and silver candelabra at either end of the table held lighted candles in the same soft amethyst shade. The guests were received by the president of the J.O.Y. Class, Mrs. Homer Borland, with the first vice president, Mrs. A. V. Lillow and Mrs. H. G. Walker. Mrs. C. E. An interesting item gleaned from a recent issue of the "Observer" published at Bexhill-on-Sea, England, has to do with the father of Mr. J. A. Playford of the Royal Bank. Mr. J. Playford, senior, is bailiff at Bexhill-on-Sea, and was one of those presented to the King and Queen when Their Majesties paid a visit to the town to inspect the progress of the work on what is described as "one of the Show Places of the south coast", a new £80,000 Entertainment Hall. The account says: "It is expected that it (the hall) will attract attention extending even to the Continent when completed, but it was never thought, in the townspeoples' wildest dreams, that it would be the object of a Royal visit in the early stages of construction." The visit to the hall site was quite unexpected, and the account says: "Apart from those who happened to be in the vicinity of the Marina, the townspeople were unaware of the presence of Royalty in their midst. The fortunate ones number about fifty, and the King's appearance of good health was a matter of general and gratified comment."

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

Judging from the number of letters I receive on the subject, intestinal worms are a constant source of interest. And, naturally, of apprehension. For anyone to find that he has just expelled a round-worm or the segment of a tapeworm is naturally to be overcome with acute repugnance. There may be more inside of him. May be? Certainly are. This never happened in his family before. Heavens! Let's do something right away. How do you get rid of them?

Yes, the fears are natural enough, but they may be easily allayed. Any intestinal parasite can be destroyed and cast out. We have many effective drugs for all of them.

How Many Affected?

How common are intestinal worms? We have little information on the subject. The answers depends on what geographical area is referred to. In Africa, especially Abyssinia, it is said that virtually every native has a tapeworm. This is the beef tapeworm. The reason for the prevalence of this infestation being that Abyssinia is a cattle raising country and the natives live in very close association with their animals and eat their flesh without proper cooking.

In the United States, a survey of 1,650 persons in North Carolina, in 1931, showed that 23 per cent had some form of intestinal parasite. Three hundred forty-seven had hookworm, 18 had roundworm, three had dwarf tapeworm, one had pinworm and three beef tapeworm.

In more northern climates there would be little or no hookworm, but the other infestations would be about the same. This would be a percentage of about 1½.

Some More Susceptible

Again, this depends on what class of the population we examine. Among children living in crowded quarters, with unclean bed clothing, the number of pinworms should undoubtedly be much lighter. Those living under conditions where animals—dogs, sheep or cattle—are around them all the time, are more likely to parasites because these animals are the intermediate hosts of the parasites. The places where eichinococcus disease, due to the dog tapeworm, is endemic or regularly met with, are Norway and Greece, sheep raising countries, where the sheep dogs are on terms of complete intimacy with the shepherd families.

The hookworm is so small that we can hardly call it a worm at all, and although it constitutes a most important public health problem, we do not intend to include it in the study of intestinal worms this week. When American troops first occupied Puerto Rico, they found almost the entire native population suffering from an anemia which produced extreme prostration. The medical department of the U.S. army, under the charge of the late Colonel Ashford, found that the cause was infestation with hookworm. By dosing the population wholesale with thymol, the disease was abated. Much the same conditions were found in parts of the southern United States.

A GARDEN SUGGESTION: PURPLE VERBENA PREFERS SUNSHINE

By DEAN HALLIDAY

There is a new lovely purple Verbena, called Verbena Vietchu, which is truly hardy. This flower wants to be grown in the sun; the blossoms are of a medium purple color.

Last year many gardeners tried planting the Verbena Canadensis, also hardy, and of a purplish-blue color. It was a very prolific bloomer, producing flowers from June to October. In the fall new growth appeared which has remained all winter. The plant does well in the dry, sunny places of the rock garden, and its spreading habit of growth is very attractive over the rocks. In the winter it requires a protection of straw in the northern states.

Verbena Venosa is also hardy, with violet-purple colored flowers, growing to about 15 inches in height. These last two Verbenas can also be used very successfully as border plants in the herbaceous garden.

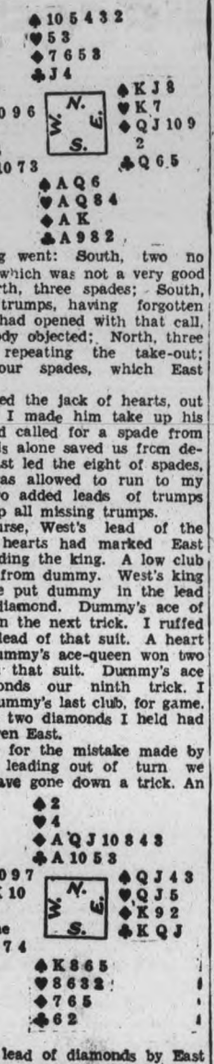
Let stand few minutes before removing macaroons very carefully from baking sheet.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. V. Shepard
"Teacher of Teachers"

"THE LUCK OF THE DEVIL"

Every player has evenings when he cannot lose. Nobody can account for that fact. One evening I happened to be playing in such a streak. Lenz was sitting out and commenting upon it. When the hand shown came out, and I went game on an impossible contract, because West led out of turn, and I called upon East to lead a spade, Lenz remarked: "You have the luck of the devil."



Bidding went: South, two no trumps, which was not a very good bid; North, three spades; South, two no trumps, having forgotten that he had opened with that call, but nobody objected; North, three spades, repeating the take-out; South, four spades, which East doubled.

West led the jack of hearts, out of turn; I made him take up his card, and called for a spade from East; this alone saved us from defeat. East led the eight of spades, which was allowed to run to my ten. Two added leads of trumps picked up all missing trumps.

Of course, West's lead of the jack of hearts had marked East with holding the king. A low club was led from dummy. West's king won. He put dummy in the lead with a diamond. Dummy's ace of clubs won the next trick. I ruffed a third lead of that suit. A heart up to dummy's ace-queen won two tricks in that suit. Dummy's ace of diamonds our ninth trick. I ruffed dummy's last club, for game. The last two diamonds I held had to be given East.

Except for the mistake made by West in leading out of turn we would have gone down a trick. An opening lead of diamonds by East must have caused us to lose two diamonds, one club and one trump trick, or the equivalent in an added trump trick, in case dummy ruffed a diamond.

Can West Make Six Hearts?

The contract is six hearts. West is the declarer. North has doubled the bid and must make the opening lead. Before Monday see whether or not West's best play can fulfil his contract.

Derby Opens Season At Downs

Turf Followers Turn Eyes Across Line Prior to Opening of Canadian Season.

U. S. RACING DATES

GOSSIP IS rather light regarding turf matters across the line with Bowie, Arlington Downs and Bay Meadows alone supplying the racing activity for the fans. Bowie ends today and Havre De Grace swings into action on Monday. Bay Meadows also rings down the curtain today but the Downs will carry on until April 20th. New York season opens on that date at Jamaica and Tanforan will take up the Pacific Coast sport also on April 20 with Alamo Downs following the close of Arlington with an opening on April 25th.

Churchill Downs will lift the curtain on the Kentucky season on April 27th and with the Kentucky Derby slated for the opening much interest will be attracted to that plant. The hide hunting around Chicago opens on May 1 at Aurora track and from then on it will be almost continuous racing for Illinois. Around Boston, things will get off to a flying start at the Rockingham Park gathering which gets under way on May 15 and will run for 29 days. In the Canadian section, Woodbine throws open its gates on May 19 for a seven day meeting and from then on Canuck fans will have almost straight racing with the odd day or two interruption until fall. The dates for the Canadian racing season were released some time ago.

DURING THE balmy spring days in midweek Woodbine Park took on the appearance of a regular racing card in session with trainers and horses making the best of the warm sunshine. Trainers took advantage of "Nipper" Rowe's newly erected barrier in order to groom horses for work at the get-away station and nearly 30 Canadian-bred two-year-olds were practising daily in this useful work.

According to advices from Maryland the daily double form of wagering has made a tremendous hit with the racing public in that state. Mort Mahony, in charge of the mutuels at Bowie credits that form of wagering for the success of the meeting ended today. "It attracts a large number who would not be here otherwise," he declared, "and also brings much money to the track in doubles commissions sent out from nearby cities and towns." . . . Horses are filling up the stable room at Long Branch and Thorncliffe with Dufferin getting its regular quota of hides all set for their spring training campaign. It is also understood that charges of George May and Charlie Mitchell are due to arrive at the Woodbine this weeek . . . Part of the string of R. W. Cowie and Mrs. Charles Robson string that wintered at Oakville will be shipped to this track this week.

Terry Plans To Quit After 1936 Ball Year

RICHMOND, Va., April 13—(AP)—Bill Terry, who stepped into John McGraw's shoes as manager of New York Giants, led them to a world's championship in 1933, hinted yesterday he may retire from active baseball after the 1936 season.

The Giants and Cleveland Indians were scheduled to play an exhibition game here yesterday, but Terry called the contest off when a steady drizzle showed no signs of ceasing.

"I'm getting too old for this game" Terry said, "I'll soon be 37 years old and I've been playing baseball for twenty of them. I'm having trouble with my legs, but I'm hitting all right; I figure I'll play 150 games this year and then go through next season. After that, well—"

Cronin Faces Big 'If' As Manager Of Monied Red Sox

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, the cash and carry steaks is all over, and the Montreal Maroons is tops for fair, tumbling the much-touted Leaves in 3 straight smashes. They may be some weeping in Toronto over this 3-ply shellacking, but I'm still dry-eyed, and likely to be so, for the result about clinches the feeling I've had all season, that the Toronto gang was a over-rated outfit. With the help of a lotta breaks in the first few weeks of the schedule, old-timer, they got out in front of the field, and according to the Toronto scribes, they was the greatest team that ever put on a skate, but they ain't been so hot over the 2nd half of the schedule, and although they managed to stagger by Boston in the playoffs, the Maroons knocked their supposed supremacy for a complete loop. The only thing the Leaves win in the final series was a newspaper decision for Mister Connie Smythe over a fan, and they don't pay off on that kinda triumph.

The truth is, Mac, the Leaves has been busts in the Stanley Cup doings for the last 3 years, which shows either they ain't money players or else that other clubs do more coasting in the regular schedule and turn on the heat when it means the big end of the jack-pot. Anyway the Maroons without hardly a player picked for all-star rating and with a coach that hardly drew a vote made the Toronto gang look very bad by walloping them 3 times in a row, the first 2 times right in front of the Queen City fans. The Leaves was left without a alibi, for the Montrealers beat them going both ways and at every style of hockey from the knock-'em-down-and-drag-'em-out stuff to sheer speed. The Leaves' bombshell, Mister Conacher, was checked right out of the scoring summary for the whole series, and Mister Jackson didn't do much better, while the Maroons' checking line added insult to injury by getting a mess of points themselvs. And this Mister Cy Wentworth on the defence looked better than the whole leaf rear guard added up, while Mister Connell, the Ottawa fireman, give 1 of the most de luxe exhibitions of puck-stopping the Stanley Cup series has ever been put on. With more speed and better team-work added to this individual class the Montreal gang win going away, and it looks like they not only bumped the Leaves out of championship but some of them right out of their jobs, for it is a cinch some of the boys on this year's Toronto payroll will be absent next November.

You gotta hand this Mister Gorman a whole lotta credit. Any bozo that can come through with successive Stanley Cup wins with 2 different teams has got something. As for the Maroons, they win like real champs. All they done was tackle the Haws, the Rangers and the Leaves in a row, and come through without losing a game, and there, neighbors, is a record that will take some beating. Some folks are trying to say that the Leaves was softened up by the Boston serious, but don't forget, while the Torontos was playing 4 games with the Bruins and taking only 1 trip the Maroons had 4 with the Hawks and the Rangers, and had to go both to New York and Chicago and then tackle the Smythe crew on Toronto ice for the first 2 games.

Well, it's all over, Mac, and the next thing will be the baseball doings. I ain't got around to picking the winners, being a little behind in the dope, but any week now I'm libel to take a shot at it.

Meanwhile take keer yerself.

Sportfully Yours,

A. WISE CRACKER.

HALIFAX TROUNCES MONTREAL 7 TO 2 IN BITTER STRUGGLE

Qualify For Allan Cup Finals With Port Arthur on Monday Night.

MANY PENALTIES.

(By George C. Murray, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

HALIFAX, April 13 (CP)—Halifax Wolverines bounded over Montreal Royals into the Allan Cup finals last night with a crushing 7—2 victory that gave them the Eastern Canadian amateur hockey title on blood-spattered ice.

After an opening period with eight penalties, including one major, the Halifax pack sprang at a weakened Royal squad in the second and snatched a lead that sent them into the Canadian title series against Port Arthur Bearcats, starting Monday night.

Maritime Champions Too Strong

Heads had been cooled during the long interval, and before that breath-taking middle period was over the Wolverines had beaten young Patsy Seguin five times, while the dazed Royals mustered only one counter. The Montrealers rallied for another in the third, but there was no holding the Maritime champions, who flashed the red light behind Sequin twice more before the final bell.

Captain Ernie Mosher of the Maritime champions, who had drawn a five-minute penalty in the first for splitting Phil Watson's head open with his stick, was knocked out of hockey for the rest of the season. A blow on his two-month-old knee wound laid him low. Soon after the Wolverines carried their leader off they were told he would not be able to go into the finals.

JIMMY BRADDOCK NAMED MAX BAER'S OPPONENT

UNDER GARDEN AUSPICES.

NEW YORK April 13. —(AP)—Jimmy Johnston, Madison Square Garden's boxing promoter, announced last night he had definitely selected Jimmy Braddock, Jersey City veteran, to meet Max Baer in a heavyweight championship bout here in June.

Baer already is under contract to the Garden for a title defence and Braddock has agreed to terms, Johnston announced. He will seek formal approval for the match at the New York State Athletic Commission's meeting Tuesday.

This will be a formality, for the Commission already has designated Braddock as the No. 1 heavyweight challenger so far as this State is concerned.

Johnston said he had not yet definitely decided upon the date, but it probably will be held the middle of June in the Garden's Long Island bowl.

The Garden promoter said he had decided to go ahead with plans for a Baer-Braddock bout upon receiving definite word that Max Schmeling, Germany's ex-champion would not come to the United States, either to meet Braddock in an elimination match or Baer for the title.

It was understood Braddock would receive 17½ per cent. of the receipts, the Garden boosting its original offer of 15 per cent. in return for the Jersey sluggers' agreement to make his first title defence, should he beat Baer, under Garden promotion.

Injury To Howell Is Not Serious One

LYNCHBURG, Va., April 13.—(AP)—Millard ('Dixie') Howell, struck in the head with a batted ball in practice yesterday, will be back in uniform within a month, the attending physician said yesterday.

Howell, former football star at Alabama, and now an outfield rookie of Detroit Tigers, suffered a fractured malar bone in his right cheek from the blow, an X-ray showed. The only complication feared is possible infection in the antrum, but there is no sign of that at present, the doctor declared.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX J. MORRISON

Trying to practice on the course is dangerous, impolite and a waste of time. These are the best reasons I can give for my tip to do your practicing away from the course.

Some players have the habit of swinging a club where they are in danger of striking another player or one of the caddies. Others swing while you're trying to make a shot they've missed while other players are waiting to shoot the the green.

All attempts to practice on the course are hurried, with one eye on where the ball might go. It's on where the bayy might go. It's best to practice when you want to fix up your game, and to play when you want to play. Each must be done in its proper place. A driving range makes a good practice ground.

FORMIDABLE BASEBALL STARS OF FEW YEARS AGO ARE NAMED IN BOSTON'S MONIED ROSTER

But Two Chances Cannot Be Taken on Grove, Pipgrass and Johnson.

BIG INFIELD QUESTION?

Wes. Ferrell is Ace of Mound Staff—Rhodes and Ostermueller Rank Next.

By BILL BRAUCHER

A lot of money has been spent on the Boston Red Sox. Its roster fairly bristles with big names, names of men who were among the most formidable in baseball a couple of years ago.

There are too many "if's", however, and too much doubt about the condition of such former stars as Grove, Pipgras and Henry Johnson to pick the club as a pennant winner, cash outlay notwithstanding.

An Infield Question

The "if's" begin in the infield. The left side of that infield is the best in baseball, with Bill Werber at third and Joe Cronin at short. But Max Bishop at second base brings no enthusiasm from this corner. Max used to be good, but last year he played in only 97 games, hit but .261 and showed afield he had slowed up greatly. Ellsworth Dahlgren, a new man from the Coast league, begins the season at first. He has been a good fielder, but a weak hitter, in the minors.

The outfield is not up to pennant specification. Julius Solters played in two-thirds of the games last year and hit .299—which isn't enough. Carl Reynolds, who hasn't had a great year with the bat since he left the White Sox, should better his .303 average of 1934, but it's a guess whether he will or not. Though Roy Johnson is erratic, he appears to be the best outfielder Boston has—at least the hardest hitter. "Dusty" Cooke's abilities have been promising for several years. An army injury has kept him back. Mel Almada, newcomer from the Coast league, and the veteran Bing Miller are the others.

Seeing Is Believing

Off what the pitching staff showed last year, Wes Farrell is the ace. As the club stands right now, he is the one man from whom a great job can be expected. Grove still has to prove he has the arm he used to own. Pipgras pitched only three innings in 1934 and gave up nine runs. Henry Johnson is a question mark.

Next to Ferrell, Gordon Rhodes and Lefty Ostermueller may prove to be the leading alabsters this year. The latter won 10 games in his first year.

If Grove and Pipgras show a return to their old form, the club has a pennant chance. The odds, of course, are against any such comeback. The usual number of young pitchers—Hanlon, Hinckle, Hockette, Merena, Wilson, etc.—must be regarded as the usual number of young pitchers until otherwise indicated.

Joe Cronin, $250,000 shortstop and manager, won a pennant in 1933, his first year as manager of the Senators, despite critics who panned his methods on the grounds he used up his best pitchers indiscriminately. Too much can't be expected from him this year, with the material he has under direction.

TWO MORE RECORDS BROKEN BY MEDICA

Lenore Knight Wins Free-style Race, Katherine Rawls Wins.

CHICAGO, April 13 (AP)—Lenore Kight of Homestead, Pa., blasted Katherine Rawl's dream of a grand slam in the United States women's indoor swimming championships last night by retaining her title in the 220-yard free style. Miss Rawls, winner of three titles, finished third behind Mary Lou Petty of Seattle.

Miss Knight won by a yard and a half. Her time was 2.35.5—a tenth of a second slower than her own championship record.

Two more world's free-style records were bettered by Jack Medica, University of Washington star. He clipped four-fifths of a second off the accepted world mark in the 200 metres by swimming it in 2.07.2 and kept right on to better the 220-yard free style by 1.1 seconds in the 2.07.9. Johnny Weissmueller set the marks in 1927.

Roads for Fans Lead to Londo n April 27 When Top Teams of English Football Contest Leadership at Wembley.

LONDON, April 13—(CP)—Thousands of soccer fans from Sheffield, Birmingham and other points will invade the capital special train, motor, cycle and 'rplane April 27 for the great game of the year—the English cup final.

More than 100,000 spectators, flaunting the colors of their respective teams, will crowd Wembley Stadium when West Bromwich Albion and Sheffield Wednesday go on the field for the last stand of a campaign for soccer supremacy involving many gallant fights.

West Bromwick and the Wednesday are no strangers to final crowd. The Throstles have played in the championship seven times, winning the historic trophy three times. Sheffield has participated in the final bout three times, emerging victorious twice.

The finalists eliminated opponents of varying classes with regularity until the semi-final when the Throstles ran into a snag against Bolton Wanderers. The second division outfit held West Bromwich to a 1-1 draw. In the replay the Wanderers made a gallant bid for the trip to London but their classier opponents exploded hopes with a 2-0 win.

To reach the finals Sheffield hurdled two first division aspirants —one the powerful Arsenal—and three second division representatives. West Bromwich had a slightly easier journey, disposing of two class "A" squads, two second division and one third division eleven.

Here are the teams' victorious drives:

Sheffield Wednesday: Sheffield-Oldham Athletic 3-1, Wolverhampton Wanderers-Sheffield 1-2, Norwich City-Sheffield 0-1, Sheffield-Arsenal 2-1, Sheffield-Burnley 3-0.

West Bromwich: West Bromwich-Port Vale 2-1, West Bromwich-Sheffield United 7-1, Stockport County-West Bromwich 0-5, West Bromwich-Preston North End 1-0, West Bromwich-Bolton Wanderers 1-1 (semi-final at Leeds), West Bromwich-Bolton 2-0 (replayed at Stoke.

Judging from cup play the finalists should take the field on about even terms. In six games West Bromwich has scored 18 goals with only three against while Sheffield has rammed home 11 goals with four counters against. The Albion has blanked opponents three times, the Wednesday twice. Neither team has allowed more than a goal a game against.

Sheffield Wednesday's goals have been scored by forwards with Rimmer accounting for five and Palethrope getting four. On the Albion lineup, W. G. Richardson, prolific scoring centre-forward, led the attack with six goals. Gale was next in line for scoring honors with four.

By the irony of fate the cup finalists will meet in a league fixture at The Hawthorns, West Bromwich ground, Easter Monday, five days before the big game. It will be an interesting meeting from the point of "stocktaking" but both sides will play cautiously as promotion and relegation questions will not be affected by the game.

Rumary's Antiques are now able to withstand more onslaughts since Bert put some Brinton Packers in under the seats. The Lucas gang feel sat on just the same.

Some kind person must have put lots of water in the Silverwood's cream last week with the result that it could not stand the De Laval Separators and were so weak when Cridlands Meat bumped them they collapsed.

The Presidents cannot stand too much prosperity, with the result that the C.N.R. Freighters took them for a long ride.

The Fighting Parsons took two from the Dummit Bros. after a stiff battle and two extra rounds.

The Curtis Brickyard gang fell short in their aim and found bricks was poor ammunition against the old-fashioned muskets. It is regrettable that one man should lose his reputation of sportsmanship in becoming a crab. It is hoped that he sees things in better light. All the world loves a winner yet methinks the world loves and admires a game loser.

Two crack teams met this week when the Harriers and Cridlands split even, both games running 14 ends and a total score of 20-21.

The Auto Trimmers just cleaned up and fumigated the De Laval Separator gang with that new contrivance they have for cleaning out the autos.

Owing to the heavy freight traffic of Cooney's Transport of late, their tires just gave out, four flats, whilst the Presidents try out a new car and run home with all the points.

We are sorry to learn of Wes. Rose's illness, and extend our best wishes for a speedy recovery.

TORONTO SELECTED AS SITE FOR 1936 MEMORIAL CUP GAMES

Dudley Describes Criticism as "Grossly Exaggerated" in Explaining 'Packed Toronto All-Stars'—Association in Favor of Promoting Minor Sport.

HALIFAX, April 13 (CP)—E. A. Gilroy of Portage la Prairie, Man., was re-elected President of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association by acclamation at the close of the eighteenth annual meeting here yesterday.

The only two other elected offices in the C.A.H.A., that of First and second Vice-President, were also given by re-election to Cecil Duncan of Ottawa and Dr. W. G. Hardy of Edmonton, Alta.

Allan Cup Choice Left Over

Toronto was chosen by vote over Montreal as the scene of next year's Memorial Cup Junior playdowns, and meeting place for the annual convention. Selection of the scene of the Allan Cup championships was left to President Gilroy.

Choice for the Allan Cup games, however, rests between Port Arthur and Winnipeg. It was intimated the Thunder Bay district would receive the preference if an artificial rink is built there during the summer.

An explanation of the Toronto All-Stars' roster was given the meeting by George Dudley, President of the Ontario district. He described criticism as 'grossly exaggerated."

"The fact that they didn't do so well in the Allan Cup playdowns is the best indication that they weren't hand-picked," he said.

They were never called "all-stars," he pointed out. The team had registered under the name of "Toronto Club." Only twenty-three players had taken out cards with the team, and not 'somewhere between thirty and fifty," as different reports had it. Of the twenty-three, more than half the regular squad belonged to a commercial team which toured the United States, and made it necessary for many of the extra men to fill in.

Vice-President Cecil Duncan said he knew something about the Toronto unit and declared "there was no all-star, no commercialism, no packing about it."

It was the only way, Dudley said, that a Senior team could be secured to represent Toronto in hockey.

To Help Minor Leagues

Provision for a grant of $200 to all branches for the promotion of minor league hockey was the highlight of the report of the Finance Committee adopted by the C.A.H.A. The association also will pay the expenses of twelve hockey players, their coach and manager, and a C.U.H.A. delegate to the Olympic games at Berlin next winter.

The clarification of the branch to branch transfer rule by the adoption of seven exceptions which are to be set in the by-laws of the association, and the appointment of a committee to confer with the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada on three major problems were other important actions taken by the eighteenth annual meeting as it drew to a close.

Seven exceptions to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's branch-to-branch transfer ruling were accepted by delegates.

It was President E. A. Gilroy pointed out, "merely setting in writing what had always been the practice of the registration committee."

Transfer Rulings

Following somewhat the lines of the Ontario Hockey Association's rules, but also extending them somewhat, the resolutions committee laid out seven exceptions to the Jan. 1 rule as to the latest date when a player may move to another town and take up hockey there. They were:

1. In the case of a player whose parents and family change their address.
2. If a player graduates from university or college and takes employment in another city or town.
3. The attendance of a player at any school, prep school, or university. If the university has no hockey team, a player can turn out with another club in that town.
4. Any player connected with the permanent militia forces or the Royal Canadian Mounted Police who is transferred in the course of his duty.

These are all effective at any time in the year. The following are only accepted if the transfer takes place before Oct. 15:

5. In the case of a player not previously registered with any C.A.H.A. branch.
6. Where a player has not played in any scheduled game during the previous season.
7. Where an employee with six months' service in a firm is moved by his employer in the course of the operation of business.

Regarding Amateur Status

A committee was appointed to confer with officials of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada on three important problems connected with hockey.

The committee, consisting of four members, C. G. Campbell of British Columbia, G. J. Mitchell of Saskatchewan, Cecil Duncan of Ottawa, and George Dudley of Ontario, was chosen by President Gilroy to thresh out the following problems with the A.A.U. of C.

1. The defining of "amateur status";
2. The discrepancy between different branches of the Amateur Union regarding the price charged for amateur cards.
3. The possibility of the C.A.H.A. obtaining the right to issue its own amateur cards.

Decision to give the three Western branches of Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia a grant of $200, in addition to the regular $200 grant given to all branches this year was reserved by the Finance Committee.

Because the original grant would be used to defray costs of an intermediate championship series between the three Provinces, a series not carried on by any other branches asked for an additional grant of the same amount to foster junior hockey in their districts.

Assurance was given their request would be granted if the financial position of the parent body at the end of this season permitted.

18TH VICTORY FOR JOE LOUIS

SECONDS TOSS TOWEL.

(By William Weeks).

CHICAGO, April 13 (A.P.).—Roy Lazer of Paterson, N.J., who had pieced together a string of 35 straight victories, to-day was just number 18 on the list of heavyweights who tried to lick Detroit's sensational Joe Louis and didn't even come close.

The calm, cunning Negro, who is mentioned every time there is talk of a contender for a world championship battle with Max Baer, spent not quite three rounds in battering Laser out of action last night in the Chicago Stadium. The triumph, Louis' 18th straight as a professional, goes into the book as a technical knockout, Lazer's seconds having ended the bout by tossing a towel into the ring.

Louis twice floored the Jersey battler with left hooks for counts of nine. He backed Lazer against the ropes, knocked him 'sagging with another pair of lefts, then finished him off with a crashing right to the chin. The round lasted 2 minutes and 26 seconds.

The outcome amazed not one of the boom-sized crowd of 17,826 spectators, including the champion, Baer himself.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two.

(By C. J. P.)

Knotty Lee arrived in town the other day all set to remain here till after the Petes—pahdon, pliss, the Sea-Horses—have copped the O.B.A.A. title next autumn. Well, anyway ,he's here for the season. Knotty hopes to have his players start practising outdoors in two weeks and, once they start, it'll mean daily drills till the opening of the schedule around May 24th. Meantime, the Petes' coach is busy working on his score-card which is coming along fine. He expects a grand race this summer in the C.O.B.L. as he figures the Bellevilles, Brewers of Oshawa and Kingston Ponies will all be built up to approximately the same strength as the local entry.

• • • • • • •

This will be Knotty Lee's third straight season here. He came here in '33, shook up the team in a big way and put a green outfit into the Central League playoffs. They lost out to Kingston. Last year, he had the foundation laid and drove his squad into the C.O.B.L. championship over Belleville, but they lost out to Toronto Grads in O.B.A.A. semi-finals. And this year? Well, that remains to be seen. Personally, we think Peterborough will have its strongest senior ball club in many years this summer. It should be a dandy, but then, the whole loop will be stronger.

• • • • • • •

We're right glad to see Knotty back. The grizzled old veteran of a thousand diamond wars is good copy for the sports scribes. He's got color enough to paint all the billboards in town—and don't you think some of 'em could stand a swish or two of the brush? He's a summer tonic also for the fans, especially those close enough to the Petes' dugout to hear him growling and ripping the players and umpires up and down when his side is losing. They like the fight and pep shown by this gray-haired but active mentor. He steps out with a bat before the game and puts his infielders through a sizzling workout, one like the Big League teams get. And fans know he's sincere. It isn't just a game with him—it's a matter of life and death. He can't hide a broad smile when he's in front nor can he hide his anger when things have gone haywire.

• • • • • • •

And the players know this pro coach is sincere. They know when he rips 'em wide open it's for their good. He tells them where they're wrong in straight language—no polite beating about the bush. But the man has a sense of humor, a swell wit. He can keep his team chuckling with that razor-sharp wit, but not while a game is on. No fooling then, it's a deadly serious matter. The utility players who sit on the bench during a game can learn a lot by seeing the game through Knotty's experienced eyes and heeding his comments. But they'll have to wear out the seats of their pants doing it, sliding up and down the boards to keep up with the fidgety Knotty! Yeah, we're glad he's back at the helm this summer, and we know the players and fans are, too. And Belleville, Kingston and Oshawa fans go for the Petes' coach in a big way, also.

• • • • • • •

And this from Belleville: "With Bud Murray and Ike Batten absent in Peterborough this summer, the Lee-coached clan may be forced to use Konopka in the infield—instead of catching part time—as only one of their recent imports, Murphy, is a proven infielder. Of course Murphy cannot be expected to fill the shoes of both Batten and Murray at the same time so, unless another infielder pops up at Riverside Park in the meantime, then the Sea-Horses will have to be satisfied with just one catcher, Cy Whatley, and use Konopka at second or third. It is said that Sig can stand in front of the umpire and catch a mighty smart game at that." Yeah, but we're looking for Whatley to have a big season this year.

• • • • • • •

As for our infield, don't worry about that. Fred Ash will more than take care of first base. There is Murphy and George Owen of Detroit—rated a fine infielder—besides Konopka and Bill Calladine, all available for infield work. And quite likely to be a few local dark horses trying for a spot when the workouts commence. Calladine may be used in the infield this summer, instead of pitching. He's a good hurler but also a classy inner guardian and his hitting would improve with regular play. As the locals appear to be well set in the box, we expect to see Bill at one of the infield positions.

Church Softball League's annual meeting is at seven Monday eve in the 'Y' and everyone interested in invited. Of last year's 27 entries, most are expected back this season with probably a few new ones. The matter of reducing the junior age limit from "under 21 years" to "under 20 years"—which caused much controversy a year ago—will come up again. The present executive of Len Agnew, Reg Kingdon, Bill Anderson, Whitty Thirnbeck and Don Charlton will stand for re-election and it may be enlarged to include sectional convenors. Local and nearby churches should have two voting delegates on hand for this session Monday.

• • • • • • •

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Sailing and Aquatic Club, slated for Duffus' last evening, has been postponed. Owing to a small attendance, it was decided to wait for a few weeks until warmer weather perked up the interest of sailing devotees and a larger attendance at the meeting could be expected. This is true of other sports, too. It takes the balmy Spring weather to get lots of followers of sport all het up and rarin' to go. Personally, the balmier the weather at this time of year the lazier we become and the hardest Spring work we do is knock the top off the morning egg!

• • • • • • •

Picking 'em off the grapevine: A Guelph softball despatch says the services of Lefty Sturgeon—ex-Peterborough southpaw—and two other newcomers there are being widely sought . . . . Southend Softball Loop's annual meeting is Monday at eight in All Saints' Clubhouse . . . . Cage games tonight in the 'Y': Reds vs. Argos at seven, Normals vs. Whites at eight . . . . Canuck soldiers sometimes used lacrosse sticks to hurl hand grenades into enemy trenches at the front in 9.15 . . . . 'Tis said Ace Bailey and Doc McIntyre of West Toronto juniors are to import and ice a powerful puck team next winter . . . . Brintons have organized and will be back in soccer here this summer after a year's layoff—they won two cups the previous year; it's good news for soccer and the dope appears elsewhere today.

Brintons Will Field 1935 Soccer Outfit

The Brinton Carpet Co. will field a team in the local and district soccer league again this summer, after a year's layoff. This was decided at a re-organization meeting of the Brintons, and the league will be notified to this effect.

The soccer committee was elected as follows: President, Wilf. Jones; secretary, Art Holden; manager, Art Thomas; grounds committee, Wilf Jones, Ernie Walker and Art Thomas. This grounds committee will be in full custody of the Brinton athletic field and it will be necessary to arrange with them for the use of the field at any time. The field will be put into good shape at once and an early practice called.

The Brintons—who won two cups two seasons ago—are anxious to return to the soccer wars after their year's absence. They hope to go just as well this year as in the past. The secretary invites any players wanting a tryout with the team to notify him right away.

CALL THE POLICE

TORONTO (C.P.)—Little Beaver, a wrestler who works the eastern Canadian and United States circuit, makes only one stipulation when he contracts for a bout. He demands police protection. The Indian says he has been struck by everything from pop bottles to chairs, thrown by irate fans. They don't like him, and Beaver knows it—and likes it. But he doesn't like the bottles.

LOU GEHRIG TO CAPTAIN YANKS

First Baseman Declares New York Will Win American League Pennant.

KEEPS 'SELF IN SHAPE.

By Alan Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, April 13 (A.P.). — With genuine flourish and obvious enthusiasm, Lou Gehrig yesterday took over the role of 'spotlight man' for New York Yankees, after playing the part of strong silent understudy to Babe Ruth for ten years.

To emphasize the development, the "iron man" of baseball worked out briskly with the one-time "man mauler" of the ring, Jack Dempsey, in a Broadway gymnasium, which was wired for sound especially for the occasion, and gave off echoes of Ruthian ballyhoo. There were no knockdowns.

To make it official, the Yankees subsequently disclosed Manager Joe McCarthy has appointed Gehrig team captain for the 1935 season.

This was significant because there has been no captain on the club since Babe Ruth held the job, only to be deprived of it by the late Miller Huggins "for the good of the service."

To celebrate, Lou promptly exercised the prerogatives of his new office and responsibility. He smiled broadly as the boys gathered around, took a deep breath, and boomed:

"The Yankees, for various and good reasons, are a greatly improved team. We figure to regain the American League pennant. But for a lot of tough 'breaks' we might have beaten the Tigers last year. We will have more speed, plenty of power, and we will get better pitching than Detroit."

This was one of the longest nonstop statements Gehrig has ever issued, in addition to being the most emphatic. Gehrig warmed to his subject. He paid tribute to Ruth, but suggested the Yankees would not be handicapped, defensively, by having the speedy Canadian, George Selkirk, in right field. He emphasized the comebacks of Tony Lazeri and Bill Dickey as big factors in the Yankee outlook. He dwelt on the speediness of youngsters like Rolfe, Crosetti, Hill, Walker and Selkirk.

"Pitching? Why, we will have as much good pitching, it may be a bit embarrassing," laughed Lou. "Sure, I know Detroit has Rowe and Bridges, while Cleveland has a flock of fine righthanders, but we will beat them to the punch."

Gehrig hopes to hit fifty or more home runs this year—for the first time—but says this "all depends on the 'breaks'." He led both major leagues with 49 last season.

GYPSY GIRL

THE STORY OF AN IMPASSIONED ROMANCE

By McDONALD FEADER

PICTORIAL

CHAPTER I

The girl half closed her eyes and gazed at the willows above her, the slim reeds arabesquing. As she watched they became gay dancers with silvery skirts fluttering to the rustle of the slight breeze. She forgot the summer heat. The magic of the twilight crept into her blood and she felt the music that the wilderness imparts for those who listen.

She rose to her feet, body swaying, temples throbbing. Again the dream! She was in a marble palace on the top of the highest hill in the world and all the people of all the lands were at her feet and she was dancing to them. What could it matter that in reality her feet were dancing on the moss at the side of a creek, her audience of thousands a lone youth?

The youth watched each movement of the supple body, but well he knew that she was not dancing for him. She had never danced for him. She had never danced for anyone, merely the dream.

The girl sank to the moss.

"I can dance, I can dance better than anyone who ever lived on this great round earth and yet what do they make me do? Dance at carnivals before poor gorgios who toss dimes instead of dollars!" She flung her face to the moss and her fists beat against the smooth carpet. "I'll go away —" the words were muffled and hot tears forced their way from her eyes.

The boy put his hand on her shoulder, caressing, but did not speak. She sat up then and wiped the perspiration from her forehead with the back of her hand.

"What a fool I am!" She went to the brook and washed her face in the cold water.

"Consuelo!" a voice called.

The girl rubbed her hands dry on the full striped skirt before answering.

"Where are you? Who are you with?" The voice was closer.

"Snooper!" the girl muttered. "Come and find out," she shouted.

A woman appeared out of the shadows.

"Why don't you answer me without my having to run all over the country for you, bad one?" she demanded.

"I did answer. Can't you leave me alone for a minute?"

"A minute?" mocked the woman. "Down here with that Dummy for an hour and a half and call it a minute? I'd like to know what you two were doing. Making love, I suppose, where you can't be watched."

Consuelo stepped closer to her.

"Now you had better be careful what you say about me making love or I will tell some things I know!"

"Consuelo, my little one, my little good one, you — you mustn't forget I'm your mother —"

The girl laughed, but there was hatred in the sound.

"Come on, Dummy, we go back. There isn't any privacy here now." As she started toward the trail the youth followed her, his face expressionless.

"Good thing it is you can't hear some of the things they say about you, my dumb one. Ought to turn their faces more often so you can't read their lips. Do they think you are without feelings? Pigs! Dogs! Some day I shall hit her with my fists if she doesn't leave me alone! And Marcu, too! God, how I hate him!"

It was not hard for the Dummy to guess what she might be saying — the scowl, the frown, were eloquent. Marcu, Anica her mother, or the camp — those were the three things the girl hated. There were comforting words in his heart but dead lips could not speak those words.

The Dummy, they called him that, his real name forgotten. Long ago he had learned not to care. What did it matter anyway? He could weave baskets better than any of the others and paint them with pictures that charmed the gorgios and brought a good price. Now that he had grown to manhood and carried a knife in his belt they left him alone — all but Marcu. That was easy to understand. Marcu loved Consuelo. Whenever he thought of love a blur of confusion filled the Dummy's mind. Love, what chance had he? All the passions of youth, yet — dumb lips, dead ears, mocking youth and passion. He sighed.

The girl walking beside him looked up.

"What's the matter? Don't let her worry you." Her lips framed the words for him to read. "I think she'd like to make me marry you." She was not looking at him now. "She'd think it was a good trick. Then she wouldn't have to be jealous of me any longer. It might not be so bad —" Her words turned into thoughts. You've never even kissed me, my big dumb one. But how can you know that I'd like your lips against mine? You are a fool not to take me in your arms. Do you think then that it would matter you are deaf and dumb?

They walked on.

"Other men want to kiss me. The white dog of a sheriff has evil eyes when he looks at me and I do not have to read his palm to know what he is thinking. He called us a band of thieving gypsies and told us to get out and even papa who scares most white men couldn't argue him into letting us stay. But I, the Gypsy Consuelo, did! I made him promise that we could go to the fair to-morrow and then move on."

So she talked to the Dummy and did not care whether he saw her lips or not.

The woman came up with them as they approached the clump of stunted oaks that hid the wagons and tents from the trail. She caught the girl's arm and the Dummy, unnoticing, walked on.

"You're old enough to be married," she said. She put her arm about her daughter. "Is there not some young chav in the camp that you care for, my little one?" Her voice was oily sweet.

Consuelo drew back from her.

"Now whatever good would it do you? Marcu will love me to the ends of the earth. He has no eyes for you, my mother."

The mother shook her by the shoulders.

"You should have your mouth slapped for such loose words!"

"Ah, now, why don't you slap it then?"

All semblance of niceness had gone out of their voices.

"Ah, you devil, to talk to your mother that way. If I was a man I would beat your body until your tongue fell out of your mouth if you dared to say such words. I have had enough of this. I tell Girtza."

"Tell papa and he will do nothing. He has sense. He is a big, good, fine man, my papa. He can see through your jealousy."

"Jealousy? Jealousy? Jealous of a little devil like you? Jealous of such a thin, ugly one? Get out of my sight! Go! Eat your dinner and make yourself fat so that some man will have you for a wife! Go! Quick!"

"Anica! Come! Come!" a voice boomed out of the darkness.

"Yes, Girtza, yes, yes, I am here," the mother answered.

Quickly she stepped from the brush into the clearing and crossed to the group about the campfire. She picked up the ladle that rested on the rocks and dished into the great steaming kettle that hung over the fire.

Brown, ringed hands held out tin plates. There was noise, confusion, laughter. Bread was broken in pieces and grabbed. Voda brought up a keg of beer that had been cooling in the creek and set it down on a wooden bench. Mugs were held under the foaming stream. Grapes were passed and red juicy apples. Someone was singing between mouthfuls of food, the words blending one into another. The clinkle of bracelets, of beads. The movement of bodies in the dark. The lighting of another fire and dirty cards spread on the ground before it. Twinkle of cigarets like fireflies in the darkness. Aroma of tobacco smoke mingling with the fragrance of the fire. The rumble of voices, some in English, most in Romany; throaty laughter; shrill cries of children. Two of the men wrestling in friendly contest and the shouts of the watchers. Strumming of a guitar, a woman's clear soprano. And through it all the overtone of laughter with here and there a sudden loud angry word. Such was the gypsy camp at night.

Consuelo stood by the fire, her skin catching the rosy light and reflecting it, her bracelets sparkling. A strand of hair fell over her face and she brushed it back. She stretched and caught up the thick mass of her hair from her neck and held it aloft.

"Will the night never be cool?" But still she stood by the fire, perhaps conscious of the light playing on her face. "It will be hot at the fair grounds to-morrow."

Girtz playing solitaire by the flickering light remembered that it had been Consuelo who had induced the sheriff to let them stay. The country fair meant money in the gypsies' pockets and the pockets were flat and empty.

"You're a good girl, Consuelo."

TELLING ON CANADA

and the British Empire

By HARRIS-STAPLETON

Many brothers fought side by side during the great war, and there are some recorded cases of twins, but to Canada fell the distinction of having the only triplets bearing arms in the allied forces. They were James, William and John Wegrich, from the Ontario town of Port Colborne. All three enlisted on the same day, and wanted to enter the air force together, but the authorities ruled otherwise, so Jim and Bill saw their service with the 67th Battery, C.E.F., while Jack did his bit in the aviation branch.

All three survived the war, and Jack and Bill are to-day back in the old home town, while Jim is a resident of Niagara Falls, N.Y. Their war separation was the first one of consequence for the triplets, who stuck closely together during boyhood days. They travelled through the three R's together, and when one of the three failed on his entrance examination, Hon. Dr. Pyne, then provincial Minister of Education, passed him along with his more fortunate brothers.

Parents, teachers and friends generally were the subject of amusement galore for the Wegrich boys, who were as similar in appearance as the proverbial peas in a pod. Jim got blamed for sundry of Bill's exploits, and as frequently Jack took credit for meritorious work by his brothers. Each of their "girls" often were unwitting victims of hoaxes by the brothers.

The notorious Lynch law that is so frequently exercised in the southern United States was aptly named after an Irish judge whose sense of justice was so stern that he not only condemned his son to death, but acted as executioner himself. When he sentenced the boy to death for a criminal offence, Judge Lynch realized that the regular court officials were reluctant to carry out the sentence, so he determined to take the law into his own hands and hung the wayward youth from a second storey window of their home. Sight-seers in Ireland often have had the building pointed out to them as a place of horrible significance.

Chess is generally regarded as an example of slow motion, but the record performance is believed to be that of two Yorkshire devotees who spent ten years at one game whose outcome was a stalemate.

Messrs. Kaye and Garside, of the Linthwaite Chess Club, were the participants in this novel form of endurance, which began when Kaye went to Australia. Declining to permit distance to cause a cancellation of their chess activities, the two inaugurated a game by mail, which progressed at the rate of about 40 moves a year until it had spun its existence into a decade.

LOVELY STYLES MORE SAFETY

Combine in an Ideal Car Especially Attractive for Femine Motorists.

THE NEW PLYMOUTH

Spring styles emanating from Paris and Detroit are vieing with each other these days for the attention of feminine eyes. From Paris it is high neck lines, peasant sleeves, tucks and buttons, while from Detroit it is torpedo-shaped bodies, aeroplane type fenders and the Floating Ride. The word "Paris" satisfies feminine curiosity about a gown but with automobiles "Detroit" is not enough and the nameplate usually provides the answer. With the initial letter "P" in common, Chrysler Engineers have almost succeeded in making the words "Plymouth" and "Paris" symbolize the same thing in their respective fields.

More Riding Comfort

Sleek, flowing lines, a smart narrow radiator and beaver-tail back match Plymouth with any Paris creations. Not so obvious to the ladies who consider only appearance, but likely to be very noticeable to those who consider riding comfort is the New Plymouth weight distribution modelled after the Airflow pattern which was pioneered by Chrysler last year. Comparisons with last year's Plymouth show that the 1935 engine has been moved forward permitting the back seat to be moved ahead of the back axle. This allows the passengers to ride in between the axles in the centre of the car where bouncing and road-shock are least noticeable.

Artistic Upholstery

Interiors are not usually thought of by Paris Designers, but Plymouth stylists seem to realize how important they are to an automobile. The former, however, have influenced the latter because tucks and plaits, etc., feature the interior of the New Plymouth. It is upholstered in stylish broadcloth and is distinguished by the modernistic design of its dash board, door and window handles. The upholstery is embossed into artistic patterns on the doors, and the window and windshield frames are finished in grained walnut. Lady passengers will notice a pleasing harmony between this interior and Spring modes in fashions.

The automobile designer, like the Paris creator, has to contend with practical considerations. Two that are always encountered by the automobile manufacturer when designing for feminine users are safety and ease of handling—smooth and equalized stopping for hydraulic brakes, sturdiness and safety for all-steel bodies have stood through many years of debate and research. The smoothness of hydraulic brakes is claimed to be an aid to ease of handling. It is supplemented by a new synchronized transmission and ventilated clutch in this year's Plymouth which are designed to reduce the effort required to change gears. The system of cross steering almost turns driving into guiding and certainly permits of finger-tip control. Like the Paris stylists, automobile designers are creative and always producing new beauty and comfort.

The New Plymouth is sold and serviced at the Gillespie Garage, 378 Aylmer street, Peterborough.

ANNUAL DATE SET Y.W.C.A. MEETING

Board of Directors Hear Camp Report—Month's Activities.

The regular meeting of the Y.W.C.A. board of directors was held this week Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner presiding. The opening devotions were led by Mrs. H. C. Sootheran. Correspondence in connection with the Y.W.C.A. convention to be held in Ottawa June 3 to 10 was read. It is hoped a large delegation of Peterborough members will attend as the convention program promises to be very helpful to every department of 'Y' work.

Miss E. Morrow read the financial reports showing an association deficit of $397.81. The association year closes the end of April, by which time the committee hopes this deficit will be reduced. The various departments were asked to prepare budgets for the next year and some discussion was given to numerous repairs and renovations needed. It was decided the Association annual meeting would be held Tuesday, May 21.

Mrs. V. Eastwood reported for the camp committee and the recommendations for camp staff were accepted. Miss Helen Hilton, Girls' Work Secretary of the Basket on Y.W.C.A. who has been highly recommended by National Council and is well qualified in all phases of camp work, it is hoped will be camp director. Miss Florrie Lugsdin has been appointed sports officer. Mrs. Peace will again be in charge of the excellent camp meals and Mr. Lawrence has been engaged as caretaker.

Mrs. Kenner reported the National Council and membership committee meetings attended this month and Mrs. Sootheran reported on several items on the revision of the constitution. Mrs. F. M. Sommerville brought the report from the Local Council of Women meeting.

Brief reports outlined the month's activities including appreciation of the co-operation of church groups and friends of the 'Y' in the huge task of cutting and making the 400 costumes for the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium pageant which will be held in the Grand Opera House, May 10th. Tickets are now being sold by the members and all classes are holding extra practices. The pageant promises to be as delightful and popular as ever. Members of the board are each assisting with sale of tickets and are also taking the box tickets. The badminton clubs have also enjoyed tournament games and are holding a tea Saturday afternoon. The pool is being put in readiness for opening the end of April or first of May. Lessons will commence after the Pageant.

During the past month an interesting lecture was given by Mrs. F. J. A. Morris on "Barrie." The lecture planned for April on 'Scott' has been postponed until next fall.

The 'Y' members have been raising funds for the foreign work of the Association and a bulletin in the hall records $75 to date. It is hoped to reach the allocation of $150 by the end of the month. One of the clubs is planning a rummage sale to help supplement this fund. The Jolly Rovers Club presented a delightful play.

Home nursing classes have been held under the auspices of the Red Cross Society and Bell Telephone Co. Junior Story Hour group and Dramatic club met during the month and C.G.I.T. Rally was held. Many have been to the class on the employment bureau which aims to help find positions for those looking for work.

CLASSIFIED ADS are as useful as the day is long.

TRENT RIVER W.I. IS ENTERTAINED BY MRS. P. LOGAN OF HAVELOCK

Members Prepare Plans for Purchase of Building to be Used by Institute.

DELIGHTFUL PROGRAM

TRENT RIVER, April 13.—(Examiner Correspondence).—With an attendance of 37, including a number of visitors from Belmont and Havelock branches, Trent River Women's Institute April meeting, held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. P Logan, Havelock, proved an interesting one. The president, Mrs. George Brooks, was absent and the chair was taken by the vice-president, Mrs. Earl Greenly.

After the singing of the opening ode, the secretary, Mrs. Harry Mann, read the roll call, "Name a qualification desirable for an officer."

The secretary reported parcels sent to a needy family. A letter from the publicity and extension branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, was read regarding subscription to the publication, entitled "Beautifying the Home Grounds of Canada," also lantern slide service to illustrate. Also a letter from the department concerning a delegate attending Guelph college. No action was taken in either cases. A letter was read from the district secretary, Miss Weller, notifying the members of the executive meeting to be held in Lakefield this month, for the purpose of making arrangements for the district annual rally to be held in June at Westwood.

Plan Buying Building.

The members discussed plans as to the advisability of purchasing a building suitable for the use of the institute. The place in view was to be offered for sale Friday afternoon, the residence occupied by the late John Boyd. A committee was appointed at the March meeting, consisting of Mrs. George Brooks, Mrs. Harry Mann, Mrs. Earl Greenly and Mrs. Thomas J. Brown, to see about the business part. They left the matter in the hands of Mr. Thomas J. Brown to do the purchasing, if possible.

The secretary received the names of members who will offer their homes for meetings for the next year's program.

Fruit was ordered for the sick.

The president of Belmont branch, Mrs. Robert Anderson, was called upon to say a few words. A reading, "Relations," was given by Miss Doris Scott. Reading, "Laughter," Miss B. French. Mrs. Logan had charge of a fruit contest, five won, and in the draw Mrs. Melville Wight was the lucky one, receiving a fancy dish. A playette, "Mary Entertains the Leader of the Missionary Society," was given by Mrs. James Wilde as Mary, Mrs. Clarence Hubble as missionary leader, and Mrs. J. Hoffman as Mary's mother.

A vote of thanks was given to Belmont and Havelock members for their attendance. Dainty refreshments were served.

The following members of Belmont branch attended; President Mrs. Robert Anderson, Vice-President Mrs. Harry Tinney, Secretary Mrs. J. Seabrooke, and Mrs. Leonard Keene, Mrs. William Smith, Misses Iva Smith and Lillie Anderson.

The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Scott.

GROW PERENNIALS FROM THE SEED

Fascination in Growing Perennials From the Seed.

By F. BIDDLE

In these times of enforced economy many of us have to cut down on our garden expenditures, and those tempting offers of plants and shrubs we have been accustomed to indulge in, have now to be considerably modified, but we can still have them if we are content to wait a little longer, by raising them from seed. Apart from the matter of economy there is a fascination in growing perennials from seed, and one gets an intense satisfaction in watching them grow from tiny seedlings to mature plants in bloom in their second season. About the end of May is a good time to sow the seed so that the plants will have made sufficient growth to withstand their first winter. Sow thinly in drills in a partially shaded position. A good plan is to lay burlap over the seedbed and keep moist by watering over the burlap until the seedlings show through. This also helps to keep weeds in check. As soon as the first pair of true leaves show transplant singly and by September the plants will be large enough to move into their permanent quarters, and the next summer they will reward you with their first show of bloom. Get good seed from a reliable source so many perennials do not come true from seed notably Phlox and Delphiniums. Seed taken haphazard from these revert back to type and usually give poor results. Good firms supply seeds that have been hand fertilized and there is always the chance of getting something new or different from any already in existence.

Among the biennials are Canterbury Bells, Dianthus Sinensis (scarlet), Brompton Stocks and Foxgloves. For perennials try Oriental Poppies (scarlet and mixed colors), Delphiniums, Phlox, Campanula, Persicifolia (blue and white), Pyrethrum (white, pink and crimson), Gaillardia, Michaelmas daisies in many colors, Shasta Daisy, Linum Perenne, Aquelegia or Columbine (long spurred) etc. For something out of the ordinary try Platycodon (Balloon flower), Tritonia (Red hot poker), Erigeron (mauve with thread like petals), Polyanthus Primroses Allwoodii (a cross between a carnation and a pink and quite hardy Chrysanthemum mawii (pink with silvery grey leaves), Eryngium Planum (silvery blue stems and flowers) and several varieties of Dianthus or Pinks.

All these are easily raised and quite hardy except Red Hot Poker which can be stored the same as Dahlia tubers.

Vimy Anniversary Is Held At Omemee

OMEMEE, April 13.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The 18th anniversary of the Battle of Vimy Ridge was celebrated by the Omemee veterans on Tuesday night by a smoker and social evening held at the home of William O'Neil. After a pleasant evening had been spent in cards and reminiscing of old way days, refreshments were served. The President, Fred Evans, on behalf of the veterans, thanked Mr. O'Neil for his hospitality, and arrangements were made for the next get-together, which will be held on Armistice Day.

Faster Way Found to Relieve Headaches

NOW PAIN OFTEN RELIEVED IN MINUTES!

Remember the pictures below when you want fast relief from pain. Demand and get the method doctors prescribe—Aspirin.

Millions have found that Aspirin eases even a bad headache, neuritis or rheumatic pain often in a few minutes!

In the stomach as in the glass here, an Aspirin tablet starts to dissolve, or disintegrate, almost the instant it touches moisture. It begins "taking hold" of your pain practically as soon as you swallow it.

Equally important, Aspirin is safe. For scientific tests show this: Aspirin does not harm the heart.

Remember these two points: Aspirin Speed and Aspirin Safety. And, see that you get ASPIRIN. It is made in Canada, and all druggists have it. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every Aspirin tablet.

Get tin of 12 tablets or economical bottle of 24 or 100 at any druggist's.

Why Aspirin Works So Fast

Drop an Aspirin tablet in a glass of water. Note that BEFORE it touches the bottom, it is disintegrating.

IN 2 SECONDS BY STOP WATCH An Aspirin tablet starts to disintegrate and go to work.

What happens in these glasses happens in your stomach—ASPIRIN tablets start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

Florence Turner, the first actress to have her name flashed across a motion picture screen and who, a quarter of a century ago, had the movie-going public at her feet, is now an extra in the west coast studios, earning $7.50 a day. She was pictured recently as she appears as a dress extra in a picture now in production. Miss Turner spurns sympathy.

'Y' WEATHERS STORMY PERIOD

Interesting Statistics Covering Five-Year Period.

GOOD PUBLIC SUPPORT

Several friends of the local branch of the Young Men's Christian Association have been wondering just how the association has weathered the years of economic stress. A study of comparative figures shows that in 1932-33 the revenue from subscription fell off to a serious extent, representing a loss of $6,500.

At the end of that period the actual current deficit was only $5,823 showing that with normal revenue from subscriptions the association would have had a surplus rather than a deficit.

Last year subscriptions returned to normal and the total revenue in 1934 reached an all time peak of nearly $20,000. At the same time, however, current operating costs were reduced to slightly more than $17,000, a reduction of $2,000 from the year 1932.

In addition to current expenses, the Board was last year, able to take care of Building Fund interest to the extent of $1,800 and to reduce the current deficit by approximately $900.

Membership fees have steadily increased and in 1934 the highest point in the history of the association was reached with 5671 members, which compares favorably with the year 1929 when the roster had a membership of 4411.

This study shows that the association has successfully weathered, the unprecedented period of economic difficulty, and is now decidedly and steadily on the upgrade.

The Board of directors have definite plans to retire the accumulated deficit in the current account.

A statement of the comparative receipts and operating costs for the period 1929-34, is appended:

	Membership	Activities	Subscriptions	Receipts	Current Costs
1929 -	4411	5695	7455	$17,711	$16,172
1930 -	3821	5181	7094	14,854	16,177
1931 -	5073	5859	7600	18,533	18,509
1932 -	5018	6130	2542	14,190	19,150
1933 -	5392	4931	5087	16,371	18,148
1934 -	5671	6396	6793	19,770	17,175

To Save Argument

SAINT JOHN, N.B., April 13.—(CP)—Fastening of movable objects aboard ship has been extended, in the case of the S.S. Cairnross, to chess men. Two officers, playing while the Cairnross was in port here, used a board with a little hole in the centre of each black and white square. Nails at the bottom of each chess piece fitted into the holes.

"Just an idea to save an argument in case of a heavy swell upsetting the board," said one officer.

Mrs. J. H Moore Deals With Agriculture in Extremely Interesting Manner

LAKEFIELD, April 13.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Wednesday afternoon, with a fair attendance present. The roll call was answered by an exchange of plants and seeds, and the response was generous and varied.

Reeve A. B. Burrows addressed the meeting regarding further improvements on the stage of the Town Hall.

The amount of $5 was voted to the crippled children's fund and $5 to the jubilee cancer fund.

Mrs. J. R. Hull contributed a delightful solo, "The Little White House by the Sea," with accompaniment by Mrs. H. E. Moore.

The program for the day was on agriculture and was in charge of the convenor, Mrs. J. H. Moore, who gave a very interesting address on the subject. The story of agriculture is the story of civilization, the speaker said. The first laws were land laws, and half the population of Canada are engaged in this basic industry. Even the taste and demand of the customers alters with the passing years, and the importance of proper marketing is of great moment, for no haphazard methods will do. Products, such as potatoes, are graded, which is a forward step.

In horticulture, now is the time for grafting before the buds come out. The speaker had once seen seventeen different varieties of apples and pears grafted on an old "rabbit" tree. Plant sweet peas early and keep them hilled up well. Glads, too, are the better of frequent hoeing. it helps to keep off pests. Sulphur sprinkled dry over the plants is a help, also the commercial preparations, especially Black Leaf 40. Roses are not hard to grow, but need to be watched for insects.

Sprinkling wood ashes over the garden helps to keep down worms and the enemies of flowers and vegetables. Mrs. Moore had some illustrated papers which were passed around among the ladies and added to the interest.

FORCES DELAY IN DISCUSSING GERMAN ARMS

South American Countries Fear Results of Economic Blockade.

ON TREATY VIOLATORS.

Powers Hope to Iron Out Situation For Decision on Tuesday.

GENEVA, April 15.—(C. P.-Havas)—The council of the League of Nations meeting in private session here this afternoon postponed discussion of the French protest on German rearmament until to-morrow at 11 a.m.

The council will assign one or more reporters to recommend proper action on the French memorandum.

At the same secret session the council postponed a hearing of Ethiopia's request for League arbitration of the Somaliland border dispute with Italy, until the regular May meeting of the council.

France's protest will not be discussed by the League council until tomorrow, it was learned, since it may result in a council move to provide economic and financial sanctions against any country further violating treaty obligations and certain South American members of the League are hesitating to join such a stand.

A Blow At Home

The ticklish situation arising from the Chaco war and the fact reinforcing of Article XVI would establish a ruling on action in the case of warring Bolivia and Paraguay, caused the objections of South American states, it was learned, when the council undertook discussion of the French memorandum today.

This evening will be devoted to efforts to iron out these difficulties

Valera To Be Absent At Jubilee Program

CORK, Irish Free State, April 14 (A.P.)—The Irish Free State alone of the nations of the British Commonwealth will not be represented by its chief executive at the King's Jubilee celebrations in London next month.

Eamon de Valera, embattled President of the Free State, has announced he will take no part in the jubilation but has delegated J. W. Dulanty, Irish Commissioner at London.

Donal Buckley is the Governor-General, and as such is the King's representative in the Free State, but the office is nominal.

Buckley until a few years ago was a draper who sold cotton and calico in his small shop in County Kildare. Buckley never has taken part in any public function; has never even given a banquet. He lives in a small house outside of Dublin, and is known as the "Hermit of Booters town." He refuses to live in the official residence.

OSSING, N. Y., April 15. — (CP)—At his own request Harry Iwanshyn, 48, was back at Sing Sing prison today. Iwanshyn, released from Sing Sing in 1931 on parole, pleaded to be re-admitted because he was afraid "I would get in more trouble." The ex-convict argued he had violated his parole by leaving the state and there was no reason his imprisonment should be impeded by needless red tape.

TERRORIST TRIO NABBED IN PLOT AT MARSEILLES

French, Czechoslovakia, Rumanian Foreign Ministers and Mussolini Billed For Assassination.

WOMAN INVOLVED.

GENEVA, April 15 (AP)—Local police to-day revealed a plot to assassinate three noted European statesmen and disclosed, despite denials in Marseille, two suspected Italian men and a woman had been "detained" in Marseille.

The statesmen plotted against, said police here, were Pierre Laval, Foreign Minister of France; Dr. Eduard Benes, Foreign Minister of Czechoslovakia, and Nicholas Titulescu, Foreign Minister of Rumania. They described the terrorists as anarchists.

Police said the alleged anarchist plot was directed against Benes and Titulescu on the ground they were believed hostile to revisions of peace treaties.

Authorities sent out a general alarm throughout Switzerland and to the German, Austrian, and French frontiers to prevent the entrance of all suspected anarchists.

Extraordinary precautions were taken in reinforcing the ordinarily strong police protection at the league headquarters and at the hotels where the various deegates are staying.

Aimed at Mussolini

LONDON, April 15 (AP) — The Geneva correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company reported to-day two Italian anarchists had been arrested at Marseille, frustrating attempts to assassinate Premier Mussolini of Italy at Stresa and Pierre Laval, French Foreign Minister, at Geneva.

The correspondent said the Marseille officers had arrested Rodolph Gunscher and a woman companion, Ida Carone, said to have admitted they were connected with two groups of anarchists who planned political assassinations.

Their plan was described as an attempt to cross the Italian frontier at different points, go to Stresa and kill Mussolini, then proceed to Geneva and kill Laval.

"All Wooden Car" is Refused Inter-change Privilege With Other Railways.

SCRAP 10,149 CARS.

Hungerford of C. N. R. Recommends Extraordinary Program of Retirement.

OTTAWA, April 15 (C.P.).—Following the policy adopted during the depression on United States railroads, the Canadian National Railways will put into effect an "extraordinary program of equipment retirements," if recommendation to the board of trustees by President S. J. Hungerford is accepted, it was learned to-day.

In addition to normal retirements for 1934 amounting to $4,343,749, the company will charge to profit and loss a total of $23,238,857. This represents equipment rendered obsolete for a number of reasons.

In a memorandum to the chairman of the board of trustees, Mr. Hungerford informed the board as at Jan. 1, 1935, the "all-wooden car" is now regarded so obsolete it is refused interchange privileges with other railways. Next year this prohibition will be extended to the wooden car with "metal arms."

10,149 Cars to be Scrapped

This will have the result of scrapping 10,149 cars, the company retaining 16,098 for the carriage of grain, lumber and coal in western Canada. At the same time a survey of the road has disclosed 570 passenger train cars "will never again be required for service."

"Not only has the depression seriously curtailed passenger train mileage of the system but also the effect of highway competition has been permanently to displace the railway to a considerable degree as a passenger carrying agency for short distances" says Mr. Hungerford.

The C.N.R. president believes that, while it may be theoretically true in the interests of economy that all locomotives over 10 years old should be scrapped, the adoption of this policy would give a false stimulus to locomotive building. He therefore thinks the company should proceed slowly in this regard.

Overturned In Crash Fire Destroys Car

Overturned in collision with a truck owned by parker's Dry Cleaners an automobile was totally destroyed by fire on Saturday evening. The accident occurred at Sherbrooke and Reid streets at 9.30 p.m. but fortunately did not result in personal injury to any of the four persons involved.

Official reports of the police and fire departments, who were both in attendance, do not substantiate the rumor that the overturned motor car was set on fire when a spectator accidently dropped a lighted match into gasoline that had leaked from the tank, after having lit a cigarette.

Clifford Edginton, 341 Reid street, owner of the car was driving north on Reid street, being accompanied in the car by Miss Edith Long, 39 Jackson avenue, and Cecil Gordon of Plainville, when the truck, driven by James Conroy, proceeding east, drove off Sherbrooke street and collided with the left rear fender of the car, according to police report.

Five cats, no less, attracted by the presence of the robin, gathered around the spot and may have had something to do with the bird becoming discouraged. Anyway, the robin is not on the job to-day. Possibly he is inside one of the cats. The bird was last seen about six o'clock Sunday evening.

OLD MAN WINTER PAYS PROVINCE PARTING VISIT

Country in Many Areas is Blanketed By Half Inch of Snow.

RAIN WELCOMED.

Western Ontario woke up to a wintry day as snow, hail and rain fell to-day with lowering temperatures. As much as half an inch of snowfall was registered at some points but as the day wore on the snow disappeared with the sun getting warmer.

There was a heavy rain and snow in Peterborough, but the storm had not settled generally over Eastern Ontario. At Brockville, spring-luike conditions prevailed.

A 32-mile-an-hour gale struck London during the night and was still blowing strong out of the west. It brought with it heavy rain and snow, greenhouses suffering some damage.

Moisture Needed.

Hevay but welcome rain fell throughout the night at Galt and the precipitation changed to snow to-day, the flakes soon vanishing as the hit the ground.

Snow to-day at Brantford followed heavy rain during the night, farmers welcoming the moisture for their fall wheat. At Kitchener, snow and hail fell, giving the city a wintry appearance until a slowly warming sun made the flakes and stones disappear.

At Sudbury in Northern Ontario, rain which started to fall early today changed to snow with a slight drop of temperature. Ice on northern lakes is commencing to break up and airplane service from Lake Ramsay, Sudbury, has been discontinued.

Newman Moves Vote Portrait Of Henry

TORONTO, April 15. — (C.P.)—Authorization of a portrait of Opposition Leader George S. Henry, to be hung in the Ontario Legislative Buildings, was made to-day by the Legislative committee for art purposes.

On motion of William Newman (Lib. Victoria-Haliburton), the committee voted the usual sum of $1,000 for the portrait of the former Conservative Premier. It will be painted by an artist of Mr. Henry's own choosing.

Main part of the committee's estimates was $1,200 spent for painting and framing a portrait of Col. T. Ashmore Kidd (Cons., Kingston), former Speaker.

Vengeance

GRAND COULEE DAM, Wash., April 15 (C.P.).—Older Indians hereabouts lift their eyes towards the home of the "great spirit" when accidents at the Grand Coulee Dam are mentioned.

Eleven men have been killed and mishaps costing hundreds of thousands of dollars have plagued builders of the $63,000,000 power project in the Columbia River in the last year. The older Indians see the accidents as an expression of divine displeasure against the white man for the salmon the structure will destroy.

Government, Toronto Plan Union Festival

TORONTO, April 15.—(C.P.) — Preliminary arrangements were made to-day in the office of Lieutenant-Governor Herbert A. Bruce for a joint celebration of the Provincial Government and the City of Toronto May 6 to mark the 25th anniversary of the accession of His Majesty King George V to the Throne.

Present at the conference with Dr. Bruce were Provincial Secretary H. C. Nixon and Dr. C. C. Goldring, Director of Education for Toronto.

The official celebration, to be held in front of the Legislative Buildings, will be started at 10.30 o'clock in the morning by firing the Royal salute. This will be followed by a parade of war veterans, militia units, Girl Guides, Boy Scouts and school children who will pass in review before the Lieutenant-Governor. With him on the reviewing stand will be Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn, Opposition Leader George S. Henry and Mayor James Simpson of Toronto.

SOCIAL CREDIT STIRS ALBERTA

Conservative, Liberal and U. F. O. Leaders Unite in Attacking Party.

$25 MONTHLY DIVIDEND.

EDMONTON, April 15 (C.P.) — Sending Alberta's leading personalities into the battle, social credit today threatened to bring about a new political alignment in the province. Certainty of a general election in the province, probably in July, lent ardor to supporters and fire to opponents.

While the United Farmers of Alberta Government has obtained Major C. H. Douglas, British economist and founder of social credit principles, as economic adviser, J. E. Brownlee, former Premier and one-time U.F.A. leader has come out in opposition to social credit whether it is proposed by Douglas or Aberhart.

D. M. Duggan, Conservative leader, came out flatly against social credit, declaring it was futile, and Liberal leader Howson said as soon as the social credit supporters proved they had something that

INCOME TAX CUT.

Civil Service Pay Reductions Restored—National Debt Lowered £21,270,000.

LONDON, April 15.—(A. P.)—A cut in the income tax rate and an increase in the personal exemption of married men were proposed to the House of Commons today in the budget.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain announced the reduction of income tax on the lowest brackets. Instead of the present £175 ($844) of taxable income being charged at the rate of 2 shillings, 3 pence in the pound, the first £135 of taxable income will be charged at the rate of 1 shilling six pence.

In addition the personal exemption of a married man is raised from £150 ($729) to £170 ($839) and the exemption for each child is increased from £40 to £50. After the first child.

He also announced the full restoration of 10 percent cut in civil service salaries that was effected in the economy slash of 1931, half of which had previously been restored. This was the principal feature of the 1935-36 budget, which estimates a surplus of £5,610,000 will result from the year's operation.

The cost of the income tax changes was estimated at £10,000,000 ($48,600,000) for the coming 12 months.

Move To Recovery.

LONDON, April 15 (AP).—Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, reported to the House of Commons to-day the past year "has been characterized by a substantial advance toward recovery" as he opened the 1935-36 budget.

"The improvement in trade," said the Chancellor, "has reached right down to the purchasing power of the people. I have been able to find only one direction where a new low record was established for trade and that was in the time list in trade disputes."

As he began his speech, he was roundly cheered, as was Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, who entered the House shortly after his return by airplane from the Stresa conference.

The Chancellor placed the industrial output increase during the last year at about 12 per cent. and said British manufacturing production

TORONTO, April 15.— (CP). — Weather forecasts: Synopsis—A deep disturbance is passing eastward across Northern Ontario, 29.18 inches at White River, and with high pressure and cold weather over Manitoba and the Northwest States is causing westerly gales with rain and snow over the Great Lakes and Western Ontario. Sweet Spring Here! But Winter Lingers

This morning's bluster of sleet and slushy snow applied a damp hand to every seasonal enterprise except the busy nesting of the birds.

The twenty-fifth day of Spring finds nature neglecting its calendar assignment of unlocking the flowers "to paint the laughing soil", and capricious April suggest the ironic comment of Mark Twain: "In the Spring I have counted one hundred and thirty-six different kinds of weather inside of twenty-four hours."

But with all the variants to the vernal scene and mood the invocation of James Thomson still persists in man's heart "Come, gentle Spring, ethereal Mildness! Come."

Winter's ice is gone from the lake and river; new grass is green on the sunny slopes;; buds are filling on the poplars; the crows are winging with a new liveliness; the meadow lark pipes his liquid call from the top rail of a fence beyond the city; and the brooks are purling their soft harmonies of the season.

Yet, with all the heralds of Spring trooping back, today's snow left a chill on the community and on the farm lands where the new year's work should be well advanced after the favoring days of March.

The older folks who have learned by a longer experience to distrust an early Spring have been shaking their heads of late, and today's snow bore out their predictions that the last breath of winter has not passed.

SHORTENED SENTENCES.

(By William Marchington).

OTTAWA, April 15.—Several hundred prisoners in Canadian penitentiaries are to be released in connection with the King's Silver Jubilee. Some notorious convicts who have shown a disposition to go straight are among those to be freed. "Red" Ryan is likely to be among them.

This famous inmate of Portsmouth came under the notice of the Prime Minister last August during his visit to the big grey house. The Warden told Mr. Bennett "Red" Ryan was giving no trouble and had pleaded for another chance.

The Prime Minister intimated he might recommend a reduction in Ryan's sentence.

COURSE CHANGES ARE PREDICTED IN HIGH SCHOOLS

Four Year Curriculum to be Available For Those Not Entering University.

BARRIERS TO BE LIFTED.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., April 15 (CP) —A general modification of the secondary school system in Ontario in which a four-year course for pupils not intending to continue to university will be inaugurated, was predicted by the Deputy Minister of Education for Ontario, Duncan McArthur, speaking here.

In future emphasis will be placed on subjects now available only at vocational schools and the barrier between the technical school and collegiate will be removed, Mr. McArthur stated. Subjects for each course now in existence will be incorporated into a single secondary school course.

Household science and shop practice will be included with the general education subjects, some of which will be removed.

"Only the odd person ever has to use French or Latin in any manner. Besides we are spending too much time in the early stages of study on grammer," Mr. McArthur believed.

The Deputy Minister was the guest speaker at the luncheon arranged by the St. Thomas Public School Teachers' Council at First United Church Saturday.

LIVESTOCK PRODUCE AND CHEESE QUOTES

ONTARIO GRAINS

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Butter prices strengthened slightly during last week's trading on the Montreal dairy and produce market, while cheese remained unchanged and eggs firmed narrowly. Number 1 butter closed the week at 23¾c to 23c a pound for regraded, and 23¼c to 23½c for fresh receipts for carlots or less. Small lots to retailers were quoted at 23½c to 24c a pound for solids for the week totalled 4,845 cases, compared with 3,440 a week ago.

The egg market advanced ¼c to 1½c a dozen, graded shipments in carlots or less closing the week at 19c a dozen for A-large, 17c for A-medium, 16½c to 17c for B, and 15½c for C. Arrivals amounted to 10,679 cases, against 9,500 the preceding week. On the cheese market No. 1 Ontario continued at 11½c to 11¾c a pound for late fall make and 12½c to 12¾c for summer lines. Offerings amounted to 179 boxes, 93 more than the previous week.

Potato prices were lower, Quebec Mountains selling at 52c per 80-lb. bag of light and 57c for darks, while New Brunswick Mountains brought 62c and Prince Edward Island Mountains, 65c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Completely eclipsing the dollar mark and outdoing top-price records for the season, broad speculative buying again and again swept wheat values strongly upward Saturday.

Big profit-taking sales, however, slashed into the effects of new buying rushes, and left the wheat market at the last with only fractional net advances after a maximum fresh rise of 2½c above exciting upturns Friday and the day before. Inflation talk, further dust storms southwest and enlargement of milling demand were some of the bullish factors.

Wheat closed nervous ¼c-¾c above Friday's finish; May $1.00¾-$1.00¾. Corn unchanged to ¼c higher; May, 88¾c-88¾c. Oats also unchanged to ¼c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5c.

General desire to realise profits for the week-end was an outstanding feature in the day's final dealings. Earlier much notice was taken of the fact that next week's official forecast held out but little hope of moisture relief for drought regions where devastation from dust continued unabated. Giving additional stimulus to price upturns were Liverpool despatches saying the wheat market there was strong, with an advancing trend, and that Argentine wheat quotations were higher.

Corn and oats paralleled the action of wheat. Provisions borrowed strength from grains.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 15. — Though bullish enthusiasm remained unchecked, wheat was sold liberally in Saturday's session of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Prices closed ¼c lower to unchanged, May at 89¾c and July 90½c.

High winds and dust storms reported raging over the United States South-west, sharp gains at Chicago and at Liverpool encouraged many traders to buy wheat, but the edge was taken off their drive by those who cashed in.

Reported damage to European crops influenced the trend in the English market.

Cash and coarse grains continued indifferent. Export sales of Canadian wheat was not a factor in the market, only a small quantity being sold abroad.

WAR PANIC EASES.

General Conference, Including Germany, Called End of May in Rome.

STRESA, Italy, April 15 (C. P.). — A determined unity among the three great Western European Powers was seen in conference circles to-day as the most significant contribution to peace resulting from the tripartite conversations of Great Britain, France, and Italy.

Six points of agreement were listed in a communique issued after the meetings closed:

1. A "common line of conduct" on the French appeal to the League of Nations Council for consideration of Germany's rearmament moves.

2. Pursuance of negotiations for "the development which is desired in the security of Eastern Europe."

3. Consultation in case of a threat to the independence and integrity of Austria and the summoning of a conference at Rome to conclude a Danubian accord.

OTTAWA MOVES TO STIMULATE WORK PROGRAM

Plans Call For Expenditure of $30,000,000 Over 1934 Provisions.

ADJOURN WEDNESDAY.

Bills on Buying Report Expected Ready When House Reassembles May 20.

OTTAWA, April 15 (C.P.). — The Government may to-day take its first legislative step in the inauguration of a further scheme for stimulating employment during the fiscal year which opened at the beginning of this month. Involving an expenditure of perhaps $30,000,000 in addition to money provided last year by legislation but not yet spent, the program will embrace construction of various kinds throughout the Dominion. A resolution on the order paper in the name of the Prime Minister will form the basis of the new legislation. Sir George Perley may move it to-day, and members will have it for their consideration during the coming Easter adjournment.

House Adjourns Wednesday.

While Parliament will adjourn on Wednesday evening until May 20, they will carry home with them material for much thought during the recess. The report of the Mass Buying Commission, tabled in the House last week, is a volume which could very readily occupy several days in its perusal. Before the House of Commons at present is notification from Hon. H. H. Stevens, former Minister of Trade and Commerce and a member of the Commission, that he will move the adoption of this report. The intimation, however, is that his notice of motion does not come within the rules of the House and that it will not be placed on the order paper.

Legislation based on the report of this Commission will not make its appearance in the House until after the recess. The Government requires time to ponder the mass of material and the numerous striking recommendations and drastic proposals made by the Commission.

Bills Ready May 20.

It is anticipated that the Bills will be ready when members return on May 20, and that they will encounter a full order paper. With the new construction program and the Mass Buying legislation on hand, there will be plenty to do.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett is expected to leave for England at the end of the week where he will represent Canada at the Jubilee celebrations of the King. Mr. Bennett went out for the first time since his illness yesterday, and may do so each day for a longer period until the time of his departure.

ONTARIO HOUSE RUSHES TOWARD THURSDAY CLOSE

Roebuck Police Bill, Dogs For Deer Hunting Likely to Prove Snags.

LONG DEBATE SEEN.

TORONTO, April 15.—(CP)—The Ontario legislature took on a new lease of life today as members returned from a week-end rest after last week's series of "marathon" sessions ready for the four-day drive necessary to achieve Easter prorogation.

Government plans call for winding up the session by Thursday at the latest. This will mean working at top speed because the estimates have yet to be considered and there are still considerable bills on the order paper.

Second Reading?

Main question in the minds of legislators is whether Attorney-General A. W. Roebuck's police centralization bill, opposed vigorously by Conservatives before it received second reading, will be discussed in committee or shelved until the promised fall session. During Thursday's all-night sitting the measure, although slated on the order paper to be taken up in committee, was passed over in favor of 24 other bills.

Minister of Welfare David Croll's Windsor Amalgamation Bill, designed to create a greater Windsor from the four Essex border municipalities of Windsor, Walkerville, East Windsor and Sandwich is one of the main measures which has not yet received second reading.

Dogs For Deer Hunting?

Work of the Private Bills Committee has been practically completed. The Fish and Game Committee, however, has considerable work to do. The bill amending the Fish and Game Act to permit use of dogs in hunting has been referred to this committee and a lively argument is expected, many members on both sides of the House objecting to lifting the ban on dogs.

With the government stand on the Quebec power contracts announced through passage of the Cancellation Bill, future developments in the Hydro situation will hinge around efforts to negotiate with the companies, the bill will not become law until proclaimed by the Lieutenant - Governor. This postponement will make possible the negotiations forecast by Mr. Roebuck in the debate before the bill received third reading.

FREEDOM GIVEN TO WIFE SLAYER

Kansas City Officials Justify Action Taken by Aged Man After Torture.

KANSAS CITY, April 15 (A.P.).—Herbert B. Hurd, 77-year-old wife slayer, eased tortured limbs as a free man at his home yesterday and said he wished to drop charges against the adopted daughter he once accused of aiding his wife in persecution with fire, lash and knife.

The adopted daughter is Bertha Hurd, 44, a widow. She accompanied the frail railroad watchman home Saturday, after Assistant Prosecutor William J. Gilwee reported officials considered him justified in firing four bullets into his muscular wife, Nellie A. Hurd, in a bedroom on April 3.

"I had been chained to that bed," Hurd said. "I was sick with influenza, indigestion and a heart disorder. For three weeks she burned me with matches, beat me and struck me with a dagger she got from her first husband—I was her fifth.

"She wanted to know the source of my 'hidden wealth.' I didn't have any. I was sick and down to 140 pounds, or so. She weighed 175 and could handle me with one hand. I saw a gunbutt sticking out from under her pillow, grabbed it and fired.

"I was sorry I had to shoot her. But she was crazy."

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Dean Halliday says: As a people we do not get enough actual living out-of-doors. We work in gardens, we proudly display our flowers to our friends, and only too often, that is all our gardens really mean to us.

* * * * * * *

How much better to cultivate the habit of living out-of-doors. For no matter how small our house and garden may be, we can have some shady spot to use for living in, to do our knitting, mending, letter writing and many other every-day chores.

* * * * * * *

Often the rear entrance is an untidy place, whereas it could be shaded by vines, and with the addition of a table and chairs, could be used as the scene of many of our meals. A strawberry jar, or some such decoration, helps to attain a pleasing atmosphere.

* * * * * * *

Of course, if the grounds are larger we can have a more elaborate out-door living room. A few comfortable chairs in the shade of a large tree, however, are always inviting, and sometimes a seat about the tree itself proves enjoyable as well as decorative.

* * * * * * *

The shelter of a pergola offers possibilities for a table and benches, and might serve as a charming place to serve tea.

* * * * * * *

Making use of the outdoors for living is both healthful and enjoyable, and it always lends a very hospitable atmosphere to the home.

DWARF PRIMROSE ROCK GARDEN IDEAL

Just the ideal plant for a rock garden, is this hardy new Primula, Frondosa. It leaves are dwarf in size and its growth is compact, with a lovely flower of dainty lavender hue. Primula Frondosa should be planted in partial shade. This is true of all Primulas, excepting Vulgaris, the true old English primrose, with pale yellow flowers and Cortusoidies, a Liberian species of deep rose color.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. V. Shepard
"Teacher of Teachers"

CAN WEST MAKE 6 HEARTS?

To occupy the position of Senior, having the opening lead and holding two aces, makes it obligatory to double an adverse small slam call, even if two aces are not always sufficient to defeat such a call. The play of the following hand, in West's attempt to fulfill his double contract, will be found helpful.

	♠ 2 ♥ 4 ♦ A Q J 10 8 4 3 ♣ A 10 5 3
♠ A 10 9 7 ♥ A K 10 9 7 ♦ None ♣ 9 8 7 4	N. W. E. S.	♠ Q J 4 3 ♥ Q J 5 ♦ K 9 2 ♣ K Q J
	♠ K 8 6 5 ♥ 8 6 3 2 ♦ 7 6 5 ♣ 6 2

Bidding went: West 1 heart; I sat North and tried to shut East out by bidding 5 diamonds; we were not vulnerable and opponents were: East 5 hearts; West, 4 spades, to show his two-suite and that he did not mind the opposing call; East 6 hearts, which I duly doubled. It would have paid us well had we been allowed to play our contract of 5 diamonds doubled. Probably we would have lost only 1 spade, 1 heart, 1 diamond and 1 club trick—a small penalty to save the game.

The problem confronting the doubler was which lead would be most efficient. An opening lead of the ace of diamonds would have enabled West to fulfill his contract with ease. West could have ruffed the diamond. Two rounds of winning hearts would have shown North exhausted. The spades could have been led through South, to pick up his king. Two added trump leads would have pulled the last two hearts held by South. A club lead would have given North a single trick, leaving the road open to enter dummy and win two club tricks. West could have discarded his fourth club on the established king of diamonds, and spread his cards for 6-odd.

As mentioned Saturday, I was in such luck that nothing could go wrong for me, so the ace of diamonds was not led. The three of clubs was led and dummy was in. The declarer took a trump trick. Dummy won the next trump trick. North discarded a diamond. The queen of spades was led and held the trick. Three more spade tricks were won. North discarded diamonds after the first lead of spades, and also upon two leads of trumps while South's last hearts were picked up, bringing play to the last four cards held. Then West had to lead a club. The ace won. A low club put dummy in the lead. Dummy had to lead a diamond. West ruffed, but he had to surrender his nine of clubs to North, going down a single trick.

Lenz, as kibitzer, made one of his characteristic remarks: "Only a high class crook could have beaten West." (We will not mention his name. He still may feel sore.)

CIVIC WELCOME IS ACCORDED TO ARMY LEADERS

Great Enthusiasm Marks Celebration of 50th Anniversary.

SPECIAL SERVICES.

Great enthusiasm marked the special series of week-end religious services held by the local corps of the Salvation Army as a climax to the celebration of their Golden Jubilee in Peterborough.

Commissioner William A. McIntyre and Mrs. McIntyre of Chicago and other national and international figures in the Army were welcomed to the city at a big Saturday night rally and will be present here for the anniversary tea this evening to be followed by special services commencing at eight o'clock.

On his visit here Commissioner McIntyre was accompanied by Colonel William Dalziel, chief secretary, second-in-command of the Salvation Army in Canada, Alaska, Newfoundland and Bermuda, and Mrs. Dalziel; Colonel McAmmond, field secretary, and Mrs. McAmmond; and Major Riches, divisional commander East Toronto Division, and Mrs. Riches.

International Program

The program of welcome to the distinguished officers, was in the capable hands of Adjutant Neil Warrander and Mrs. Warrander, officers of the local corps, and was international in character.

Special music featured the various services, the band being under the direction of Bandmaster R. G. Routley, and the Songsters under leadership of Ben Smith.

Yesterday afternoon the Temple was crowded for the special meeting at which the Commissioner and his staff were accorded a civic welcome, and there were included on the platform the Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., who introduced the Commissioner as guest speaker; the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, president of Peterborough Ministerial Association and Aldermen Walter Stocker and James Ellis.

In his opening remarks Commissioner McIntyre reviewed the growth of Salvation Army activity in Canada, and recalled the time when the extent of its "front line" ran between Toronto and London.

Worked With R. C. Braund

He touched upon incidents in connection with his conversion at Ingersoll and stated that after he entered upon Army work he travelled with R. C. Braund, now Young People's Sergeant Major in the local Corps, throughout this district raising funds for Army work.

During his terms of office in the United States, Commissioner McIntyre has been successful in reclaiming many drunkards, and criminals have been influenced for good by his friendly counsel.

The Commissioner urged the members of the local Corps not to forget the object for which the Salvation Army was raised, and reminded them that their work was to extend to the unfortunate; it was to extend to all who were on the pathway of crime; and it was to include the wandering boy or the wayward girl.

Converted Fitzsimmons

He also gave a very interesting story concerning his conversion of Bob Fitzsimmons, the well-known fighter. As a boy, the Commissioner stated, Fitzsimmons was brought up in a Christian home, and through the mistake of a Sunday school teacher he left the church and continued upon a career in the ring.

The Commissioner got in personal contact with Fitzsimmons, he stated, and through his influence was instrumental in the conversion of the famous fighter. When the latter died his only religious service was the reading of a letter written by the Commissioner.

In conclusion Commissioner McIntyre congratulated the local Corps upon their progress and urged the members to continue to advance and so make the next fifty-year period even more successful than the period just closed.

Dr. Barr, as president of the Ministerial Association moved a vote of thanks to the Commissioner for his splendid address and also extended congratulations to the local corps upon the attainment of their half century of religious service to the city.

The meeting was closed with the singing of the Doxology.

THE PROPER TITLES.

An amendment made in the Senate in connection with a piece of Government legislation has called attention to the fact that, according to a strict interpretation of the constitution, Mr. Bennett should not be referred to as "Prime Minister."

The proper title for the head of the Government is "First Minister," and as such he must be designated in all official documents.

However, common usage has justified the use of "Prime Minister" and "Premier," and the first title is the one commonly employed in the House of Commons, while the newspapers sometimes use one and sometimes the other.

Incidentally there has developed recently a loose use of the title "Prime Minister" in connection with the head of the Provincial Government.

The correct title for Mr. Hepburn is "Premier," but in the proceedings on the day the Legislature opened and on various occasions in "Votes and Proceedings" he was referred to as "Prime Minister," obviously a wrong use of the designation.

The Parliament Guide refers to Mr. Bennett as "Prime Minister" and to Mr. Hepburn as "Premier"; in both cases these are the titles that have been employed for a great many years, and so far as the press and the public is concerned, it is probable that their use will continue.

CO-OPERATION IS NECESSARY.

The notice published by the city engineer last week in regard to the piling of leaves, branches and other refuse from gardens and lawns on the city roadways is one that should be generally obeyed.

In the first place, of course this practice is strictly against the regulations, and secondly, even if this were not the case it would be obviously in the general interest to put an end to this kind of thing which defeats the plans of the Board of Works to keep Peterborough a clean city.

In that effort the board and its staff are most certainly entitled to the co-operation of all the citizens; yet the fact remains that in some sections of the city it has not been forthcoming.

The paved streets are constantly cleaned, but much of the benefit of that careful grooming is being lost because of this practice of raking old leaves and other refuse out into the roadways after the street cleaning squad has made its rounds.

Evidently those guilty of this littering up the roads expect the street cleaners to come round and take the refuse away, but the regulations forbid this slovenely if convenient method of getting rid of garden debris, which in many cases give a dirty appearance to streets that were carefully cleaned by the Board of Works employees just a short time before.

Probably most people who have offended in this respect have given no thought to the matter, and now that it has been called to their attention they will co-operate with the board in maintaining that street cleanliness for which the city officials are striving and for which Peterborough in the past has been noted.

NOT A DESIRABLE CHANGE.

Attorney-General Roebuck has explained to the Legislature that the present Government regards it as necessary that all executive positions under its jurisdiction should be occupied by Liberals, the feeling of the administration being that such officials should be in sympathy with the Government.

Should a change in Government occur, he said that it would be accepted as quite reasonable that the present occupants should yield their places to friends of the new regime.

This is, of course, a frank adoption of the spoils system, and whatever may be thought of its application to civil service positions generally, there will undoubtedly be many people who will view its extension to such bodies as the Mothers' Allowance Commission and the Workmen's Compensation Board with a certain amount of misgiving.

When those bodies were first created it was felt that so far as possible they should be kept free from politics, and that those appointed to the boards were permanently installed in their positions so long as they were not derelict in their duties.

Unquestionably the administration of the Workmen's Compensation Act should be free of any suspicion of political interference or control, but it is difficult to see how that can be done if the members of the board only hold office while their own party is in power, and then more or less automatically make way for other officials of another political stripe.

The policy announced by Mr. Roebuck closely links up every Government service to the party at present in power with the result that boards and commissions that it was originally intended should be free from partisan interference are now part and parcel of a political machine.

It is not a change to be applauded by those who believe there was too much political control as it was.

WORK ON THE FARM.

According to the Government employment officials, farm workers are in more demand this spring than for several seasons and higher wages are being paid.

This is a development that should be of some interest to at least a proportion of unemployed men who might be useful on a farm and should welcome the opportunity to become self-supporting again.

When the hunger marchers visited Queen's Park a short time ago Premier Hepburn brought up this point, and remarked to one of the spokesmen that he supposed the man would refuse to work on a farm, and the delegate promptly admitted that the Premier was right.

"In 1935," he declared, "a young man doesn't have to work for two meals a day, a shirt and a pair of pants, for that's all the farmer will pay."

Obviously this individual who was looking to the Government for a 50 per cent. increase in relief allowances, was only interested in what he could get for nothing; work that might take him off the relief list was furthest from his thoughts.

His reference to what the farmers would pay for help was, of course, an injustice to rural employers, for, as the Woodstock Sentinel-Review points out, official statistics show that farm wages last year averaged $18, which with board estimated at only $15 made up a remuneration of $33. "It is not a great deal," says the Western Ontario journal, "but it is in proportion to what the average farmer is himself receiving, and it is probably more than this 'hunger marcher' would be worth on a farm."

In every centre there must be men in good health with some knowledge of farm work who are being maintained out of public funds, while the farmers are seeking helpers.

Some way should be found of bringing the two together.

ARE WE GETTING SOFT?

Here's something that gives us a pain in the neck: "Rule Britannia" will not be sung in Windsor as part of the celebration of the silver jubilee of King George V.'s accession to the British throne on May 6. The reason—it might give offence to the United States visitors at the celebration.

What's getting into people these days? They seem afraid to call their souls their own. "Rule Britannia" may not be as strictly correct as in the days before Britain, in the interests of peace, gave the United States naval parity, and in view of this may be a bit bombastic. But it's not one bit more so, not even as bombastic, as numerous patriotic songs that our friends across the line sing frequently and with fervor—and do not care a hoot how it sounds to the ears of Canadians or Britons.

Yes, this continual crawling before visitors from the United States gives us a pain in the neck. And we think it does the same for our visitors. People (there are a few exceptions) do not come to Canada from the United States expecting to hear and see things American. They want to hear British songs, Canadian songs, see how Canadians do things, how we run our affairs. They expect us to be ourselves—not apes of Americans. They want to see Union Jacks, not the Stars and Stripes, flying—tourist houses and hot dog stand proprietors to the contrary notwithstanding. They want something different from what they have at home—that's why they come visiting to Canada.

So go ahead, weak-kneed Windsor, sing "Rule Britannia" at them; they'll applaud the songs and like the sentiment—even admit that old Britain hasn't yet lost her backbone.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

IT'S STRAW BY STRAW THAT TAXES BREAK BACKS.

Typical of the ice cream soda school of economic hokum are the articles written by the commentator in the Toronto Star who calls himself "The Observer."

The other night he defended the increase in Toronto's tax rate, saying that it was far better for each taxpayer to pay a few dollars more than to have the city employees take a cut in salaries. The man who last year paid a tax of $100 would only pay $4.54 more this year, and so on. This, he argued, was not a crushing load for anyone. On the other hand, for the civic employees to take a cut in salary would deal a large number of people a serious blow.

Better that 100 people should suffer a slight headache than that one man or woman should suffer the agony of cancer, he averred.

The argument is plain, unadulterated bunk and is only worthy of attention because the same sort of thing is being expressed by other people all over Canada.

It is true that an increase of 4½ per cent. in Toronto's tax rate would not crush anyone, not when taken by itself. But year by year Toronto's taxes have gone up. Year by year, the provinces have added new taxes and increased old ones. Year by year the Dominion has found new things to tax. Very seldom has any individual tax been sufficient by itself to throw any concern into bankruptcy or bring the bailiff to the door of any individual. But in the aggregate the new burden imposed by these new taxes has been enormous. The proportion of the national income taken by taxation to-day is about three and a half times what it was before the war. A change of this character causes no "light headache," but it does bring upon the whole country the agony of political cancer.

To use the phrase "the agony of cancer" in connection with the proposed reduction of civic salaries in Toronto is gross misrepresentation. All that was ever proposed was that civic employees should continue to give up the small salary rebate that they have given back in the last two or three years. This rebate is not more than 5 per cent. on 99 per cent. of the salaries. In private business, practically everyone who draws an income from private business has to accept a salary cut of between 15 and 25 per cent., while those who are in business for themselves have had their income either cut more than that or virtually wiped out.

It is never very easy to decide exactly which straw it is that breaks the camel's back, but there is never any doubt that when straw after straw is piled on, the aggregate burden will eventually break the back. That is what a multitude of small annual increases in various taxes is doing to the citizens of Toronto and other cities in Canada.—Financial Post.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Hon. H. H. Stevens is once more occupying the centre of the political stage, and will probably continue to do so during the campaign that lies ahead.

It is interesting to note that legislators on both sides of the House have protested against the use of dogs in deer hunting, a condition that shows that a large measure of public opinion supports the view that the change that is being made is a mistake.

If the duty of an opposition is to oppose, the little band of Conservatives in the Legislature may fairly claim that they are earning their sessional allowances—even if they cannot collect anything extra for overtime.

French civilians are being pressed by the Government to purchase gas masks without delay. Obviously the next war will not be confined to the front line trenches.

With new taxation and the school question to come up at the special fall session of the Legislature, it promises to be even more exciting than the present meeting of the House.

THE MIX-UP AT OTTAWA.

To Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—Miss McPhail, M.P., has turned her satire on the Liberals, who, she says, don't know what they are doing, what they are going to do, and what they want to do. Mr. Stevens, who is playing the Mother Goose of economics, has got the idea that 2 and 2 should not always make 4, especially when people would like them to make something else. That there is a general stalemate at Ottawa, as elsewhere in Canada, few will deny.

But whatever we do, let us refrain from substituting tears for facts. In 1910 oil was substituted for coal in the navy. It was hailed as a great saving of labor and expense. It drove the Welsh coal miners down and out, and they have been starving ever since. The cry for labor-saving has done more damage than all the rest. We cannot have our cake and throw it away, too. J. H. BURNHAM.

NON DE PLUME LETTERS

Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—There appears in this paper under the Voice of the People column at times, letters complaining about the practice of not putting the writer's name to letters for publication. Some of these complaints are but a slight admonition, others take a more serious turn and condemn the practice entirely using invectives to strengthen their argument, apparently because they sign their name to their letters that others should do likewise, but such arguments are inordinate because the rules governing these matters are laid down at the top of this column therefore a person putting a pen-name to his letter can act with impunity to others who may have a captious disposition and may be suffering from egotism. Then again how many beautiful things have been written under a non deplume, how many articles appear in the paper without the writer's name appended to it, how many beautiful poems have been written in the same way? People do not always wish to see their name glaring in the papers, publicity shyness may be the cause or they may wish to give others the freedom of commenting upon what is said without knowing who the author is. But whether the writer signs his name or not is strictly his own business as long as he conforms to the rules laid down and whether he remains within these laws or not is a matter between himself and the publisher. So those people who would like to meddle in other people's business should bear in mind that discretion is the better part of valor and mind their own business in future. Meddling is a lurid example of dignified intelligence.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor for this space.

Work Pogrressing In Hastings Plans

HASTINGS, April 15 (Examiner Correspondence) — Reeve Dr. J. H. Hess presided over a very enthusiastic meeting of the re-union committees in the council chambers last week.

Dr. Hess reported that he had interviewed the Peterborough Canoe Co. and the Johnson Motors and the officers of these companies had promised prizes, as well as any assistance they could be in putting on the water sports which take place on the first day, June 29th. T. A. Coughlan was appointed chairman of this committee.

The Salvation Army Band of Peterborough will furnish music on all three days.

A Thought for Today

"And as they led him away, they laid hold upon one Simon, a Cyrenian, coming out of the country, and on him they laid the cross, that he might bear it after Jesus."

"And there followed him a great company of people, and of women, which also bewailed and lamented him."

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

THE MOUNTAIN

When I was a boy I lived in a valley with mountains at its back and curving arms that ran down to the sea. Behind us there were always the green or brown hills; before us, always, was the wide green ocean.

We went down to the sea to dig clams or to throw our lines far into the surf for little silver fish. We went back to the mountains for wild berries, for vagabonding hikes. Sometimes we played at being adventurers, explorers, along a little stream that came, I think, from a certain peak that rose high above our heads.

I know now that the peak was not so mighty as it seemed, but it was tall enough for us to see it from every corner of our rolling valley. It was big enough for us. Whenever we raised our heads we could see it. In the spring it was green and we could see the cattle, tiny moving specks, on its lower slopes. Later, in summer, it was bare and brown. In winter, not all winters but some of them, it wore a cap of snow that made it seem a wise old ancient who had his kindly eye upon us. He was the high point of the little lives that went their way below him.

I forget much. I have forgotten names and faces, and many of the days I lived then have passed from my memory and may never return. But it seems to me now that there was never a day when we did not look there to the mountain and take some comfort from his presence.

There are moments in every life of which we can be decently proud. There are days when we are braver, wiser, more unselfish than we thought we could be. Days when we have vision and understanding and did the right thing instinctively.

Those are the good mountains in our little lives. They stand above the common level of our daily existence and they challenge us to repeat them or surpass them. They comfort us and inspire us and they are like that mountain I used to know.

And if we cannot live always on the mountain tops, it is good to remember that once we did live at the foot of the mountain, and that once we did climb it—and that some day, strength given, we may climb it again.

Soviet Russia has added 54,000 square miles of Arctic territory.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

A BIG APRIL BLIZZARD

On this date (April 15) in 1904 central Ontario was swept by one of the worst snow storms in its history, for so late a period of the year. It came as a distinct surprise for the weather the previous week had been quite spring-like; many flowers had budded and the trees were sprouting their spring foliage. In fact so advanced was the "spring" that the Hamilton Steamboat Company, who then ran two boats daily between Hamilton and Toronto, had avertised the opening trip of the season for the 16th. Just before the storm broke there was a sudden freeez up; the lakes which had been shedding their winters ice suddenly froze again and there were several inches of ice in both Hamilton and Toronto bays.

Railway and street car traffic all over Ontario was badly blocked. Snow plows which had been put away were rushed out, but even then they could do little good so fierce was the snow, heavy and hard to combat. Rail communication between Toronto and Hamilton was interrupted for nearly a day. Roads in the country sections were blocked and the birds wondered what sort of a country they had come north to spend the summer. Luckily the cold was of brief duration and within a week there was little trace of the blizzard of April 15, 1904.

JANETVILLE, April 15.—(Special)—The local branch of the Women's Institute held their regular monthly meeting in the club rooms on Thursday afternoon, April 11, with Mrs. M. Armstrong as convenor.

Mrs. William Hill, the president, opened the meeting with the singing of the Ode, and after the usual opening exercises, a large amount of correspondence was read, including an interesting letter from the rink committee acknowledging a splendid cash donation from the W.I., and also one from Mrs. Plumptre, of Toronto, acknowledging a donation to the crippled children's fund.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. William Hill; 1st vice, Mrs. Bert McMullen; 2nd vice, Mrs. Charles Deyell; secretary, Mrs. Orvine McGill; assistant secretary, Mrs. Oswald McGill; treasurer, Mrs. George Bradburn; district director, Mrs. Ed. Bradburn; branch directors, Mrs. Charles McNeil, Mrs. Thomas Johnston, Mrs. Joseph Capstick and Mrs. G. Wilson; annual convention, Mrs. J. Capstick, Mrs. Wes. The following short program was then enjoyed: Community song, "The More We Get Together"; reading, "The Cowlick," by Mrs. Oswald McGill; a paper, "Thoughts of the Day," by Mrs. Harry Heaslip.

After the singing of the National Anthem, refreshments were served. Tea was poured by Mrs. Thomas Johnston and Mrs. Robert Argue. Assisting were Mrs. Mossom Walker and Mrs. M. Armstrong.

HASTINGS

Improvement Plans Discussed For Park

HASTINGS, April 15 (Examiner Corespondence).—The first meeting of the Park Commissoin for 1935 was held in the Royal Bank on Friday night, with the following members present: Messrs. L. E. Kelley, L. F. Daley, A. S. Spooner, Dr. W. N. Campbell, C. W. Lynch and J. V. Findlay. L. E. Kelly was elected chairman for 1935.

If the outlay will not be too heavy on the small bank account a public toilet will be put up on the west end of the park. At the present time the council have some cement blocks for sale which would do to build this much-needed convenience.

Tile will be placed in the drains that are now opened and residents who have any ashes to dump can help to fill it in.

so the council may proceed to discussion of the question tomorrow.

Strong Memorandum

(By Joseph E. Sharkey, Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press)

GENEVA, April 15 (AP)—France submitted to the consideration of the league of Nations Council today a vigorously-worded memorandum charging Germany with having compromised negotiations for limitations of armaments and having threatened "the whole idea of international relations."

The memorandum was prompted by Germany's announcement March 16 of her decision to re-establish a conscript army and by her previous notification of reconstitution of a military air force.

As the Council assembled to review the situation, a tense atmosphere was manifest because of the feeling in diplomatic circles that until faith in the sanctity of treaties has been restored, nations will continue to increase their armaments. The French document characterized the German military moves as "the culmination of long and methodical labors pursued in secret."

SOCIAL CREDIT

might solve economic problems they might find listeners.

Aberhart in Defence

And against them all William Aberhart, Dean of the Calgary Prophetic Bible Institute and leader of the Alberta Social Credit League, maintained his stand social credit could be applied to any one province as well as the Dominion as a whole. It was within the power and jurisdiction of the province, he declared.

As explained by Aberhart, social credit involves a "basic dividend" of $25.00 monthly to all persons over 25 years of age in the province regardless of their occupations. The "dividend" does not infringe on the earning capacity of the individual, however.

The plan aims at ending interest and profit as such, but provides a fair return on services and production of goods. A commission would set a "just price" to be paid by the consumer which would still give the producer a fair return.

The "basic dividend" would be obtained through a tax on unearned increment on both farm and factory and a continuous flow of credit would be maintained by the government acting as the "state credit house."

GILLESPIE IS FOUND

CLARE Mich. (AP)—John Gillespie, formed millionaire police commissioner of Detroit, ended 11 days of hiding to-day when he heard the voice of his son, John Philip Gillespie, 24.

"I can hide from everybody else," he said, "but not Jack."

Unshaven and dressed in woodman's clothes, Gillespie said he had spent much of the time since he vanished from his Detroit hotel room April 4 after a quarrel with Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald, in wandering through the woods.

Dry Those Tears For the Victorians

MONTREAL, April 13. (CP). Young people to-day tend to waste too much sympathy on the Victorian woman, in the opinion of Mrs. A. R. McBain. They picture her, Mrs. McBain said in an address to the Montreal Women's Club, as "languishing, shut in by three thicknesses of curtain and a heavy father."

Beginning with Queen Victoria herself, whom several biographers recently have spoken of as a statesman Mrs. McBain pointed out a number of women who had made notable achievements. Among them were Florence Nightingale, Geo. Eliot, Charlotte Bronte, Elizabeth Barrett and Emmeline Pankhurst.

"I think some of the things we cherish have come to us from the despised Victorians," said Mrs. McBain. "A future age, looking back, may see the present generation as a bright, iridescent, tinkling fringe on the Victorian shawl."

SPRINGVILLE W.M.S. LAYS SUPPER PLANS

Members Hear Intresting Discourse on Ontario Missions During Program.

SPRINGVILLE, April 15. (Examiner Correspondence).—On Wednesday, April 10, the ladies of the Women's Missionary Society gathered at the manse for their monthly meeting. Fraserville ladies were guests of the day and Mrs. Stevens, Associate Helper's Secretary of the Peterborough Presbyterial, was guest speaker, bringing to the two auxiliaries greetings from Mrs. Morton, an Easter message and helpful suggestions for the local secretaries.

The president, Miss J. Schaffer, presided, introduced the meeting with an enlightenng talk on the subject of Easter.

Business included the laying of plans for the May meeting. Mrs. Hunter's invitation to her home was accepted. Mrs. Bothwell, one of the oldest mothers of the society will help with the devotional exercises for a Mother's Day service.

A program committee was appointed for the meat pie supper to be held on the evening of April 24.

A letter from Mrs. Dunford expressing appeciation of flowers received was read by the Stranger's Secretary.

The Program

Miss Johnston introduced her program on the subject of Ontario Missions by an interesting account of the work in all its branches from early times until the present day. Further detailed accounts of each branch were given by Mrs. Wm. Whitfield on Stranger's Secretary work; Mrs. A. Hunter, School Home; Mrs. H. Bothwell, Oriental Missions; Miss E. Johnston, Community Missions illustrated by a paper on Sault Ste Marie read by Mrs. Douglas and Mission Hospitals by Mrs. G. WhWitfield.

Just before the close of the meeting Mrs. Wm. Whitfield read from the Missionary Monthly an appeal for prayer from a mother whose husband is a drunkard. A season of prayer, silent and verbal, followed led by Mrs. Whitfield and closed by the Rev. Mr. Seymour.

Lunch was served and a vote of thanks extended to the hostess and lunch committee.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Seabrook, Mrs. Pue and Miss Moncrief from Fraserville also Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. A. E. Sanderson, Mrs. H. Baptie and Mrs. Armstrong of Peterborough.

Woodbine Notes

That the racing season is "just around the corner" was indicated by the large crowd that visited Woodbine Park yesterday morning to see the thoroughbreds go through their paces. Hardly had the gates to ground been opened when the "railbirds" started to put in an appearance.

The best workout of the morning was given by S. B. Crawford's King's Plate candidate, Goggles. The Crawford color-bearer worked a half in :53 3-5, and galloped out the five-eighth in 1.09, finishing full of run and fighting for his head. Owner Crowford was on hand to watch the performance and was well satisfied with the effort of the son of Gaiffman-Belle Mahone. The Crawford horse looks like a sure starter in the guineas.

A horse that will bear watching during the Canadian-bred events at Woodbine Park is G. W. Brown's good Canuck-bred, Battle Plane. After having the 'irons' applied, he is now going sound again, and, according to Frank Higgins, who looks after the Brown racers, Battle Plane will be a tough horse to beat in the six furlong events.

The string of George May, which races under the nome de plume of the Mayfair Stable, is due at Woodbine to-day. The shipment will include Gaffing, Spartan Lady, Seemego, Miss Worthmore, Deoweep and Bald Crest.

The stable of Charlie Mitchell and "Butch" Keeling is also scheduled to arrive Monday. The shipment comprises nine thoroughbreds.

YEAR'S SURPLUS IS ESTIMATED

had set a new record with exports increasing £30,000,000—about $145,000,000.

"The cost of living," said the Chancellor, 'remained throughout the year substantially below the level it was at when this government came into power (1931).

"There is no diminution in the thrift of the people." Outside the house, women carried sandwich boards on which were suggested a variety of ways to dispose of last year's treasury surplus. The Chancellor, arriving in an automobile guarded by police, saw signs reading: "Shell out cuts", "Restore cuts" and "Work at T.U. (trade union) rates not slave camp."

Better Living

Pointing to improved living standards, the Chancellor said the country used 80,000 more tons of sugar last year than formerly, smoked 6,500,000 more pounds of tobacco, spent £2,750,000 more on entertainment, and "washed their troubles away in 270,000,000 more pints of beer."

"Last year" said Mr. Chamberlain, "I said the exchange equalization account showed a profit. I may repeat that this year, with emphasis."

He estimated the expenditure for the fiscal year of 1935-36 would be £729,970,000—about $3,547,000,000.

His corresponding estimate of receipts indicated he was budgetting for a surplus of £5,610,000, or about $26,260,000 at par.

He derived this surplus figure from estimated receipts in the new 12 months of $735,560,000.

Extra Defence Outlay.

Of the coming 12 months, Mr. Chamberlain pointed out provision must be made for an additional £10,500,000 for defence services as already outlined in the army, navy and air estimates.

He estimated the income tax would bring in £237,000,000 during the coming year, an increase of £14,000,000 over last year's figures.

The Chancellor announced a resolution would be introduced to "correct the anomaly in the sugar industry," and a duty would be levied on rice in the husk and a new duty of unspecified amount would be levied against beans.

He said the duty on heavy oil for vehicles would be raised to eightpence a gallon next August, bringing £800,000 of additional revenue.

He announced the removal of the tax on theatre seats costing sixpence or less.

Th tax on seats costing more than sixpence, for stage entertainments, will be reduced as from July 1.

Mr. Chamberlain told the House £11,500,000 of the present budget was for debt service. The income tax, he said, has produced £9,377,000 more than had been expected, and the national debt was reduced by £21,750,000. Interest payments had been cut £1,650,000, he said, and this saving would go into the exchange equalization fund.

The chief of the exchequer asked powers to borrow in order to establish an amortization fund.

William Thurner arrived Saturday with five which included Evening Judge, Purple Gold, Miss Roselawn and Southern Sea. The clever apprentice rider, Tommy Barker, is connected with the Thurner stable, and will do most of the riding. They are in charge of the owner.

BAILIEBORO Y.P.S. PRESENTS PLAY

Three Act Farce, "Dotty and Daffy" Draws Capacity Crowd.

PARTS WELL TAKEN.

BAILIEBORO, April 15 (Examiner Correspondence).—A capacity crowd filled Fletcher's Hall on Wednesday evening when the Young People's Society of the United Church staged their play, "Dotty and Daffy."

The play, a three-act farce by Jay Tobias, was exceptionally thrilling and humorous, while those taking the various roles acted their respective parts in a most natural way.

The play was directed by Mrs. William Lang, who ably instructed the cast and introduced the play to the audience.

The principals of the performance included Mrs. Phyllis Travers, an impetuous widow," Mrs. Fred White; "who having lost her entire fortune left her two beautiful daughters, Dotty and Daffy," Misses Bessie and Audrey Barnard, to keep the home fires burning while she left for Palm Beach to attempt to land a wealthy husband." The young ladies have a terrible task keeping the three faithful servants, Hildo Johnston (the Swedish maid), Miss Winnifred Gainer; Molly O'Mulligan (the Irish cook), Miss Dorothy Dawson; and Alfred Hopkins (the English butler), Carl Lang, on duty during their mother's absence, as well as keep their college boy friends, Jimmie and Freddie Rand, Fred Barnard and Harland Seens, in place until Mrs. Travers returns. Finally she returns and brings with her a prospective husband, Paxton Belmont (Aylmer Dawson); a rich (?) widower. His son Jack Belmont (Stanley Johnston) accompanied his father and falls in love with Mrs. Traver's daughter. Aunt Hester Harley, who hates men (Miss Farn Rahmel) arrives in time to find the plot thickening, and during her visit the wealthy aunt has her eye glasses stolen. Finally after all efforts to grab a wealthy husband have failed, a former friend of Mrs. Travers returns from South America.; Hugh Rand (Herbert Dean), disguised as a millionaire and saves the family from going to the poor house by offering to marry his boyhood sweetheart.

The time of the play is the spring of the year in a city in Eastern United States. The entertainment last 2½ hours.

ARMY LEADER HAS PLEASING PERSONALITY

'BUILDING COMMISSIONER.'

Commissioner W. A. McIntyre, Territorial Commander of The Salvation Army for the Central States, who is in the city in connection with the Jubilee celebrations of the local corps is a man who, once you meet, you will never forget. His strong and pleasing personality immediately wins its way into one's very heart and makes him your friend. He is big of physique and his heart and brain are in equal proportions so that it can be said of him that he is a man of balance.

It is possible that his sturdy physique is due to his early years spent on a farm near Ingersoll, Ontario, where he became intimately acquainted with Mother Earth, out in the fresh air and sunshine and while he toiled he acquired his academic education, both of which have been so keenly developed that even to-day he is able to endure long hours of exacting service which know not physical fatigue and his brain remains alert to wrestle with any problem which may confront him.

Commissioner McIntyre was appointed Territorial Commander of the Central States, July 1, 1930 and from the day he assumed active command he began to lay plans for an extensive progressive program in this territory.

First Contact With Army.

At the age of 15 years farm life had lost much of its fascination for William McIntyre. He had attended the public school but he thirsted for more knowledge and turned his face toward the metropolitan area. About this time he made his first contact with the Salvation Army.

In the summer of 1882, when 16½ years of age, he gave his heart to the Master and soon after became a soldier in the Army, and dedicated his life to the Salvation Army cause. At 18 he was preaching to huge crowds every Sunday and as greater responsibilities were thus thrust upon him, his mind and body naturally matured before his years. When but 20 years of age he was made a Divisional Commander and his continued success and reputation followed in quick achievements.

A High Reputation

After promotion to the rank of Staff-Captain, he received his first appointment in the United States as Divisional Commander of the Southern California and Arizona Division, where he gained a reputation in America second only to that of Evangeline Booth, Commander of the American forces. His burning appeals and stirring Bible addresses earned for him the appelation: "The Fiery Apostle of the Pacific Coast."

Next came an appointment as General Secretary of Pacific Coast Divisions where he gained invaluable experience in methods of demonstration and was later transferred to the General Secretaryship of the New England States. It was during his executive leadership in these two positions that William McIntyre laid extensive plans for gaining public confidence; plans which have since been crowned with overwhelming success. He believes that every Corps, in order to render the service which most communities need, should possess an adequate plan in a suitable location with reasonable means of support. Thoughts along this line became his convictions until to-day he is known from coast to coast as the "building Commissioner."

Mrs. McIntyre

Commissioner McIntyre has been most constantly supported throughout his career by Mrs. McIntyre who was converted in her own home in Simcoe County, Ontario. She was one of the early primary settlers of the Maritime Provinces. She has been not only a real helpmate to her husband, but a wonderful mother to her children.

Mrs. McIntyre enters with just as much energy as does the Commissioner into all phases of the Army work. Her counsel has been invaluable to him in his advancement and he depends in a very real way on her sound thought and judgment.

The world to-day needs leaders not only with ability but leaders who have developed through personal experience with the trials and tribulations of humankind, a sense of personal interest toward those who would or must, of necessity, seek the counsel and advice of others. Commissioner McIntyre is just such a leader and in his extensive program of permanent improvements which he has in mind for the Central States Territory for the next five years, he is not only taking into consideration the immediate needs of this territory, but is thinking toward the future in order that the Salvation Army may be prepared to meet the conditions which the world will undoubtedly face as a result of financial and business depressions such as has been experienced internationally for the past few years.

Boundless Enthusiasm

The Commissioner is a man of boundless enthusiasm, possessing a rare type of optimism that looks full into the face of pessimistic things and shames them by the radiance of his own spirit, born of his close association and understanding of Bible teachings. If analyzed, the successes he has experienced in really big undertakings, could be undoubtedly summed up in one word, "principle." Through his eloquence and powerful personality, the principle and ideals upon which he works, tower above all of his utterances and he becomes distinctly recognized as a man among men, full of interest and sympathy for the unfortunate, but one who uses sound and tactful judgment while administering to human ills.

Women Appointed To Prison Posts

LONDON, Eng., April 15. (CP).—The appointments of women to two important prison posts is announced. Miss L. C. Barker, governor of Aylesbury Borstal Institute, is to be one of the two additional Assistant Commissioners of Prisons, and she will be succeeded at Aylesbury by Miss M. Mellanby, Senior Housemistress at Roedean, well known girls' school.

Miss Barker, who is 60 years of age, is a prison governor with progressive ideas and the courage to express them. She plays patience and golf, does needlework and gardening. Of the modern girl she said to a reporter: "There is not much humbug about her. When I first came to Aylesbury 12 years ago the girls were real hoodlums. The present day girl is much cleverer and knows when she does anything wrong."

The King in Ireland and with the Prince of Wales

SIDE from the great war, one of the King's greatest worries was Ireland. Time and time again he sought to pacify that troubled people; he compromised, advised his ministers and did everything in his power, through personal appearance and through diplomacy to smooth the difficulties in the way of amicable relations between Ireland and the mother country.

Often the situation became so perilous that he actually risked his life by appearing in Irish cities. But he scorned this personal danger—in fact, the more assurance he had that any danger existed, the more was he determined to deliberately flaunt it.

Our picture at left shows him, in the uniform of Admiral of the Fleet, as he acknowledged the cheers of the people of Belfast on the occasion of the opening of the Ulster parliament in 1921. It is significant that after every appearance the King made in Ireland, dissension lessened for a time.

The Prince of Wales always showed the greatest respect for his father. In practically every speech he made on his long tours throughout the Empire, it was always the King, not the Prince, who spoke; the Prince made himself, in effect, merely a mouthpiece, though it is known beyond dispute that the Prince of Wales writes most of his own speeches.

Four members of the Rover Crew recently made a long bicycle journey to Sandy Lake, about six miles from Buckhorn and about 23 miles from Peterborough. The party left the city about 9.30 a.m. and arrived there about 12.30 p.m. Dinner was cooked and an explortaion of the district, and a canoe ride made. A game of baseball and a tea before leaving were enjoyed by all. The party left Sandy Lake about 4.30 p.m., arriving here about 7.30 p.m. Besides a broken bicycle chain, a couple of flat-tires and a few stiff legs, the 45-mile round trip was enjoyed and will be long remembered by all, all, even if it was tiresome and weary.

POST IS FOILED FOR THIRD TIME

Stripped Supercharger Clutch Forces Flier From Stratosphere.

TRYING RECORD DASH.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 15. — (AP)—Wiley Post, his third attempt to span the continent in record time by way of the stratosphere balked when his supercharger 'quit,' today waited for refitting of his famous monoplane, uncertain of his future plans.

"I thought the third time would be a charm," the chunky Oklahoman grunted yesterday as he climbed out of the oxygen suit which permits him to fly in rarefied atmosphere.

The globe-girdling Winnie Mae, its landing gear dropped to permit greater speed, skidded to a stop on the Purdue University Airport field here at 3:40 p.m., eight hours 12½ minutes after Post lifted it into the air at Burbank, Calif.

By telephone Post informed a New York representative of Frank Phillips, Oklahoma oil man backing the flight, "the Oxygen made me feel goofy. It isn't a good idea to breathe oxygen with a cold."

Post said he "Had a tailwind from Burbank to the Grand Canyon," didn't see the ground from Denver until he landed here, and "was up over 36,000 feet at one time."

When the supercharger stripped a clutch, he added, "I flew blind for an hour and then dropped 23,000 feet through clouds to about 7,000 feet and cut the motor."

Trying to prove the feasibility of high-speed air mail and express flights across the continent above local weather disturbance, Post had hoped to complete the transcontinental trip in seven or eight hours.

Pleading guilty to a charge of drunkenness on George street, a transient who described himself as Henry Wilshaw of Sherbrooke, Quebec, was to-day gvien the option of a $10 fine and $4.50 costs, or ten days in the county gaol. In justification of the offense the defendant urged that he was on his way north in search of employment, when he met a friend who invited him to have a couple of beers.

James McGuire appeared on remand to answer to a charge of theft of a ring, and Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. ordered adjournment of the case for eight days. In reading over the charge to the accused, the cadi observed "you have already pleaded guilty."

"I usually plead guilty when I am in the wrong; but I pleaded not guilty to this charge," the accused corrected.

Olympic Is Billed For Ship Graveyard

SOUTHAMPTON, April 15 (A.P.) —The graceful Olympic, greyhound of the Atlantic and sister ship of the ill-fated Titanic, was reported yesterday to be due to follow the Mauretania to the scrap heap.

The Cunard-White Star Lines did not deny a report that the veteran liner, one of the most famous on the high seas, will go to the ship-breakers for conversion into scrap metal.

Tentative plans call for keeping the Olympic here in drydock for three months before a final trip to her last resting place. Scheduled cruises in United States waters were cancelled recently.

MAY BE DEARTH OF CANDIDATES FOR HIGH POST

Possibility of Vacant Government Houses if Provinces Cut Off Money for Upkeep.

MUST AMEND B.N.A. ACT

OTTAWA, April 15.—(CP).—Although the legislatures of at least three provinces have been agitated in regard to financial provision for their respective lieutenant-governors it is believed the matter will not be a subject of Dominion Cabinet or parliamentary action until the British North America Act has been amended.

It is stated here, until there is agreement between the provinces and the Dominion on the question of altering the constitution, the Ottawa Government has no alternative but to appoint lieutenant-governors as vacancies occur. When a province cuts off the upkeep of "government house," however, it may be impossible to find anyone to take the position. In that event the chief justice of the province would carry on as administrator.

Ontario's opening skirmish in the campaign against Government House was in March, 1932, when H. C. Nixon, leader of the Progressive group, now Provincial Secretary in the Hepburn Liberal Government, offered a resolution in the Legislature requesting the Dominion Government, for reasons of economy, not to appoint a lieutenant-governor for a year. The post was then vacant following the resignation of Hon. W. D. Ross. Mr. Nixon's resolution was decisively defeated by the Legislature, then of the Conservative regime of Hon. George S. Henry. Col. H. A. Bruce was appointed Lieutenant-Governor in October of that year.

Abolition of Government House was requently advocated by Liberal candidates on the hustings during the Ontario election campaign of 1934. With the party placed in power in Queen's Park, Premier M. F. Hepburn told the Legislature March 15 last the Government would contribute nothing to the support of Chorley Park, seat of the Lieutenant-Governor, after Oct. 31, 1935.

The Manitoba Legislature on March 21 last voted down a motion by R. F. Lawrence, Labor member for St. Boniface, to abolish the position of lieutenant-governor. "If the position has to be maintained, let the Dominion Government pay all the costs or let the occupant pay his own expenses," said Mr. Lawrence in support of his motion. Another Labor member, Marcus Hyman, opposed the motion, pointing out it was not advanced by the Labor party as such.

Just a year ago the Alberta Legislature by a vote of 29 to 20 requested the Dominion Government to make no further appointment of Lieutenant-Governor for that province after the expiration, in May, 1936, of the term of Hon. W. L. Walsh. Premier R. G. Reid was asked later what had happened to the resolution. He said it had been forwarded to Ottawa. "We got an acknowledgment," he added, when asked as to the Dominion Government's reply.

In every province where the legislature discussed the matter it was emphasized the move was no reflection on the present incumbent of government house. Any action taken or suggested was declared to be merely in the interests of economy.

Meanwhile a committee of the House of Commons is inquiring into the advisability of amending the B.N.A. Act. It was the intention to discuss the lieutenant-governor question with the provinces last fall at a conference called by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett. It proved impossible to get the provincial premiers together, and the subject was abandoned for the time being.

IRISH EVANGELIST CREATES INTEREST

"Convicted But Not Converted" Subject of Rev. T. H. Ritchie's Address.

Conviction of sin is not something that can be worked up, or brought about through any human effort. It is the work of the Holy Spirit to convict men of their sin, and show them their need of a Saviour," declared Evangelist T. H. Ritchie, to a large congregation in Bethany Tabernacle last night. Speaking from the text, "And the Lord said, My Spirit shall not always strive with man." (Gen. 6:3). One thing we may be sure of and that is the Holy Spirit is always faithful in doing His work in the hearts of men. When God speaks by His Spirit He speaks to the ears of the Soul. Man can only speak to the outer ear, but God speaks to the inner ear. I am convinced of this, said the Evangelist, that there are scores of people who have been convicted and dealt with by the Holy Spirit, but like Pharoah they have said, "Who is God, that I should obey Him." God dealt with Pharoah a number of times and we are told, he hardened his heart until there came a time when God refused to deal with him any longer. Be careful my dear friends, God's Holy Spirit is striving with you tonight, and if you refuse to yield to Him, He may leave you to yield to your darkness to dwell. Felix, when spoken to concerning his soul's eternal welfare, said, "Go Thy way for this time, when I have a convenient season, I will call for Thee." He did not say, when I have a MORE convenient season, I will call for thee, simply because there could never be a more convenient season for Felix to believe on the Lord Jesus Christ. "Behold NOW is the accepted time, and NOW is the day of Salvation." When Christ was on the earth, He said to the Pharisees, "Ye would not come"; later on He said "Ye will not come," and then we find Him saying to the same people as He comes to the close of His earthly ministry, "Ye cannot come, ye shall die in your sins." The trouble is that people think they can be saved just when they like, but that is not so, it is when God's Spirit strives. Many think they can live in sin and die in Grace, but this is contrary to the word of God. "For the Wages of Sin is Death, but the gift of God is eternal life, through Jesus Christ our Lord." After the evangelist had finished his address, Mrs. Ritchie brought a very solemn message in song, entitled, "Can It Be That May Soul Is Dying?"

Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie have recently returned from a very successful evangelistic tour in the Old Country. During their campaign in Belfast, Ireland, a large congregation of people, from three to five thousand, assembled night after night for four weeks in a large building, which was temporarily equipped for the great campaign. Scores of souls were brought to Christ and thousands blessed through the stirring messages of the young Irish evangelist.

DOES NOT THINK THE WORLD IS GOING TO DOGS

Commissioner McIntyre Tells Rotary Club That Conditions Are Much Better Than Half Century Ago.

GIVES MANY REASONS.

Old Time Dark Spots Eliminated By Health Boards—More Spending Power and Education.

Speaking from his experience of over fifty years in Salvation Army work, Commissioner William A. McIntyre of Chicago told the Rotary Club to-day in addressing the members at the weekly luncheon that the world is not "going to the bowwows." In his opinion conditions were decidedly better than they were four or five decades ago, and that opinion was based on the present status of the poorer classes in the world as compared with that of former days.

Accompanying Commissioner McIntyre as guests of the club to-day were the prominent Salvation Army leaders who are here attending the Golden Jubilee of the Peterborough Corps, as well as Neil Warrander and R. C. Braund of the local organization.

Introduced by President J. Fred Reed, Commissioner McIntyre said that nowhere in the English-speaking world, whether in the Bowery in New York, South Clark street in Chicago, the Barbary Coast in San Francisco, Canal street in Buffalo, or the Whitechapel district in London could the conditions of thirty-five to fifty years ago be found to-day. These dark spots had all been cleaned up, the speaker declared.

On the of the factors in improving conditions in such places were the health authorities. They had eliminated the sweat shops and the living of whole families in one room and had wrought a wonderful change.

Another agency was the "almighty dollar," in other words the vastly increased per capita earning power which had given poorer families a chance to improve their home with better furniture, rugs on the floors, better cooking utensils, radios, and other comforts that made home an attractive place.

Still another was education. In one generation the number of American boys and girls attending universities had increased from 80,000 to 1,000,000, and the bulk of these did not come from wealthy homes, but from working families.

Reviewing present-day conditions, Commissioner McIntyre stressed the economic waste represented by the large numbers of Americans in penal institutions, or who were drunkards and the half million women who lived sinful lives. For these conditions he submitted that hereditary and environment were to a large extent responsible. The solution of the problem, the speaker declared, was religion, and only through that agency could the conditions be removed. There was no ecstacy he informed his hearers that approached that created by the saving of a boy or girl, a man or woman.

President Reed extended the thanks of the club to Commissioner McIntyre for his most eloquent address.

BAD WEATHER CHECKS DERBY RACE ENTRIES

Rain, Mud and Dust Prevent Candidates From Working Out.

HOTELS ARE SWAMPED

JUST A few more days like the past week and several startled owners of Kentucky Derby entries, if we are to believe the frantic trainers, will receive statements something like this:

1 pr. oars (for jockey) $2.90
Set waterwings (for horse) 3.60
(Please remit.)

A week of nearly bottomless mud made a farce of any tries for real speed and today, three weeks before the sixty-first running of the event at Churchill Downs, no one had any very good idea of what the 110 colts named for the race could do.

The only figure being indicated with the point-with-pride finger were the figures on hotel reservations and seat sales. Rooms are filled up 70 per cent past normal, partly due to the week's derby festival that will precede the running. As for the Downs seats, Col. Matt Winn, in charge of preparations today looked over the reservations and approved an order for a second addition of seats. As an example of the effects of the weather, Chance Sun, the favorite, one day took 1:54 for a mile and the next day Carroll Day, a colt so far down the list few people can see him, cut the Sun's time to 1:53 4-5.

DUST overhead added to the misery of mud underfoot. Several unknowns are reported suffering from pneumonia and trainers fear derby horses may feel the effects of the silt. Chance Sun was being treated for a minor cut he gave his leg in a short workout yesterday. Weston's 1.48 3-5 for the mile in deep mud was one of the best workouts reported.

Oilers Tie Consols In Speedy Struggle

TORONTO, April 15.—In a classic battle of sparkling hockey, that had more than 8,000 fans in a continual uproar, Cities Service Oilers and British Consols battled ten minutes' overtime to a 1-all tie in the opening of the T. and Y. Mercantile League finals at Maple Leaf Gardens on Saturday night. Second of the best-three-in-five set will be played this evening.

Sustained speed, clever stickhandling and passing, stellar defense work and spectacular goalkeeping, all combined to make this game one of the best that the amateur hockey season has provided. The fans can feel assured of some scintillating hockey throughout the remainder of the series.

Legs Paralyzed By Fall May Never Ride Again

LONDON, April 15.—(AP).—Willie Speck, game little jockey who rode Thormond 2nd to third place in the Grand National March 29, is in a hospital with his legs paralyzed as the result of a fall at Cheltenham last week.

Speck may never leave his bed, and it is almost certain that he will never take another mount. The serious extent of his injury was not revealed until yesterday, when it was learned his spinal cord is badly damaged. He is in a plaster cast.

THIRTEEN CLUBS MAY COMBINE IN HOCKEY CIRCUIT

Moguls Confer on Possible Merger of Canadian-American and International Loops.

PROJECT FAVORED.

(By George Maguire, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

NEW YORK, April 15.— Foundation for a new hockey league to arise in place of the International and the Canadian-American circuits was constructed here yesterday at a conference between officials and governors of the two minor loops of Eastern and the United States.

While no definite decision was arrived at during the lengthy and exploratory talks, the delegates left the meeting, with the majority sentiment indicating the project was favored.

Before any final conclusion is reached the officials and governors of each league will meet in separate conclave shortly, with each circuit appointing two or three representatives to meet in Montreal around May 16, either to conclude the merger or abandon it.

Alternative Plan.

The minority opposing welding of the two leagues, suggested the alternative of playing an intersectional schdule as a "feeler" for one season. If this met with favor they proposed to go through with the combine the following year.

Every club in the two circuits was represented excepting London and Buffalo. Attitude of the Western Ontario city toward the matter had been conveyed to President Charles King of the International, however.

Buffalo is expected to be back in the King Circuit next season, even though owner Frank J. Baird, Jr., refrained from sending a delegate. Baird became involved in a dispute with the league head when his team was nosed out of a play-off position in the final scheduled game of last season. He threatened at that time to withdraw from professional hockey entirely.

Pittsburg is considered an assured entry into the International next season, with Springfield adding to the growth of the Canadian-American under the guidance of the New York Ranger management.

With these two club added the new league, if formed, would have thirteen members, the largest pro circuit in the world.

The only drawback to the merger apparently lies in the matter of team travelling expenses. Both President Dooley of the Canadian-American and King indicated this was a matter that would need the most careful consideration before further steps were taken. It was pointed out the hop from Boston to Detroit, or from Quebec to Pittsburg was an exceptionally long one for a minor team to undertake, considering the average rinks' available hold no more than 5,000 or 6,000.

Patrick Favors Merger.

Lester Patrick, Ranger head, and the old maestro of hockey consolidations, was called upon by the minor officials to outline the difficulties and benefits, if any, confronting the two loops. Patrick spoke favorably and expressed the belief the chief obstacle was arranging a schedule whereby the expensive road trips could be reduced to a minimum by a team playing its way West and then back East, instead of hopping from one end of the circuit to the other.

The Canadian-American representatives favored the proposal, and several were outspoken in their pleas for new faces and new heroes to stimulate the interest of the public. London and Syracuse are believed the only two International League cities indifferent to the scheme.

"Now It Was Like This Judge...!"

This composite picture shows the well-known "Dizzy" Dean of St. Louis Cards doing a bit of explaining to Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis who wanted some light on a story that Dean had been given a sizable cash bonus by a St. Louis business man to sign his contract this year. Landis listened carefully and then warned Dean that he must not accept payments of this nature. Meanwhile, W. O. De Witt, Cards' business manager, was reported surprised at the bonus story since the club is supposed to get a 10 per cent cut on Dean's outside contracts—but apparently hasn't received a slice in this instance.

THREE-CORNERED FINISH DRIVE PREDICTED IN AMERICAN LOOP

Giants With Strong Pitching Staff Have Good Chance to Cop Title.

MANAGERS' OPINIONS.

NEW YORK, April 15 (CP)—Not even the extraordinary fanfare of major league baseball's opening salute tomorrow can obscure the fact that exactly 16 men will carry the main burden of proof into the 1935 championship campaigns. They are the managers who will take charge as soon as the parades are over.

What do they think? Will Mickey Cochrane's Tigers or Frankie Frisch's Cardinals repeat? Has the outlook changed since the echoes of a world series died away?

The combined testimony, received from 15 out of 16 major league "master minds" is at hand.

In substance, the answers are::

1.—That it will be a "wide open" race in the American League most of the way, with the odds favoring a three-cornered finishing drive among the Tigers, New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians;

2.—That New York Giants, strengthened in vital spots and possessing the best four-man pitching staff in the National League, have an excellent chance to turn the tables on the Cardinals.

3.—That the numerous changes in the playing ranks, featuring Babe Ruth's switch to Boston Braves, will add greatly to the general interest as well as uncertainty of the pennant races.

Last season Manager Bill Terry of the Giants lived to regret the day he jestingly asked, "Is Brooklyn still in the National League?" The club across the river administered the crowning blow to Terry's bid for a second straight pennant. Now Casey Stengel, pilot of the Dodgers, turns the other cheek by picking the Giants to regain the championship this year.

Giants Club to Beat

Stengel's prediction is shared by Charley Dressen, aggressive young manager of the up-and-coming Cincinnati Reds. Even Terry admits the 1935 Giants are the best he has managed, and his outstanding rival, Frisch, concedes New York is the club to beat. Most leaders think it will be a miracle if the Dean brothers come close to repeating their feat of winning 49 games.

Cochrane alone among the American League chieftains declined to comment directly on the coming race. He did not conceal his confidence in training camp, however. He thinks his Tigers can repeat and considers the Yankees a stronger threat than the Cleveland Indians, picked by a majority of baseball writers to finish on top.

Buckey Harris of the Senators, Jimmie Dykes of the White Sox, and Joe McCarthy of the Yankees agree it will likely be a three-cornered contest, in the long run, with New York battling Cleveland and Detroit.

A stratosphere conference was held recently at Nice, France.

JUNIOR HOCKEY TITLE RETURNS WESTERN CITY

WINNIPEG WINS 4-1.

BY HERBERT A. HONEY
Canadian Press Staff writer

WINNIPEG, April 15. — (CP) — Junior amateur hockey's hall of fame opened its doors today to new heroes and the custodian of the record book blotted out an old score as Winnipeg Monarchs stood enthroned Dominion champions.

..The. western. titlists. won. the Memorial Cup by defeating Sudbury Cub Wolves 4-1 in the third and deciding game of the annual classic intersectional series here Saturday night. Monarchs won the first game 7-6 but the. Eastern. Champions came back to deadlock the series by winning the second engagement 7-2.

During the past 14 years the west has claimed junior hockey's richest reward eight times. On four occasions Winnipeg teams have been successful but Saturday's victory marked the first time the trophy has been won on home ice.

To Coach Harry Neil the Monarchs' victory was doubly sweet. Before a crowd that packed the amphitheatre rink to capacity he watched his charges avenge a three-year-old Memorial Cup defeat at the hands of the Sudbury Wolves. In 1932, Neils Monarchs were escorted from the title series after winning the first game.

Leads Winnipeg Scorers

Burr Keenan, dark-haired right winger who plays rugby for Deer Lodge as a conditioner for the winter sport, sent the Winnipeggers into the lead in the first period and harrassed Davie Kemp in the Sudbury nets through the game with rushes that netted two other goals and a third one possible.

Monarchs second tally from Keenan's stick came as the result of a solo rush mid-way through the middle period. The easterners were outskated on an ice surface made "mushy" by mild weather. Pools of water which formed in centre ice added to the hazards.

Wolves warmed to the task of overcoming a two-goal lead as the third period opened. Four and five abreast they rushed in on the Monarch citadel and Paul Gauthier, midget net-man, gave a thrilling demonstration of puck-stopping as he kicked, sprawled and batted the rubber from all directions.

The western titlists took advantage of Wolves' massed attack to add to their goal margin. Johnny Prokaski counted Monarchs third goal when he snared a loose puck behind the Sudbury attack and slipped away to bat it past Kemp. Keenan netted the fourth on a pass from Prokaski midway in the period. Art Stuart scored Sudbury's lone tally a minute later.

Oshawa Cricket Club Has Annual Banquet

OSHAWA, April 15.— Members and friends of the Oshawa Cricket Club assembled here Saturday evening at a banquet held in the Genosha Hotel. Among the distinguished guests were the Honorary President of the club, W. H. Moore, K.C., M.P.; Mayor W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., M.P.P., and Colonel Phillips, they being accompanied at the head table by their wives.

President A. J. Graves of the Oshawa C.C., performed the role of chairman with consummate skill. Very interesting addresses were listened to from the gentlemen already named, together with Alderman Alex. Hall, M. Hart and McIntyre M. Hood, formerly associated with the Southwestern Ontario Cricket League.

Mr. Hood proposed the toast to cricket, and intimated that there was every likelihood of the junior branch of the Canadian Legion forming a team during the 1935 season. In responding to the toast the Federal member, Mr. Moore, referred to the fact that the recent crisis which brought nations to the verge of war was surmounted by British overtures. The same spirit that was displayed on the cricket field prompted responsible statesmen to approach Germany, France and other countries with an appeal to 'play fair.' He concluded with the hope that the Oshawa C.C. would make further progress, and in addition to winning the Eastmure Trophy he hoped it would make a much stronger bid for the R. C. Matthews county cricket championship.

Members of the team received mementoes presented to Mr. Moore.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX J. MORRISON

Number 587

Many doctors prescribe golf as a means of getting relaxation. I wonder if they realize how few playing the game really enjoy the much-sought relaxation.

Of course every player finds diversion on the course. The game fascinates all who try it even once, but as for making them relax, that is another point entirely.

Most players relax only when they've had a shower and a highball or two. How do I know? Well, to play good golf you must be relaxed. Few play good golf, so it becomes obvious that few are relaxed on the course.

The majority expect golf to relax them. They don't know that they must relax themselves to play the game. And the only way they can relax themselves is by learning the corect swing. A swing in which comparatively few muscles are used, the others being allowed to rest.

MAJOR HOCKEY COACHES PICK ON WOLVERINES

Les. Patrick, Adams and Smythe Favor Halifax to Win the Allan Cup.

HALIFAX, April 15 (CP)—Lester Patrick of the New York Rangers and Jack Adams of the Detroit Red Wings both picked Halifax Wolverines to win the Allan Cup and Connie Smythe, manager of the Toronto Maple Leafs, expressed the same opinion, while passing through Halifax to-day bound for Europe.

The Leafs' mentor refused to single out any player as a prospective member of his team, but he said Jack Adams was always on the lookout for good prospects.

"He is especially enthusiastic about Ron Hudson and Owen Lennon," Smythe said. "From what I hear, I believe Lennon is fit now to catch on with any team in the National League. I know he is no youngster, but the majority of the best performers in the National League are at the peak of their power around 30."

Turning to the Stanley Cup play-off series with the Maroons, he said, "When we start the long campaign we have three definite goals. First—the section championship; second — the league championship; and third—the Stanley Cup. We have yet to take all three in a row.

"That series with Bruins was terrific. Immediately afterwards we took on Maroons. Carelessness lost us that first battle. In the other two we were fairly licked.

"Next season will probably be Charlie Conacher's last as a forward. Charlie tips the scales at 208 pounds, stripped. We're grooming Conacher to win his third consecutive scoring championship. After that I expect to see him take his place on defence."

Presence of Bambino Has Pulled Braves Out of Red, First Time in Years.

WANERS AT OLD STAND.

League's Experiment With Night Baseball Should Contribute to Prosperous Season.

(By HERBERT W. BARKER)

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP).—The National League launches its 60th season to-morrow, aiming to keep the turnstiles clicking this summer with as colorful baseball talent as ever roamed its parks.

Carl Hubbell

The magnates are not counting alone on Babe Ruth, who shifted his base on home run operations to the National League after 21 years in the rival loop, to pull the Boston Braves out of the red and produce a salutary effect on the receipts all along the route.

Two well-established brother acts, the incredible Deans of St. Louis and the Waners of Pittsburgh, will be at the same old stands and so will slender Carl Hubbell, No. 1 man of the New York Giants' pitching "big four," and such other fixtures as Van Mungo of the Dodgers, Curt Davis of the Phillies, Mel Ott of the Giants and Wally Berger of the Braves.

The League's revolutionary experiment with night baseball scheduled for later in the summer, also should contribute to possibly the most prosperous season in years whatever its competitive effects.

Baseball observers foresee a two-club race for the pennant between Frank Frisch's world champion St. Louis Cardinals and New York Giants.

Although the Cardinals were picked to win in the Associated Press' annual concensus, here has been a definite shift to the Giants the past week or so.

It reflects doubt whether the Foxx be more valuable behind the plate than at first. Also will Connie Mack's young pitchers, continue their rapid improvement? Connie Mack thinks they will.

ST. LOUIS — Not much change here, except for a little more punch and probably a good starting pitcher in Fay Thomas of Los Angeles.

WASHINGTON—The Senators, so riddled with injuries and sickness last season that they didn't play their first string once, may be tough.

CHICAGO— If spring exhibitions mean anything, Jimmy Dykes has a vastly improved club with a better punch and some young pitchers.

Cardinals will have sufficient pitching strength to repeat even should the Deans again prove able to shoulder such a burden as they did last year.

Bill Terry

Ruth, rapidly nearing the end of his playing days, probably will help the Braves very little from a playing viewpoint, whatever his value at the box office. and Bill McKechie's club appears foredoomed to the second divisions.

The Cincinnati Reds, seeking to terminate a four-year lease on the cellar, are banking on a combination of rookies.

With any kind of a break from the weather, the four inaugurals to-morrow—at Boston, Chicago, Cincinnati and Philadelphia — should draw 125,000 fans.

Reds Win From Argos In Keen Cage Battle

Reds defeated Argos, 24 to 19, to win the "Y" Intermediate Basketball League championship in the Y.M.C.A. Saturday night. It was a fast, close and exciting contest all through between the well-matched finalists. The losers staged a rousing rally in the second half, after trailing 12-5 the first stanza, and outscored Reds by 14 to 12, but could not overcome that early lead.

The checking was close with both Smith and Allen retiring with four personal fouls. Some nice team-play and shooting was shown by both squads. Weese led the victors in scoring with eight points, while Smith had six. For Argos, Davern was the main sniper with nine points and Dougherty got four. The teams:

Reds — Campbell, Clark, Foster, Pammett, Smith, Sullivan and Weese.

Argos—Allen, Davern, Dougherty, Elcombe, Ferguson, Kirn and Grose.

Referee—Jim McClenaghan.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two.

(By C. J. P.)

Three softball meetings are slated for this evening. Executive of the Men's City Softball League meets at seven in Duffus' to clean up all business in connection with the O.A.S.A. convention here Good Friday. A good turnout is expected for the final session. The loop will hold its annual meeting a week or so later. Southend Softball League holds its annual meeting at eight tonight in All Saints' Clubhouse—out by the rink. Teams desiring entry and others interested should be represented. Election of officers and the usual procedure of a yearly session will be followed. And the Church Softball League holds its annual gabfest at seven this eve in the Y.M.C.A. and everyone interested is invited. 'Tis softball e'en here.

• • • • • • •

We took in the annual meeting of the P.W.S.U. in Toronto yesterday. Mrs. J. Mann and Marjorie Creighton were official delegates but we went along with Jim Mann and Russ Kitchen. The local league was affiliated with the Union for this year—and we'll know better by autumn how much it means. It costs four bits a team and the loop players must kick in with a dime apiece for amateur certificates which will be distributed at the next local meeting—which will be at eight Wednesday eve in Duffus'.

• • • • • • •

It was a good meeting and had representatives from Owen Sound, Windsor, Ottawa and a flock of places in between. Several of the Old Boys—A.A.U. of C. guys to you—were on hand but acted like perfect gentlemen and didn't bore the company with raves about their worn-out shamateurism traditions. A dude named King from Toronto tried to steal the show with jack-in-the-box speechifying but what chance has a mere man got at a women's meeting? We've got to hand it to the fair ones, they ran off a business-like performance and cleaned up plenty of outstanding matters in three hours. The P.W.S.U. lasses know their onions—and they don't eat 'em!

• • • • • • •

Miss Nora Seddon, president from Ottawa—with whom we've had considerable correspondence re joining this Union the past year—turned out to be a smart-looking young lady, and plenty efficient. She knows the ropes of this sport, can battle like a wounded tigress when the going gets tough, and seems sincere in her efforts for organized gals' softball. We think she will give the local league a square deal when it comes to P.W.S.U. playdowns. Local delegates asked for a season here running to Sept. 1st before playdowns were ordered, Saturday games as much as possible and first games with nearby towns. These requests will likely be granted.

• • • • • • •

Nothing else of interest happened for this circuit. We can go ahead and run our league to suit ourselves till the playdowns in the fall. Four outfits will be in the Peterborough Loop anyway, and why not six? More about it after the Wednesday gabfest. And, incidentally, the executive here needn't expect any expense dough back from the delegates—not after the way they sock you for grub in the King Eddie. We ordered chicken and it arrived accompanied by four waiters—which we didn't order—one of whom stood back of each chair and ruined our appetite. They looked like Romanelli's orchestra without the leader or instruments. And the bill looked like the French war debt! Why don't they hold these meetings at the Ford Hotel?

• • • • • • •

The Peterborough 'Y' volleyball team were outjumped in the Ontario playoffs in Hamilton Saturday. They knocked off the Mutual Life squad in the first series of the round-robin competition but a champion high jumper named Munro of Western University proved too much for them next series. He could go four feet in the air easily and nail that ball with his fist, driving it back a mile a minute at the feet of an opponent. The Loomis lads were worn out when they hit the final series and U. of T. knocked 'em over to take the title. Our players say they had the best all-around team of any of the four but this jumper was what beat them. Tough luck, gang.

• • • • • • •

Hugh Brown was re-elected prexy of the Oshawa ball club in the C.O.B.L. at a meeting the other day. W. Corbett is vice; Art Gates is the secretary-treasurer; and executive consists of: H. Barker, W. B. Peacock, W. H. Campbell, George Campbell and W. R. Little. The club looks for its most successful season in years with a strong team backed by Dominion Brewers, who will completely outfit the outfit. Executive will appoint the coach. Yeah, we expect the Beverage Dukes to produce quite a few headaches for other Central League squads ere Autumn rolleth around.

• • • • • • •

C.A.H.A. annual meeting in Halifax has passed into history, and still no mention of mercantile hockey. Not that we expected anything worth mentioning in this respect to be brought up this year, but some of our local Hockey Club executive seemed to think it was a live issue and they asked to have the annual meeting here postponed till after the C.A.H.A. session as it might have a bearing on hockey in Peterborough for next winter. Since it wasn't mentioned at all, we can take it that there will be no change in mercantile play in the O.H.A. for another year, and our own club can now go ahead and plan to run as in past years. The meeting will be held in the Chamber of Commerce at 7.30 on April 24th.

Grab-bag: Lindsay Soccer Club meets Wednesday to decide whether or not to enter a team this year in the Peterborough League . . . . The E.O.B.A.A. wants the O.B.A.A. to have a senior winner declared this Fall in time to playoff with their winner, according to the agreement of a year ago . . . . Port Hope's intermediate ball club and its lacrosse club have organized for the season . . . . Tri-County Lacrosse League should meet here this week . . . . A couple of lively cage games were run off at the 'Y' Saturday p.m. . . . . P.W.S.U. will have some 800 players under it this summer—maybe more.

LOCAL GIRLS' LOOP AFFILIATES WITH PROVINCIAL ASSOCIATION

Marjorie Creighton and Mrs. James Mann Delegates at Toronto Convention.

PREDICT BIG SEASON.

The Peterborough Girls' Softball League affiliated with the Provincial Women's Softball Union yesterday at the annual P.W.S.U. convention in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto. Marjorie Creighton and Mrs. James Mann were the local delegates who attended the meeting. Close to half a hundred were present, representing all sections of Ontario.

It was a business-like convention with many affairs of last year cleaned up and the groundwork laid for another big season for girls' softball. The general meeting, held in the afternoon, lasted three hours. Several prominent A.A.U. of C. men were on hand, including John DeGruchy, Michael Kelly and Fred Steel. President Nora Seddon of Ottawa presided.

Following a reading of the minutes and reports of 1934, several amendments—none of major importance—were voted upon. The Union was in favor of the Dunnville motion that amateur cards be optional but that members of affiliated leagues pay a fee of ten cents per player for amateur certificates instead. These certificates are good only for softball, and an additional similar fee is required provided the girl athletes desire to play organized basketball, etc.

Press Dispute.

Mr. King of Toronto Olympic League opened hostilities with a complaint against the president over giving the press information in the case of a Toronto-London playoff dispute last season. Miss Seddon turned over the chair to Mr. DeGruchy and explained to the meeting her reasons for doing so, maintaining that it was in the interests of softball generally and pointed out that the P.W.S.U. aimed to foster softball and any other action at that time, as she saw it, would have harmed the game in London. Something of a dispute followed with Mr. DeGruchy pouring oil on the troubled waters. It wound up with the meeting giving a vote of confidence to the president, and Miss Seddon and Mr. King shaking hands.

It was decided to permit the Northern Division of the Union to add six other city players to the city championship team in the various towns in that section to go into play-downs, the reason being that in these sparsely-populated northern places, a team did not have a fair chance in play-downs without bolstering. It will be tried out for one year.

Majority of Teams.

By far the biggest majority of teams in the Provincial Union are in the intermediate divisions—"A" or "B"—and it was shown that these divisions carried the others financially. Co-operation inasmuch as possible was promised the various leagues in play-down trips and dates by the Union. Several other matters, of no importance to this section of the province, took up some time by the gathering. The executive was given a vote of thanks for its fine work of last year.

The following slate of officers was returned by vote: President, Miss Nora Seddon, Ottawa; vice-presidents, Miss Bertrand, Windsor, and Miss Spalding, Preston; secretary, Miss V. Kingsbury, Ottawa; treasurer, Miss Hilda Thomas; chief advisor, John DeGruchy, Toronto.

The press was thanked for publicity the past year, and Miss Alexandrine Gibb of the Toronto Star congratulated the president for the manner in which the meeting was conducted. Mr. Bates of Harrison received an explanation as to why his team's protest last season was thrown out. The various delegates were given their certificates and blanks to be filled out and mailed to the secretary. Following some informal discussion and the promise of an early executive meeting, the session adjourned.

INDIANS FAVORED TO OUTSTEP TIGERS AND YANKS FOR TITLE

Mack's Young Philadelphia Athletics, Boston's Red Sox and Washington Senators Given Chance in This Year's American League Race.

(By Paul Mickelson.)

CHICAGO, April 15.—(A.P.)—The American League has lost its Barnum but to-morrow it opens a baseball show that promises to surpass them all for excitement and thrills.

Babe Ruth, great showman who for years packed 'em in, has joined the rival National League show, but the actors and maestros he left behind figure they will more than make up for his departure with a production that will hold an inteuse interest from curtain to curtain.

Indians Stand Out.

Cleveland, a team that finished third last year, stands out as the general choice over Detroit and New York, with Boston's Red Sox, Connie Mack's young, hustling Philadelphia Athletics and Washington given a chance.

Here is the set-up with the "ifs" and trimmings, club by club:

DETROIT—The Tigers, pennant winners last year by seven games over the now Ruthless Yankees, look far more formidable to-day than at the start of last season. A fine balanced club, but can Schoolboy Rowe continue his effectiveness and will the Tigers get off to a good start for a change?

NEW YOR—In all fairness to the Babe, most of Yankees feel they have been strengthened considerably by his departure, certainly defensively. The team spirit is higher.

CLEVELAND— The Indians look all over the team to beat, although the catching position, last year's weak spot, may blight their hopes. Pitching is about the same, but Ralph Winegarner loooks like he's ready to take his regular turn on the hill. If he is, watch out for the Injuns.

BOSTON—Can Left come back? That's the big if. Joe Cronin, acquired in the big winter deal with Washington, will give the Red Sox a great leadership and more punch.

PHILADELPHIA — Will Jimmie

Bowling Gossip

[By Herb Martin]

Probably one of the best sporting organizations in the city is that of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club. They function practically all the year around. Now we don't mean they bowl the entire year but in order to have everythinf in good shape for the bowling season the different committees in connection with the club do work all winter and in early spring.

These committees are just part of this great club and positively at this time of the season is the membership committee active. They have only a short time to do their work and we know that they are making the best of it. James Matthews is the chairman for this season and he has already laid plans for a big drive for new members. Among the ideas fathered by this committee is the big open smoker to be held in the club house on McDonnel street on Thursday, April 25th at 8 p.m.

Now this smoker is going to be open to everybody—it matters not if you bowl or not, we want you to come up and be the guests of the Bowling Club on this night. There will be a varied program—card games of all kinds for everybody.

Refreshments will be served and a real get-together evening is anticipated. This committee intends to put this thing over and they are going to do it.

More than 241,000 tons of tin plate were produced in Germany in the last year.

GYPSY GIRL

THE STORY OF AN IMPASSIONED ROMANCE

by McDONALD FEADER

READ THIS FIRST:

Consuelo, a beautiful gypsy girl, longs to dance with all the world at her feet. In love with her are the Dummy, a deaf mute, and Marcu, both members of her tribe. She has only hate for her mother Anica, but is extremely fond of her father, Girtza.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 2

Consuelo eft the fire then and flung her arms around her fa.her.

'Always for you, papa."

His roughened hand stroked the dusty blackness of her hair.

'Always?" His eyes twinkled. 'Always, is a long, long time, little frog."

She pulled his beard and kissed the tip of his nose.

"Then for a long, long time I shall be good, wise one, but when I turn bad — oh, what a bad one I'll be!"

'A bad one you are now!" A new voice spoke. "Falling all over the gorgio sheriff like a common slut!" A tall handsome fellow stood beside them, arms crossed, earrings glittering.

"Marcu!" The one stern word of reproval from the father.

Silence.

"It is true." It was Anica, the mother. "She acted like a real bad one. If that gorgio was to get her alone — no telling what would happen, and no one could blame him."

"I'd cut his white neck, low dog that he is!" growled Marcu.

"And go to the gorgio jail and be hung!" Anica sneered. "She is not worth that."

"Oh, leave me alone, will you? It is my affair if I flirt with the sheriff. It is my affair if I kiss him. It —"

Marcu caught her arm.

"Did you kiss him?" he demanded.

She shook off his hand.

"What is that to you? I would kiss him a thousand times over before I would so much as look on you with favor, conceited fellow!"

"Will you stop this haggling?" Girtza bellowed at them. "Get back to your work, Anica. Now you two get along friendly together. I'm tired of this all of the time. Marcu, you have no right over my daughter — not yet!"

"When am I going to marry her then?"

"In time."

"Not if I know it," snapped Consuelo.

"Consuelo!" Again Girtza.

"Listen, papa, I'll never marry him. I hate him!"

Marcu laughed. His hand slipped into the folds of the silk blouse and drew forth a small wad of paper. Instantly the eyes of the girl were upon him.

"A little trinket I picked up today," he said.

Leisurely, he unfolded the paper, his eyes intent upon the rapt face before him.

"Something for the girl who loves me," he said.

Consuelo drew back, contempt written on her face. But then, almost against her will, her eyes were drawn to the bright thing in his hand. An exclamation of delight left her lips and her tan fingers reached for the lovely thing.

"A bracelet of gold, with a ruby!" she gasped, eyes fastened upon it. "How beautiful!"

"For the girl who loves me," Marcu repeated.

For an instant her smile flashed to him. Quick as lightning her fingers grabbed for the ornament. However before they possessed it, the man pulled her to him and his warm lips found hers. He held her passionately, the blood surging to his brain.

There was a mad scream from the girl as she tore herself from him. She spat upon the ground and rubbed her mouth with the back of her hand.

"Dog! Son of a dog! Thief!" Oath followed oath. She reached out and beat against his chest with her closed fists.

Marcu laughed at her and there was a touch of madness in the sound. He'd have her some day. God, but she was desirable! Perhaps a diamond.

And Girtz watching them, smiled to himself and went back to his card playing. He was thinking what a good wife she would make Marcu. But from the shadows, the Dummy watched, his hands clenched, his heart torn with agony.

As the morning sun peeped over the hill the camp roused itself to the duties of the day. Shouts and good-natured bantering awakened the lazy ones. The embers of last night's fire were stirred and dry sticks added. Soon the kettle of potatoes sang pleasantly through the confusion of the haphazard morning work. Bacon, pilfered the day before, sizzled in the frying pan. Eggs appeared mysteriously from the loose-fitting blouse of one of the men and were fried in the hot grease.

Presently the entire camp had gathered in a circle around the fire and each took his share of food. As Consuelo seated herself cross-legged on the ground, her mother's black eyes wandered to the gaudy bracelet on the girl's arm.

"You might have gotten one for me," she chided Marcu.

"Yes, I might have. One is enough to get me in the gorgio jail without the risk of taking two." Marcu turned to Consuelo. "Don't wear it in town this afternoon, my little lamb."

"Some day I'll have things that aren't stolen." Voice sullen. She reached for another strip of bacon.

"You've had your share, pig," said Anica.

"I suppose I'm to go hungry." Consuelo mouthed the bacon and helped herself to another slice before she continued. "I eat as much as I want. Who is it brings in the silver coins? Not you. The white people pay me to dance for them. They'll pay me twice as much to tell fortunes as they pay you."

Anica turned to Girtza.

"Nice way your daughter talks to her mother."

"Modesty is a virtue in a young girl," Girtza reproved.

"White girls have no virtue, why should I? All right, send me to the wagon —" But before the order came she sprang up and, dancing a little zig-zag step, started for the trail that led to the creek.

Anica moved closer to Girtza and laid her hand on his shoulder. Her face was hidden from him.

"This is what comes of living in this cursed America. When I was a little girl back on the Danube my father would have beaten me if I had dared to say the things she says. You let her sneer in my face and in your face and you're getting so old you don't notice. You've got to do something to her, I tell you, my old one. You neglect your whip and let it hang idle in the wagon. Now it hasn't been so many years that you used to beat me and yet you do not touch the little bad one. A gypsy chief keeps his whip in his hand. Have you forgotten how to be a chief?" Her lips were close to his ear, her hands gripping his shoulders, her voice low so that the others might not hear.

He shook her off.

"Now maybe I am a fool where the girl is concerned but this is not the land where the gypsy is king. There are times when I would cut their throats, these gorgios, these dogs who lord over us. Insult upon insult that I hear from them —" His words were angry, but his face was sad. He looked down at her.

"You are right, my wife. I must be getting old or I would steal the money and pack the tribe back to the old country where we might sing and dance and be free — ah, but even there they are not free, for starvation walks close to their heels. Here we have food and can roam over the roads as we will and because of this I hold back my knife when the gorgio insults me and mine. I have learned that to hold one's temper is a fine thing, and so I have held my temper with you and treated you with kindness and understanding, but now I have had enough. I'll have you say no more about Consuelo. In due time she will marry Marcu and he will have her to contend with and I doubt me but what he'll take pleasure in beating her. As for you — don't try to act as young as she is — and cut out your whining and nagging! You tell me to beat her. Well, I'll tell you, my wife, that I do what I please and my arm is still strong and the whip no weaker. You will not forget it!"

He turned on his heel and walked away from her.

The woman stared after him. She was trembling. She wiped the drops of perspiration that formed on her upper lip. Again she was afraid of him. It had not been for years that he had spoken thus to her.

Consuelo returned from the brook, her face and legs washed, but washed as a child washes — still streaked with dirt. She saw Anica crouched by the fire and instantly her walk became stealthy. She caught her beads in her hand, imprisoning their tell-tale jingle and crossed the clearing to their wagon. With a backward glance she slid into the open end of the van and pulled the faded curtains together.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, April 16

According to the lunar as well as the mutual planetary aspects bearing rule on this day, the energies and activities will be concentrated on purely private and personal interests. It is likely that these social, artistic, domestic and romantic concerns may be clothed with a mantle of secrecy or aloofness from the public gaze and attention. The mysterious, occult or weird also may prove intriguing.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which the private affairs may engage the attention to the exclusion of the sordid and worldy, unless such might center on the peculiar or fantastic in artistic, social, romantic or altruistic vocations.

A child born on this day may have many grac s and abilities of a social, artistic or altruistic nature, attracting love and admiration by its gracious and sympathetic ways.

Nurse Gives Good Advice

Praises Dodd's for Own Good Health

"I have had wonderful relief through taking Dodd's Kidney Pills," says Mrs. Violet Post, (Graduate Nurse) Kingsville, Ont. "They saved me an operation, so I cannot speak too highly of them. Those suffering with Kidney and Urinary Troubles, Rheumatism, etc., should give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. I have recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills widely. One man had just spent $100.00 on treatments, and was no better. I told him to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. In one week he said they had done him more good than all the other treatments on which he had spent so much." D4

Dodd's Kidney Pills

How a Pale, Run-down Girl Became Positively PRETTY

In a Canadian city a certain girl consulted an authority who examined her, weighed her and tested a sample of her blood. The test showed the haemoglobin in her blood to be only 68% instead of the normal 90% to 95% for a woman. Her weight was 91½ pounds. With her blood testing only 68% haemoglobin, it was only natural for this young woman to be pale and colorless, and lacking in pep and energy, because haemoglobin is not only the coloring material in the blood, it is also the precious element that carries the vitalizing, energizing oxygen from the lungs to every organ and tissue of the body.

What Her Advisor Told Her To Do

The authority instructed the girl to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (called pink because they have a pink sugar coating) three times a day for a month and return for another blood test. He knew the formula for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and recognized their value and safety.

One month later this patient's blood had been so greatly enriched that the haemoglobin had increased 20%. Her weight had increased to 100½ pounds — a nine-pound gain. In the words of her advisor, "She had a lot more color, her face had rounded out and she was positively pretty". Her complexion had the glow caused by rich, red, healthy blood. She was revitalized and strengthened with new stores of vigor and energy, and appeared just as fresh and attractive as the girl whose photo is shown above.

Try This Beauty and Health Treatment Yourself

If your face is thin and haggard, your complexion pale, sallow and old-looking, your body underweight, your digestion poor, your nerves bad, your blood thin, your energy below par, take the tried and proven blood builder, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It's a genuine complexion beautifier and a builder of health and vigor. Your druggist has it—50c a package. 36H

Norma!s Qualified For Playoff Berth

Normals qualified for a play-off berth in the "Y" House Cage League by nosing out a 22-21 verdict over White's team in a thrilling basketball encounter in the "Y" Saturday evening. The losers fairly peppered the victors' basket the final five minutes but could not drop the winning ball. Normal had a big second half to outscore White's, 14 to 8, after being down 13-8 at the breathing spell. It was a fine battle from start to finish. Ketcheson and Loukes were the chief scorers for the winners, while Hammell topped all the losers. The teams:

Normal — Ketcheson, Ovens, Loukes, McKee, Holmes, Telord and Walters.

White's — Martin, Hammell, Edmondson, White, Williams and Hunter.

Referee—Jim McCleneghan.

Press Is Optimistic Of Stresa Decisions

LONDON, April 15 (CP Cable).—An optimistic attitude was adopted by the majority of newspapers today in comment upon the Stresa three-power conference. Most papers approved of the decisions made there by Britain, France and Italy.

Discussing the possibility of rearmament of Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria, The Times said it hoped the British Government would "continue to support the attitude of Benito Mussolini that reconsideration of the relevant parts of the peace treaties is overdue."

The Daily Herald was critical of the French memorandum on German rearmament to the League of Nations. It termed the French note "a bombshell thrown into the field of international negotiations."

The Daily Express was scornful. "The truth about all this rigmarole from Stresa is that Locarno and all its works are reduced by new events to utter nonsense," it said.

PLAINVILLE.

A good representation from Plainville attended the men's meeting at Gore's Landing on Monday evening. A. Martin, public school inspector, from Brighton, was the guest speaker, and his lecture was very interesting. Special music was also provided. It was planned to continue these meetings, and the next will be an open meeting on Good Friday evening.

The Y.P.S. meeting on Tuesday evening was in charge of Miss Muriel Cole's department. The topic, "Easter," was taken by Miss Clara King. Among other numbers on the program were solos by Miss Lucy Lauder and Grace Dines. Choir practice was held for an hour after the meeting.

Mrs. Jeff Morton has returned home after spending a few days with her aunt, Miss Westington in Port Hope.

SACREDCANTATA IS PRESENTED AT ST. JOHN'S

"The Crucifixion" Ably Presented at Evening Service By Choir.

SPLENDID SOLO WORK.

As a fitting preparation for the observance of Passion Week services was the presentation of the beautiful sacred cantata, "The Crucifixion," last night in St. John's Anglican Church. The large congregation joined in the worship and were inspired both by the theme and by the beauty of rendition which characterized this cantata, a meditation on the sacred passion of the Holy Redeemer, written for two solo voices and chorus, with the hymns to be joined in by the congregation. The music, by Sir John Stainer, throughout was touched with a solemnity of tone and movement in keeping with the scenes portraying death and crucifixion of our Lord and so beautifully told in words selected and written by Rev. J. Sparrow-Simpson, M.A.

The service was opened by Rev. Dr. Biagrave, after which the well-trained choir presented "The Crucifixion" in a sympathetic and reverent manner and with remarkable beauty of expression, under F. G. Mann's splendid leadership.

The opening solo "And they came to a place named Gethsemane," was sung by Edward Humpage, whose clear, expressive voice took the principal tenor varts, "The Agony" was depicted in slow, measured metre as sung in J. S. Roberts' low, resonant bass voice, and in which the full chorus also joined. The flute-like soprano voices of the boy choristers was heard to splendid advantage in all the choral work, adding greatly to its effectiveness, while Albert Stephen (tenor) and Leslie Dyer (bass) did very fine work in duet. Other solo parts were sung by J. Branson (tenor) and Harold Wilson, Griffin Youny, and Arthur Bacon (bass).

Processional to Calvary.

The majestic strains of the organ portrayed the Processional to Calvary, which was followed by the stirring "Fling wide the gates" by the entire group, which led up to the scene on Calvary as told in the bass solo, "And when they were come."

Very Appealing.

In the unfolding of the sacred story, the chorus "God so loved the world," which was sung unaccompanied, was particularly appealing in its finely-shaded tone and in its rich promise of home. A most attractive feature of the cantata was the litanies in which both choir and congregation joined, the first being "The Litany of the Passion," after which the incomparable words of Jesus, "Father, forgive them," were sung in tenor voice, and the duet, "So Thou liftest Thy Divine petition," in softly blended bass and tenor tones.

Again the congregation rose to join in "The Mystery of Intercession," and the cantata continued with the dying words of the malefactors hanging beside the Saviour. "The Adoration of the Crucified" was sung as a hymn, and the tenderly subdued tones of the tenor rose in "When Jesus therefore saw His mother." In the bass solo, "Is it nothin gto you?" came Jesus' appeal to His followers which was borne out by the full choir in "The Appeal of the Crucified," in which the passionate cry of His enemies, "Crucify, Crucify," is clearly heard. The finale closed in a note of pathos and infinite sadness in the tenor solo, "After this, Jesus, knowing that all things were accomplished," which concluded a cantata of unusual calibre both in theme and in excellence of presentation.

During the offertory an organ selection of exceptional charm was rendered by Mr. Mann in "Evensong" (Martin).

"For the love of Jesus' was sung by choir and congregation as the recessional after the benediction, which closed with the "Seven-fold Amen" composed by Mr. Mann, organist and choir leader.

25 IN ATTENDANCE AT EASTER MEETING

Splendid Program Provided by X. L. Mission Girls of St. James' Church.

The Easter meeting of the X.L. Mission Circle of St. James' United Church was held on Friday evening at the parsonage, 163 Romaine Street, with an attendance of twenty-five.

Miss Jean Rose played softly while the girls were gathering, and Miss Jean Hammond, the president, opened the meeting by introducing and leading an impressive Easter responsive service, in which all the members had some part.

The readers were Miss Eileen Doig and Mrs. R. Kitchen, while the accompaniments to all the music were played by Miss J. Rose. Greatly appreciated was the beautiful solo, "When I come to the end f life's long road," sung by Miss Geneva Sedgwick. Prayer was offered by several members, closing this part of the service.

The Circle is studying "Eastern women, to-day and to-morrow," a chapter of which is taken up at each meeting by one of the girls. Miss Alberta Frost presented the chapter for this month in a very vivid way as she told of the widening sphere of interest in India, China and Japan in women's movements.

Temperance Topic.

Representing the temperance work of the Circle, Miss Edith Wright, the secretary, brought up some very worth-while questions and gave the girls a glimpse of the attitude recently taken by the Government regarding temperance.

A short business period interspersed the reports of secretaries, when the roll was called, and other business transacted.

Very enlightening were the one-minute talks on tithing when three girls, Nina Andrus, Marjorie Kitchen and Connie Wagar, who practice this form of giving, told why it is the only successful and Scriptural way. Following these personal experiences came a little playlet, "The Stewardship of Personality," which presented another angle of giving to the Lord. The girls taking part were Nina Andrus, Dorothy Drysdale and Jean Rose.

"Live the way we pray" was the title of a suggestive little reading by Dorothy Swanger, from which all might take a helpful lesson.

"An intelligence test" proved the source of much merriment to all who entered this clever contest.

Delicious refreshments were served by the group in charge: Mrs. Moorhouse, Miss Muriel Moorhouse and Miss Nina Andrus.

A sincere vote of thanks was tendered the hostess and her committee by Jennie Smart, seconded by Mrs. Rosborough, and heartily endorsed by all.

New York State Kills Pari-Mutuel Machines

ALBANY, April 15.—The constitutional amendment to legalize parimueuel betting at New York State racetracks was overwhelmingly defeated in the Senate Saturday afternoon by a vote of 16 to 31.

The amendment, which passed almost unanimously last year and would have given the people of the state an opportunity to decide at the polls next Autumn whether they wanted machine betting, received the solid disapproval of the Democratic delegations from New York, Brooklyn and Queen's. James J. Dooling, Tammany leader, and Frank V. Kelly, leader of Brooklyn, had placed all their strength behind the bookmakers and large bettors who want to retain the present system.

MONTREAL CAGERS READY FOR SERIES

Battle Assumption College of Windsor For Eastern Canada Championship.

WINDSOR, Ont., April 15 (CP) — Imbued with a confidence acquired as a result of their easy elimination of Saint John Trojans in the semi-finals, Ken Grant's Notre Dame de Grace basketballers declared themselves ready to-day for their series with Assumption College for the Eastern Canada championship. The series opens here to-night with a second game Tuesday and a third, if necessary, scheduled for Wednesday. The stock of Assumption, defending titleholders, soared when the Montrealers arrived in town yesterday minus one of the most important cogs in their line-up, the veteran Len Hutton, spark plug of the team.

PETES BEATEN AT HAMILTON

Varsity Wins Intermediate Championship of Ontario Volleyball Association.

WESTERN UNION SECOND.

Superior condition won the Intermediate championship of the Ontario Volleyball Association in Hamilton on Saturday. It enabled the team representing University of Toronto to win and the team from Western University at London to place second although, in the opinion of most of the experts present, the team from Peterborough Y.M.C.A. was the best balanced and smoothest working team in the series as long as they were fresh.

The tourney opened with Peterborough "Y" playing the Mutual Life team from Waterloo, and taking the most decisive victories of the day with scores of 15-4 and 15-7. In these games the local team rose to heights of brilliance and showed the nicest volleyball seen in intermediate play in many years. They went with the smoothness and precision of a well-oiled machine, with all departments of the play equally deserving of praise. It is a matter for conjecture whether or not they would have won the championship had thy met U. of T. while at top form as they were in these two games.

Then followed a torrid struggle between the two college teams, Toronto finally taking both games with scores of 15-13 and 15-11. Western then took on Mutual Life, winning the first 15-5 and Mutual taking the second, 16-14.

Peterborough and Varsity next hooked up, and with the score 12-7 in Peterborough's favor in the first game, condition began to tell, and Varsity went on to win, 15-13. They also took the second by a score of 15-9. Toronto then took two from Mutual 15-5 and 15-11.

The last bracket brought together Peterborough and Western. The college boys took the first one 15-11, giving each team two wins. The second game, therefore ,was in every sense a playoff for second place, and intrest was high. However, after a long-drawn-out battle, in spite of the local players working themselves out, Western took the game and place, 15-13.

All the teams played well, and the games were a real treat to watch, points being hard to get. All credit is due the winners and losers alike. They played bang-up volleyball, were good losers and gracious winners, good sports all through. And the final standing is a true indication of the tournament strength.

'KING'S SHADOW' TAKEN BY DEATH

Herbert T. Fitch Was Famous as Spy Catcher For Scotland Yard.

LIFETIME OF THRILLS.

LONDON, April 15 (A.P.).—Herbert T. Fitch, spy catcher extraordinary, who died here last week at 58, packed a lifetime of thrills into a quarter century's service with Scotland Yard. The detective inspectator's service as bodyguard to the late King Edward won him the soubriquet "King's Shadow."

Of his many exploits in tracing spies, Fitch perhaps was proudest of his encounter with Nicolai Lenin, father of the Russian revolution, who spent some time in London just after the turn of the century.

In 1905 the detective was assigned to observe meetings of the "foreign barbers," an anarchist organization in London. Once Fitch disguised himself as a waiter and swept valuable documents from the table under Lenin's eyes, picking one of them up under cover of a napkin.

Lenin, Fitch wrote in his book 'Enemies Within,' which he published 10 years after retiring in 1923, hissed "clumsy fool" at him, "for all the world as though he were one of the damned aristocrats."

The napkin exploit brought Fitch promotion to sergeant.

During the Great War the Scotland Yard expert patrolled the important east coast district, where he captured many spies, five of whom were executed in the Tower of London.

DUST SCARRED WESTERN MEN

any banker what the outlook is, and you hear them—if it rains. . . .

If it rains . . . some farmers will get a wheat crop.

If it rains . . . fresh row crops may flourish.

If it rains . . . pasture and range for livestock may be restored.

If it rains . . . it always has!

Fatal Three Weeks

The next three weeks will tell the story.

The southwest is big and the dust area is only a small chunk of it. Roughly it takes in the western third of Kansas, Southeastern Colorado, the Oklahoma Panhandle, the northern two-thirds of the Texas Panhandle, and Northeastern New Mexico.

It always has been a region of sparse rainfall. The Great War, with its high wheat prices and urgent demands, sent the plow into the sod and turned this into wheat country. Before then it was range land, and the crop was native Buffalo grass, which held the soil firm against insistent winds.

Despite the hardship, and a generally unencouraging prospect, not a single one of more than 100 farmers interviewed by your correspondent was leaving the country. Each one had hope of getting a crop.

Take Charles Hitch, elderly Rancher-farmer, living south of Guymon, who came here in 1886.

"For the first time since I have been on Coldlwater creek—and I was the first settler—we are thinking of shipping cattle to greener pastures," he said.

Drought Grows Worse

"Recent dust storms are not much more severe than others in former years" Hitch said, "but the drought is worse. "My ranges have supported as many as 10,000 head but I have only 800 head now and they cannot find sufficient feed. We have to feed them cottonseed cake.

But cattle prices are on the upgrade and I am not discouraged. We even will get a wheat crop if rain comes. If there is no rain, we will have to start shipping cattle in a few weeks."

A. L. Thoreson lives over the line in Texas and is a big wheat producer. He raised 90,000 bushels in 1931, got only 25 cents a bushel for it. The best he can hope for, he thinks, is a half-crop.

Gov't Aid, Lifesaver

"But we are not suffering acutely" he aded. "The Government is paying better than a dollar an acre to us in wheat benefit payments and in addition we can sell what wheat we raise. That will keep the farmers going. The Federal wheat program is O.K., and if it wasn't for that the farmers would be in an awful hole. They can hold on indefinitely with wheat payments."

And then there is I. R. Bryan, farmer northwest of Guymon, who could have left 10 years ago after 30 years of farming in the panhandle "with $35,000 in my pockets."

"I made it in row crops and lost it in wheat.

"I could have left here wealthy, and I'll me damned if I am going to walk out of her broke now."

CAMPBELLFORD

Attempted Robbery Frustrated By Dog

(Examiner Correspondence)

CAMPBELLFORD, Ont., April 15. —Awakened by the barking of his dog at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, B. T. Watley, proprietor of the Sunshine Meat Market, Front street was just in time to see the figure of a man dash down the back stairway. Jump the fence and disappear in the darkness.

If it was money the alleged burglar was looking for he would have been disappointed as Mr. Whatley places his Saturday takings in the bank vault for safe keeping over Sunday. Chief of Police George Hardy is investigating.

FRENCH APPEAL ON GERMAN ARMS

4. Further study looking toward completion of the Western European defensive air pact.

5. Recognition that Germany's unilateral abrogation of the military clauses of the Treaty of Versailles "had undermined public confidence in the security of peaceful order" and reaffirmation of their desire to work for an international agreement on limitation of armaments.

Favor Arms Requests.

6. Recommendation to the states affected that they consider the desires of Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria for increased armaments.

Although disappointment was voiced in some quarters that the discussions had produced no more concrete achievements, those who viewed the efforts with satisfaction pointed out broader undertakings were impossible without the participation of Germany.

The opinion was general that the "panic of war" had been largely dispelled by the developments of the last few days.

There was appended to the joint communique an Anglo-Italian declaration in which the two nations reaffirmed their support for the Locarno Treaty, signed on the shore of Lake Maggiore ten years ago and intended to guarantee the existing frontiers of Western Europe.

General Conference

Invitations were dispatched to the governments of Germany, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Poland and Austria to participate in the Danubin Conference at Rome the latter part of May.

At that time it is hoped to carry to conclusion the provisions of the Franco-Italian accord of January 7 looking toward a Central European Pact to guarantee the independence of Austria and the extension of mutual assurances of non-interference in the affairs of the nations in the Danubian area by any of their neighbors.

Communications have been sent to the governments of Germany and Belgium, as Locarno signatories, informing them Italy and Great Britain "formally reaffirmed all their obligations" under the Locarno treaty and declared their intention should need arise "faithfully to fulfill them."

Action Before League

Meanwhile, at Geneva, the "common line of conduct" agreed on by the three Premiers on the subject of France's recourse to the League of Nations against German rearmament went into action before the League Council.

In Berlin, Wilhelmstrasse circles gave close attention to the Tripower declaration that "the method of unilateral repudiation adopted by the German Government when steps were being taken to promote a freely-negotiated settlement on the question of armaments had undermined public confidence in security of peaceful order."

HAVELOCK

Omemee Tenor Gets High Radio Acclaim

HAVELOCK, April 15 (Examiner Correspondence). — Several local radio listeners were loud in their praises of Harvard Reddick's rendition of "The Song of Songs" over the Wrigley amateur hour from Loew's Theatre Thursday evening last week. Evidently they weren't the only group who thought the judges made a major mistake by not pinning the highest award on the Omemee tenor, for according to Toronto radio editors protests have been received from all over the country acclaiming the Omemee artist.

He is one of the several fine artists whom the Brock Street Summer Gardens, Peterborough, have been pleased to present, and the local United Church have also had the privilege of hearing him.

LIGHT RAT SEASON

HASTINGS, April 15 (Examiner Correspondence)—The 1935 crop of rats in this district will not be a heavy one according to the veteran trappers. The old timers blame the severe winter of a year ago for the failure.

Plenty of buyers were in the village on Friday offering prices from $1.15 to a high of $1.40.

Extra Help

DETROIT, April 15.—(CP)—Police who raced to an old warehouse on a burglar alarm were considerably nonplussed when they cornered—not burglars—but a squad of federal agents who, in turn, were cornering 14 attendants of a large still. One of the federal raiders accidentally had set off the alarm.

Rice Lake Ice Piles On Bailieboro Shore

BAILIEBORO, April 15 (Examiner Correspondence)—The ice on Rice Lake for the first time in many years smashed up at the head of the lake. The heavy east winds on Wednesday started the great mass moving westward and during the continued high winds on Thursday and Thursday night the ice ground to pieces and Friday morning found only a portion of the ice jammed into the bays and inlets at the head of the lake.

Considerable damage was wrought by the ice smashing against the shores; boat houses, trapping marshes and wharfs, and on the banks the white masses can be seen piled high. It will be several days before trappers will again be able to locate their traps and many will be lost entirely.

"TOOK ALL KINDS OF PILLS, THEN CEREAL BROUGHT RELIEF"

Constipation, Due to Insufficient "Bulk," Relieved by Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

A fine letter from Mrs. Snyder! "I have had trouble" with my bowels for years, taking all kinds of pills and drugs, with no relief.

"One year ago, I saw Kellogg's ALL-BRAN and bought a package. I have good movements every day. I am 73 years old. I am telling my friends what bran has done for me." —Mrs. Sallie Snyder. Address upon request.

*"Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

Research shows that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B, as well as iron, an element of the blood.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient to correct common constipation. With each meal, in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN resists digestion better than the "bulk" in leafy vegetables. How much better to use this food in place of patent medicines.

At all grocers in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Britain Stands Behind French Protest

GERMAN MOVE ON ARMS MUST BE CONDEMNED

Simon Demands League Action to Make Covenants More Effective.

COUNCIL RESPONSIBLE.

Three Powers Ready to Act to Uphold Peace ni Framework of League.

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GENEVA, April 16.—(CP Cable) — With no uncertain voice Great Britain today supported the French protest to the League of Nations council regretting Germany's rearmament and condemning unilateral repudiation of treaties (as in the case of Germany).

The resolution was submitted by French Foreign Minister Pierre Laval as a joint Franco-British-Italian resolution and Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary, followed Laval with the declaration:

"His Majesty's government joins with the French and Italian governments in presenting this draft resolution for consideration of the council of the League. We hope the discussions will show the council is prepared to accept it and make it effective as a resolution of the council.

The Final Declaration

"The reason why the three powers, Italy, France and Great Britain, have taken the initiative in bringing this matter before their colleagues on the council will be apparent when I remind you the final declaration made by the three powers at Stresa was in the following terms:

"The three powers, whose policy is the collective maintenance of peace within the framework of the League of Nations, find themselves in complete agreement in opposing by all practicable means in their power any unilateral repudiation of treaties which might endanger the peace of Europe, and will act in close and cordial collaboration with each other.'

"That," he continued, "was the DETROIT, April 16 (CP)—George A. Hockett, 17, is going to have his own personal movie censor.

L. Wallace Hoffman, Federal probation officer, said he would pass upon all pictures the youth attends for the next four years.

Hockett was placed on probation for that length of time by U.S. District Judge Edward J. Moinet. He blamed all-night movie thrillers as the influence that led him to steal a car.

LET 'ER BLOW SAY VETERANS OF DUST BELT

Majority Who Swear to Move Every Storm Change Minds as Sun Appears.

EXIST ON RELIEF.

(By Robert Geiger).

SPRINGFIELD, Colo., April 16 (A.P.).—A man unfamiliar with the high plains dry-farming region, birthplace of the black blizzard, might see only despair and desolation in wind-scoured fields and dust-drifted roads and farmyards.

It does look pretty desperate, and some families have given up hope and moved away. Not many. Dry land farmers have been through dust storms before, and most of them echo the anonymous old timer, a veteran of the panhandle, who said:

"It takes grit to live out here—let 'er blow!"

As a matter of record, they had storms a century ago much like those of 1934.

Again, in 1913, sand and dust drifted to the eaves of isolated farm buildings.

Travelling through Southeastern Colorado, Southwestern Kansas, the west end of the Oklahoma panhandle and the north tip of the Texas panhandle—you see a region which now has the appearance of a vast desert, with miniature shifting dunes of sand. A rain might turn it green overnight.

Many of the fields that were planted to wheat last fall give the illusion of a great colony of ants.

Worker Tells of Victim Finding Strange Container in Metal Room.

LONDON, Ont., April 16.—(CP)—Two men are in St. Joseph's hospital suffering from severe body burns while several windows were blown out and buildings shaken by a mysterious explosion today in the metal shop at the Hyett Jumbo Roofing plant.

Fire department officials and plant officials intimated the explosive may have been secreted in the building in an attempt to blow up the premises.

Those in the hospital are Clair Dunlop and Lawrence Johnston. Both suffered severe burns to their face, arms and body when the explosive—a black powder—showered the room immediately after the explosion.

W. J. Hyatt, president of the Hyatt Jumbo Roofing Company, talked with his employees while they were being taken to hospital and learned the can was a strange one, and containing some form of black powder.

TORONTO BOY FOUND IN TWEED

Lad Claims He Was Kidnapped on Overhearing Plot About Bank.

KEPT 2 NIGHTS IN CAR.

TORONTO, April 16 (C.P.) — Ian Davidson, 12, who had been missing from his home here since Friday and was found at Tweed, near Brockville and returned home to-day, told police he was kidnapped by two men on Glan Manor Avenue here after he overheard them talking about a bank.

He said one of the men hailed him and said: "Get into the car. You know too much." He spent two nights in the car and was not molested, he said.

They released him at Shannonville Sunday and told him to go home. Tweed police found him with John Iarleton, Moneymore Indian, who had fed him Sunday, and communicated with Toronto police, believing him to be a youngster who had escaped from a Children's Aid Inspector.

HAVANA, April 16 (CP)—There is a letter waiting for Gerardo Machado in the Havana post-office, but prospects he'll get it are dim.

FRESH ADVANCES MADE IN CHACO BY PARAGUAYANS

Asuncion Reports State Drive Cost Bolivia 3,000 Men.

THREE YEARS OF WAR.

ASUNCION, Paraguay, April 16.—(A.P.).—The Ministry of Defence announced to-day in the last 10 days Paraguay has captured 3,500 square miles of territory in the Bolivian province of Santa Cruz and inflicted losses estimated at 3,000 men on four Bolivian regiments.

(By the Canadian Press).

The Gran Chaco, a vast and desolate stretch of jungle, for almost three years now has been the battleground for Paraguay and Bolivia. The two South American countries have been fighting since June, 1932, for possession of the area.

Through thick jungle swamps, and across arid plains, beneath the scorching heat of a searing sun, the opposing armies have fought. A series of efforts by the League of Nations and by neighboring countries to arbitrate the dispute so far have all broken down.

An Undefined Boundary.

The boundary between the two countries in the Chaco area has been a traditional sore spot. It was never clearly defined.

On June 15, 1932, two border patrols clashed and fighting broke out almost at once. For 11 months there was war in everything but name. Paraguay formally declared war on Bolivia on May 10, 1933.

BALANCE BUDGET IN FAILING TO PAY UNITED STATES

Great Britain Balanced Budget By Not Paying War Debt.

MORE FOR ARMAMENTS.

Modest Concessions Interpreted as Heavier Armament Costs.

LONDON, April 16.—(A.P.)—The Government was charged by Opposition leaders to-day with balancing its budget through failure to pay the United States' war debt.

At the same time the comparatively modest concession accorded taxpayers was being widely interpreted as paving the way for further increases in British armaments.

Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, himself encouraged this view in an address last night in which he declared "our continued progress must to some extent depend on events outside our own boundaries.

George Lansbury, the Labor leader, said:

"The Chancellor was able to balance his accounts only by refusing to pay Britain's debt to the United States."

Remarking on the possible need for additional sinews of war, the Financial Times said editorially:

"Mr. Chamberdain had to be prudent because defense services will call for more finance and the extent must depend upon the International situation."

The Morning Post said Chamberlain had "good reason to hold a margin in hand," because of "the probability supplementary estimates for the current year will be fairly substantial especially if the present clouds continue to hang over the European horizon."

ICE GOES OUT EARLY THIS YEAR

With Few Exceptions All Lakes Are Now Clear of Ice.

VERY LITTLE DAMAGE.

With the exception of a few reaches which were protected from the north-east winds of last week, the lakes and rivers in this region are now free of their winter coverings of ice. Piles of the ice along the windward shores of the lakes are the only reminder of the winter.

Little Damage to Bridge

For the first time in several years past, the floating bridge across Chemong Lake survived the Spring break-up unbroken. Piles of ice driven against it by the strong north-east wind last Tuesday subjected it to a severe strain but failed to do greater damage than shear off the bridge railing in several places. The bridge was closed for a few hours while repairs were being made but is now open for summer traffic.

As the wind which took out the ice was off the Park shore, little damage to Chemong boathouses or wharfs was done. Practically the entire lake is clear now.

Only Few Floes Remain

14 CITIES WILL USE FAST TIME OVER DOMINION

Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston Advance Clocks April 28.

NO CHANGE, PETERBORO.

(By The Canadian Press)

Dominion metropolitan centres with the exception of those in Western Canada will go on daylight-saving time from April 28 to Sept. 28. The Western province—Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia will not operate on "fast time."

Cities scattered throughout Eastern provinces will move their clocks forward an hour for Summer months, but the periods of duration vary. Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal will be on "Summer time" over the full five-months period, similar to New York and other large United States cities.

Eight other Ontario cities start the system at different dates during May, June and July. Sudbury is the only Northern Ontario point to adopt daylight-saving, but at Kirkland Lake some mines will work on a daylight-time schedule although the town will remain on standard time.

The List:

The following cities are on daylight-saving time:

April 28 to Sept. 28 — Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa, New York, St. Catharines, Kingston, Niagara Falls.

May 4 to Sept. 15.—Hamilton.

May 18 to Sept. 3.—Guelph.

May 25 to Sept. 28—Saint John.

June 1 to Sept. 28.—Halifax.

June 3 to Sept. 3—Sudbury.

June 16 to Aug. 31.—Belleville (possible—Council to decide).

July 14 to Sept. 14—Brantford.

No daylight saving time.—North Bay, Galt, Saulte Ste. Marie, Windsor, London, Kitchener, Woodstock, Chatham, St. Thomas, Owen Sound, Peterborough, Brockville, Stratford, Kirkland Lake (some mines on daylight-saving time). All Western province.

Relatives, Friends Mill About Colliery—Hopes Dwindle as Air Fails.

STELLARTON, N.S., April 16.—(CP)—Seven coal miners were feared to have been killed today in a terrific explosion that sent hundreds of tons of rock and coal crashing down on their working place in the Allan shaft, where 88 men perished in a 1918 explosion.

More than four hours after the blast they were still entombed 1,500 feet underground and rescue workers were trying vainly to fight their way through a barrier of fallen debris that clogged the passageway for an estimated 1,000 feet.

The mass of coal and stone blocked the way to safety for any possible survivors, though little

NEW MONTREAL HARBOR TO ACCOMMODATE 40 SHIPS

MONTREAL, April 16 (C.P.). — Plans for the complete rebuilding of Montreal Harbor were outlined today at a meeting of the Montreal Harbor Commissioners. The plans would allow quicker access from the St. Lawrence River, higher water, easier dredging in the softer bottom and elimination of the "St. Mary's current."

It was learned the harbor plans will in time move the whole passenger harbor about five miles eastward. The drawings show eight new piers, four of which will be long piers likely accommodating two ships, while in between them are four shorter piers. It is expected the new piers will accommodate about 40 vessels.

More than 136,000 passengers traveled between Oxford and Southall on the streamlined rail-car during its first year of operation, making the service second only in popularity to the Cheltenham Flyer, Britain's fastest steam train.

The passengers were taken to the Saratoga General Hospital for examination. The passenger list included C. B. Dawson, 50, Kingston, Ont.

Fear 7 Men Trapped In N.S. Mine Blast

STELLARTON, N.S., April 16.—(CP)—An explosion in the Allan shaft near here, where 88 miners were killed in 1918, was feared today to have trapped seven men underground.

D. H. McLean, resident superintendent of the Acadia Coal Company, said the seven were working on the 1,500-foot southeast level, where the explosion occurred. He said it was possible their way to safety had been blocked.

All other miners in the colliery were accounted for shortly after the explosion, he declared.

In front of their bench was the bed on which the murdered farmer was found.

PRICE CHARGES ARE SCORED OFF HOUSE RECORDS

Report Says Policy of Government is Extremely Well-kept Secret.

INQUIRED BACK TO JAN. 1.

Selling Laid to Legislature Speeches and Roebuck's Broadcast Series.

TORONTO, April 16.—(CP) — Charges by Col. W. H. Price, former attorney general that information on the Ontario government's policy regarding cancellation of Hydro contracts with four Quebec companies had "leaked out," with a consequent short-selling of bonds of the four companies by those "on the inside," were officially crossed off the books today.

J. M. Godfrey, K.C., Ontario Securities Commissioner, through Attorney General Arthur W. Roebuck, last night, tabled in the Ontario legislature a report covering investigation of, all apparently sales of power bonds as far back as Jan. 1, prior to the public announcement of the government's aim to cancel contracts.

Well Kept Secret

"As a general result of the investigation," the report read in part, "the commission finds that there was no information given out by the government or anybody connected with the government; that it was the opinion in financial circles that there was no leak and that the policy of the government was an extremely well-kept secret.

"There was, however, very substantial selling of these bonds as a result of speeches made in the legislature and the attorney-general's series of broadcasts."

OAKLAND, Calif., April 16.—(CP)—The revolver still reigns supreme over the bow and arrow.

L. H. Atkinson of the Greenwood Archers challenged Miss Bobby Rutherford, trick shooter from Beverly Hills, Calif., to a match with four-inch clay pigeon discs as targets at 50 paces.

Miss Rutherford made a perfect score, shooting five shots with her right hand and five with her left, while Atkinson hit the target only once with an arrow.

As a final gesture, the sharpshooting miss broke the last disc shooting her revolver from the upside down position.

LIVESTOCK PRODUCE AND CHEESE QUOTES

ONTARIO GRAINS.

F.o.b. shipping point: Wheat, 85c to 87c; oats, 32c to 34c; corn, 56c to 58c; buckwheat, 43c to 45c; malting barley, 63c to 65c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Wheat scored a brisk upturn of prices late yesterday, but reacted on account of heavy sales to realize profits in the final dealings.

The advance of wheat values was stimulated by sensationally bullish crop news. R. O. Cromwell, a leading unofficial crop expert, telegraphed yesterday from Salina, Kans., said: "Of 12,000,000 acres of wheat west of the 100th meridian, 90 per cent. has been wiped out completely."

Wheat closed nervous, ¼c to ⅝c under Saturday's finish, May $1.00¼ to $1.00⅝; corn, 1⅛c lower to ¼c advance, May 88⅝c to 88¾c; oats, ⅜c off to ¼c up, and provisions unchanged to 15c down.

Contributing as an incentive to seise profits on price bulges was announced of a large purchase of red winter wheat to come to Chicago from St. Louis. On the other hand, Cromwell's report said high winds and dust southwest and over wider territory than ever before seen. A reduction of 2,200,000 bushels in the United States wheat visible supply total yesterday was a transient bullish factor.

Corn and oats averaged lower, influenced a good deal by an unofficial estimate that the new Argentine corn crop would establish a top record as to volume of exportable surplus. Provisions sagged with hog values and with corn.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

There was no price changes on the Montreal Dairy and Produce Market yesterday as receipts continued fairly heavy and trading dull. On the egg market graded shipments in cariots or less brought 19c a dozen for A-large, 17c for A-medium, 16½c to 17c for B, and 15½c for C. Receipts were 2,640 cases.

Number 1 regraded grass butter in cariots or less held at 22¾c to 23c a pound, with fresh No. 1 butter at 22½c to 22¾c. Small lots to retailers were quoted at 24c a pound for solids and 25c for prints. Arrivals totalled 127 boxes.

The cheese market was steady at 11½c to 11¾c a pound for No. 1 Ontario late fall receipts and 12¼c to 12¾c for summers. There were no offerings.

Light Quebec Mountain potatoes brought 52c per 80-lb. bag and darks 57c for similar quantities. New Brunswick Mountains were 62c and Prince Edward Island Mountains 65c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 16. — Apparently acting on the belief the current adverse crop conditions in the United tSates South-west had been fully discounted, at least temporarily, traders who had bought wheat at lower levels last week sold it yesterday.

Values closed ⅝c to ¼c lower on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, May at 89¼c and July at 89⅞c-90c. Traders were further encouraged to sell by weakness in other grain markets and lack of foreign demand for Canadian wheat.

Profit-takers also were active at Liverpool, where prices closed 1¼d lower, and at Chicago where ⅝c declines were recorded. Heavy selling fas reported from Buenos Aires, where futures receded 1⅝c at noon.

While Canada's wheat exports ystrday comprisd only smah, scattered lots, last week's statistics showed little change from the previous week. North America's 2,750,000-bushel share of the world's 9,750,000-bushel exports was about unchanged.

Cash and coarse grains continued to drift.

Croll Shoves Border Cities Amalgamation Bill Through Second Reading.

HEAVY ATTACK.

Liquor Act Amendment Debate Waxes Warm—Adjourned By Henry.

TORONTO, April 16—(CP)—With three days left of the current session, Ontario Legislature redoubled their efforts today so the two-months old session could be ended by Thursday night.

Estimates have yet to be considered but it was expected a start would be made on these today. Another possible subject for debate at today's sitting was Premier Mitchell Hepburn's bill to amend the Liquor Control Act.

The premier said last night Easter prorogation was necessary so the government could consider several pressing problems confronting it. He stated the cabinet required considerable time to consider the power situation, proposals for developing the lignite coal beds in the north and rehabilitating the pulp and paper industry.

Three Debates

Three bills supplied debating material yesterday, chief of them being Minister of Welfare David Croll's measure to amalgamate four Essex border municipalities, Windsor, Walkerville, East Windsor and Sandwich into a greater Windsor. The bill received second reading only after Conservatives staged a lengthy attack criticising the government for not producing the report of the royal commission investigating amalgamation. The opposition did not attack the principle of amalgamation.

Conservative opposition flared up again towards Attorney-General A. W. Roebuck's bill to make positions on the Workmen's Compensation Board tenable at pleasure. Considered

LONG SERVICE MEDAL IS GIVEN TO R. C. BRAUND

Fifty Years of Unbroken Service in Local Corps of Salvation Army.

BIG BIRTHDAY CAKE.

Feature of the big Golden Jubilee rally at the Salvation Army Temple last evening was the presentation of a long service medal to Young People's Sergeant Major R. C. Braund, emblematic of fifty years unbroken service in the local corps.

The presentation was made in the presence of a gathering of close to four hundred Salvationists fully representative of East Toronto Division, by Commissioner William A. McIntyre of Chicago with whom Mr. Braund was associated in the early organization of the Army in Central Ontario.

The Commissioner took the opportunity of recalling outstanding incidents in connection with his long association with Mr. Braund and paid high tribute to his zealousness and enthusiasm for army work.

Later Commissioner McIntyre delivered an inspiring address to the assembly, urging them on to greater effort and reminding them that their chief work lay in the saving of souls. It was his final message in a series of services which he addressed over the weekend. Today the Commissioner and Mrs. McIntyre left the city en route for Chicago and St. Louis, where in the latter city the Commissioner has another big campaign scheduled for Easter.

The rally starting at eight o'clock followed upon an anniversary tea held in the basement to which two hundred people sat down. The large iced birthday cake, baked specially to mark the fiftieth birthday anniversary of the corps was complete with fifty candles, the first of which was lighted by Mrs. David Law, one of the oldest members of the corps. Mrs. Law, who is the grandmother of Bandmaster R. G. Routley also had the honor of cutting the cake, pieces of which were distributed to everyone present at the evening rally as they left the Temple.

Special Music

Service of praise was again one of the outstanding items of the meeting and the band and the songsters contributed in no small measure. Special musical items included, a vocal solo by Mrs. Mendel Braund, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Stan Richardson, A.T.C.M., and selections by the saxophone party composed of band members.

Mrs. (Adjutant) Greene of Toronto, a former officer of Peterborough Corps read the scripture lesson, while Sergeant Major J. Brockenshire of Felelon Falls (one of the first officers here) voiced his appreciation upon renewing old friendships. Greetings from former officers now stationed in Toronto were brought by Colonel A. J. Jacobs, who it is interesting to note was at one time serving as a Lieutenant at Lossiemouth the birthplace of Ramsay Macdonald, Prime Minister of Great Britain.

Commissioner McIntyre mentioned Ramsay Macdonald among the scores of notabilities whom he has met in various parts of the world, and he recalled that at a dinner in London the Prime Minister had inquired about "Lieutenant" Jacobs, whom he remembered as an Army worker in his native town over forty years previously.

Officers' Council.

Yesterday afternoon Commissioner McIntyre conducted an officers' council meeting, when officers were present from the whole of the East Toronto Division. Those registered were: Ensign G. Russell and Lieut. Sharp, Napanee; Adjutant and Mrs. W. Martin, Belleville; Adjutant and Mrs. Neil Warrandr and Adjutant Amy Wood, of Peterborough; Adjutant and Mrs. C. W. Hiltz, Kingston; Captain and Mrs. W. K. Houslander, Campbellford; Captain N. Pedler, Port Hope; Lieut. H. Rawlins, Tweed; Captain W. T. Hawks, Picton; Captain T. Foulton, Trenton; Major Harry Hurd, Toronto; Captain and Mrs. W. W. Lorimer, Cobourg; Major (Mrs.) Highmore, Oshawa; Captain and Mrs. P. M. Simester, Lindsay.

Among the visiting officers was Captain L. Hanson, private secretary to the Commissioner.

Haliburton Rail Coach Jumps Rails; Passengers Assist Putting It Back

LINDSAY, April 16. —(CP)—The Irondale, Bancroft & Ottawa Railway, which runs from here through Haliburton County to Bancroft, met with the crowning indignity of its career on a recent trip, it was learned today.

West of Howland Junction a coach jumped the track, by way of preliminary. But, with the assistance of passengers, it was lifted back on the rails. Reaching Tory Hill, the engine appeared to have developed a bad cough, and on a grade just west of the village one cylinder gave out. The crew began urging the train on, at a not too dizzying pace.

One passenger, however, happened to know the assistant road foreman, and sighted him with his hand-car a short distance up the track. Jumping from the train, the passenger rushed up ahead, boarded the hand-car, and offered his assistance to the road employee.

The train was five hours late; the hand-car got in two hours ahead of it.

POLISH HATRED FLARES OPENLY AGAINST NAZIS

One German is Slain, Many Wounded and 100 Shops Wrecked by Mobs.

IN CORRIDOR AREA.

GDYNIA, Poland, April 16 (A.P.).—Reinforced police squads patrolled communities in Pomorze (the Polish corridor) to-day as a precaution against renewed outbreaks of anti-German rioting.

Violent disorders of the last few days have left one Nazi dead, several seriously wounded, about 100 shops wrecked and scores of windows smashed in the homes of members of the German minority.

Note of Regret.

A German official spokesman expressed the opinion the Reich Government has made no decision on what steps to take in view of the demonstrations. It was explained the Polish Government possibly hopes to avert a German protest by a "quick note of regret."

The demonstrations started Sunday in Wejherowo, a town of 9,000, after the Polish burgomaster addressed a meeting of several thousand Poles protesting against organization of the German minority.

The Burgomaster repeatedly referred to suppression of the Polish minority during the Parliamentary election in the free city of Danzig. After singing the National Anthem, howling mob of several thousand, shouting "Out with Germans," and "Down with German dogs," marched through the town.

Police were unable to cope with the situation after cries of "Smash the German shops" and the firing of several shots provided the signal for hotheads to break down a wall near a cemetery and throw bricks into show windows, business houses and the homes of Germans. Property owners attempting to defend their premises were severaly beaten and dispersed by a barrage of stones thrown by the mob.

Fatal Stabbing

About the same time, 40 young Poles in nearby Kack, armed with knives and daggers, smashed windows and broke in the doors of a German restaurant. Friz Groehn, a German, was stabbed and his father and several others seriously wounded. Groehn died later in a hospital.

After this attack, the demonstrators marched to the home of a merchant named Kuehl, threw furniture from the windows and wounded the householder.

Fishermen?

TRENTON, April 16 (C.P.).—Those fellows who follow the hatchery trucks and cast their lines in streams freshly stocked with fish were stymied by the State to-day. Governor Hoffman signed a law to prohibit fishing in any stream less than 48 hours after it is stocked.

H. J. Burlington, secretary of the Fish and Game Commission, said in the past many fishermen had been having excellent luck pulling in big, handsome fish almost as soon as they enter the stream.

HYDRO SETTLES AN ABITIBI BILL

Will Pay Electrical Firms For Equipment in Canyon Development.

$1,660,000 INVOLVED.

TORONTO, April 16—The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario announces the consummation of a settlement with the Canadian General Electric Company, Limited, covering its claim and the claim of the Canadian Allis-Chalmers Limited against the Ontario Power Service Corporation, Limited, with respect to generators, transformers, switching, etc., supplied by the Canadian General Electric Company, Limited, and turbines, governors and other hydraulic equipment supplied by the Canadian Allis-Chalmers, Limited, for the Abitibi Canyon power development.

The total amount for which the settlement has been made is $1,660,000. Under the terms of the agreement the contractors will proceed with the completion of the installation of the generating equipment, as originally planned, for five main units. The amount of money which will be spent by the contractors in connection with this work is estimated to be approximately $150,000, while the amount which will be expended by the Commission in connection therewith will be some $225,000. It is expected that the completion of these contracts together with the contemporary works will result in the employment of approximately 100 men, and will require about six months to complete.

After the above settlement there will remain to be settled claims amounting to approximately $250,000.

JUBILEE SINGERS DELIGHT AUDIENCE

Cavan Community Hall Well Filled to Hear Southern Singers.

CAVAN, April 16 (Examiner Correspondence) — Cavan Community Hall was well filled on Saturday evening for the concert given by the "Carolina Jubilee Singers" under the auspices of the W.A. of Cavan United Church. The program which was entertaining and well rendered was divided into three parts. The first part comprised plantation songs. The second part spiritual numbers—old camp meeting songs—given in solos and quartets. In the third part the four singers and pianist were dressed as they would be when picking cotton and doing other work on their southern plantation homes.

Each one contributed a recitation or song and all chatted about their customs and camp meeting experiences, in this way giving other audience a glimpse of the life lived by their ancestors, in the south.

Their beautiful singing delighted the large audience which had assembled to hear them.

They kindly remained over to sing at the Sunday service at eleven a.m.

Mount Pleasant and Ebenezer appointments withdrew their regular services and worshipped with Cavan. The church was filled to capacity, chairs having to be placed in the aisles.

On Sunday morning they contributed two beautiful numbers, one being an Easter anthem.

FRANCE THROWS NEW SENSATION BEFORE LEAGUE

Laval Plans Revival of Original Resolution Criticising German Re-armament.

WANTS CONDEMNATION.

Roads to Arms For Austria, Bulgaria, Hungary Appears Rough.

(By Joseph E. Sharkey.)
(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press.)

GENEVA, April 16. — Pierre Laval, French Foreign Minister created a sensation in League of Nations circles to-day by announcing he plans to revive the original French draft of a resolution criticizing Germany's unilateral treaty repudiation through her rearmament program.

The French decision was said to have been prompted by Laval's inability to reach an agreement on the text of a resolution in private conversations with members of the Council.

France has decided, it was said, she prefers to get condemnation of Germany's act even if supported only by a section of the Council rather than have a unanimously endorsed resolution of more moderate tone.

Danish and Polish opposition to vigor of the French proposals was said to constitute the principal obstacle to France's design.

The road to rearmament for Austria, Hungary, and Bulgaria likewise appeared far from smooth. While foreseeing eventual sanction for the military objectives of the three central European nations, a French spokesman said the Little Entente is still hesitant, feeling there is more security in disarmed neighbors than in the proposed Danubian pact.

Hungary further blocked the projected negotiations for her rearmament when a Hungarian spokesman said his country refused to accept conditions in advance.

Hungary, he said, feels she is entitled to unqualified rearmament now Germany has shaken off her military restrictions and any negotiation for security pacts should come afterwards as a separate matter.

This attitude is in direct opposi-

FARM LOAN ACT AGAIN DELAYED BY OPPOSITION

Rail Guarantees in $18,000,000 Public Works Program Are Criticized.

TUNNEL FOR TORONTO.

House Votes 75 to 35 to Adjourn Wednesday for Long Holiday.

OTTAWA, April 16. —(C.P.) — Working against time the Government seeks to get two measures through the House of Commons today in order to have them operative during the Parliamentary adjournment which starts to-morrow. Both are designed to improve economic conditions in Canada. One is the new Public Works Bill; the other amends the Farm Loan Act.

Snag on Loan Act.

A deadlock with the Senate on amendments to the Farm Loan Act developed when the Upper House made a long list of changes. Last week Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, moved their adoption in the Lower House with one exception. He said he believed the Senate would not insist on this point. Again last night he sought to get the measure through. On both occasions Opposition members protested against the Senate amendments and pressed for extended consideration.

The Public Works Bill is designed to put some $33,000,000 in circulation through wages and materials. This is in addition to the $60,000,000 voted last year, of which nearly $30,000,000 remains to be expended, although nearly all of it has been earmarked under contracts.

$18,000,000 Public Works.

The Bill introduced yesterday by Hon. Hugh Stewart, Minister of Public Works, provides $18,000,000 for construction works. The larger

WARSAW PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH SITE OF INITIAL CONVENTION

First Sunday School Conference For Dummer Held in 1889.

MEETINGS RECALLED.

WARSAW, April 16.—(Examiner Correspondence)).—The first Sabbath School convention for the township of Dummer was held in the Presbyterian Church, Warsaw, on March 5, 1889. The following persons were elected to office: Samuel Edwards, president; Alexander Watts, secretary-treasurer; committee, Alexander Smith, A. R. Kidd, A. F. Choate, Thomas Campbell.

The president congratulated upon the object of the meeting, and also the large attendance, which spoke well for Sabbath School work.

The chairman called on the Rev. T. McEwen, of Lakefield to address the meeting. Mr. McEwen spoke of the history of Sabbath School conventions from the commencement down to the present.

A. Day, secretary of the Provincial Sunday School Association, was the next person called upon to address the meeting on Sabbath School work. Two sessions were held, afternoon and evening.

Schools Reported.

The following schools were reported: Zion, Methodist, Superintendent John Hunter, open for six months, postoffice Hall's Glen; Bethel, Methodist, Superintendent Jacob White, open for six months, postoffice Warsaw; Warsaw, Methodist, Superintendent A. R. Kidd, postoffice Warsaw, open all the year; Warminster, Union, Superintendent Samuel Edwards, postoffice Warsaw, open all the year; Warsaw, Baptist, Superintendent Thomas Campbell, postoffice Warsaw, open all the year; Warsaw, Presbyterian, Rev. R. Hyde superintendent, postoffice Warsaw, open all the year.

Afternoon collection, $3.27; evening collection, $3.97. Total, $7.24.

The above collection was handed to Mr. McEwen to help pay off the indebtedness of the county convention. Five dollars was levied on Dummer towards county convention expenses. Six dollars was raised and sent on to Mr. Sherin, of Lakefield, for the above purpose, subscribed as follows: Baptist school, $1; three Methodist schools, $3; Union school, $1, and Presbyterian school, $1.

Provincial Program.

On October 4, the following letter was received by the secretary from Mr. McEwen:

"Lakefield, Oct. 3, 1889.

"Dear Sir,—

"I enclose a copy of the program of the provincial Sunday School convention and request that, if possible, a delegate representing the township association be appointed to go to Toronto. It will do good to the convention, the township and the representative, and Toronto is as near as can be expected. Many thanks for the liberal contribution from Dummer. Consult the president and others. And oblige.

"Yours truly,

"JOHN McEWEN."

A meeting of the Sunday School executive was held at Mr. Choate's in the evening of October 6. Moved by A. F. Choate, seconded by A. Smith, that the Rev. T. Power be appointed to represent this township at the Provincial Sunday School Association to be held at Toronto. Carried.

In the matter of holding a convention amongst ourselves, it was left to the Revs. Mr. Power, Hyde and Peer to draw up a program and appoint the time and place for holding convention.

A meeting of the Sunday School executive was held at Mr. Choate's on January 6, 1890, for the purpose of arranging for an annual Sunday School convention. Moved by A. R. Kidd, seconded by A. Smith, that this body hold a convention at such time as will suit Mr. McEwen and Mr. Day. Carried.

As soon as it is known when they could attend, the executive will meet again for further arrangements.

On January 11, 1890, the following letter was received from the county secretary:

"Lakefield, Jan. 9, 1890.

"My Dear Sir,—

"Permit me to suggest that it would be desirable to get the members of the Township Sunday School Association together this month and come to some decision about time and place of holding the annual convention; also program and persons desired to make a profitable and practical convention. I may say that I and Mr. McFarlane, the president, will render you all the help we can. I am,

"Yours fraternally,

"JOHN McEWEN."

This suggested meeting was held on February 15, 1890. All plans laid and accepted, and the second Dummer Sunday School convention was held in the Methodist Church, Warsaw. For this there was a printed program, headed "The Second Annual Sabbath School Convention of the Township of Dummer."

These printed programs, up to the tenth, are numbered, after that the numbering being omitted, and after the tenth only a few of these printed programs are preserved in the old secretary's book.

CAMPBELLFORD

Choice Muskrat Pelts Bring $1.25 Per Hide

CAMPBELLFORD, April 16 (Examiner Correspondence). — As the muskrat season advances, out-of-town buyers are scouring the district camps for hides and offering $1.05-$1.10 and as high as $1.25 for extra choice pelts. While not as plentiful as previous seasons, one young trapper who is anxious to buy a bicycle with the proceeds has already ten to his credit. Local buyers paid $1.25 straight on Monday and quoted $1.35 for extra choice grades.

No Christmas Treat

CHICAGO, April 16.—Circuit Judge Finnegan is no phrenologist. But he could tell from the bumps on David Gibb's head that Gibb was going to get a divorce. And the bumps weren't even there.

They had been, though. Thomas H. Davy and Albert Hall testified to that and showed the judge exactly how large they had been.

That was important, because Gibb, who weighs 130 pounds, said his wife put them there with her fist. She weighs 185 pounds. The judge said that was sufficient grounds for divorce, particularly in view of the fact that Gibb said his wife had beaten him for Christmas and Valentine's Day in their home at 6619 Greenwood Avenue.

FARM LOAN ACT AGAIN DELAYED

specific items are $1,000,000 for the railway grade separation fund, $3,500,000 for deepening Montreal harbor, $1,250,000 for deepening Quebec harbor, $1,000,000 for a tunnel between the mainland and the island at Toronto, $1,000,000 for geological surveys and investigations and $1,500,000 for the building of the Golden-Revelstoke section of the Trans-Canada Highway in British Columbia.

In addition the Bill authorizes the Government to guarantee loans by the two railway companies for the purchase of equipment to the extent of $15,000,000 and to pay the interest on the loans for the first two years. Of this amount the Canadian National Railways share is $8,000,000 and the Canadian Pacific share $7,000,000.

Guarantees Attached.

Little criticism was heard of the building program, but Opposition members were critical of guarantees to the railways. Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, assured the House no compulsion would be used, and if the railways did not want the equipment they did not need to take it. Both had postponed buying new cars and locomotives in recent years owing to falling business and were somewhat in need of new rolling stock and repairs. Part of the money would be spent in the shops operated by the two railway companies, but most of the new equipment required would be bought from private companies.

E. G. Garland, United Farmer member for Bow River, looked upon the measure as a smoke screen to cover further Government assistance to the Canadian Pacific Railway. He said the Canadian National had kept up its maintenance work and did not need new equipment, whereas the C.P.R. had done no maintenance work during the depression, and was now short of equipment.

The question of amalgamation of the railways was thrown into the discussion in the way of criticism of E. W. Beatty, president of the C.P.R., for his speeches favoring joint operation.

"Public Enemy No. 1"

Mr. Beatty was described as Canada's public enemy number one for his attacks on the Canadian National system by F. G. Sanderson (Lib., South Perth) who called on the Government to stop the propaganda or combat it.

The Western Ontario Liberal claimed Mr. Beatty was attempting to poison the minds of the people against their own railway and to depreciate it so his company eventually could gobble it up and operate the two systems in Canada.

Dr. Manion told the House the Government had no power to and never had attempted to prevent Hon. C. P. Fullerton, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Canadian National, from answering Mr. Beatty. He said he believed it Mr. Fullerton's duty to correct misstatements of fact about the Canadian National but thought the wisdom of the two railway heads engaging in a debate would be questionable, especially as the law absolutely forbade amalgamation, the Government was opposed to it and, despite Mr Beatty's efforts, public opinion was still opposed to it.

Mr. Sanderson urged that new equipment for the C.N.R. be built in railway shops so that as many men as possible might be given work. Repairs also should be done in railway shops, spreading the work as far as possible.

He read letters and telegrams from Stratford, Ont. C.N.R. employees urging the work be one in the shops and claiming they owrked short hours and suffered layoffs.

The One Solution

The return of normal conditions in Canada will solve the problems of the C.N.R. and C.P.R., Mr. Sanderson predicted. In the meantime, no insidious efforts to undermine the C.N.R. should be allowed to gain that objective.

The new equipment orders should not be passed out to private companies, said Mr. Sanderson. Every dollar of the money provided should be spent in Canadian National shops.

Dr. Manion assured Mr. Sanderson no coercion of the railway was involved. Shopmen in the railway shops had received much work during the depression although not full time, while employees of private equipment plants had received no work for five years. It was the opinion of the Government the work should be divided as the equipment plants were originally opened at the request of the two railways.

Hon. D. Euler (Lib., Waterloo North) said he would not discuss amalgamation as both the Government and Opposition were committed to an opposite policy. Mr. Bennett had said the solution of the railway problems was necessary to a return of prosperity. If that were so the Government was inconsistent in sponsoring a program to restore prosperity while doing nothing about the railway question.

No Equipment Needed?

The president of the railway had said the equipment was not needed, said Mr. Euler, and it was hard to reconcile that statement with the position of the Government, particularly as Dr. Manion had sharply criticized the former Government for permitting the Canadian National to make needless expenditures.

Explaining the Government's works bill, Mr. Stewart told the House he did not think the measure would be controversial because unemployment relief by public works had been so generally advocated. He said practically all the large works under last year's $40,000,000 program had been started and during the year practically all the sum would be expended.

The new bill provides for an expenditure of $18,000,000 on public works besides guarantees to the two railway companies to enable them to obtain equipment.

Mr. Stewart believed the program would provide much employment as for each man actually employed on the construction of a building and that it was safe to assume three others would be given work on the supply of materials.

Vote To Adjourn.

The House voted 75 to 35 to adjourn Wednesday after Liberal Leader Mackenzie King renewed his protest against a long Easter adjournment and a late general election.

Mr. King spoke when a motion came up to adjourn the House until May 20. Sir George Perley, acting Prime Minister, said Mr. King's remarks were out of order as the question had been debated before and he would make no reply.

The adjournment motion carried by 75 votes to 35.

There would be no doubt the present Government had lost the confidence of the people, and that it was merely trying to prolong its days in the hope of some last minute miracle enabling it to win the election, argued Mr. King. An election year was always bad for business, because of uncertainty as to Government policy, and the sooner the uncertainty was ended the sooner economic revival would come about.

Our King and Queen on their Silver Jubilee

King George is Most Accessible Monarch in History.

The task that faced King George after his ascension to the throne in 1910, was to break down a certain feeling of resentment against royalty that had developed throughout Great Britain.

Queen Victoria, a great Queen, had nevertheless not been very popular; King Edward, while he achieved greater popularity with his people, was faced with a movement, supported by Joe Chamberlain, to establish a republic. King Edward, a master in foreign courts, was confused by issues at home and it is recorded that he several times contemplated abdication.

Thus when King George, a new person to the British people, ascended the throne, he did so at a difficult time. It is said that the Empire knew him better than the people of the British Isles, for during his term as Prince of Wales he had travelled extensively.

But King George not only overcame these obstacles, but he gradually pushed them into discard as he made his personality felt.

As a Prince he was wont to mingle in close association with the people. He is known as the most accessible King in British history. Not a child in Britain but knows him at sight. Children were a weakness with the King and he never failed at the slightest excuse to encourage them.

A few years ago, this picture was erroneously used in connection with a story of the King to portray resentment on the part of his people to Britain's royal family. It caused a considerable stir at the time, but its true meaning carries with it a feeling diametrically opposite to resentment.

FRANCE THROWS NEW SENSATION

tion to the stand of France and the little and Balkan ententes as officially stated in last night's communique.

In view of the dissension in Central Europe, French circles reported the Balkan and Little Ententes are likely to sign bi-lateral mutual assistanve pacts with Austria and Italy in the conference scheduled at Rome late in May or possibly even earlier.

Laval's Stand

Foreign Minister Laval is understood to have given a colleague the following exposition of his position:

"I prefer to renounce unanimity than to get a rosewater text. I prefer to give the nations open opportunity to take a position on the question at issue."

There were indications the draft resolution would follow closely the lines of the tripartite declaration at Stresa, which "regretfully recognized that method of unilateral repudiation adopted by the German government, when steps had been taken to promote a freely negotiated settlement on the question of armaments, had undetermined public confidence in the security of peaceful order."

Hurried talks were held by Laval and Joseph M. Beck, Polish foreign minister, concerning Poland's attitude toward the French resolution.

Test for Poland

French circles see in the prospective vote a test of whether Poland is throwing her political interest into the camp of Germany or France.

Meanwhile League circles saw Danish Schleswig, which has a strong German minority, beginning to loom up as one of the "tender" spots of Europe.

Observers find Denmark's pronounced hostility to any castigation in Schleswig where Nazis are said to be steadily increasing their influence.

The official explanaton of Denmark's objection to any criticism of Germany is Denmark refuses blindly to follow the great powers. A Danish spokesman said: "Germany has the right to rearm and should not be blamed."

SPRING WORK STARTED IN HASTINGS DISTRICT

HASTINGS, April 16 (Examiner Correspondence)—Spring work was commenced during the past two weeks, many fields being ploughed and a number of fields of wheat sown. Although the ground is working up in good shape, the rain of Friday was badly needed, the air and ground being too cold for growth. Since the rain the grass has cast its green shade. The farmers are anxious for sunshine and warmer weather on account of the shortage of feed. Some farmers are practically out of feed and many loads of straw are being sold and hauled for feed. The cold east winds have proved harmful to the fall grains and clover.

The syrup season is over, the sap buckets being gathered and stored away. A splendid run has been recorded, some of the largest makers producing from 80 to 100 gallons with a very small demand for sale.

ROTARIANS TO ATTEND SOCIAL

Inter-City Ladies' Night Will Be Held in Cobourg May 9th.

NOMINATION DAY.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 16 (Examiner Correspondence). — Monday was Nomination Day at the Campbellford Rotary Club. Vice-President C. B. Williams occupied the chair and after welcoming Rotarian Carmen Windrim who, due to an accident had been an absentee for the past few months, introduced the new member, R. N. Balfour, who succeeded President Stanley Neal as manager of the Royal Bank and who will be known to Rotarians as "Balf."

Vice-President Williams then told of an invitation to an inter-city Ladies' Night which will be held at St. Peter's Parish Hall, at Cobourg on the night of Thursday, May 9th, and which would be attended by members of clubs including Trenton, Oshawa, Whitby, Port Hope, Peterborough, Cobourg, Belleville and Napanee. As the majority of the members were in favor accepting the invitation a committee composed of Secretary E. C. Dolman and Rotarian R. N. Balfour received instructions to visit Cobourg and make the necessary arrangements. The affair will be in the favor of a banquet, dance and for those who do not dance, a grand musical entertainment will be held in the concert hall.

Highway Signs

The subject of Rotary wheels used for signs on the highways then came up for discussion. Rotarian Charles Calver stated that he would see that the wheels were brought in and given the necessary repair and suggested that it might be advisable to replace the present signs with metal ones so that they would stand the weather. A committee composed of Rotarians Arthur Armour, Dwight Bennett and Steve Maguire was appointed to attend to the matter with power to act. The next order of business was receiving nominations for president, secretary and board of directors; decisions to be made on Monday, May 13th. The voting was brisk. Rotarians Calver and Craighead acted as returning officers and promptly gave the results as follows: Abram Rappaport, Arthur Armour, Dwight Bennett, E. H. Greig, E. C. Dolman, Carmen Windrim and Charles Calver, (Messrs. Calver and Windrim being tied, the latter withdrew) leaving the required six in the field.

During the interval of counting the ballots, Cheer Leader Elie Brunelle enlivened proceedings with community singing, and introduced at least two new numbers which he said would require another rehearsal.

Luncheon will be held on Easter Monday as usual, when it is expected that President Stanley Neale, now of Dundas, will preside as the head of the table. After the reading of the secretary's report, the meeting adjourned.

RADIO'S POPULARITY INCREASES.

While the complete returns for the fiscal year ending with March 31 are not yet available, the fact that for the first eleven months of that year showed that 798,810 radio licenses were issued in Canada, the highest total for any similar period, demonstrates clearly that the popularity of radio in Canada is on the increase.

During the first eleven months of the previous fiscal year 105,932 fewer licenses were taken, which means that in the one year the total of licensed receiving sets increased by 15.3 per cent.

Sale of new made-in-Canada radios tell the same story, for in the calendar year 1934 they amounted to 167,177 sets at a total value of $7,344,635, an increase of 39.1 per cent. in volume and 36.4 per cent. in value over the figures for 1933.

There was also an increase of over 50 per cent. in the number of radios imported in Canada last year.

Judging from the number of licenses issued, Canada last year possessed one receiving set for every 13.6 persons in the country, and there is every reason to believe that the saturation point has not by any means been reached.

While large numbers of sets are withdrawn from operation each year, there is an even greater increase in the number of new radios sold, so that it is safe to say that at the present time there are more sets in use than at any time in the history of the Dominion.

It is evident that it will not be long before the number of licenses issued will reach the million mark, representing a revenue of two millions a year from this source.

JUST ONE OF THE DIFFICULTIES.

Some of the lions that lie in the path of negotiating a workable reciprocal trade agreement between the United States and Canada may be visualized from what has been going on in certain districts in the state of Maine where the potato-growers are carrying on an active propaganda aimed at preventing the importation of Canadian potatoes either under a reciprocity pact or through the lowering of the present tariff.

It is stated that a deluge of letters has been received by the State Department at Washington from Maine school children protesting against any proposal that would cause a rush of Canadian potatoes across the border. The efficacy of these protests is only slightly affected by the fact that in the case of one large consignment of letters from a particular high school it was found that they all were identical in text, although each bore a different signature.

The incident clearly illustrates the difficult situation that will confront the Governments of the two countries when they set themselves seriously to the task of arriving at a workable agreement.

Canada is most vitally concerned in seeking markets in the United States for her surplus of farm products, but any trend in that direction will, as this Maine story shows, meet with strenuous opposition from American farmers.

On the other hand, Uncle Sam would like to sell more of his manufactured articles in this country, an ambition certain to be hotly opposed by Canadian manufacturers and by industrial workers on this side of the line, who would see in the move a menace to their jobs.

NOT AN OPPORTUNE TIME.

With municipalities finding it a difficult matter to balance their budgets and keep going, this would seem to be decidedly inopportune time for the bill introduced in the Legislature by Ian Strachan, one of the Toronto Liberal members, compelling all municipalities with a population of more than 10,000 establishing a three-platoon system in their fire departments.

Under this measure the present two-platoon plan, which calls for firemen to work in two twelve-hour periods, would give way to three complete shifts of eight hours each.

Obviously the change would add substantially to the cost of operating a fire department as it would necessitate the engagement of more men. Ottawa estimates that the additional cost in that city would be $126,000 a year, and there would be proportionate increases in overhead in all the cities affected by Mr. Strachan's bill.

There is no pressing demand for the three-platoon system at the present time, for while the twelve-hour shift may be considered long, the fact remains that with firemen alternating between the day and night shifts and with men on the latter shift provided with dormitories and allowed to sleep at night, the conditions are not particularly onerous, and large numbers of men would be glad of an opportunity to secure positions in the fire-fighting forces under such circumstances.

In any event the municipal financial picture is certainly too drab to permit any serious consideration being given to a proposal that would represent an immediate and serious increase in the cost of civic government.

The time may come when the three-platoon system will be adopted, but the situation that prevails to-day precludes any immediate prospect of a change in that direction.

THE BRITISH BUDGET.

There seems only one conclusion justified from a perusal of Neville Chamberlain's budget presented to the British Parliament yesterday, and that is that sturdy, reliable old John Bull is leading the parade back to complete recovery.

With lowered income tax, increased exemptions an estimated surplus of £5,610,000 at the end of the current fiscal year, and a restoration of pay cuts to civil servants, bringing salaries back to their 1931 level, Mr. Chamberlain has given substantial proof of his belief in his statement that "the past year has been characterized by a substantial advance toward recovery."

The British taxes are still staggering compared, for example, to our own, but the Chancellor has been able to lift a little of the burden of those who occupy the lowest brackets and to raise the income tax exemption from $729 to $839 in the case of married persons and to increase the exemption for each child.

Particularly encouraging were Mr. Chamberlain's references to general conditions in the United Kingdom.

"The improvement in trade," he declared, "has reached right down to the purchasing power of the people."

During the last year there was an increase of about 12 per cent. in industrial output, with British manufacturing production attaining a new all-time high record, while exports increased nearly $145,000,000.

Mr Chamberlain pictured improved living conditions and a general betterment that justified his claim of a "substantial advance toward recovery."

It is to be imagined that more than one minister of finance outside of Britain will hear of this budget with a considerable amount of envy.

HOW TO LIVE TO BE 100.

These centenarians get more confusing every day

A Mitchell woman who is 101 rises at half-past four every morning and attributes her long life to early rising.

No doubt she goes to bed early and has her eight hours, but what's the use of living to 100 if one goes to bed early in the evening and gets up in the middle of the night?

Another centenarian will say that the secret of long life is to not get up early.

One will say that long life is only attained by total abstinence and no smoking. Yet there are plenty centenarians who will claim that a "nightcap" and plenty of good tobacco kept them in perfect health.

So there can be no hard and fast rule for reaching the 100th year. What suits one person does not suit another. If total abstinence from alcohol and tobacco are the secrets, then there are thousands of people in Ontario who ought to live to 100 but won't.

Largely it depends primarily on a sound constitution, moderation in eating and drinking, plenty of fresh air and exercise—and freedom from organic ailments and worry.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

THE TREND OF FARM PRICES.

Almost since the beginning of the depression the disequilibrium between prices of farm products and the prices of the things the farmer has to buy has been emphasized as among the unfavorable factors preventing a recovery. More recently, however, there has been a gradual drawing together of these two elements, and the fact that this is so has undoubtedly contributed greatly to such degree of recovery as has been seen.

In its monthly letter for April the Royal Bank of Canada states that it is a notable sign of recovery that, since the beginning of 1932, farm prices have advanced by more than 50 per cent., in Canada and by more than 75 per cent. in the United States. Throughout 1933 and 1934 the rise was rapid and reasonably consistent, except for the brief periods in the autumn after the harvests. In the early part of 1935 this same trend is being maintained, and within the past six months the price of cattle, for instance, has almost doubled in the United States and increased by 30 per cent. in Canada.

On the whole, it is not unnatural that the prices of farm products suffer disproportionately in time of depression. Agriculture is not under the relatively centralized control which prevails in industry and the individual farmer is compelled to meet falling income with redoubled efforts to increase production.

The rise in the index of farm prices is indicative of a recovery in the purchasing power of the farmer, and, in itself, indicates the probability of a constant stimulus to industry as the result of steadily increasing farm purchases. As farmers are able to buy more goods, the purchasing power of the city will also increase and this in turn will be reflected in further increases in the purchases of farm products. The cumulative effect of the constructive forces at work during recovery is of as great positive influence as were the destructive forces which accentuated the decline,

The drought which reduced the North American harvests of 1933 and 1934 is responsible for no small share in this advance in farm prices. As an offset against the gain in the price indices of farm products stands the loss of volume of production occasioned by that drought. Both because of this factor and because of heavy fixed charges, such as taxes and mortgage interest that have not declined with the price level, the index of farm prices is not a true index of farm purchasing power. Further advances in the prices of farm products are necessary before the farmer can make heavy contributions toward general recovery.

Reduction in the total volume of production represents a direct decrease in the total volume of wealth in the world. No intelligent thinker is in sympathy with schemes put forward to reduce total volume of production by rigid control. In a period, however, when there was extreme disequilibrium between the various types of production, drastic reductions in agricultural output have been a material element in the restoration of equilibrium.

Since the last crop most of the central area of the United States has had less than 75 per cent. of normal precipitation, and there are large areas where the precipitation has been less than 50 per cent. of normal. In these circumstances it is highly improbable that the harvests of the coming autumn will be of normal volume. For the farmers in the areas most seriously affected there will be no relief measures which can offset their losses, but probably the agricultural community of the United States as a whole will be able to sell their products at high prices. Over most areas in Canada moisture conditions have been reasonably satisfactory this past winter. If the United States should need wheat from the Canadian West and oats and hay from Ontario and Eastern Canada during the coming year, Canadian farmers will be among the first to receive the benefits of a rise in the general level of prices.—Monetary Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

In spite of the weather conditions, the opening of the big league ball season, scheduled for to-day, means that summer is actually just around the corner.

The Ontario Legislature has decided to have a portrait painted of former Premier George S. Henry It has not been stated, however, whether or not he will appear in overalls.

Winnipeg Monarchs have won the junior hockey championship of the Dominion, another sign that the worst of the depression in the West is over.

With the Legislature about to prorogue and the Federal Parliament to take a long recess for Easter, there should be a welcome respite from politics for at least a few weeks.

LETTER FROM WOODSWORTH

The following reply has been received by J. H. Burnham from J. S. Woodsworth following letter of Mr. Burnham's in which he made several proposals to the C.C.F. Leader.

Dear Mr. Burnham:

Sometimes I am inclined to think that those who are opposed to socialism have hardly realized just what socialism is. A great many people have jumped to the conclusion that it is a bureaucracy; that it involves the dividing up of wealth, and so on. I am inclined to think that we get the best conception of it if we consider it as simply a corrective to extreme individualism, and the next step in a long series of developments.

May I venture to refer you to a recent pamphlet by Mr. Fred Henderson which, I believe, is a very good statement of the position of British socialism, This pamphlet can be procured from our C.C.F. headquarters in Toronto, 146 King St. West, price 25 cents.

With regard to your proposals—if you would add one or two more I would be quite satisfied with such a program, but as I see the matter, if these things were brought in the system would be no longer that of capitalism, and for the life of me I cannot see how they can be introduced under the present system. Only this morning, in our Banking and Commerce Committee, the whole underlying question was revealed very clearly in the desire of the mortgage companies to make their profits, and the impossibility of doing it under conditions which now prevail in Canada. The fact is that on every side we meed with what the socialist economists used to call "the inherent contradictions of capitalism." These in my judgment can be overcome only by the introduction of what is essentially another system founded on other principles than those which now dominate.

Yours sincerely,
J. S. Woodsworth.

To the above Mr. Burnham replies that the C.C.F. policy is either the present free competition policy or it is not. It cannot be both. But that it is refreshing to find a party more anxious for the general public weal than for selfish party advantage and that the disappearance of the giants of the old days has been the result of Tammany and has resulted in disaster.

What's in the Name of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

NIAGARA FALLS, ONTARIO

When the first suspension bridge was built across the Niagara chasm in 1894, a few homes were built at the Canadian end and the name, Elgin, selected in honor of the governor-general, was applied to the hamlet.

In 1856 the village was incorporated as the town of Clifton, this name being taken from a small subdivision which was included in the newly incorporated town. The moving spirit and promoter in the phenomenal growth of the place was Sam Zimmerman, who may justly be regarded as the father of the town.

Niagara Falls Village, which was included in the newly-incorporated town, had its inception after the battle of Lundy's Lane in 1814, when a settlement sprang up at the junction of Lundy's Lane and the old Portage road. This new settlement was named Drummondsville, in honor of Sir Gordon Drummond, hero of the battle of Lundy's Lane. Upon incorporation as a village it adopted the name, Niagara Falls village, from the mammoth falls nearby.

THOMAS WOLFE does not write books. He writes volcanoes. He does not write novels. He writes passionate, clamorous, heart-breaking jeremiads...Did he ever hear of those good old words "simplicity" and "restraint"? No, he never did, he never did!...He is a leaping flame, a rushing flood, an army of bucking broncos. He is the Driven Man of American literature, the wild horse of the desert, the caged black leopard, the bitterly lonely, the intolerably desiring, maddeningly longing, fanatically dreaming, passionately outcrying giant of all the young writers of to-day...And if you do not believe what the Browser is saying, leap into his latest novel, "Of Time and the River," dive deep, come to the surface, choke and sputter and spout, and strike out for the further shore, nine hundred pages away. . . . An amazing book, an important book! As chaotic as Herman Melville's "Moby Dick"; as blustering, as defiantly masculine as Walt Whitman's "Leaves of Grass." Wolfe will remind you of Whitman, too, in his wild but more discriminating love of America.

Would you like an expression of the man? Read this:

"For what are we, brother. We are a plantom flare of grieved desire, the ghostling and phosphoric flicker of immortal time, a brevity of days haunted by the eternity of the earth. We are an unspeakable utterance, an insatiable hunger, an unquenchable thirst, a lust that bursts our sinews, explodes our brains, sickens and rots our guts, and rips our hearts asunder. We are a twist of passion, a moment's flame of love, an ecstacy, a sinew of bright blood and agony, a lost cry, a music of pain and joy, a haunting of brief sharp hours, an almost captured beauty, a demon's whisper of unbodied memory. We are the dupes of time."

Is any other young man, or any old man either, writing like that in America to-day?...No, they don't dare.... The Browser advises you to read "Of Time and the River." You'll be dizzied, angered, bored, shocked, but you will not put it down.

Tom Kromer wrote parts of his autobiography, "Waiting for Nothing," on cigarette papers in box cars, on the margins of religious tracts, in flop houses and even on a typewriter. A LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL ABOLISHED.

ON THIS DATE (April 16) in 1892 the Assembly of New Brunswick passed an Act abolishing the legislative council which had been in existence from the foundation of the colony in 178.. A year later Prince Edward Island determined to have only one chamber which left only Nova Scotia and Quebec with two Houses. It was not for lack of public sentiment against the council that Nova Scotia was burdened, for W. S. Fielding essayed its abolition early in the 90's without success, the council declining to abolish itself. Finally in 1926, Hon. E. N. Rhodes, then Provincial Premier, but now Minister of Finance of Canada, introduced a bill to abolish the council. It was rejected by the Upper House like other bills before, and Mr. Rhodes appealed to the courts, the Privy Council finally deciding that he could appoint enough additional councillors pledged to abolition to carry the execution bill. This was done and the Legislative Council of Nova Scotia was abolished May 31, 1928. Manitoba started with a legislative council but abolished it in 1876. Ontario started off without a council, as did Alberta and Saskatchewan, while in British Columbia confederation spelled the doom of the council which was converted into an assembly as one of the conditions of union with Canada.

One peculiar consequence has followed the abolition of the New Brunswick council. The records contain the dates of two sets of legislatures, the first from 1867 to 1892 and the latter from 1892, so that there are two first legislatures and so on down to the 7th. It is confusing to those who do not know the reason and one wonders why the legislators at Fredericton do not remove the confusion in some way.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

Disgusting as the idea of having a worm inside the body is, the life history of these parasites is extremely interesting. All of the tapeworms are bisexual (hermophroditic) and the one animal can produce a fertilized egg which is capable of developing into a new individual. Each segment of a tapeworm, indeed, is mostly reproductive organs; it contains no digestive system, because the worm absorbs all its nutriment from the food of its host, predigested.

A human being infected with a tapeworm cannot infect another human being. The eggs must undergo development in another animal. There are pork and beef tapeworms (the latter by far the more common in the United States) and the cycle of development is about the same in each. The mature segments or mature eggs are thrust out from the human intestine and lying on the grass or in the drinking water, are take in by the pig or cow. In the alimentary canal of the animal, the eggs develop into little embryo worms which get out into the blood vessels around the intestines and are carried to the animal's muscles. Here they form little cysts and develop into larval worms. Such meat is said to be "measly". When it is eaten in an incomplete state of cooking—that is, when the larvae are not killed—the larvae develop into mature worms in the new host's intestine.

The beef tapeworm may develop to a prodigious length—20 feet or over. The head is buried in the mucous membrane of the intestine and stays there by means of suckings discs or hooks. The pork tapeworm is called "taenia solium" because only one worm at a time develops in one person.

The symptoms of the presence of a tapeworm are very vague. The voracious appetite commonly ascribed to the association was not present in a large series of patients examined. But nervous indigestion and neurotic symptoms were common and cleared up on treatment. The diagnosis usually is made only when the patient notices that he has passed segments of a tapeworm.

Treatment Effectual

Treatment is simple and effectual if carried out properly. There are many drugs that will kill a tapeworm without doing any harm to the body, in proper dosage. One of the best is pelleterine sulphate, the active principle of pomegranate.

A French physician, Professor le Dantec, had a tapeworm of his own and studied the living segments that were passed, by putting them in bouillon cultures. When he added very dilute solutions of pelleterine sulphate, he killed the segment.

The important thing is to expose the head of the worm, give the lethal drug, and then wash the worm, head and all, out of the intestine while it is still groggy. The head may be groggy, but not dead, and come to life and dig itself in again.

A liquid diet and a preliminary dose of salts will expose the worm. The pelleterine is given in two doses and then 30 to 40 minutes later (the time Professor le Dantec found to be the period in which the drug would act) a stiff dose of Glauber's salts is given three or four times, at intervals of 15 minutes.

Other drugs may be used. A new one, hexylresorcinol, is effective and not poisonous to the host. In children, pumpkin seeds is an old and well-tried remedy.

THE EYE IN IT'S RELATION TO GENERAL DISEASE

By DR. T. P. McCULLOUGH, 166 Brock Street, Peterborough

WINKING

The act of winking is partly voluntary, partly reflex. Ordinarily winking is an involuntary reflex excited by stimulation of the small branches of the sensory part of the 5th nerve. Its function is to spread moisture over the eyeball and to direct any excess of moisture towards two small openings, one on the lower, the other on the upper lid, situated near the inner angle of the eye, and in this way conveys tears to the interior of the nose. The act of winking occurs about five to ten times per minute, but it varies within normal limits, and is affected by various conditions, such as local or general fatigue. So it must be increased or decreased in order to become a noticeable symptom.

Diminished winking is one of the symptoms of goitre and is an indication that the cornea (front part of eyeball) has lost its sensitiveness, whether by drops of cocaine solution or a paraylsis of the 5th nerve. Diminished winking is also a symptom of certain diseases of the nervous system such as Paralysis Agitans. Many healthy people show a peculiar vibratory tremor of the lids, when they keep their eyes closed. Such a tremor is an indication of exhaustion.

Twitching of the eyelids is a common occurrence, not only felt by the individual, but seen by others and is due to certain excesses, great fatigue, hard or near work of the eyes in persons who are anaemic.

If a person is unable to close his eye lids, it is an indication of a paralysis of the 7th nerve. Inability to open the eye lids is generally due to a spasmodic action of a muscle surrounding the eye lid, called the Orbicularis muscle. The spasm may be clonic, which is an accentuated form of winking. Clonic spasms may be due to irritation such as errors of vision or sight seen frequently in children, especially when anaemic or suffering from Chorea (St. Vitus Dance). Such children require general tonic treatment, arresting any local irritation of lids and correction of any errors of sight.

A tonic spasm indicates trouble on the surface of the lids, the presence of a small foreign body of scraping of the eye lashes (wild hairs) or an inflammatory conditions of the eyeball or lids. Sometimes it occurs as the result of a 5th nerve neuralgia, in herpes, disease of the mouth, nose, throat or decayed teeth. When the latter is a cause, it will disappear immediately after the extraction of a diseased tooth.

It is a symptom of certain forms of Epilepsy. It may be caused by trouble in the ear, by Meninigitis, sick headache or hysteria. Tonic spasms may simulate an unilateral drooping of the upper lid (called ptosis) by keeping the lids closed for a long time. Some old people suffer from tonic senile spasms that occurs at short periods, comes on suddenly and keeps the eyes closed for a long time. Attacks of this nature place old people in great danger, while walking on the street, when lids are suddenly closed rendering them practically blind for a time.

Probe Ill-Treatment Of 5 Girls At O.A.C.

GUELPH, Ont., April 16. (CP)—Dr. G. I. Christie, President of Ontario Agricultural College, today began investigation of reports five Kitchener girls were ill-treated when they visited the college last Sunday.

He withheld comment on the reports the faces of two of the girls had been painted with iodine, and that the other girls were taken in one of the buildings, forced to strip and parade in a darkened room while a flashlight played on them.

"I don't know a thing about it, but I am calling a conference," said Dr. Christie. "Enquiries I have made at my office since I came back only five minutes ago reveal absolutely nothing regarding the matter."

REASONABLE PRICES

LIGHT WEAKNESS IN INDUSTRIALS

Volume Normal in Nickel, Brazilian, Smelters and Ford A.

FOODS SELL OFF.

TORONTO, April 16. (CP).—A moderate downward revision of the price level developed to-day on the industrial section of the Toronto exchange with volume small generally, about normal in the oils as well as Nickel, Brazilian, Smelters, Ford 'A' and fairly heavy in some of the brewing issues. Foods, steels, and banks sold off and the construction, brewery and miscellaneous groups were well represented on the up side.

Nickel and Smelters both closed lower although part of the losses were erased in the last hour. Recessions appeared for Laura Secord, Canada Packers pfd., Loblaw 'A' and International Milling pfd.

International Petroleum erased the main part of a morning decline while Imperial and Canada Oils weakened small fractions.

Canada Dredge closed up ⅝c. Standard Paving pfd added about 2 points. Steel stocks firmed slightly and in the utilities Bell closed higher as did also United Fuels pfd. and B.C. Power 'A'.

WHITE METALS SHOW DECLINE

Drop in Price of Bar Silver Unsettles White Metal Shares.

GOLDS IRREGULAR.

TORONTO, April 16 (CP)—Narrow price swings with the general tone slightly on the soft side marked the performance of the Toronto Mining Share Market to-day. The drop in the price of bar silver unsettled the market for the white metal shares and the base metal indulged in a sympathetic reaction. Irregular movements appeared in the golds with recessions slightly outnumbering the gains at the close.

Base Metals Corporation weakened about 7 points while Pend Oreille had the support of a rumor that the plant would be reopened immediately, and the price climbed 12 to 15 cents. Noranda held around 38.25. Mild display of weakness was given by Falconbridge, Big Missouri, Hudson Bay and Sherritt.

Eldorado Silver reduced an early loss of 15 cents and recessions were also halved for Bear Exploration, Nipissing, and the penny issues.

Bralorne had a small price advance, and the close was practically unchanged also for Hollinger, Lake Shore, Pioneer, Teck Hughes and Wright Hargreaves. Dome worked lower in slow trading.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

MONTREAL EXCHANGE.

MONTREAL, April 16 (C.P.). — Construction issues strengthened narrowly towards the close of today's dealings on the Montreal Stock Exchange and swung the tone of the market towards the heavy side.

Dominion Bridge at 26 was half a point higher, while Steel of Canada Preferred jumped ¾ at 43¼. National Steel Car finished with a gain of ⅝ at 16⅝, while Canadian Car was up ¼ at 7¾.

Consolidated Smelters was subjected to profit-taking to show a loss of ½ at 144, while Power Corporation was off ⅝ at 7⅝, Quebec Power ⅛ at 15½ and Wabasso Cottons 1 at 21½. Canadian Celanese rose 1½ at 2' and gains ranging up to about half a point were shown by Brazilian Traction and B.C. Power.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, April 16 (A.P.)—The stock market steadied to-day after absorbing early profit-taking and scattered metals, chemicals and industrials pushed up for substantial gains in quiet trading. Some of the rails also picked up a little, but the utilities did virtually nothing.

Allied Chemical advanced some 4 points, International Business Machines firmed 2, and U.S. Smelting, American Smelting, Cerro de Pasco, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Dupont, Socony and General Motors improved fractionally to around a point or more. The late tone was steady to firm. Transfers approximated 730,000 shares.

ICE GOES OUT

Stoney Lake during the week, only a few floes remaining in the bays.

The waters in the region of Crowe's Landing, however, have been more reluctant in giving up their winter sheeting.

While Rice Lake is clear of ice, pile-ups many feet high along the shores have been worrying muskrat trappers. The piles have buried many traps and it is feared a number of the traps will never be recovered.

Old timers report the ice breakup came unusually early this year. In most years the ice remains until about the end of April.

Another "Anthony Eden" Peace Conference

Such matters as the Polish corridor, and the effect of Germany's rearming on the peace of Europe, were discussed in the recent conference of Captain Anthony Eden, England's lord privy seal and roving peace emissary, and the heads of the Polish government. The conference, in the presidential palace, is pictured and shows (LEFT to RIGHT): Colonel Jos. Beck, foreign minister of Poland; President (Prof.) Ignatz Moscicki, and Captain Anthony Eden.

number of each. That was to say, the Senate, with 96 members normally, would have 24 representatives in the constituent assembly. The House of Commons would, with its 245 members, have 61. The provinces would be proportionately represented as follows:

Alberta, 16; British Columbia, 12; Manitoba, 14; New Brunswick, 12; Nova Scotia, 8; Ontario, 23; Prince Edward Island, 8; Quebec, 23, and Saskatchewan, 16. The total representation would be 223.

This constituent assembly would meet at Winnipeg, summoned by proclamation issued by all the legislative bodies involved. It would be clearly set forth that "minority rights," preserved under the present British North America Act, would not be discussed. The representation would be drawn from all classes.

"There ought to be no government side nor any official opposition in such a body," said Dr. Beauchesne. The assembly would work on the lines of coalition.

Deal With Each Chapter.

At the first meeting each province would presents its case, and committees would deal with every chapter of the British North America Act. Such matters as reducing membership in the House of Commons, election of Senators, fisheries, companies act, insurance laws, radio and other questions would be thoroughly threshed out.

One item to be decided would be whether Canada would alter its name from a dominion to a kingdom.

Once a constitution had been adopted by the Assembly, Dr. Beauchesne continued, it should be approved by each province and by the Dominion, then it should receive the assent of the King. Such a procedure would apply to subsequent amendments which would require a majority of two-thirds of the respective legislatures.

Judge Ruddy Upholds Gas Company Appeal

WHITBY, April 16 (C.P.).—In a judgment handed down by Judge Ruddy, the appeal is upheld of the Ontario Shore Gas Company, Ltd., against its assessment for 1935 in the city of Oshawa. The appeal was from a decision of the Court of Revision of Oshawa, confirming the company's assessment of $84,000, fixed by by-law for general tax, and $123,060 for school purposes.

His Honor allows the appeal as to assessment for school purposes and reduces it from $123,060 to $33,385, and confirms the assessment for general rates at $84,000 as fixde by by-law.

C.N.R. Bond Issue Is Overscribed

MONTREAL, April 16 (CP). The issue of $13,400,000 two per cent. Canadian National Railway bonds placed on the market yesterday to mature in 1938 has been greatly over-subscribed, bond dealers said to-day.

Another issue of $35,000,000 three per cent. nine-year bonds is more than half-subscribed and will probably be completely subscribed by to-night or early to-morrow, it was learned.

The three-year bonds are being offered to 99.28 to yield 2.25 per cent and the nine-year bonds at 98.50 to yield 3.30 per cent.

Double Surprise

DENVER, April 16 (C.P.). — Doris Hoffman, law office clerk, didn't think the gun was loaded, but she pointed it at a would-be robber who entered the office demanding money.

Nervously, she squeezed the trigger.

The bullet whistled over the robber's head. Hastily, he beat a retreat. She fainted.

"I never fired a gun before in my life," she explained, "I didn't dream there were any cartridges in it."

FRIGID WAVE GRIPS ONTARIO

12 Degrees of Frost Reported in West—Car Radiators Freeze.

3 INCHES SNOW, OTTAWA.

(By The Canadian Press)

Frigid conditions that settled over Ontario yesterday, intensified today and temperature in the western section of the province registered as much as 12 degrees of frost. The weather is reported to have caused considerable damage to Fall wheat and clover crops with farmers expressing need of warm rains.

A blinding snowflurry welcomed the first vessel to dock at Hamilton to-day—the Imperoil. Snow has been falling for 12 hours at Brockville and the streets are now covered with a three-inch layer. Farm work was brought to a halt at Galt as 12 degrees of frost was registered and snow continued to fall.

Cold was severe enough at Kitchener to freeze automobile radiators. Heavy snowfall continued at Kingston but now traffic tie-ups were reported There was no sign of the storm abating.

Temperatures were rising at Stratford and farmers did not consider there was any danger to crops from the cold weather experienced. Tourists at Niagara Falls witnessed attractive Winter scenery as spray from the Cataracts froze on trees and shrubs, covering them with thin coats of ice as in mid-winter. The drop in temperature was accompanied by light furries of snow.

Pedestrians found travel difficult at Ottawa, having to make their way through three inches of snow.

TWO LONDONERS BADLY BURNED

"The can had never been around the building in the past," said Mr. Hyatt. "Dunlop told me that he first noticed it in the metal shop this morning. Some little time later he picked it up out of curiosity, knocked the cork off the top and poured some of the powder out. He tried to ignite it with a match but it would not light. Thinking it was safe he tossed the can to one side of the room. As he did this, the explosion took place. I thought the entire building would fall as the whole plant shook and windows were blown out."

GERMAN MOVE

final declaration at Stresa. Now I wish to call to your attention the statement in the declaration that this collaboration in policy is for the purpose of collective maintenance of peace within the framework of the League."

Here Sir John repeated the words "within the framework of the League," to give them emphasis.

Hence, he proceeded, he came from Siresa to Geneva, "and it is not in our character as representatives of individual nations, but as members of the League of Nations and members of the Council that we are putting forward this resolution."

Council Sits in Silence.

The Foreign Minister, amid a tense silence in the Council, declared the Reich had provoked "uneasiness in the world," and the German announcement of rearmament last month had destroyed the British and French hopes of 'the solid organization of European security."

"The German initiative of March 16 must be condemned," declared the French Foreign Minister. "Measures must be foreseen to make the future operation of the covenant more effective within the organization of collective security. The Council must take its responsibility."

The resolution proposed by Laval on behalf of France, Great Britain and Italy called on the Council to declare, "that Germany failed in the duties incumbent on all members of the international community to respect engagements contracted, and that the Council condemns all unilateral repudiation of international engagements."

BLOCKED SHAFT SEALS VICTIMS

hope was held any still lived. Fearful fellow workers expressed belief all must have been buried alive when the explosion roared through the workings.

All others of the 196 men who entered the pit this morning were accounted for, according, to Superintendent D. H. McLean of the Acadian Coal Company and Dominic Nearing, sub-district board member for the United Mine Workers.

They were all on the surface except for rescue crews and about 15 officials who had stayed below to supervise the work of digging for the trapped colliers.

Cause Unknown

Cause of the explosion was a mystery. The nearest workers, 1,500 feet away from the spot where the seven were working said they heard only a dull, muffled thud followed by a whistling blast of air that swept one man off his feet and hurled him several yards.

That it may have originated in a "shot of explosive to loosen coal was one theory that was apparently strengthened by the presence of a shot-firer, and the others with him in the 1,500-foot southeast level were:

Dick Clark, 50, married, of Stellarton;

Sandy Beaton, 55, married, Stellarton;

Abe Hennessey, 45, married, Stellarton;

Ignate Bournish, 43, single, Stellarton;

James McEachern, 30, married, New Glasgow;

Jack McEachern, 28, single, New Glasgow;

H. Flemming, 48, married, Stellarton.

The McEacherns are brothers.

Wives and relatives of the missing men gathered anxiously around the pit mouth as soon as word of the explosion spread through the town. This afternoon hundreds milled about the colliery yard, waiting anxiously for word from below.

Shaft Barred Hopelessly

What news trickled up carried little hope. Crews equipped with masks for work in gas and some "bare-faced" miners had gone down but they could find no trace of the buried men. They climbed over some of the fallen material in narrow spaces between the roof, but eventually struck an impassible heap.

As they dug, fears doubled for the lives of the seven. If they were alive and on the other side of the coal, miners above ground said, their air supply must be running short. The fall had cut off ventilation and death by suffocation in the dank air faced those who might have escaped the explosion.

Suspect Fire Damp

Presumably, it had been caused by the ignition of "fire damp", the deadly gas that gathers in the coal mines, and the equally deadly "after damp" would have left the level filled with choking fumes.

The men who came up could tell little. None had been closer than 1,500 feet from the seven, but even there the force of the blast was felt strongly.

Jimmy Roach, working in the same level, said he had been blown clear out of the level as the gale of air came roaring down the mine.

He and his fellow workers were coated with stone dust as they reached the surface.

The men had gone down an hour before the explosion, which ripped out at eight o'clock. Previously, the colliery had been inspected for gas by the inrpectors of the "back shift" which left the mine at seven o'clock. Presumably, also, Fleming would have inspected the area for gas before firing a shot.

COLD DRY WINDS PROVEN COSTLY TO WHEAT CROP

Peterborough County One of More Fortunate—Many Report 100 p.c. Loss.

WARM RAIN NEEDED.

TORONTO, April 16. (CP)—Cold dry winds that swept across Central and Southern Ontario in the Spring weeks have brought damage to Fall wheat estimated as high as 100 per cent. in some districts and generally high throughought the province, according to the weekly crop report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture issued to-day. Spring seeding has started except in Northern Ontario.

Peterborough, Middlesex and Lincoln were the only counties able to report near normal conditions. In Southern Ontario some fields are being re-sown. One farmer in Durham county has already plowed his Fall wheat under and many fields in the county are reported 100 per cent. losses. Haldimand county has suffered 50 to 60 per cent. destruction and Northumberland 50 per cent.

Warm rain has been urgently needed throughout the Province for the last two weeks.

Smut Bad in Durham

Fruit trees in Lincoln county are reported likely to bloom earlier this year and some vegetable transplanting has been done. Smut has hit field crops in Durham county rather badly.

Four out of seven counties in Western Ontario report Fall wheat badly hit with doubtful prospects for recovery even if warm rains fall soon. Grey county expects a fairly satisfactory recovery in Fall wheat and Bruce county crops look fair to good. But Halton, Huron, Peel and Perth fear heavy damages in most parts.

Fall wheat is very patchy in Brant county in Southern Ontario and far from good in Welland, while unfavorable weather conditions have had a very serious effect on the crop in Haldimand. Lennox and Addington Fall wheat crops are badly injured but Carleton, Frontenac, Leeds and Renfrew have escaped heavy losses.

BIRRELL GOLD IS PUSHING FORWARD

Complete Mining Plant Has Now Been Installed.

The drills are hammering away at Birrell Gold Mines in Duprat Township Que., on the downward extension of the two-ocmpartment shaft.

With the installation of a complete mining plant and the completion of 10 mine buildings, shaft-sinking was resumed at the beginning of the month and at last report had reached approximately 70'. It is expected that the shaft will be completed to 165' and drifting started at the 50' level by May 15th. The shaft is being sunk on the brim and no change has been noted in the structure from the satisfactory mineralized conditions across the full width at the surface. Free gold has been observable in practically every round to the 40 ft. level. At the 150' level lateral work and cross-cutting will commence to explore ore conditions both east and west of the shaft. A cross-cut to the south will be made to intersect a body cut with the diamond drills and which in 17 checks showed a minimum assay of 1.06 oz. to the ton. $37.10 at present price.

New Industry to be Developed, Northern Ontario

GREAT LIGNITE DEPOSITS WILL BENEFIT T. N. O.

Report on Situation to be Presented Cabinet Immediately After Prorogation.

HEPBURN OPTIMISTIC.

TORONTO, April 16.—Ontario's great lignite deposits are to be developed.

Premier Hepburn announced yesterday that a proposition has been laid before the Government by a very reputable company to promote a new great industry in the North. "The company believes," he said, "it can make use of a German process which will make the product of commercial value. We are particularly interested, not only because of the huge known deposits, but by reason as well of the business it would bring to the T. & N.O. Railway.

"Colonel Lang, Chairman of the Railway Commission, and the Department of Mines are working together on the project and immediately, after prorogation, the matter will be brought to the attention of the Cabinet.

"The estimate of tonnage with cheaper fuel available gives every possibility of another important industry being established in the north, and one which will also use natural products of that section of the province."

The Premier said the situation called for early decision and action, and stressed the need of finishing the Legislature's session before Easter. With this in view he proposed an early conference with Premier Taschereau of Quebec for discussion of the pulp and paper situation.

Two or three proposals with regard to the establishments and rehabilitation of pulp and paper plants in Northern Ontario are now before the Ontario Government, he said.

They involve realignment of timber concessions and are receiving earnest consideration, but it is not the intention of the Government, he emphasized, to do anything that would take from existing companies any of the present reserves which will interfere with the continuity of necessary supply.

Taffeta, both in plain and printed versions, is very important in all showings of fine clothes for spring.

At the left above is a taffeta version of the popular evening ensemble, with flared skirt slightly raised in the front, floor length behind; and neat little tied jacket with stiff, leg o' mutton sleeves.

Right is a smartly tailored version of a taffeta quilted jacket, with flaring bell-shaped sleeves matching the jacket skirt and scarf collar, the latter in contrasting color. The hat is taffeta, and the suit one of the cleverest tailored versions of the season.

It's smart to be quaint this Easter, and here is one of the most old-fashioned, and at the same time the most up-to-date, of the new bonnets. It, too, is in taffeta, with flowers touching the hair. Notice the pleated ruching trimming the jacket, and the bunch of flowers pinned thereon.

eration of this bill in committee provided the major debate last night.

The Liquor Act Amendment, chief provision of which is to allow beverage rooms in local option areas which voted to establish a liquor store, gave rise to considerable debate when it came up for third reading and Opposition Leader George S. Henry adjourned the debate.

Two other bills, while they evoked little opposition, held the interest of legislators. One was the 1935 Unemployment Act, introduced by Mr. Croll and the other the Attorney - General's Bill extending provisions of the Mortgagors 'and Relief Act for another year.

Relief Commission

The Unemployment Act gives the government power to establish a relief commission of necessary, provides factories enjoying fixed assessment are liable to taxation for relief purposes and enables municipalities to undertake as relief measures repair of dwelling houses with power to charge part of the cost against the lands by annual instalments to be collected in taxes.

Mr. Roebuck tabled the report of J. M. Godfrey, Ontario Securities Commissioner, giving results of his investigation of charges of a "leak" in connection with the Government intention to terminate Quebec power contracts. After an investigation of financial houses and stock markets, the Commission found the Government had not given out advance information.

Walkerville Insolvent.

Walkerville was insolvent, Mr. Croll told the Legislature as he explained the Amalgamation Bill. He charged the city was in default on several bond issues and the 1934 tax rate was 10 mills under the necessary figure and that had been done for the purpose of "deceiving" the public.

"I thought that Walkerville was strong," he said. "I found on looking into it that it was just a myth."

Approval of the Bill was given by Essex border members, J. H. Clark (Liberal, Windsor-Sandwich), L. P. Wigle (Lib., Essex South), and A. C. Trottier (Lib., Essex North).

Arthur Ellis (Cons., Ottawa South) demanded production of the Coughlin Royal Commission report, thought possibly the three other municipalities were trying "to catch on the tail" of the more prosperous Walkerville and opposed the finance commission the government planned to appoint over the new city.

Col. W. H. Price (Cons., Toronto-Parkdale) objected to any discrimination against Walkerville, and protested the bill did not make provision for introduction of a borough system.

Henry Urges Protection

Protection for Walkerville was also desired by Mr. Henry. "You have had since last July to consider this problem," he told the minister. "You say you became aware of Walkerville's position last August. Why do you wait until the dying days of the session to bring in a bill?"

Col. F. Fraser Hunter (Lib., Toronto-St. Patrick) declared he had not been convinced by the amalgamation arguments and believed no action should be taken until presentation of the Coughlin report.

Wondering whether the government would pay the price of coercion, Leopold Macaulay (Cons., York South) insisted the proceedings should be carried out in a regular manner.

Col. Hunter described the Mortgagors' and Purchasers' Relief Act as a palliative and not a cure.

"I'm glad to welcome a new recruit," said Sam Lawrence (C.C.F., Hamilton East).

"Bill Going Through"

"This bill is going through," said Premier Hepburn of the measure to amend the Workmen's Compensation Act. Col. Price had characterized it as "pernicious" legislation, and Mr. Lawrence charged "subterfuge" in the Attorney-General's arguments in favor of the bill.

Mr. Ellis charged introduction of Tammany Hall methods; Mr. Henry urged members of the board should be judges.

The former government, said Mr. Ellis during discussion of the Liquor Act Amendment Bill, had intended sale of beer should be modified, but too many beverage room authorities had been issued by the present Liquor Board. G. H. Challies (Cons., Grenville-Dundas) said the number of new hotels was out of proportion to the accommodation needs of the province.

COTTESLOE

The W.M.S. held their April meeting at the home of Mrs. J. Kidd. The president, Mrs. E. N. McDonald presided for a program which was helpful and interesting to all. Mrs. Merd Clysdale read the Scripture Lesson, Psalm 60. Missionary readings were given by Mrs. J. Perry and Gallagher. Mrs. Wm. Forsyth gave an interesting reading on Temperance in Alberta. Mrs. Kidd and Mrs. Girven sang a duet, "When the Mists have rolled away." Chapter seven of the study book was given by Mrs. Kidd, Webster and Blakely. A committee was appointed to arrange for an Easter thankoffering service to be held on Sunday evening, May 5th. Plans were made for the next meeting at the home of Mrs. McDonald. The meeting closed with hymn 288 followed by prayer. Mrs. Kidd served dainty refreshments and a social half hour was spent.

Children Killed As Train Crashes Bus

A Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Express train crashed into wreckage of this school bus that was passing over a grade crossing at Rockville, Md. There are 15 known dead and others seriously injured. The bus was carrying 28 pupils of the Williamsport, Md., high school from a chemistry exhibition at the College Park branch of the University of Maryland. The bus was almost over when it was struck. Driver Percy Line in the forepart of the bus (shown here) and Louise Funk, teacher, were among those saved. The rear part, in which most of the pupils were clustered, bore the brunt of the impact. The train, an eastbound express from St. Louis, carried the wreckage almost a mile before it could be slowed to a stop. An investigation is under way.

Vermilyea Is Quite Resigned To His Fate Confident In Redeeming Grace Of Christ

"I feel the deepest sympathy with Vermilyea in his sorrow, and recognize that I am greatly privileged to share it with him, and to minister to him the gospel of Salvation through repentance," stated Adjutant W. Martin of Belleville in an interview with The Examiner last evening.

Adjutant Martin, who has been ministering to the spiritual needs of Harold Vermilyea, now under sentence of death in the County Gaol at Belleville for the hatchet slaying of his aged mother, ever since the condemned man was first taken into custody last October, hesitated to discuss the matter with the press.

He exhibited throughout the brief interview a profound sense of his responsibility as spiritual adviser to Vermilyea and appeared to value highly the confidence which Vermilyea had reposed in him, and which he stated, "is a real comradeship."

Present in this city at the district officer's council conducted in the headquarters of the local corps by Commissioner W. A. McIntyre of Chicago, Adjutant Martin told The Examiner, "ever since his arrest Vermilyea has received me in his cell and has exhibited full confidence in the teachings of the Army."

"I am giving to him the gospel of Salvation through repentance—just exactly the same message that you may hear preached from this platform" ,the Adjutant exclaimed, having refence to the platform in the local Temple where he chatted with The Examiner following last night's big Jubilee rally.

Asked what Vermilyea's present state of mind might be, Adjutant Martin replied: "He is quite resigned to his fate and is confident in the redeeming grace of Jesus Christ." He added that he visits the condemned cell daily, and finds Vermilyea to be most attentive and appreciative of the Army's ministration.

"Do you feel there is any hope of a reprieve for the condemned man?" The Examiner asked.

"I cannot say. The law must take its course. My only concern is in saving souls, and if need be I will walk with Vermilyea to the scaffold in the footsteps of The Master," the Adjutant concluded.

MRS. MACFARLANE IS LAID TO REST

Remains Arrived in City at Noon Monday From Vancouver.

Friends who knew her during a long and useful life in this city joined with relatives in paying a final tribute to the late Mrs. Charles MacFarlane as she was borne to her grave in Little Lake cemetery yesterday afternoon.

The remains arrived in the city at noon from Vancouver where she passed away last week after an illness of some weeks. Bedecked with floral offerings, the casket was borne to St. Andrew's United Church and rested in the nave of the church as the funeral service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Charles V. McLean. At the conclusion of the solemn cemetery service conducted also by Dr. McLean, interment was made in the family plot.

"Ours is a sad duty this afternoon," Dr. McLean said in his address during the service at the church. "We stand in the presence of a mother, a relative and a co-worker." He reminded the mourners that they ought to have in their hearts, along with their sorrow and sympathy, a feeling of gratitude inasmuch as the deceased had been given life on earth by the Creator and allowed to make her contribution to the world of her fellow beings. Pointing out that not all humans are allowed to complete the rounded circle of life, he said, "Yet we stand to-day in the presence of one who rounded out four score years." The late Mrs. MacFarlane was in her 85th year.

Rev. McLean said death can be looked upon with an attitude of hopeless despair or it can be contemplated in a more rational way in which the close association of death with life will become apparent. He urged that death be looked at through the eyes of Christianity, asserting that there is a victory over death through Jesus.

The deceased had spent 65 years in association with St. Andrew's Church during her life in this city. She left here to live with her daughter in Vancouver five years ago.

Pall-bearers were six elders of the church, Bert Lockington, Ernest F. Reid, William G. Read, Thomas Petrie, Alpine MacNab and George Roger. Attending the funeral from out of town were Mrs. William Jackson of Brantford, Mrs. Robert Fox, Elmira, N.Y.; Harold Wilgar, Brantford, and Roy Emmerson, Port Arthur.

He is to receive the degree of Doctor of Divinity (honoris causa) and a similar honor is also to be conferred upon the Reverend J. C. Cochrane, North Bay, superintendent of Home Missions in Ontario of the United Church in Canada.

The Reverend Robert Pogue was inducted as pastor of St. Paul's Church here on December 5, 1907, and concluded his ministry in 1925 to be succeeded by the Reverend William Allan, now pastor of Dovercourt Road Presbyterian Church, Toronto.

Rains Are Welcomed By County Farmers

"It was certainly welcomed by the farmers in Peterborough County," Agricultural Representative A. D. Runions said to-day in a comment on the week-end rains. "Fall wheat was looking pretty poor through the district but there is a definite improvement noticeable now."

The early departure of the snow this year — almost a month in advance of other years—was responsible for unusual dryness of the fields, Mr. Runions stated. The Fall wheat tops had a brown, unhealthy appearance indicating damage from the recurrent frosts and warm spells last month. Some more rain with warmth during the next few weeks will result in a fair crop, however, he predicted.

The rain aided also in making the soil in the county more workable, it was reported. Without the protection of snow, the topsoil has been dried out to an unusual firmness this spring. Also, as a reminder of the shortage of moisture last summer, the subsoil has little moisture to contribute at present.

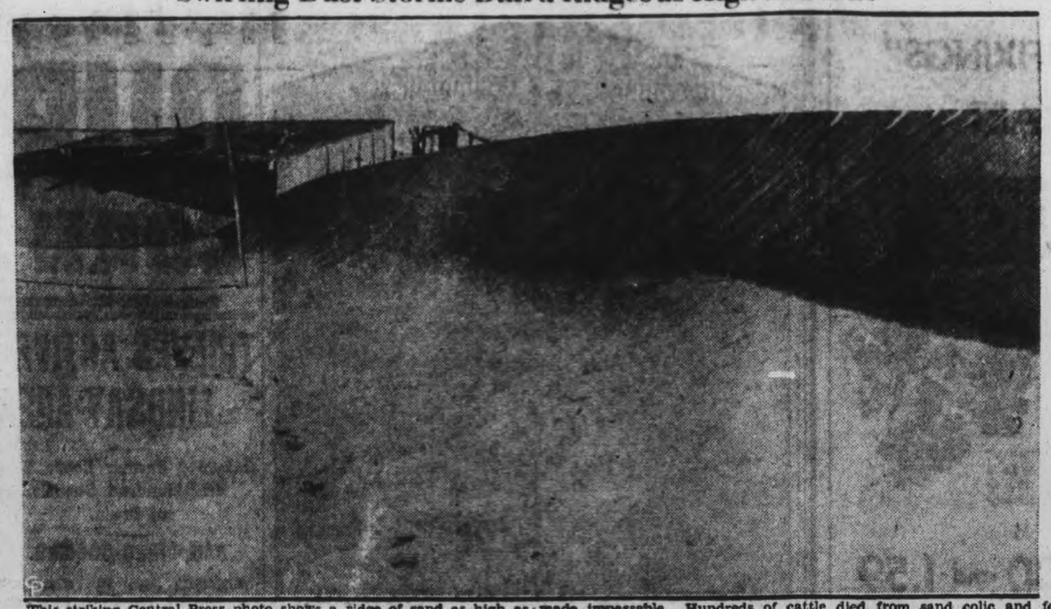
Swirling Dust Storms Buil d Ridges as High as Barns



This striking Central Press photo shows a ridge of sand as high as the barns on a western Oklahoma farm piled up by swirling dust storms. Orchard trees were smothered beneath huge drifts of sand and roads made impassable. Hundreds of cattle died from sand colic and folk in western states were forced to use dust masks. Schools were closed and traffic was paralyzed.

Winter Swoops Down As Navigation Opens

TORONTO, April 16. — (CP) — Gales and wintry weather which marked the official opening of great lakes navigation for many Ontario ports persisted today, the second day of the 1935 marine season. A cold wave from the far northwest had spread southward to Ontario, and sailors found the skies cloudy, occasionally dropping down snowflurries.

Five vessels entered the Welland ship canal at Port Colborne yesterday, the first to come in the waterway at the Lake Erie entrance, following the official opening at 8 a.m. at Port Weller, the Lake Ontario gateway, eight ships were awaiting word to proceed, possibly sometime today.

The Imperial Oil tanker Windsolite, after waiting in the harbor 30 hours was the first boat to pass downbound. The Thorold was the first to traverse the canal upbound.

COMBINED CHOIRS JUBILEE PROGRAM

Further Plans Are Made For Celebratnig Silver Jubilee Anniversary.

Tentative plans were further advanced at a meeting held last evening in the Chamber of Commerce for observance of the Silver Jubilee anniversary of His Majesty King George V.

The meeting of the Program Committee was held with James Dutton, general chairman, presiding.

On Sunday, April 28, it is suggested a program is to be read in churches throughout the city calling upon the congregations to make fitting observance of the occasion with special religious services on Sunday, May 5. The proclamation will be issued by Mayor Roland Denne.

Monday, May 6, peterborough (in common with the entire Empire), will observe the twenty-fifth year of His Majesty's accession with a monster civic celebration, and it is probable that the combined bands of Peterborough Rangers and the Salvation Army will provide the main part of the musical program.

The combined church choirs of the city, and about 1,500 school children will take part in the singing of patriotic songs at the big open air celebrations, and Martin Chenhall, A.R.C.O., chairman of the Music Committee, announces that the Session of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church have kindly placed the church at the disposal of the bands and choral organizations for rehearsals for the event.

While definite plans as to the time of the celebrations have not yet been drawn up, it is understood the time will be largely governed by the Empire broadcast from the heart of the Empire. It is not believed that the program in connection with the civic gathering will last more than an hour and a half, giving everybody an opportunity of participating.

The program committee has recommended to the general executive committee, that a cablegram be sent to His Majesty containing expressions of loyalty and devotion, on behalf of the citizens of Peterborough.

FRESH ADVANCES MADE IN CHACO

tent, the Gran Chaco is so vast, parts of it lie in Argentina, Bolivia and Paraguay. Disputes over it date back to Spanish colonial days.

Losing her Pacific seaboard after the disastrous war with Chile in 1879, Bolivia looked to the Chaco area to provide her with an outlet to the Atlantic by way of the Paraguay River. Paraguay was interested in it as a fertile field for colonization. She claimed two-thirds of the population belonged to her.

No accurate estimates of the losses suffered by the two countries are available. But each side estimates that 50,000 lives have been lost by the other.

Paraguay's armies have advanced during the past year, in spite of bitter and stubborn defence by Bolivian troops, and now are occupying a considerable quantity of Bolivian territory.

with hills marking spots where tumbleweeds have caught and dust drifted around them. These little dunes are about a foot high.

Drifts Over Fences.

In other places the drifts are as high as fences, especially in corners. Snow fences that have held virtually no snow for four winters are drifted to the tops with sand, and one can walk over them.

On the roads can be seen an occasional car, loaded with a farm family, usually with a truck following carrying household goods. Some are headed for Eastern Kansas or Missouri or Eastern Oklahoma where rainfall has been normal, or to the Colorado mountain country.

Postmaster Herman Davis, of Springfield, Colo., says about a dozen families have moved away, but most of them made a temporary change of address, planning to return when rain comes.

J. R. Peters of Boise City, Okla., said he would leave immediately" if he had means.

"If I leave I can't get wheat and corn payments or relief, and that's all that's keeping me alive," he said. He has not had a crop in four years.

But E. H. Libbey, a neighbor, came out of Sunday's big dust storm smiling.

"They'll have to carry me out of this country feet first," he said, grinning. "I won't leave voluntarily."

"However," he added, "I'm going to move about 20 miles west where the dust ain't so bad. I live farther down that way now than the prairie dogs will live but I'm sticking it out."

Majority Stick.

Edna Lynch, social service director of Texas county, Okla., one of the biggest wheat countries, says many farmers who swear they will move every time a dust storm strikes, change their minds with the first sunny day.

Withal, a salty sense of humor prevails.

In Guymon, Okla., a farmer purchased a pair of rubber boots, slung them over his shoulder and started down the three blocks of Main street, where farmers stood in gossiping groups. The sight of the rubber boots brought shouts of laughter.

QUINTUPLETS GIVEN EVAPORATED MILK

Irradiated Carnation Milk Placed in Their Bottles Daily.

From time to time, there have been rumours that the famous Dionne quintuplets were being raised on evaporated milk. These stories are now confirmed by the official announcement that what Yvonne, Emile, Annette, Marie and Cecile get in their bottles every day is Irradiated Carnation Milk.

The "world's best known babies" have been getting Carnation Milk since November, 1934. Their progress since that time, as reported in the press, is evidence enough that they have been thriving on it.

The remarkable feat of bringing the five little tots to healthy babyhood has centred the eyes of the world on Callander, Ont., and its now famous physician, Dr. A. R. Dafoe. In five hundred years, medical history records only 32 authentic cases of quintuplets. In only one case did all five babies live as long as an hour. In only one case did even one baby live as long as fifty days. Yet here in Canada are five healthy little quintuplet sisters rapidly approaching their first birthday.

While there has been a continent-wide—even a wirld-wide—interest in the progress the the five little misses, probably few people realize the extraordinary obstacles which have been overcome. To have done so well in a great city with every hospital facility at hand would have been remarkable. That medical science and skill won such a victory in a little, semi-isolated Northern Ontario village is startling evidence of the progress humanity has made.

RAIL LINES DOOMED.

LINDSAY, April 16. (Examiner Correspondence).—An accident occurred on the Lindsay-Whitby highway near the village of Saintfield on Sunday evening, when a car driven by G. H. Baird, of Blackwater, drove broadside into a car driven by E. Henry, of Sunderland. Miss Smockens, of Sunderland, who was in the Henry car, sustained a bad gash in her right leg, caused by broken glass when the windshield was shattered.

According to rumors in local railway circles, the C.N.R. management has definitely decided to abandon the Lindsay-Manilla-Port Perry-Whitby line owing to the great falling off in passenger and freight business. The municipalities along the line lodged a strong protest before the Railway Board against the proposed abandonment of the branch. Time was when three trains daily left Lindsay for Whitby over this line. It is also rumored that the C.N.R. intends abandoning the Lindsay-Coboconk line.

For the past few days the ice has been moving out of Balsam, Cameron and Sturgeon Lakes. Fortunately no damage resulted to the cottages and boathouses as a result of the shifting ice.

Grain, chickens and gasoline thieves are plying their vocations in this district. Durng the week-end James Thorndke of Oakwood suffered the loss of several hundred bushels of grain. Last year he was visited by thieves who carried off five hundred chickens. The gasoline thieves are operating in Lindsay. Besides purloining gas, reports have been received by the police to the effect that car parts have also been stolen. The chicken thieves have been busy at different points in the district.

Local military officals have received no information relative to the rumor that the Victoria and Haliburton Regiment has been disbanded. It has been known for some time, however that certain military units in District No. 3 are to be reorganized, but nothing of an official nature has been received by the officers of the local regiment.

THREE PLATOON BILL IS KILLED

Legal Committee of Legislature Thown Out Three Platoon Firemen Bill.

"BEST JOB IN WORLD."

TORONTO, April 16.—(C.P.)—The Ontario Legislature Legal Bills committee to-day rejected a bill of Ian Strachan, (Lib. Toronto-St. Geroge) to institute a three platoon system for Ontario firemen instead of the present plan of the two platoons. The bill, had it passed, would have meant firemen worked in three shifts of eight hours each.

Fire fighters were the only civic employees not working on an eight hour day schedule, said John W. Bruce, of Toronto, representing the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

He cited figures showing the bill would mean an additional cost for fire fighting of $568,442 in Toronto, $12,630 in Kingston, and $18,353 in Kitchener.

"If we put this bill through there will be war," said Controller Sam McBride of Toronto. "The fireman's job is the best in the world. I'd rather have it than be controller."

The committee approved of an amendment to the Highway Traffic Act requiring bicycles and tricycles being equipped with gongs or horns.

JEWELER IS HELD IN ORILLIA CASE

Acted as Liquor Retail Agent For Howell, It is Alleged.

ORILLIA, April 16.—(C.P.)— A sequel to the arrest of Henry Howell, alleged owner of a four gallon still, came late last night when John Jerome, local jeweler, was arrested on a charge of selling liquor. Jerome was allegedly acting as a retail agent for Howell.

The car in which Howell, who lives in Orillia Township, was supposed to have transported the liquor from his still on his father's farm to Jerome's place of business was seized.

As a result of the arrest, Sam Ainsworth, Orillia, will face charges of creating a disturbance and obstructing an officer in the course of his duty. Similar charges will be preferred against Borden Totten, also of Orillia. Ainsworth and Totten will appear in court before Magistrate C. I. Bick to-day.

THREE VENDORS MUST IMPROVE MILK DELIVERED

No More Warnings to Those Who Fall Below Standard Board's Order.

BARNS INSPECTED.

Big Improvement Made in City's Milk Supply Since Last Fall.

No more warnings to vendors of milk that falls below the city's sanitary standard was the decision of the Board of Health this morning, endorsing the suggestion of Dr. G. Murray Fraser, Medical Officer of Health, that some corrective action should be taken against the comparatively few dealers whose inspected samples are found to be under par.

Dr. Fraser's milk report for March listed thirty-seven vendors of whom only one was classed as selling "dirty" milk, and two were in the doubtful and shady category of "slightly dirty".

"They have already been warned three times," Dr. Fraser told the Board, and in reply to Alderman Tuggey's query as to what further step should be taken, he said that in these cases there should be no more warnings. The offending vendors had been given every chance to measure up to the quality of milk demanded by the Board and supplied by virtually all the other distributors.

"I believe we have made a great deal of improvement in our milk supply since last fall," Dr. Fraser continued, intimating that the vendors generally were disposed to fulfill the requirements of the Health Department.

Dairy Farms Inspected.

"During March Mr. Stapleton completed his inspections of the dairy farms, making 149 calls. Five of them were in such an unsatisfactory condition that they were ordered to discontinue delivering milk to Peterborough dairies. Later in the month two of these farms were again inspected, and were found to have considerably improved conditions. Permission was granted to resume their delivery of milk.

Mr. Stapleton reports a general improvement in conditions on the farms, especially as regards cleanliness of the cattle and stables. The most common defect is the lack of a proper milk house for the handling of milk. The majority of farmers intend to erect these milk houses during the coming summer, and it is expected that by autumn we will have a class of producers whose dairy premises can be called sanitary and fit for the production of milk. Mr. Stapleton also inspected nine slaughter houses, making recommendations as to defects found."

City's Health Record.

Dr. Fraser reported four cases of measles and one of scarlet fever during March. A recent case of diphtheria spoiled the city's almost perfect record.

"This is a mild case," Dr. Fraser said. "It is a child who was not inoculated, and is a carrier but not really sick. However, the same precautions are being taken." There was no epidemic of measles this spring. Two cases occurred during the month, both in children who had visited Toronto.

Examined Road Workers.

The Department made a physical examination of 150 men going to the road camps. A number of men were rejected as being unfit for this work. It was noted that the majority of the men examined were suffering from some dental defect. It is regretted that more provision is not made for attention to this trouble among the unemployed, as poor teeth are frequently the cause of poor health, and often lead to more serious illnesses."

There were 45 births, 7 marriages and 46 deaths during March. Of the 46 deaths seven were due to diseases of the heart, five to pneumonia and two were cancer cases.

Queen Mary Hospital expenses for March were $1,304.36, and salaries $223.33. Alderman Stocker reported a small economy in dispensing, with one of three telephones. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Price, who were recently appointed to the caretaking positions at the hospital, have begun work, and "everything is very, very nice," the chairman remarked.

Lone Doctor Leads Fight as Over Half Population Are Stricken.

PNEUMONIA APPEARS.

DAWSON, Y.T., April 16.—(C.P.)—Wracked by an epidemic of measles closely followed by influenza, this Yukon capital struggled to-day to prevent spread of pneumonia.

Dawson counted one death from pneumonia and schools, churches, and theatres were closed. Carl Marsh, 50 year old miner, died from double pneumonia.

Under the guidance of Dr. Herbert Nunn, Dawson's lone physician, one half the population has to carry on public services and minister to the other half who are under quarantine.

With no new cases of measles reported over the week-end, it was believed that epidemic has reached its peak, but several cases of pneumonia have developed among influenza patients. Most of the medical staff are down with either measles or flu. In addition Dr. Munn has a number of major accident and maternity cases to handle.

Magistrate's Court

Although he pleaded "not guilty" as a third offender to a charge of drunkeness, Fred Hamilton, 301 King street, failed to offer any defence, and was sentenced by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., to four months' imprisonment in the county gaol. Constables Naples and Thompson gave evidence, and stated the defendant was arrested last evening in a drunken condition on Simcoe street.

WIDOW'S TRIAL CROWDS COURT

Banker Testifies Slain Architect Drew $1,250 For Wife Day Before Attack.

ACCUSED GAVE LOVER $250.

BOURNEMOUTH, England, April 16 (CP Cable).—Preliminary hearing of murder charges against Mrs. Alma Rattenbury, 31, and her 19-year-old chauffeur, George Percy Stoner, continued to-day, with public interest greater than ever.

They are accused of the murder of the women's 67-year-old husband, Francis Mawson Rattenbury, who designed the Provincial Parliament Buildings at Victoria, B.C., as well as a number of leading Canadian hotels. Mrs. Rattenbury, as a child lived in Kamloops, B.C., and Victoria.

Stoner is said by police to have admitted attacking the aged architect in his home here with a heavy wooden mallet. The police have also introduced an alleged confession by the pretty young widow, later, according to police witnesses, repudiated.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens, grandmother of the accused chauffeur was to-day's first witness. She said Stoner borrowed the mallet with the remark he was going to put up a tent.

$1,250 Cheque for Wife

A bank cashier testified March 18, before the attack on Rattenbury, the victim drew a cheque for the equivalent of $1,250 on the Bank of Montreal in London in favor of his wife. On the same day his wife drew up a cheque for $250 from her account in favor of Stoner and the latter cashed it.

Mrs. Rattenbury nearly fainted while Keith Jones, nephew of the slain man was on the witness stand. The wardress revived her with a glass of water and smelling salts.

Further evidence was that Stoner had purchased a ring on March 19, paying approximately $75 in large notes which he obtained when he cashed the cheque from Mrs. Rattenbury. The ring was sent to a hotel in Kensington, London, where both the accused were staying at the time, occupying separate rooms. Mrs. Rattenbury described Stoner to the hotel manager as her brother.

"Samuella" Swan Picks His Waterloo In Street Attack—Town Sighs Relief

WADING RIVER, L.I., April 16.—(C.P.)— Samuella, meanest swan that ever ruffled an impeccable feather, is dead and the good taxpayers of Wading River have lost that furtive look to-day.

The bird, purchased to enhance the beauty of the town's ponds, turned out to be the roughest, toughest and nastiest fighting fellow on webbed feet. At the drop of a hat he would fight man or beast and launched many a furious if futile attack on the more brightly colored trucks.

In their subjection, the town fathers thought a companion might sugar Samuella's acid disposition so they voted funds for a female swan. About two days of Samuella's ranting and the female flew away one night never to return.

But Samuella went too far. Out for a "wander" on Main street, he sneaked up behind George Gates and launched a rear attack. George retreated until he found a stout stick and then laid it on Samuella's neck with all the power of his 16-year-old right arm. An unofficial coroner's jury decided the bird-dictator died of mortification, rather than George's blow.

ALDERMEN VISIT INCINERATOR IN NORTH YORK TWP.

Seeking Information on Latest Method of Disposing of Garbage.

COST $70,000.

Four members of the Property Committee of the City Council visited the $70,000 incinerator in North York yesterday for the purpose of obtaining information on the latest methods of removing and disposing of city garbage.

Alderman Tuggey, chairman, was accompanied by Aldermen Stocker, Wilson, and McIntyre and City Engineer Parsons. The Property Committee has been discussing for some time the need of enlarging and improving Peterborough's incinerator, and although for the present the members are simply surveying this problem they realize that it will not be long until they will be forced to undertake some reconstruction. In this connection there also looms the possibility of moving the incinerator to some other location. The present site is almost at the exact centre of the city, and if any substantial change is made the question of taking the incinerator to some place on the outskirts is bound to be given consideration.

Alderman Tuggey told The Examiner to-day that another detail which should not be overlooked is the assumption of the work entirely by the city with the use of modern motor trucks which would put an end to complaints of flying ashes when strong winds are blowing along the streets.

At any rate, the aldermen saw one of the most efficient incinerators in operation, and gained certain ideas which should be useful when Peterborough's burning problem reaches the stage of further consideration.

Laura Ingalls Roars East After Record

LOS ANGELES, April 15 (AP) — Laura Ingalls roared away from Union Air Terminal early to-day in her black "mystery" plane in an attempt to shatter Amelia Earhart's transcontinental speed record.

Hoping to span the continent in 14 hours or less, the 120-pound aviatrix "gave the gun" to her new $40,000 low wing monoplane as it began its 2,247 mile non-stop dash to Floyd Bennett Field at New York.

MANITOBA SEA SERPENTS GO TO OTTAWA MUSEUM

OTTAWA, April 16.—(C.P.) —The fossilized remains of the two prehistoric "sea serpents" dug from clay beds northfest of Morden, Man., where they lay buried for an estimated period of 60,000,000 years are in course of preparation for exhibition in the National Museum here.

The larger of the two skeletons is probably the longest of which there is any record. The Department of Mines reports. As excavated it measures 33 feet, but a considerable portion of the tail is missing, and its total length probably exceeded 40 feet. The smaller mosasaur skeleton is 15 feet long with a portion of the tail also missing. Combined shipping weight exceeds two tons.

A. E. MILLER IS LEGION OFFICER

Appointed to Secretaryship of Local Branch—Major James Turnbull is Treasurer.

Major James Turnbull and A. E. Miller were appointed to the posts of treasurer and secretary of the local Canadian Legion Branch for the coming year at a general meeting last night. The appointments were made on the recommendation of a special committee consisting of President Max Sloan, Fire Chief George Gimblett, Col. W. S. Hall and R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne.

A committee to revise the branch by-laws was named by the meeting, R. S. Haddow, past president, Mr. Hicks-Lyne and H. K. Clifton will act with the president on the committee. As the branch has never had an ordered set of by-laws of its own, the task of the committee will amount to the compilation of a constitution from the by-laws of the Provincial organization.

Twenty new members to the branch were reported. It was revealed that the membership campaign is progressing favorably. Progress in arrangements for the Warriors' Ball were also reported as highly satisfactory.

The meeting discussed the annual church parade of the Legion scheduled for Sunday, April 29, the week of the anniversary of Ypres. The parading members will distinguish themselves by wearing berets on the occasion, it was decided.

Whatever community plan for Royal Jubilee celebration is adopted will be supported and will be extended the co-operation of the Legion, the meeting agreed.

FEWER ON RELIEF.

COBOURG, April 16. — There is a reduction in the number of families on relief in Cobourg for this month. The number decreased from 101 in February to 66 at the end of March, and there has been a further slight drop so far this month. A year ago there were 86 families on relief at this time. Many men have secured practically steady employment, while odd jobs provided by citizens are helping others out.

A very pleasant time was spent at Mark Street United Church on Friday evening, when forty mothers of the Baby Band members met and were welcomed by their leader, Mrs. H. Alton, who is also Baby Band Secretary of the Peterborough Presbyterial. After a brief program, delicious refreshments were served from a table prettily arranged with a centerpiece of spring flowers in a silver basket, and lighted green candles. Mrs. George Northey and her committee were responsible for the dainty lunch. The program, which opened with several Gospel hymns and the outlining by Mrs. Alton of plans for social welfare work in which the ladies are engaged, included pleasing musical numbers by Mrs. A. Scriver and Mrs. R. Mitchell, in a duett, solos by Mrs. Mitchell and Master Harry Hanwell, also a very pleasing talk by Mrs. F. W. K. Harris on "The Hardest Job in the World—Motherhood." Some qualities of the ideal mother were emphasized: love of Christ, love of little children, patience, sympathy, knowledge of child psychology, as well as knowledge of cooking and sewing. Reference was made to mothers of Biblical times and stress was laid on the influence for good or bad which a mother exerts on her child.

Woman's Cold Cured By Waves From Radio

CHICAGO, April 16. — And now they've found a way to use radio in curing cold!

With special permission from the Federal Radio Commission, a complicated looking machine found useful in treating colds and several other diseases was displayed yesterday at the University Hospital.

"The device works just like a short-wave radio. First it creates heat. Then it carries the heat through the tissues and into the body by radio short waves. Simple, isn't it?"

A very clever medical man we know dropped a little secret to us the other night to the effect that the reason we have that let-down, run-down, spring-feverish feeling in the spring is because of the lack of green vegetables in our winter diet. This information seemed priceless so we are passing it along with a nice suggestion for dinner that includes several vegetables.

SPRING VEGETABLE PLATTER

One cauliflower, cooked; two cups sliced carrots, cooked and buttered; two cups cream sauce, two and one-half cups fresh peas, cooked. You will need to purchase two pounds of peas for the amount given. Arrange the cauliflower in center of platter, arrange a border of the thinly-sliced carrots. Pour the cream sauce over the cauliflower only. Sprinkle the peas over the cream sauce.

GARDEN NOTES

These are the days when we begin considering the condition of our lawns, and whether or not we should give them the added help of a fertilizer. While a fertilizer containing 4-12-4, meaning nitrogen, phosphorus and potash, is good, it is even better for the lawn to have a fertilizer in the spring, made up of 10-6-4. This makes an ideal turf builder, and should be spread over the lawn at the rate of five pounds to 100 square feet. This can be put on right now. It is advisable to wet the lawn a little before applying the fertilizer, and then to wet it in afterwards.

While a certain number of earthworms are good for the lawn, because they open up the earth and permit air to get into it, too many of them can be harmful. They may be controlled by applying arsenate of lead on the soil when it is dry, working the arsenate into the turf with a rake or a broom. Do not do this when the lawn is either frozen or muddy.

Be Beautiful

By GLADYS GLAD

The lovely Claudette Colbert, who is one of the busiest and most energetic of our cinema sirens, insists that bed, to her, is a place of luxury, and that she'd not exchange it for all the thrones in the world. That might sound as though, perhaps, Claudette were somewhat lazy, but you and I both know that she's far from that.

The real reason that Claudette appreciates her bed so much is because she realizes fully how important rest and relaxation are for both physical health and beauty. And she has the right idea, too. Because rest and relaxation are important, and don't let anyone tell you differently. Sleep really does beautify one. It restores one's pep and vitality. It erases lines of fatigue, worry and nerve strain. And it gives a youthful sparkle to the eyes, and a youthful appearance to the face.

Quality of Sleep

However, while the amount of sleep obtained nightly is important, the quality of that sleep is of even greater consequences. For light, disturbed slumber doesn't greatly refresh the body. To be truly restful, sleep must be sound, and complete relaxation must be attained. There are several factors that aid greatly in insuring calm, undisturbed slumber. The most important of these is a well-aired room. A poorly-ventilated room will cause restlessness, and the sleeper will awaken unrefreshed. Light, too, should be omitted from a sleeper's room, if perfect rest is desired. Darkness, you see, is conducive to restful slumber, and it rests the eyes and the nerves.

Your bed also has a great deal to do with whether you sleep soundly or not. You cannot relax your boody properly on sagging springs or on a lumpy, bumpy mattress. You should sleep between smooth sheets, on a proper mattress and spring, and with covers that are sufficiently warm, but are also light in weight. In addition, if you feel sleepless when you are about to retire, do a bit of slow exercising. Exercises executed with slow, rhythmic movements, help to induce slumber. A glass of warm milk sipped slowly, and a warm, soothing, lazy bath will also help to induce the calm, refreshing sleep so necessary for the preservation of youthful health and loveliness.

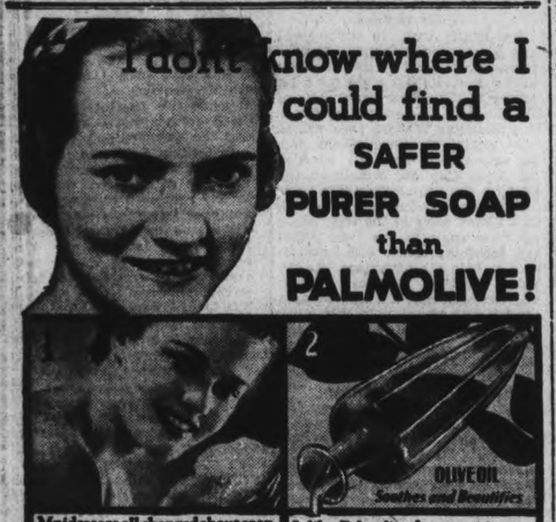
CHARLOTTETOWN, April 16. — (C.P.)—Mediocre parents can have brilliant offspring, Prof. Warren Duchemin, Professor of Biology at Prince of Wales College, Charlottetown, said yesterday in a speech here. A person might be likened to a tri-angle, he said, with heredity as the base and environment and training as the sides.



My ideas are all changed about soap. I used to think one kind was just as good as another. I know better now . . . since my beauty expert advised Palmolive, because he knew its gentle, penetrating lather would keep my skin youthful and glowing.

I like Palmolive because it's pure and safe—being made from a scientific blend of natural vegetable oils —oils of olive and palm. I like its natural green colour—the colour of olive oil. And I like its soothing velvety lather.

And I like Palmolive because it keeps my skin so clear and youthful. Twice a day I rub its creamy lather into the skin of my face and throat. I use it for my bath, too. I want my whole body to have a Schoolgirl Complexion.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. V. Shepard

"Teacher of Teachers"

MENTAL SLIP

A careful person is not likely to slip on visible ice, the slip comes more frequently after the victim thinks he has passed the danger zone. More mental bridge slips come after the evident dangerous spot has been passed. The hand today illustrates this in the case of an able player, who up to a certain point employed admirable strategy.

Bidding went: South, 1-heart; West, 1-spade; North, 3-hearts (an excellent bid); South, 4-clubs, to show his ace; West, 4-spades; North passed, when he might well have bid 5-clubs, so as not to place the bidding burden entirely upon his partner; South, 6-hearts, which was a very courageous call.

The opening lead was the ace of diamonds, and upon his partner's encouragement card West led the J through dummy's Q. South ruffed.

With ability to take the club finesse either way, the distribution of that suit was the giare ice which South at once saw. His strategy was admirable. Two heart tricks were won in dummy, pulling all opposing trumps. South ruffed a diamond. Both opponents followed suit. The ace of spades won the next trick. Dummy use next to its last trump to ruff declarer's last spade. Dummy's last diamond was ruffed, with both opponents following suit.

West had held originally a single heart, just four diamonds and at least six spade to venture to bid 4-odd. West might hold either one or two clubs, giving odds against West's holding the Q of clubs, as East must hold either three or four of that suit. That sort of careful determination of opposing holdings pay big dividends in the long run.

A low club was overtaken with dummy's K. It seemed as if the treacherous ice had been passed safely. Dummy held three clubs and one trump, and so did the declarer. Nothing could have defeated the small slam contract and given South his laurel wreath, had he led dummy's 10 of clubs. He forgot the treacherous ice of a block of clubs in his own hand and led the 2. His 9 won the trick. West showed out. Had South ruffed the last diamond with his ace, leaving the high trump in dummy he would have been all right. But dummy held the 10 and the declarer held the ace of trumps. South had to go down a trick when he led clubs from the A-J, with East holding the Q-7. I know how he felt, and who does not? At some stage of our game all of us have been in similar plights.

Major Ball Clubs Start New Race Toward Distant Pennant

PLAY BALL

Today that phrase will boom forth again from the lips of umpires in both the American and National leagues and another section of the great American pastime will be on. It will be watched almost as closely in Canada as in the southern republic.

APRIL 16 is the starting date for all 16 teams in both leagues and from then until October the clubs and fans alike will be battling it out for championship honors. And what will the opening day and season bring forth? No one knows, but as usual critics and baseball men have hazarded their guesses as to which teams look the best. They did the same thing last year, too, and all in all, both critics and baseball men took quite a tumble. But these same baseball bugs do the same thing every year and then spend the rest of the season either making alibis or patting themselves on the back as master minds.

For the opening tussles this season St. Louis plays host to Cleveland, Detroit to Chicago, Washington to Philadelphia, and New York to Boston in the American League, and New York plays in Boston, Brooklyn at Philadelphia, Pittsburg at Cincinnati, and St. Louis at Chicago in the senior circuit.

Let's look at the 1936 records! Cleveland trimmed St. Louis, 5 to 2, Washington edged Boston, 6 to 5 in 11 innings, Detroit defeated Chicago, 8 to 3, and Philadelphia beat New York, 6 to 5 in the American loop.

In the National circuit New York trounced Philadelphia, 6 to 1, Chicago shut out Cincinnati, 6 to 0, Brooklyn won from Boston, 8 to 7, and St. Louis triumphed over Pittsburg, 7 to 1.

PLENTY OF sensational play was recorded in those openers a year ago. Probably the most outstanding performance was that of Lon Warneke, star pitcher of the Cubs who let the Cincinnati Reds down with one hit, a scratch single in the ninth after one was out. Warneke struck out 13 and only two men reached first base on passes. There was the victory of Jerome (Dizzy) Dean, the Card's talkative ace hurler beating the Pirates for the first of his season's 30 victories; Detroit with Mickey Cochrane in the saddle, were held to six hits but won; and the Yankees were beaten with Lefty Gomez in the box, the tall southpaw being knocked out in the sixth inning.

Then there was the matter of nine home runs being knocked, with the National League sluggers accounting for six; an eight games' attendance of 186,000, the largest since 1931; the fact that only 10,000 fans turned out at Shibe Park to see Connie Mack's riddled champions of a few years back and against the Yanks too; and Babe Ruth starting what proved to be his last season in the American organization.

The opening of the baseball season last year also saw the adoption of the livelier ball in the National League and the legalizing of Sunday baseball in Pennsylvania.

One of the events of opening day that cannot be forgotten was the sounding of taps at the Polo Grounds for John J. McGraw, the builder of the Giants and winner of 10 pennants. It was the first time in 30 years that McGraw was absent as the Giants started their season's play.

Here are the managers who lead the 16 baseball clubs in the American and National Leagues as a new major league season opens.

DETROIT RULES MINOR HOCKEY WITH 4-3 VICTORY OVER LIONS

Kilrea's Shot in Overtime Gives Olympics Win in Fifth Game.

ON VANCOUVER ICE.

VANCOUVER, April 16 (C.P.).—Detroit Olympics to-day ruled the minor hockey circuits as a sequel to defeating Vancouver Lions of the North-Western League three games to two in the "little world series" concluded here last night.

Wally Kilrea's sliding shot from the corner gave the International League team a 4-3 overtime victory over Lions in the fifth and deciding game of the series last night.

Lions won the first game 5-1 and also took the fourth game 4-3. Olympics won the second game 4-0, took the third 5-3 in overtime and then won the rubber game by the one-goal margin.

Kilrea's deciding counter came after just six minutes of the extra session had been played. In a final but futile gesture Guy Patrick pulled off his goalie and sent six forwards on the ice in an effort to knot the count again, but for the two minutes before the final bell Normie Smith in the Olympics goal was unbeatable.

Start Off Fast.

Lions started off impressively, rattling in three goals in the first period, but the Olympics reversed the procedure in the middle session to count a like number and tie the score. The third period was scoreless.

Clint Smith counted two of Lions goals, taking a pass from Bobby Kirk for the first and scoring unassisted before the end of the initial session after Gordon McFarlane sandwiched in a goal on an assist from Tip O'Neil.

A Tight Struggle.

Olympics turned on the pressure in the second frame to duplicate Vancouver's opening scoring burst. Tommy Anderson and Desse Roche teamed up to beat the Vancouver defence, then slide the disc to Conny King, who whipped in Olympics' first goal near mid-period. Yip Foster and Ron Moffatt combined for the second a minute later, with Foster taking the pass. Williams notched the tieing marker three minutes later on a double assist from Orvill Boulston and Desse Roche.

SEEKS BRITISH CROWN.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—(AP).—W. Lawson Little, young British and United States amateur golf champion, was quoted to-day by the Washington Post as saying he would not enter the United States open golf championship this year, but would seek the British open crown.

Not Live In States

LONDON, April 16.—(AP).—Mary Lawson, British actress, announced to-day she had broken her engagement to Fred. Perry, John Bull's leading amateur tennis player, because Perry wishes to live in the United States.

"I have a cable from Fred, saying he will accept a film offer in Hollywood," Miss Lawson said. "I don't blame him for that, but my work and my interests are in England and I intend to remain here."

TOMMY SCOTT WINS JIMMY MURPHY CUP

Orillia Terriers' Star Chosen For O. A. L. A. Annual Award.

TORONTO, April 16. — Tommy Scott of the Orillia Terriers, Mann Cup holders, was awarded the Jimmy Murphy Memorial Trophy for being the most valuable player to his team in last season's lacrosse campaign, according to an announcement made by Secretary Gene Dopp of the O.A.L.A. last night.

The award is made by a committee composed of Charles Querrie, Mike Kelly, Fred Waghorne Jr. and Secretary Dopp. The opinion of the various referees are consulted before the player is selected. Scott has been with the Terriers during the past two seasons. Previous to that time he played two seasons with Mimico Seniors. He is the fifth player to receive the trophy, which is held for one year. In addition, Scott receives a gold medal, gift of Charles Querrie, donor of the trophy.

The previous awards were made to George Sproule Brampton; Gordon Thom, Toronto St. Simons; Hugh Houghton, Mimico, and Clyde Gordon, Hamilton. Three players, together with Mr. Scott, are invited to attend the annual dinner at the Prince George Hotel on Good Friday as guests of the O.A.L.A., when Mr. Querrie will make the presentation to Scott. It is planned to get a group photograph of all five winners on this occasion.

THISTLES TO BE STRONG.

FERGUS, Ont.—(CP).—Fergus lacrosse authorities are shooting for the Mann Cup and 1936 Olympic Games. Matt Rohmer, former Hamilton Tiger star, has come here to live and play for Thistles this summer, and several other outside players are expected to move in.

Lester Patrick Deplores Neglect Of Junior Hockey in Maritimes

NEW YORK, April 16 (CP)—Two new boosters for Maritime hockey exist to-day in jovial Jack Adams, manager of Detroit Red Wings, and Lester Patrick, head of New York Rangers.

The two major league mentors returned here over the week-end from Halifax, where they were spectators at the Allan Cup semi-finals. Both were pleasantly surprised at the fine hockey shown, the hospitality of the Nova Scotians, the modern rinks and the interest shown by the large crowds at the games.

While they cloaked their trips under the guise of "holiday visits," it was learned both were particularly impressed by the play of "Chummy" Lawlor and Hudson of the Halifax Wolverines and Watson of the Montreal Royals.

For Patrick it was the first trip to the down-east provinces. He said he discovered the hockey fans just as feverishly rabid as anywhere else in the Dominion. "Yes, they have hockeyitis bad down there at the present time," he added.

Lester had a word of reproach, however, for what appeared to him to be neglect of the Juniors due to concentration on producing Allan Cup winners.

"They have the young material down there and can produce players just as good as Toronto, Winnipeg or Montreal if they would furnish the proper conditions and coaching," concluded the grey fox.

BARNEY ROSS RESIGNS AS LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMP

NEW YORK, April 16.—(AP).—Barney Ross, of Chicago, holder of the world lightweight boxing championship for nearly two years, yesterday notified New York State Athletic Commission he could no longer make the 135-pound limit and had decided to resign as titleholder of the division.

This automatically eliminated the match in which Ross was to have defended the lightweight crown against Lou Ambers, of Herkimer, N. Y., the Chicagoan's foremost challenger.

O.A.S.A. May Forego Split In Play-Offs

GUELPH, April 16.—An important change in the policy of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association, which will mean that the organization will forego its split of gate receipts in playoff games, will go into effect provided an amendment to the constitution receives favorable consideration at the annual meeting of the Provincial softball body in Peterborough on Good Friday. The amendment, made known Monday by Verne McIlwraith, Secretary of the Provincial Association, is the most important one of the agenda, and will tend to completely revamp the policy of the association.

The amendment submitted by a member of the executive committee, is to establish a registration committee at a central point, where registration of the 18,000 to 20,000 players under the jurisdiction of the association will be made, and records kept of every player. A charge of 25 cents per player will be made and the revenue derived will compensate the association for loss of the playoff split.

JAPANESE TEAM TO COMPETE FOR CUP

First Professional Team Entry in General Brock Hotel Open Golf Tourney.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., April 16.—Word has been received from George R. Jacobus, president of the United States Professional Golfers' Association, that he will select the captains for the foreign-born and native-born teams of United States professionals which will compete in the $4,000.00 General Brock Hotel open golf tournament, which is to be played at the Lookout Point Country Club, at Fonthill, Ont., on July 11, 12 and 13. The United States amateur teams will choose their own captains from among their numbers. Similar arrangements will also be in vogue with the Canadian teams.

The first professional team entry for the Seagram Gold Cup, emblematic of this six-man team championship, has been received from the Japanese Golf Association and includes: Tomekichi Miyamoto, of the Ibaragi Golf Club, Kyoto, present Japanese professional champion; Seisui Chin, of the Musashino Country Club, and Ryokuzo Asami, of the Hodagaya Country Club, Yokohama, both former champions; Toichiro Teda, of the Hirono Golf Club, Kobe; Kokichi Yasuda, of the Tokio Golf Club; Kenkichi Nakamura, of the Fujisawa Country Club, and Yutaka Kanuma, secretary of the J.G.A., who is accompanying the team as manager. It is confidently expected that at least ten teams will be entered in this competition.

Assumption Cagers Trounce Montreal

Defeat Notre Dame de Grace 46-38 in Eastern Canada Senior Final.

WINDSOR, April 16 (CP)—Assumption College Purples broke away on the right foot in their challenge for the Eastern Canada Senior basketball title when they outscored the strong Notre Dame de Grace quintet of Montreal, 46 to 38, in the first of a 2-out-of-3-games series here last night. The second game is scheduled for to-night, and a third, if necessary, on Wednesday.

Notre Dame, weakened by the absence of their star forward, Len Hutton, battle the Purples right from the opening whistle and were always within hailing distance of their formidable rivals. The score at half time was 32-15 for Assumption.

NEED NEW RINK.

CLEVELAND.— (CP). — Should Cleveland hockey team bring a National League franchise here for next season, they will have to promise to build an entirely new rink. Falcons have played in the International League for several seasons—and with some success from a financial standpoint — but the city's arena seats only 4,000.

FENCERS CUT HAIR.

NEW YORK.— (CP).— Trinity School's fencing team was so good it sheared the hair from the heads of the St. John's University freshmen team. The St. John's boys had vowed they would let their foes cut their hair if they lost a match this season and after winning, the Trinity fencers were handed scissors and told to go to work.

PORTS FALL IN FIRST GAME TO HALIFAX WOLVERINES 3-2

Odds Increase on Maritime Champions to Retain Allan Cup Honors.

THOMPSON GETS TWO.

(Staff Writer.)

HALIFAX, April 16 (CP)—Swift and sure on the attack, Halifax Wolverines chased away the Port Arthur Bearcats last night for a 3-2 victory in the opening encounter of the Canadian amateur hockey finals. The menacing Western pack will be back looking for blood Wednesday, but unless their claws are sharper, the Allan Cup will remain in the East for the third consecutive year.

Old Wolves facing aggressive Cub Cats struck early in the fray, piling up three goals in the first period and matching speed with experience to hold the advantage. Lanky Vince Ferguson, veteran warrior, who has been with the Halifax pack since it was organized in 1928, drew first blood for the Wolverines and beat young Jackie Nash again to regain the lead after Bill Thompson had tied the count.

Hudson Keeps on Scoring

Just before the opening session ended, Ron Hudson boosted the lead with a hard drive from inside the blue line. The trick right-winger, considered a prospect for the big league by Jack Adams of the Detroit Red Wings, had scored in every game since the Wolves began their play-off series with Charlottetown Abegeweiths in February.

The brilliant Thompson, who had caught Bubar unaware on the long wing shot in the first period, gave Bearcats their other marker early in the second on a clever pass from Alex Sinclair.

MIZE RETURNED TO CARDS.

CINCINNATI, April 16.—(AP).—Leaders of Cincinnati Reds ended days of uncertainty and conflicting reports about Johnny Mize to-day with an official announcement the $55,000 rookie will be turned back to St. Louis Cardinals.

The announcement followed a medical report an operation would be necessary to treat a leg injury handicapping the youngster, preventing his participating in play for two months or more.

MINOR LEAGUE MANAGERS SET LOOP OPENING

Three New Pilots and Generous Sprinkling of Rookies This Season.

LEAFS AT SYRACUSE.

No Little World Series This Year—Four Leading Teams to Play-off.

NEW YORK, April 16.—(AP)—With three new managers and a generous sprinkling of rookies on each club, the International Baseball League will open its 52nd season tomorrow with the prospects of another hard-fought battle for the four play-off positions.

There will be no little world series this year, the International League and American Association having broken off relations in that regard, but the four ranking teams again will meet in the playoff series with the players sharing in a special fund set aside during the regular season.

The opening games will find Newark Bears, winner of the regular season race for the last three years, at home to Rochester Red Wings; Toronto Maple Leafs, victors in the playoffs, at Syracuse; Montreal Royals at Baltimore and Buffalo Bisons at Albany.

Rochester, Syracuse and Albany will start the season with new leaders. Eddie Dyer, a member of St. Louis Cardinals' farm system for seven years, will be at the helm of the Red Wings while Al Mamaux, erstwhile manager of the Bears, will guide the Senators and Harry Lelbold, former major leaguer, will direct the destinies of the chiefs.

In seeking its fourth straight triumph, Bob Shawkey's Newark Club will present a team largely composed of newcomers, many of last year's stars having moved up to the majors. Roy Schalk, infielder, is the only regular back from last year with the exception of three or four pitchers.

The Maple Leafs, while looking to Cincinnati Reds for reinforcements, will swing into action with practically no reserve strength. Manager Ike Boone, the league's ranking slugger last year, is certain only of his outfield, composed of himself, Wes Schulmerich and Tom Oliver. He has only four infielders, one catcher and less than a half-dozen pitchers on the roster.

The Royals took one of the largest squads for training and appear to be well fortified with a veteran outfit.

Cobourg Sportsman Resides In Hastings

HASTINGS, April 16.—Sporting circles have suffered a distinct loss in the departure from Cobourg of popular "Billy" Wills, who left town to take up residence at Hastings last Monday.

"Billy" has been a resident of Cobourg for nearly thirty years, and during that time never missed an opportunity to help along sports of every kind. He was not a spectacular booster or a man who sought publicity for what he did, but by his enthusiasm and individual efforts has done more for sport in Cobourg than any other man. It did not matter what it was, hockey, baseball or any other line of sport, "Billy" was always ready and willing to do his share, and his share was usually the thankless task of digging up the funds. No man ever worked harder to raise money for sports than he has done. He never said very much, but if at any time there was money to be collected or raised "Billy" was on the job.

Roads Impassable In North Of County

APSLEY, April 16. — (Examiner Correspondence.)—The roads north and east of Apsley to Clydesdale and Coe Hill, respectively, are almost impassable for motors and have not been in such bad condition for 5 years, according to old residents, the worst parts being within a mile of the village. It is likely the road insurance companies will be faced with a number of claims for damages to cars, according to reports of local drivers.

BOUCHER GETS LADY BYNG CUP FOR 7TH TIME

Eddie Shore Voted Most Valuable Player to His Team in National League.

YEARLY AWARDS.

MONTREAL, April 16. (CP).—Eddie Shore, main dynamo in the Boston Bruins' powerhouse, last night was announced as winner of the Dr. David A. Hart trophy as the most useful player to his team in the National Hockey League season which has just closed.

For the seventh time in his career, andf or the third time in a row Frank Boucher, star centre player of New York Rangers, has been awarded the Lady Byng trophy, given the player who best embodies the highest type of sportsmanship combined with superior playing ability

Both awards were made by vote of sports writers in each city of the National Hockey League circuit. A wide margin separated Boucher from his nearest competitors, Russell Blinco, of Montreal Maroons, and Joe Primeau, Toronto Maple Leafs. All three of the leaders are centre-men.

His Second Time

Shore was voted the Hart Trophy for the second time in his career. He had previously won it in 1933. This season he was given considerable opposition in the voting by Charlie Conacher, Toronto, big right winger, the league's leading scorer, who was a close second, and Art Coulter, Chicago defenceman.

Choice of Shore as winner of the trophy presented by the late Dr. David A. Hart, of Montreal, climaxes the big defenceman's return to forceful and brilliant hockey this season after a poor year in 1933-34 when the Ace Bailey incident threatened for a time to end his usefulness.

Besides being a major part of Boston's strong defence, Shore ended the season as the league's leading scorer among defencemen. He netted seven goals and provided team-mates with 26 assists for a total of 33 points to finish seventeenth in the United States second.

Boucher, one of the cleanest players hockey has ever known, went through the season with but two minutes beside the penalty timekeeper. His effectiveness is shown through his 13 goals, 32 assists for 45 points, third in the United States section. Winners of the two trophies follow:

SPORTS — Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two — DAY BY DAY

(By C. J. P.)

This year will see last year's championship of the O.B.A.A. bantam series settled. Or would it sound less screwy to say the 1934 bantam title will be settled in 1935? Anyway, the Peterborough bantam champs—King Edward School—will meet the Kitchener-Waterloo champs in a sudden-death titular game in Waterloo this May 24th, and the winner will be known as the '34 bantam titleholder of Ontario. Both teams were beaten in semi-finals last autumn by Toronto Columbus Boys. But this latter outfit was found later to have used an ineligible player, so the team was tossed out. Waterloo has never won a Provincial title and they wanted this series with our squad badly—so much, in fact, that they've offered a good guarantee for the King Edward team to go there May 24th. And the local outfit has agreed.

It looks like we might have a good City Baseball League going here again this summer. At least, there is some interest in the bantam division now. Already, the Maple Leaf Bantams have a practice called for two bells Friday afternoon in Armour Field, with all players under 16 wanting a tryout welcome. Herb Ralph expects to operate either a junior or bantam team and several others are thinking the matter over. Knotty Lee told us yesterday that he sees no reason why the City League can't have games and practices at Riverside Park—without interfering any with the senior club—and that he will be glad to coach any of them or all of them afternoons or evenings, before or after the senior team works out. A good offer and the league should take advantage of it.

The Belleville writer says, in part: "Out in Peterborough, intermediate baseball seems about whipped while lower minor league ball is descending to a low level. The old East Peterborough intermediate loop that has produced so many great teams in the past is nothing but a fond memory, as it has passed out of existence. In years past, the Lift Lock City could be counted upon to celebrate at last one O.B.A.A. victory in the matter of championships a season. Of late, minor ball has fallen into the doldrums there and gone is the reign of the old Lakeview juniors, the C.G.E., Cogs and Raybestos intermediates of old days and the advancement of players to senior ranks. So baseball moguls there are endeavoring to resurrect a good City League for the purpose of educating ball players."

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Sailing and Aquatic Club, postponed from last week, will be held at 7.45 p.m. Tuesday, April 16th (that's tonight) in the Y.M.C.A. Everyone interested in sailing or canoeing around here is invited to attend. They expect to elect officers and make definite plans for this summer.

An executive meeting of the Girls' Softball League will be held at eight Wednesday e'en in Duffus'. It's open to the loop officers, managers of teams, and prospective managers. The delegates to the P.W.S.U. convention will report to the meeting, the entry of teams will be dealt with, umpires and groundkeeper appointed, schedule discussed and other business in connection with getting the league started handled at this session. Keene, C.G.E., Westclox and Omemee are definite entries, though the latter may want to play in only one half. It is hoped that Maple Leafs and one more squad will make it a six-team circuit, as the affiliated gals' league should have a fine season this year.

• • • • • • •

Men's softball executive met last eve and cleaned up business in connection with the O.A.S.A. convention here this Friday. They checked on finances and reported two more donations—one a cheque for $25 from the J. Labatt Co. and some Coca-Cola from the local Coca-Cola Co.—and they mapped out a route of the city over which visiting delegates will be taken Friday a.m. Peterborough voting delegates at the meeting will be George Dormer, Harley Weir and Dick Cowan. These three fellows along with Fred Scates, Dave Leether and Johnny Russell are the main workers in putting this Ontario convention across. Make no mistake, it will be a success.

A swell turnout last night at the Church Softball League annual meeting in the 'Y'. Ten local churches and the Boys' Work Board had 26 delegates on hand. They threshed things out and made definite progress. The loop this year should be as large as last, when 27 teams were in, and it will open a week from Monday and wind up the end of June. The executive meets again tonight at six in the 'Y' to deal with the various suggestions of the meeting. Harry Marsh replaces Reg. Kingdon on the executive committee, the latter asking to be relieved. The officers this year are: Len Agnew, Whitty Thirnbeck, B. Anderson Jr., Harry Marsh and Don Charlton. A good slate of experienced fellows. More about this circuit again.

This being "softball week" locally, the Tri-County Lacrosse League meeting won't be held till next week. That's what the guys behind it tell us. Norwood and Port Hope will be invited to attend, so it may turn out to be a six-team loop. Pete King will affiliate a team for the playdowns at the annual meeting of the O.A.L.A. in Toronto Good Friday. And Belleville will send two delegates to Toronto that day and present a motion asking for the formation of a Central Ontario Lacrosse League. They figure this Tri-County League leaves Belleville, Cobourg and Campbellford holding the bag. There was such a Central League last year and everybody held the well-known burlap!

LARGE SUPPLY HOCKEY STARS SAYS PATRICK

N. Y. Mentor Calms Fears Britain and Europe Soon Monopolize Production.

"CANADA'S GAME."

(By George Maguire, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

NEW YORK, April 16 (CP)—Rechoing W. A. Hewitt's now historical statement of a decade ago, "Canada can always produce sufficient hockeymen to supply not only her own needs but the needs of the entire world," Lester Patrick, manager of the New York Rangers, calmed fears expressed by minor league officials, Britain and Europe would soon monopolize the Dominion's production.

Almost ten years ago Canadian Amateur Hockey Association officials were worried at the increasing migration of youthful talent to United States. At a meeting in Toronto Hewitt, registrar of the organization, minimized the danger with his remarks Canada's supply would always exceed the demand.

Minor Loops Fear

Herbert Gardiner, manager of Philadelphia Arrows of the Canadian-American League, voiced fears of the minor loops at a week-end conference here between the International and Canadian-American circuits called to discuss a proposed merger of the two. Patrick took the floor and discounted the pessimism of Gardiner and others. He revealed he had been asked to furnish European magnates with 100 at the start of the last season and could have accomplished the task easily but for his numerous duties at Madison Square Garden concerning the Rangers.

Thousands of Players

The Gray-Fox of Drummondsville, Que., told the minor leaguers of the numerous Junior, Intermediate and Senior teams operating in Canada—figures that astonished the majority of the Canadian-American and several of the International loop magnates.

"It is Canada's game and it will be many years before any other country can match the Dominion in the organization of hockey or construction of artificial rinks," he said.

LARGE ENTRY IS EXPECTED CHURCH LOOP

Softball League Will Open April 30th and Close at End of June.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Twenty-six representatives attended the annual meeting of the Church Softball League last evening in the Y.M.C.A. There were ten local churches and the Boys' Work Board represented and indications were that two dozen or more teams will make up this lively league this summer. It will open April 30th and conclude the end of June. Considerable business was handled at last nights enthusiastic session.

Only one change was made in the executive committe from last season. Harry Marsh will replace Reg. Kingdon, the latter asking to be relieved from office. Len Agnew, Whitty Thirnbeck, Bill Anderson, Harry Marsh and Don Lewis were nominated for the four elected places on this committee, with the latter losing out. The other four, along with Don Charlton of the Boys' Work Board, meet to-night at six in the "Y" to elect officers and deal with suggestions of the general meeting. Group convenors may be added to the committee.

Don Charlton, chairman of the Inter-Church Sports' Committee of the Boys' Work Board here, presided at the meeting. Len Agnew, last year's league chairman was unavoidably absent and his report of last season was given by the chairman. The financial statement showed a deficit of 26 cents on the year, considered quite satisfactory.

Suggestions Discussed

Various suggestions were made and discussed; matters such as the speeding up of games, umpiring, grounds, entry fees, outside teams, sectional ages, equipment, O.A.S.A. affiliation and general conduct of players. Harold Rehill, former league chairman, Whitty Thirnbeck and J. Graham made some valuable suggestions. These will be handled by the executive.

Until the age limits are set, definite entry of teams cannot be made, but the league expects as many teams in as last year, when 27 joined. Mark Street will have a senior squad and either a bantam or junior one. St. Luke's may put in one in a younger section. St. John's will have juvenile and midget teams at least. St. Paul's will enter a juvenile and a senior or junior outfit. George Street will enter a midget, juvenile, junior and perhaps a senior team.

Murray Street will be in the senior sections. St. Andrew's are expected in the juvenile and maybe the midget divisions. Trinity will enter senior, junior and midget teams. All Saints should have junior, juvenile and midget squads. Knox is likely to enter senior, midget and either junior or juvenile outfits. Park Street may field a midget team and St. James wih probably put one in each section.

Nearly 500 bodies have been found underneath a field near Cranecy, France, and they are believed to be those of French and German cavalrymen who were buried after an encounter early in the Word war.

125,000 BALL FANS EXPECTED AT NATIONAL LEAGUE OPENERS

Calculators Point to a Two-club Pennant Race Between St. Louis Cards and Bill Terry's Giants—Other Managers Have Different Opinions.

(By Herbert W. Barker).

NEW YORK, April 16 (A.P.).—A long, hard winter grudgingly gave way to spring and the National League's 60th baseball season today.

Despite threats of cold weather, fully 125,000 fans, bundled up in heavy overcoats, were ready to offer a rousing welcome to the game which expects to make a decisive comeback, financially and artistically, this year.

Expert calculations point to a two-club pennant race between the world-champion St. Louis Cardinals and New York Giants, but managers of the other six outfits concede nothing in advance.

Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates, whose winter trade sent Guy Bush, Jim Weaver and Babe Herman to Pittsburgh and Larry French and Freddie Lindstrom to Chicago, loom as dangerous rivals for the favorites.

Box Office At Boston.

The league offered a sure-fire box office natural at Boston, where Braves field was the setting for Babe Ruth's National League debut after 21 spectacular years in the rival major loop.

The renewal of Ruth's personal duel with Carl Hubbell, slender southpaw of New York Giants, brought prospects of a crowd of 35,000.

The other inaugurals—at Chicago between the Cubs and the Cardinals; at Cincinnati between the Reds and the Pirates; and at Philadelphia, between the Phillies and the Brooklyn Dodgers—offered features of their own.

Cardinals, picking Jerome (Dizzy) Dean to pitch the opening game, make their bid for another pennant with virtually the same ensemble that nipped the Giants at the wire in 1934. Terry Moore, in the outfield, is the only newcomer.

COCHRANE FIGURES HIS TIGERS CAN LEAD AMERICAN PACK HOME

Detroit Pitchers Capable of Accounting For 100 Victories or More—Experts Predict Cleveland and Yanks Well Up in Race.

(By William Weekes).

CHICAGO, April 16 (A.P.).—The business of supplying the answers to a set of American League question marks starts to-day.

The younger of the two major leagues comes up to the beginning of the 36th championship campaign with two absorbing questions—can fiery Mickey Cochrane's Detroit Tigers repeat and who will step in to fill the shoes of the man who made the home run famous and profitable, Babe Ruth.

Cochrane apparently believes his club can lead the pack home. He figures his pitchers are capable of accounting for 100 victories.

Yankees Well Up.

The expert observers, however, figure Cleveland on the verge of greatness for several seasons or Joe McCarthy's New York Yankees, or both, may head Detroit off.

The successor to the great Ruth as the magnet to attract steady streams of trade through the turnstiles, may turn up in durable Lou Gehrig, overshadowed as long as Ruth was with the Yankees, or Jimmy Foxx, whose success or lack of it, as a catcher after a brilliant career at first base, figures to be the make or break point in the Athletics' bid.

Shift In Managers.

To further heighten the fans' interest is the case of Joe Cronin and Bucky Harris. Harris, first of Clark Griffith's "boy wonder" managers at Washington, is back at the Senators' helm, after stops at Detroit and Boston. In his place at Boston is Cronin, second of Griffith's prodigies, coaxed to the Red Sox by Tom Yawkey's big bankroll in one of baseball's biggest deals.

About 100,000 are expected to view the games to-day.

WINNIPEG MAN'S INVENTION HALTS BALL TOSSERS PLAINT

Warm Pitcher's 'Soup Bone' When the Cold Winds Blow.

APPROVED BY MAJORS.

By CLEM SHIELDS
Central Press Canadian Correspondent

WINNIPEG, April 16—If the invention of a young Winnipeger, Ian E. Macdonald, is adopted by the baseball fraternity, no more will be heard of the pitcher's plaint, "Gee, my arm is cold."

As a matter of fact, the arm-warmer invented by Macdonald has passed the okay of the major and minor league moguls and was put on sale in sporting goods stores in the United States by a prominent sporting goods firm.

The arm-warmer is a padded arm a little less than half an inch thick. It is made of silent cloth, padded with absorbent cotton, and is worn under the pitcher's windbreaker between innings.

Macdonald, who is trainer of the Winnipeg Maroons of the Northern Professional Baseball league, was struck with the idea that a pitcher's arm needed extra protection from the elements one day last year. It was exceedingly cold and Macdonald was forced to cover his charges with a blanket and pin it together.

"Too much trouble," opined Macdonald, and wended his way home, deep in thought as to ways and means to overcome such inconvenience.

His arm-pad was his brain wave.

Has Been Approved

Macdonald carried his plan to Bruno Haas, owner-manager of the Maroons, and former White Sox outfielder, and Bruno was immediately impressed with the feasibility of the idea. He carried a sample arm down to the annual meetings of the major and minor ball leagues last February, and such famous baseball players as Rube Walberg, of Boston Red Sox; Al. Thomas, Washington; Earl Whitehill, Washington; Luke Sewell, Athletics, and last but not least, Jimmy Foxx, Athletics, were all enthused with the Winnipeg boy's armwarmer.

Macdonald modestly admits that he derived the idea from the old-fashioned tea cosy, many of which he remembers seeing while a youngsters in the old country.

He has given little, if any, thought as to how much he will make on his invention, his biggest enjoyment coming with the knowledge that he has given something to the baseball world which may eventually become a common sight on every baseball park or corner lot.

Edmonton Grads Set For Eastern Series

EDMONTON, April 16 (CP)—Edmonton Commercial Grads, out in search of another Dominion title, were ready to-day to leave for Windsor, Ont., to clash with Windsor-Walkerville Alumni in the Canadian Women's basketball championship.

Grads annexed the Western championship last night by handing Vancouver Province British Columbia titlists, their second defeat in 2-out-of-3-games series. After winning the first game 63-24, Grads took the second, 64-42.

PROPER GRIP IS IMPORTANT PLAYING GOLF

Gene Sarazen Recommends Overlap Against Interlock in Drive Off.

GEMS FROM A CHAMP

NEW YORK, April 15 (C.P.) — Gene Sarazen, who seldom goes over par, had some sound advice to-day for the golfing duffer who seldom, if ever, gets under 100.

"A proper grip is 95 per cent of the game; don't try to privot or think about anything except hitting the ball," he said in explaining what he believes are the essentials of the cantakerous sport that has known his mastery for 15 years. "Eliminate all those thoughts about body action."

It was Gene's way of trying to induce Mr. Averageman golfer to chase a dozen and one helter skelter "essentials" out of his head and step up to hit the ball with that idea, and that alone.

Fresh from adding the Augusta, Ga., masters tourney to the raft of titles he already has won, the swarthy bulldog of the links held a clinic in a Broadway department store.

Enlarging on his all-important grip, he recommended the overlap as against the interlock and stressed the right-hand should be pulled over toward the left until four knuckles of the right can be seen by the right-eye. The "V" formed between the right thumb and index finger thus should point at the right-shoulder.

Other instructional gems dropped by the little New York Italian were:

"Take the club back in a straight line with the direction you are hitting.

"I start the club back with my right-hand and start it down with my left. At contact 'with the ball' the right-hand hits the left and that causes the club to snap. I never think about wrist action.

"When you come down on a ball in a sand-trap, aim about an inch behind it. By taking your club straight back and very upright, you keep the face (of the club) open.

"When I am putting my best, the club doesn't go back more than six or eight inches."

Montreal Club Will Contest Currie Cup

MONTREAL, April 16 (CP)—Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club of Montreal will contest the Currie Cup, emblematic of the three-cornered championship dinghy race, against Kingston, Ont., and Royal Canadian Yacht Club, of Toronto, when the series is held at Kingston, July 13.

Two crews from each club will compete and will sail three races, alternating in the boats so each club will handle each boat once. Kingston has won the event the last three seasons. Last year it was a two-club competition as Royal Canadian did not enter.

GYPSY GIRL

THE STORY OF AN IMPASSIONED ROMANCE

By McDONALD FEADER

Read This First:

Consuelo, a beautiful gypsy girl, longs to dance with all the world at her feet. In love with her are the Dummy, a deaf mute, and Marcu, both members of her tribe. She has only hate for her mother, Anica, but is extremely fond of her father, Girtza. The father reprimands Anica for her treatment of Consuelo.

(Now go on with the Story)

CHAPTER 2

A dilapidated old hamper, pushed in one corner out of the way, was dragged forth and opened. Consuelo searched through it, pulling forth tawdry clothing, discarded trinkets and scraps of brilliant silk that had been saved for some possible use. In the bottom of the hamper was a package, the paper soiled and old. She picked it out and then tossed the other things back. With eager hands she undid the package and stared at the lovely article it held. For a moment she knelt motionless, then her fingers caressed the folds with tender awe. A forbidden garment, her mother's wedding skirt. It had been the best silk that money could buy and throught the years its brilliant colors had never faded or spoiled. Five yards of loveliness, gathered and caught in by the belt.

She drew the silk thing up in her arms and held it to her and the feel of the silk against her arms was good.

She was very beautiful as she knelt there, her long hair falling about her to the floor like folds of rumpled black velvet, her eyes closed, the lashes making shadows on her cheeks. The loose blouse she wore had slipped from one shoulder exposing the full line of her throat. There was a quietude about her now that brought peace into her face, that stilled the animation but left there a radiant glow of satisfaction. So might she have looked after her lover had kissed her or so might she look when she attained the marble palace on top of the high hill and her ideal had been fulfilled to the very utmost.

But only for a moment did the Madonna-like attitude exist, for in the next she was on her feet and with nimble fingers tore her own skirt from her and flung it to the floor. Off came the blouse which was replaced by a newer, more gaudy one. Then the beloved skirt was fastened about the slim waist.

More anklets were added; more bracelets; more beads; a gay scarf edged with bangles was knotted about her head leaving the dusty hair free. Into her ears went earrings, great gold loops that drew the lobes of her ears into pearl-like drops. She shook her head and the earrings and the bangles and the beads touched and made a tingling music that joined the chorus of bracelets and anklets.

Digging among her things she produced a small bottle of eau de cologne and poured the liquid down her neck, disregarding the wet splotches that oozed through on the blouse. She closed her eyes in ecstasy and inhaled deep of the heady scent. She hid the bottle again and placed the broken mirror on a box and thoughtfully viewed herself.

She turned this way and that, lips puckered. Her girdle of bright stripes was adjusted; the wrinkles of the skirt were flattened out; a curl was dampened and patted on her forehead. Now she turned again and very slowly began to smile and the smile said, "I'm beautiful!" Satisfied, she whirled around on her toes, arms flung out. The jingle of the ornaments was music in her ears.

"I am happy," she murmured to herself. "Oh, but I'm happy!" She laughed aloud and began to half chant, half sing, improvising tune and words as she went along. "Only going to dance at gorgio fair, I am, but that doesn't matter. There will be people and they will clap for me, throw dimes, maybe a half-dollar or two and the young white chavs will flirt with me and I will flirt back at them and Marcu will be furious and scowl and threaten and I will laugh in his face and snap my fingers at him and I will pick some nice young man with money to buy me lemonade and ice cream and he will be afraid of me but afterwards he will boast to his friends that he treated the gypsy girl and tell how bad are the gypsies, how they carry knives in their belts and speak a language the gorgios don't understand and so the gorgios hate them—all but the gypsy girls and these they give bold looks and suspect bad things of. I am a bad gypsy girl but I am as beautiful as a spicy red carnation Men love me but I hate them all. I'm as free as the wind and like the wind I dance! Dance! Dance!"

She whirled on her toes, the wedding skirt flying high about her bare legs. She flung back her head and laughed and laughed, like a drunken person.

At that moment Anica drew aside the curtains. Her eyes took in the whirling laughing girl. At first the full significance of the outrage did not penetrate her mind, then she remembered. The silk skirt. Her wedding skirt! A cry of rage fell from her lips.

"What are you doing with that on?"

The laughted stopped. The whirl stopped, but the skirt went on merrily winding itself around the legs.

"That's my wedding skirt!" Anica shrieked, still not quite comprehending the situation.

"Yes? I thought so, my mother." Bravado. Inwardly she was shaking.

What have you got it on for?

"I'm going to dance in it this afternoon." She moved toward the end of the van.

Anica gasped.

"I guess you are not!" She stepped in front of the van's only exit.

"Why not?" demanded Consuelo, trying to pass her.

"Because it's mine!" She caught the girl by the shoulders and shoved her against the wall. "You'll not wear it, thief!"

"Oh yes, I will! Let go of me—you're hurting!"

The grip tightened. Inch by inch Anica forced her down against a pile of old rags.

"Take it off!" she commanded.

"I won't! Let go of me! What are you trying to do, anyway?"

"I'm not trying to do anything—I'm doing it!' She reached up. Her hand gripped the whip from the rack. She poised over the girl, whip held high, face red and ugly.

"Now take it off!'

"I won't! Get out of my way!" Consuelo shouted.

For answer the whip cracked across the shoulders and back of the girl.

Consuelo screamed.

Again the whip fell.

Beads of sweat dropped from the woman's face.

Again the whip fell.

The girl was not screaming now but lay half stunned from surprise and pain. Red, ugly welts rose, the blood showing through the skin. Again the whip fell. Then frenzied, senses reeling, she sprang for her mother, grabbed her around the hips and the two rolled to the dusty floor of the van. Like a tigress the girl struggled on top, her slim fingers clutching the oily black hair.

The woman dropped the whip and together they grappled and rolled on the floor.

Anica grabbed the skirt and her fingers tore at the belt until the fastenings gave way. The skirt tangled in the struggling legs. Like animals the two screamed at each other, tussling, rolling, fingernails drawing blood.

There was a shriek from Anica as a stream of blood rolled down her cheek. She loosened her clutch from the skirt and, screaming like a mad woman, grasped the girl's throat.

"I'll kill you now!" she cried.

The curtains of the van were thrust apart and Marcu sprang at the two. He pulled Anica from the girl and flung her against the wall.

In the name of God what are you doing old fool?"

The woman fell panting and bleeding, the breath half knocked from her.

"Get out of here!" she gasped. "Let me kill her now!" Again she sprang for the inert girl.

Marcu's foot stopped her and she sank groaning to the floor. He picked Consuelo up in his arms. There was a strange pallor under his tawny skin. He carried her from the van to a nearby bucket of water.

"Come here, some of you!" he shouted, voice unsteady.

He threw water in the girl's face. She groaned and, gasping, began to draw the breath back into her lungs.

Girza was the first one of the quiet circle to move. His face was old and grim as he started for the van.

A few moments later the screams of a woman told that the long neglected whip was being used for the second time that day.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 17,

According to the dominant planetary configurations this may be a day of confusion and excitement, together with varied elements of treachery and duplicity. These may have some bearing on litigation, but in all sagacity and shrewdness would have better results than impulsive action. Change in personal affairs may be beneficial, and property should increase.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves engulfed in anything but a monotonous year. Turmoil, excitement, commotion and change may call for discreet and calm action, with alertness as to fraud or trickery in relation to papers, writings, documents and litigation. But contention, strife and impetuosity would not help matters.

A child born on this day, while being steady and industrious, also may be inclined to be impetuous, quarrelsome and temperamental. It needs proper discipline and direction.

LIBERALS PLAN FOR CONVENTION

Convention Will Be Held in Grand Opera House on Thursday, May 2.

900 DELEGATES.

The Liberal Association of Peterborough's Federal riding will hold a nominating convention in the Grand Opera House on Thursday evening, May 2, at 8 o'clock.

Approximately nine hundred delegates are expected to register for this convention, which is reported to be the most thoroughly organized primary in the long history of the party in this constituency. The polling sub-division has been made the unit and basis of organization, and on the democratic basis of representation by population the proportion of delegates will be two to every fifty voters.

Notices Sent Out.

T. J. Carley, secretary of the Peterborough Liberal Association, informed The Examiner to-day that final notices had been sent to all the poll chairmen.

"The executive hopes and expects that every delegate will attend this important convention," Mr. Carley said. "It has been pointed out that the executive is not concerned about the personnel of the delegate body, the people who have the duty and responsibility of nominating their candidate for the coming Federal elections. All that is asked is that every polling sub-division be fully represented and that the delegates come with open minds to select the man or woman whom they think will make the strongest representative of the Liberal Party in the next campaign.

Every poll has been organized, and a new interest has been created by the responsibility that has been placed upon the voters in every subdivision. We believe that only sickness will keep a delegate away from this convention. It is being held in the evening, and that time has been approved by the rural voters who attended the organization meetings. A special speaker is coming for the occasion, and we are inviting the Liberal candidates and some of the other party leaders in the neighboring ridings of Hastings-Peterborough, Northumberland, Durham, and Victoria-Haliburton.

THEATRES

AT THE REGENT.

"THE AGE OF INNOCENCE" and "FATHER BROWN, DETECTIVE"

This program gives you one of those very entertaining and full double bills that keep the attention riveted to the screen for a lengthy space of time.

Irene Dunne and John Boles, who have a similar technique, are well teamed in "The Age of Innocence" which is a story within a story. An old man and his grandson sit in a motor car and drive around the park in New York, while the former tells the young man the story of the lost romance of his youth. It is a beautifully-filmed picture that brings back the manners and customs, the dress and even the type of thought, of an older day, when renunciation was in fashion and divorce was a major sin, possibly not so much against the moralities, even in that time, as against the proprieties of a rigid era.

Irene Dunne is the Countess Olenska, eager to divorce her husband, who comes back to America, the home of her youth, and there meets a young man who is engaged to be married to her relative, the gentle May Willard, daughter of a prosperous and conventional house. But the ideals and principles of their time keep the lovers apart and the tale is one for moralists to cheer over, although the sentimentalists will not find it to their liking. And, at the close of the moral recital, the young listener decides his own particular problem for himself.

"Father Brown, Detective," has been filmed by Paramount with such fidelity to the atmosphere of the scene, which is laid in London, that one imagines it to be a British picture, so thoroughly English is the setting and the accent of even the minor actors. It is an artistic portrayal of one of G. K. Chesterton's stories of the simple little priest who, through sheer faith in the Almighty and in the innate nobility of human nature, is able to swerve a famous criminal from the path of wrong and steer him to more virtuous ways. Anyone who likes Chesterton and his mode will enjoy to the full this story, which has a splendid cast, including Walter Connolly, as fine as always in the part of Father Brown; Paul Lukas, as the diamond-thief, Flambeau; Gertrude Michael, as the blonde heroine, and Una O'Connor (the 'floating' maid of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," and "Mrs. Gummidge" of "David Copperfield"), as Father Brown's housekeeper.

The picture includes a few scenes from the Eucharistic Congress, with lovely Vesper music, chanted in Latin, as an accompaniment.

AT THE CAPITOL.

"VANESSA: HER LOVE STORY"

This is another old tale come to life, with the screen picturing one of Hugh Walpole's famous books in the series dealing with the Herries family. But the screened version has softened the outline of the story and the new code for moving pictures has censored some of the subject matter of Walpole's novel. The story, as filmed, casts a heroic and courageous atmosphere over the love of Vanessa and Benjamin Herries.

Robert Montgomery has the curious quality of allying himself with any lady with whom he is paired. No matter what the type of the leading lady, he appears to be able to team up very satisfactorily. One would not think that his forthright manner could make such a fine alliance with the spirituality of Helen Hayes, but so it is. They go beautifully together in the story which centers about the love of the gentle and mild Vanessa Paris for the adventurous and sensuous Benjy. The influence of Fate, as it ran its scarlet thread through the story, controls the picture also. On the eve almost of their wedding, Vanessa and Benjy are separated and much water flows under the bridge before they are happy again.

There is a marvellous old lady, the century-old Madam Judith Paris, in the picture, and May Robson, well as she has acted in previous features, has probably never excelled this delineation, so outstanding is it and so sharply does it impress itself on the limning of the story.

Henry Stephenson does some splendid acting as the cousin, Barney; Lewis Stone is Adam, father of Vanessa, and Otto Kruger is superb in the role of the insane husband of Vanessa, Ellis Herries. It is a memorable picture, one of the sort that imprints itself on the mind.

There is a comedy that deals with the vagaries of Tom Howard and the inner workings of the radio world, and there is a short film with Harry Horlick and his band playing for the exquisite singing of Frank Parker, and a Spanish dance by Florence and Alvarez.

—Jeanette.

LAKEFIELD

GIRLS' CHORUS SCORES BIG HIT

Program is Presented by Athletic Association of Lakefield School.

MINSTREL SHOW

LAKEFIELD, April 16 (Examiner Correspondence).—The girls' chorus of the High School, under the capable direction of Mr. Renaud, was the big attraction at the entertainment given on Friday evening in the Town Hall, under the auspices of the Athletic Association of the High School. The girls made a splendid impression on the large audience, and their singing was a musical treat with delightful harmony and a remarkable blending of the fresh young voices; expression and shading were featured in a pronounced manner and the result was something new and fine in Lakefield's musical history. The young girls in the navy blue skirts, white middies and scarlet ties of the class uniform presented a fine type of Canadian girlhood. Mr. Renaud, who has been unremitting in his work with the girls must have felt a thrill of pride at their appearance and in their performance, which was a test as they represent Peterborough County at the O.E.A. Musical Competition to be held in the Eaton Auditorium on Wednesday, April 24.

The girls gave three numbers, "The Fairy Chorus," "Stars of a Summer Night," and "Good Night," with Mrs. Renaud as accompanist.

Lakefield is very proud of this chorus and wishes it success in the musical competition. Those taking part were: Jean Blewett, Isabel Brown, Thelma Bullock, Cora Charlton, Doris Charlton, Madeline Charlton, Jean Clark, Patricia Earnshaw, Ruth Johnston, Kathleen Lawless, Ethel Luke, Isabel Millage, Mildred Miles, Helen Patterson, Madeline Sullivan, Elizabeth Twist, Alma Wilson, Kathleen Wannamaker, Phyllis Webster, Dora Webster, Assunta White.

Minstrel Show

The remainder of the program consisted of an excellent Minstrel Show put on by the D.U.O. Class of the George Street United Sunday School. The jokes were really funny and the singing was a treat especially the male quartet, who gave several negro spirituals. Minstrel shows have never been especially popular in Lakefield, but the D.U.O. made a hit, and the antics of "Snowball" kept the audience in roars.

Mr. H. R. Wager chairman of the Public School Board, was chairman and made a great success of the position as usual as his witty sallies brought down the house.

MILLBROOK

INSTITUTE MEETS IN HARKNESS HOME

Miss Agnes Brown, R.N., is Guest Speaker at Millbrook Meeting.

MILLBROOK, April 16 (Examiner Correspondence)—Mrs. T. G. Harkness was hostess for the April meeting of the local branch of the Women's Institute, held at her home, Union Street, on Saturday at 2.30 p.m., with the president in the chair, and twenty-two members present. Two visitors were welcomed, Miss Alice Berry, of Centreville and Miss Drewry, of Belleville, with the guest speaker, Miss Agnes Brown, Reg.N., of Peterborough.

The report of the dance recently held in the Town Hall by the W.I. showed a little over six dollars clear, the night having been unfortunately chosen when other events were taking place in the community. On motion of Mrs. R. J. McKnight, and Mrs. J. L. Byam, it was decided to allow the Agricultural Society the use of the piano in the Town Hall free of charge so long as this organization is carrying heavy financial obligations.

Annual Meeting

The annual meeting will be held on the second Saturday in May at the home of the treasurer, Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, the response to the roll call being 'Pay your fee.' Mrs. W. H. Armstrong, convenor of the Standing Committee on Health, took the chair for the program which included a most constructive address by Miss Agnes Brown, of Peterborough, on various phases of the health question including diet, inoculation, the welfare of the body, the having of an interest apart from one's daily work the Women's Institute doing its share to promote this aspect of physical and mental recreation, and the effort to be satisfied with our possessions, but not with our life "which should be continually improved."

Miss Brown closed her address with a humorous recitation, "Being Cliniced"; the leader introduced the National Health Magazine issued from Ottawa. Miss Beatrice Jones played a piano solo to the delight of the listeners, and instead of the reading from "The Cattle in the Stall" (Nina Moore Jamieson), it was decided to pass the book round among the members for individual reading.

The hostess and her committee served apples and homemade candy during the social hour at the close, and the formal vote of thanks was sponsored by Miss E. J. Grandy and Mrs. G. Fallis, and endorsed with warm applause.

Benito Welcomes MacDonald

This photograph, sent by telephoto and radio from Stresa, Italy, shows Premier Benito Mussolini, of Italy (LEFT) escorting Premier Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, from his hotel as Il Duce's personal bodyguard protect the two statesmen at the conference. The tripartite conference of Italian, English and French statesmen, seeking a means of relieving Europe from the threat of war, is in session on the islet of Isola Bella, in the famed old Castle Borromeo. Europe expects that this gathering will be but a forerunner of several such conferences, the later ones to include Germany and other nations of Europe.

HE FELT MISERABLE AFTER MEALS

Acute Indigestion Relieved by Kruschen

The treatment which put this man right must surely be worth trying in every case of indigestion. Read what he says:—

"Two years ago I suffered very much from indigestion, loss of appetite, and a most severe pain in my back. Food soured in my stomach. I felt most miserable after meals, and had no desire or appetite for them. A friend advised me to try Kruschen Salts. I did so, and I am most happy to testify that after a short time I felt the greatest relief. I continued taking Kruschen till I felt myself quite better and a new man. I feel as light-hearted as I did twenty years ago."—W. B.

What Kruschen did for him it will do for everybody else who suffers from indigestion as he did. The fact is that "the little daily dose" of Kruschen first stimulates the flow of gastric juices to aid digestion, and then ensures a complete, regular and unfailing elimination of all waste matter every day.

Close Competition Crokinole Tourney

Splendid Musical Program Follows Series at Lifford Line.

LIFFORD LINE, April 16.—(Examiner Correspondence). — About ninety people attended a jolly crokinole party, sponsored by the Fleetwood Women's Association, and held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Staples, Lifford Line, on Thursday evening.

At the close of the series the high scores of eight games for the ladies were brought forward by Mrs. Herbert Neals, Misses Vera Strachan and Clara Beer. A playoff was made and Mrs. Neals was declared the winner. The total number of ten games was won by Cecil Timmins. A pretty silver-plated teapot stand was presented to Mrs. Neals, while Mr. Timms received an ashtray.

Following the presentation of prizes on behalf of the association, Rev. Mr. Paton acted as chairman for a short musical program. Lawrence Staples sang a delightful solo, with Mrs. Herbert Neals playing the accompaniment. George Timms played much appreciated violin music, with Robert Sisson at the piano. Miss Isobel Sisson sang, "Life is What You Make It," a song abounding in constructive thoughts, with her brother, Robert, joining in the chorus and playing the accompaniment. Clarence and Marjorie Page played merry music on violin and piano, respectively. Misses Jean Cook and Aileen Cummiskey pleased the audience with a harp and harmonica selection. Community singing was the concluding number on the program, Robert Sisson and Rev. Paton leading in this number with "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," making an appropriate finale.

The ladies of the association then provided an appetizing lunch and a social time was enjoyed over the teacups before the crowd dispersed.

The financial results for the evening amounted to about $9.

A very successful dance was held in Lifford Community Hall on Friday evening, sponsored by the trustees of the hall. Round and square dancing was enjoyed, with music provided by the local orchestra. The proceeds are to be used in the interests of improvements in the property connected with the hall.

"This Pearl White Naptha way of overnight soaking in cold water is a boon. It's so easy and quick that I get through in no time. I'm always out on washday afternoon."

"I tell all my friends about Pearl White Naptha Soap. I feel fresh after the heaviest wash, because Pearl saves hard physical effort. Pearl is so economical, too. It saves washtub wear and tear and costs so little."

Pearl White Naptha Soap leaves you fresh to enjoy leisure on washday for these reasons—proved by actual test. Its rich, foamy suds start quicker and stand up longer. They coax out obstinate dirt and grease briskly and thoroughly without hard rubbing and scrubbing. The clothes come definitely whiter and cleaner. Pearl saves clothes, too, because there's no harsh washtub wear. And the tests that proved these facts also proved Pearl more economical in use.

You will prefer Pearl White Naptha Soap for more reasons than one. Buy a bar—it costs so little. Compare it with any other laundry soap. Its pure whiteness and clean, fresh smell will delight you. There's nothing like it to ensure a cleaner, sweeter wash in a shorter time.

"The girls in the office wonder how we have so all our own housework. When about with Pearl White Naptha is so quick and easy get our linen is always sparkling and white."

OTTAWA, April 17.—(C.P.)—Before he leaves Ottawa tomorrow afternoon to embark at New York for England, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett will issue a statement expressing his intention of resuming active leadership of the government when parliament resumes sittings on May 20, it was learned today. He will also express his gratitude for numerous messages of sympathy and hopes for his recovery received during the course of his seven weeks illness.

Today the prime minister visited the governor-general at Rideau Hall and discussed matters relative to administration affairs and the forthcoming ceremonies in London in connection with the 25th anniversary of King Georges accession to the throne.

Embarks Friday Night

Mr. Bennett will leave tomorrow afternoon for New York and will probably embark late Friday night. He will be accompanied by his personal secretary, Miss Alice Miller; L. B. INDIAN HEIRESS TELLS ODD TALE

Torn From Common-law Spouse, Forced to Wed Man to Silence Her Testimony.

IN DOUBLE MURDER.

OKEMAH, Okla., April 17 (A.P.).—An Indian heiress' strange story of being torn from her common-law husband and compelled to marry a white man to prevent her testimony in a double slaying is disclosed in court records here.

Nancy Severs Foster, wealthy heiress, has petitioned for annulment of her marriage to Roy Bradburn, 46, charging they were wed after she was told her "own protection" depended upon it. She is about 30, and possesses a fortune estimated in excess of $100,000 left by her father, a Cree Indian, who owned oil lands.

She was married to Bradburn, the petition alleges, the day after the fatal shooting of J. L. Barrick, 46, and Harold Sandlin, 17, on Oct. 31, 1934, at her home near here.

Bradburn is in jail here awaiting trial as an outcome of the death of Sandlin. In the petition, the heiress declared she was the common law wife of Lloyd Foster, 29-year-old Indian youth, at the time of the marriage. Bradburn, she said, had made threats against the Indian youth in an effort to break up their relationship.

According to the petition the heiress was closely guarded at her home until about three weeks ago, when she escaped and went back to Foster.

U.S. Now Main Mart For Canadian Cattle

HONOLULU, April 17 (AP).—The big clipper plane "Pioneer" alighted on Pearl Harbor here at 7.57 a.m., Honolulu time (1.27 p.m., E.S.T.) to-day after a 2,400-mile flight from Alameda, Calif.

The plane roared over Honolulu at 7.05 a.m., Honolulu time, setting a new record for the east to west crossing of the Pacific.

It cut exactly seven hours from the best time made in the six previous crossings from California. A mass flight of six United States navy planes to the islands Jan. 11, 1934 took 24 hours and 46 minutes.

The clipper, which left Alameda at 3.50 p.m., P.S.T (6.50 p.m., E.S.T.) yesterday, reached almost 160 miles an hour at times. Frequently, however, it slowed down to keep on its exact schedule.

Weather conditions were unusually favorable for the flight.

Guthrie Announces Jubilee Amnesty

OTTAWA, April 17 (C.P.).—Minister of Justice Hugh Guthrie told the House of Commons to-day a system of amnesty for prisoners will go into effect for the King's Jubilee.

Every prisoner serving six months or more will be affected. A remission of one month will be made for each year of sentence, the Minister said. That would reduce a six-months' sentence by two weeks.

The last general amnesty in Canada marked the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation in 1927.

The Wives Won

DENVER, April 17 (C.P.).—D. I. and R. J. Grand, brothers, and five of their friends, played poker—but the two Mrs. Grands were the winners.

Detective Sam Finnie called at the Grand home in time to break up the game. He confiscated $9.00 from D. I. Grand, who was banker. Later he learned the brothers are Federal relief workers, so Finnie summoned the wives to police headquarters and gave them the money.

MARSHALL LAYS CATTLE SETBACK TO "STUPIDITY"

Points to Slaughter Order in England for 33 of 44 Shipped From Ontario.

"CANADA JUST AS BAD."

TORONTO, April 17.—(C.P.)—Addressing the Ontario Legislature Agricultural committee to-day, Minister of Agriculture Duncan Marshall blamed "stupidity" on the part of British and Canadian authorities for recent setbacks suffered by the cattle industry in the province.

Mr. Marshall gave an example of an Ontario shipper sending 44 cows to Britain and said when they were unloaded 33 were ordered destroyed.

"They were not diseased," said Mr. Marshall. "Every one of them had been tested for tuberculosis before they were shipped."

"Every once in a while they take a fit to slash into Canadian cattle—the stupidest thing you ever saw," continued Mr. Marshall. "They just do this to put Canada's nose out of joint," he declared. "I have no doubt it is deliberate."

Mr. Marshall told of an Ontario buyer purchasing cattle in Scotland. The Canadian Government posted a new regualtion saying these cattle must be held six months in Canada instead of 60 days or otherwise they must be put in quarantine in London.

"These things are doing more harm to marketing than anything that has happened in a long time," said the Minister.

Hopes to Solve Trouble

"It is a pity that because of the stupidity of officials here and in Britain that we get into these messes. I hope we will get it straightened out."

Mr. Marshall added he was taking action to correct such conditions because "Canada needs both the United States and the British markets.

Turning to a discussion of draft horses, Mr. Marshall said there

Bennett Packs Bags For Trip To Jubilee

OTTAWA, April 17. (CP). — Prime Minister R. B. Bennett packed his bags for a trip to London and the King's silver jubilee to-day after satisfying newspapermen the only evidence his seven-week illness has left on him is a loss of weight he welcomes.

The Premier will leave Ottawa to-morrow for New York and sail Friday or Saturday for London. Last night he entertained members of the Parliamentary press gallery in his hotel suite for an hour. He seemed in excellent spirits and indicated he is looking forward to resuming active leadership of the Government when the House of Commons resumes sessions May 20.

LEAGUE ACTION HITS GERMANY LIKE BOMBSHELL

Consider Condemnation of Rearmament Dooms Future International Negotiations.

PROTEST CERTAIN.

May Call Plebiscite—Considers Britain, Poland Deceived Her.

BERLIN, April 17 (CP-Havas).—Germany refuses to recognize the resolution voted by the League of Nations Council to-day and considers this moral condemnation of the Reich dooms any future international negotiations so far as Germany is concerned, official sources declared.

A Bombshell

News of the Geneva vote struck government circles like a bombshell, it was learned. Germany considers she has been deceived both by Great Britain and by Poland.

Some kind of formal protest by the Reich government is certain, official quarters said. It was said by others Chancellor Adolf Hitler is preparing a "new coup de theatre" similar to his abrupt announcement of military conscription a month ago.

Indications are a new plebiscite may be called without delay as a result of the league's action.

Return of Germany to the League of Nations is seen here as gravely jeopardised, if not impossible, as a result of the Council vote. Of equal importance is the fact a fundamental change in German-Polish relations may take place now that Warsaw has decided, apparently, to support France's policy at Geneva.

Surprised at Poland

The Associated Press said while Germany fully expected the satellites of the three powers that met at Stresa, and Russia, to support the League resolution, German officialdom seemed frankly disappointed by Poland's attitude and intimated

STRIKE ACTION FOILS WORKERS

Crowland Crowd Seizes Tool Box, Resist Police Efforts.

HURL TEAR GAS BACK.

WELLAND, Ont., April 17 (CP).—Striking relief workers in Crowland, it appeared to-day, had foiled an attempt of authorities to give protection to those of the jobless willing to return to work on the township relief sewer project.

At 8 o'clock, the time for work to start, a mob of 200 unemployed seized the toolbox on the job, milling around it and using it as a platform from which speakers called on the strikers not to give in.

Police standing by to protect those willing to work rushed the mob but they were unable to beat the crowd away from the box. A Provincial officer then tossed a tear gas bomb into the assembly, but one of the unemployed snatched the missile from the ground and hurled it back into the police ranks.

Boos and cat calls were directed at the officers for upwards of an hour. There were a total of 17 constables on the scene.

At 9.30 a.m. the crowd had dispersed after it was seen no one would go to work, although Township Foreman Tom Disher declared three of the unemployed had been ready to go back to their jobs.

Bargain Hunter

"What am I offered for these two bottles of tonic?" bellowed the auctioneer at the bailiff's sale in a local drug store this morning.. "Do I hear fifteen cents? Fifteen cents?. Twenty cents? Twenty cents I'm offered."

"Twenty-five cents," cried a woman bargain-hunter excitedly.

"Twenty-five cents!" droned the auctioneer.. "Twenty-five cents! Going, going, gone! To the lady for twenty-five cents!"

"I don't need the tonic but I guess it won't hurt me if I take it," the woman explained to a friend standing beside her. "I can't miss a bargain like that."

MONTREAL SPY IS GIVEN 5 YEARS IN FRENCH JAIL

Two New Jersey Prisoners Are Freed For Turning State's Evidence.

19 OTHERS SENTENCED.

PARIS, April 17 (A.P.). — Five years' imprisonment and a fine of 3,000 francs (about $200) was the penalty meted out to-day to Benjamin Bercowitz of Montreal, naturalized Canadian, as the court passed a judgment on the 21 alleged spies who have been under investigation more than a year.

Mrs. Benjamin Bercowitz previously was discharged on the espionage count but faced sentence on a false passport charge.

The other couple alleged ringleaders with the Bercowitzes, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Switz of East Orange, N.J., were ordered released on the basis of French law which grants clemency to accused persons who turn State's evidence. They had been held 16 months.

Louis Martin, like Bercowitz, received five years' imprisonment and so did Octave Dumoulin, the latter also receiving a fine of 3,000 francs.

Maurice Milice was ordered imprisoned for four years and fined 3,000 francs, and Moise Gorin was jailed to 10 months and fined 1,500 francs.

Other sentences included Mme. Lydia Stahl, a leading figure in the trial, five years, 3,000 francs; Marie Marmet, three years, 1,000 francs; Chana Salman, three years, 1,000 francs.

The Breaking Point.

When Col. Octave Dumoulin received his term of five years' imprisonment his wife in the rear of the courtroom shrieked wildly, crying "It's not right," and sobbed as the sentences continued.

Lydia Stahl, one of the gayest defendants and one of the ringleaders, broke down when she heard her five-year sentence.

Marie Mermet and Chana Salman, both of whom have babies born in prison, heard their sentences of three years each with gasps of shock. Their babies nestled in their arms.

Wadsworth Widow Gets $7,500 Annuity

NEW YORK, April 17 (C.P.)—Mrs. Elizabeth Baker Wadsworth, widow of Horace Eliot Wadsworth of (330 Queen Street) Stratford, Ontario, will receive an annuity of $7,500 from her late husband's $1,070,788 estate.

Surrogate James Delehanty has granted the annuity under a compromise agreement. The balance of the residuary income, after a trust fund to produce the amount of the annuity is established, will be used for the support of Wadsworth's daughter, Mary Elizabeth Wadsworth, who lives with his divorced wife, Dorothy Platt White, in Rochester, N.Y.

Wadsworth died on August 10, 1933, in Reno, Nevada. Mrs. Elizabeth Wadsworth contested the will.

Commons Holds Morning Session To-Day To Speed Public Works Bill.

OTTAWA, April 17 (C.P.). — Allocation of time on the radio to political leaders as a means of enlightening the public on political questions and election issues meets with favor from three members of the House of Commons, members of three different parties.

Yesterday the House passed the Bill to extend the powers of the Canadian Radio Commission for two months, pending a new Bill to be introduced in May, debated the Public Works Bill, and heard much criticism of the Radio Commission.

Hon. W. D. Euler (Lib., Waterloo North), a consistent champion of public ownreship, said the Commission had failed to make public ownership of radio a success, had not decreased the number of privately-owned stations, was providing mediocre programs, and leaving large sections of the Canadian population without adequate broadcasting service.

In an effort to get the 1935 Public Works Bill enacted prior to the Easter adjournment, the House meets this morning, the first morning sitting of the session. By assembling at 11 o'clock the members will have an extra two hours and 30 FOR ONTARIO.

OTTAWA, April 17 (CP)—Consideration of the Public Works Bill was resumed in the House of Commons to-day when the House gathered for its first morning sitting of the year. Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Mines, explained the item of $1,000,000 to be spent on geological survey and investigation, emphasizing the value of the mining industries of Canada and the importance of exploring mineral resources.

The Government proposed to organize 180 geological exploration parties at an approximate cost of $4,000 each. Mining students from universities would be recruited to man the parties under competent geologists.

Cover Canada

While all parts of Canada would be covered, Mr. Gordon intended to concentrate the work on areas where geological conditions seemed favorable to presence of gold.

Colin Campbell (Lib., Frontenac-Addington), a mining engineer, asked where the parties would operate and whether it would be in conjuction with the provinces.

For many years it had been the practice of the Mines Department to consult the provinces before sending out exploration parties, Mr. Gordon said, to avoid overlapping. The approximate numbers of parties going into each province were: Nova Scotia, 12; New Brunswick, 4; Quebec, 16; Ontario, 30; Manitoba, 20; Saskatchewan, 40; Alberta, 8; British Columbia, 20; Northwest Territories, 10; and Yukon, 5. The exact areas to be investigated had not been decided.

Dust 4 Miles In Air Foils Ingall's Flight

ALAMOSA, Colo., April 17.—(AP).—A blind battle with dust four miles in the air, more terrifying than a trans-Andean flight, was described to-day by Miss Laura Ingalls, whose attempt to set a new transcontinental speed record for women ended here.

The 120 pound brunette aviatrix landed her new black monoplane near here yesterday at 4.50 p.m. She left Los Angeles for New York 10 hours previously.

"It was the most appalling thing I ever saw in all my years of flying," she said in describing the pall of dust.

"I was up 22,000 feet and it still was above me. I must have flown as far as Wichita, (Kansas) in that haze. I had fears it was ruining my motor. Then I headed back. My radio went out and I just was out of touch with everything, isolated in a blanket of dust that spread in every direction."

Locomotive Plunges Over Embankment Dragging Five Cars Into Gulley.

IN EARLY MORNING

Several Passengers Suffer Cuts But Majority Escape Unhurt.

HEATHERTON, N.S., Apr. 17—(CP)—A speeding express shot off the Canadian National Railways track near this village early today and carried at least five persons to death as its front end plunged down a 15-foot embankment into a bog.

A sixth man was unaccounted for and it was feared he had been crushed beneath the locomotive as it leaped the rails and almost buried itself in the earth.

THE DEAD

Lawrence McIntosh, 59, engineer, Halifax; Charles McDonald, 40, fireman, Mulgrave, N.S.; John Duncan McDonald, 22, unemployed, West Mabou, N.S.; John Angus McDonald, 22, unemployed, West Mabou, N.S.; Eddie Horndroff, 33, unemployed, North Sydney, N.S.

The engineer was found dead in his cab, 50 feet from the tracks. Hours after the wreck the fireman's body had not been discovered but there was no hope he would be found alive in the twisted wreckage of the locomotive.

The other three victims were transients, heading with three other transients when the locomotive and four cars catapulted off the tracks on a downgrade.

Riding Up Front

The two McDonalds were cousins and in the second class car behind them rode John Duncan's brother, Robert, bound with him for the government relief camp at Halifax. Both the dead men had tickets, but they preferred to ride up front.

The one man unaccounted for was Edward Horoboner, Russian from North Sydney, who was riding blind baggage.

Two women reported cuts and bruises but most of the passengers escaped unhurt.

Cause of the derailment was unknown as wrecking trains carrying nurses and doctors rushed toward the scene from Stellarton and Mulgrave.

Making Up Time

The express was running 75 minutes late at two oclock this morning when the run-off occurred. Climbing out of over-turned cars, the trainmen were hampered by darkness as they surveyed the wreck and it was more than an hour before they recovered the body of their dead engineer.

One by one the other bodies were found in the bog where the locomotive had plunged half beneath the surface, but there was no sign of the missing fireman.

Litvinoff Emphasizes Duty of All Nations to Respect International Obligations.

By Richard G. Massocko
(Copyright, 1935, by the A. P.)

GENEVA, April 17.—(A. P.)—The League of Nations council today adopted the tri-power resolution condemning Germany for her repudiation of treaty obligations with only Denmark abstaining from voting.

The resolution, presented jointly by France, Great Britain and Italy, also deplored unilateral abrogation of treaty obligations and requested the League appoint a committee to consider what measures, economic and financial may be taken against future repudiators of international commitments.

Dr. Peter Munch, Danish foreign minister, in the discussion which preceded the voting, explained Denmark would not cast its ballot because she feared adoption of the resolution would hinder "the task of reconciliation."

Joseph M. Beck Polish Foreign Minister, voted for the tri-power resolution, presumably, League authorities said, under strong persuasion from France. Poland previously had indicated her hostility toward the declaration because of its proposals for invoking sanctions against future treaty violators.

Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Commissar for Foreign Affairs, told the Council it was "the duty of all countries, especially those who are members of the League, to respect international obligations."

Soon after the Soviet speaker completed his address, Salvador de Madariaga announced Spain would support the tri-power resolution.

Argentina's delegate, Jose Maria Cantilo, announced he would support the resolution, adding his Government desired, however, to make some reservations concerning certain declarations of the resolutions and with "accords and negotiations which are clearly of European character."

Nothing To It

WARSAW, April 17 (Examiner Correspondence). — Ernie McColl of Warsaw had never driven a car before, but it didn't look very difficult to him. So when he got a chance to drive the machine of a friend, Sid McCauley, he decided to learn about cars right there and then. And he did.

Speeding the unruly vehicle a little faster than he had intended to, he lost control of it on one of the village's main corners. He crashed into a fence over the creek near the Warsaw Skating Rink, and ended up high and dry on a big stone. The front wheels were wrecked and the under part of the car damaged, but Ernie stepped out uninjured from his first lesson.

Figures in House Show Purchases in 1934 Were $5,234,000 Above 1929.

Improvement Noted in System as Whole, Especially Niagara System.

TORONTO, April 17 (C.P.). — Showing a wide disparity between increase in annual revenue and increase in the amount of power purchased on contract from outside sources between 1929 and 1934, the 27th annual report of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission was tabled in the Legislature.

Figures in the report, which was released yesterday, indicated that the Commission spent $5,234,000 more for the purchase of power in 1934 than in 1929, while the revenue increase in 1934 over 1929 was $878,972.

Operation, maintenance, and administration costs of the Niagara system advanced $110,241.

Improvement was noted in the Hydro system as a whole and in the Niagara system particularly. Appropriation from reserves in the latter was down $1,508,778, compared with 1933, and revenues jumped $1,447, 056.

TORONTO, April 17 (C.P.) — For the first time slum clearance as a relief measure has received definite approval of the Ontario Government, and the 1935 Unemployment Relief Act will contain a clause giving municipalities permission to participate in any scheme for abolition of slum areas, subject to approval of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

Announcement of the innovation, an amendment to his Unemployment Act, was made in the Legislature early to-day by Minister of Welfare David Croll when he accepted a resolution of Wilfrid Heighington (Cons., Toronto-St. David).

House Adjourns at 1.30 a.m.

Mr. Croll's introduction of the amendment came during committee discussion of the Unemployment Act shortly before Premier Mitchell F. Butter prices advanced on the Montreal dairy and produce market yesterday, while other lines held unchanged. No. 1 regraded butter was up ¼c a pound at 23c to 23¼c for carlots 1 less. Small lots to retailers were quoted at 24c a pound for solids and 25c for prints. Receipts totalled 221 boxes.

The egg market continued at 19c a dozen for A-large, 17c for A-medium, 16c to 17c for B and 15½c to 16c for C. Arrivals were 2,787 cases.

On the cheese market No. 1 Ontario held at 11¼c to 11¾c a pound for fall make and 12¼c to 12¾c for summers. A total of 30 boxes were offered for sale.

Quebec Mountain potatoes brought 57c per 80 pound bag of lights and 52c for darks. New Brunswick Mountains were 62c and Prince Edward Island Mountains 65c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 17.—Winnipeg traders took their cue from Chicago yesterday, and wheat prices on the Grain Exchange closed with net gains of ¼c to ¾c, May at 89¾c and July 90¾c.

The local advance was more subdued than in the American market, where values were 2¾c higher. Operations generally were quiet, a little speculative buying and some support from export sales sufficing to send futures higher.

Values closed at the day's best prices, as late-session confirmation of foreign sales made the total day's exports of Canadian wheat 280,000 bushels. Profit-taking appeared to have run its course, at least temporarily, and selling was light.

G. J. S. Broomhall, noted English grain statistician, commented yesterday:

"The preferential tariff in England on colonial grain is now being felt. With the small Argentine crop restricting offers, prices have advanced. If France, Sweden and the Black Sea shipments continue to decrease, it may happen importers will be forced to pay the high price asked by Canada."

Cash and coarse grains continued uninteresting.

COURT ASSISTS ANDREW BAHR

Judge Finds Too Much Haste In Foreclosing Mortgage on Reindeer Herder's Home.

2 APARTMENT HOUSES.

SEATTLE, April 17 (C.P.).—Andrew Bahr, the taciturn Laplander, who for five years drove a herd of 3,000 reindeer across the Arctic wastes for the Canadian Government, returned to find that he had lost his home because of a mortgage foreclosure, won relief in Superior Court here yesterday.

Superior Judge James T. Ronald ruled the courts had been hasty in foreclosing a mortgage held by the Provident Mutual Life Insurance Company on two apartment houses owned by Bahr.

He denied the company a writ of assistance which would have evicted the Bahr family from their apartment home, ruling Bahr had not been served with the complaint asking foreclosure of the mortgage. He ordered the company to answer a complaint filed by Bahr's attorney asking it and the sheriff be enjoined from selling the apartment house.

The sale has been completed but counsel for Bahr said the sale could be declared illegal.

"I know the judge will do right," Bahr said.

WHO WILL BE ONTARIO'S NEXT TORY LEADER?

Price, Macaulay, Rowe, Stewart, Heightington Are Mentioned.

HENRY TO RETIRE?

TORONTO, April 17.—Completely dependent on the Dominion political situation, the Ontario Conservative "leadership" convention is becoming a tangible fact—but only beyond the horizon.

Talk of Convention

In "Tory Toronto" the stalwarts are talking "convention," but only unofficially. On the record they admit two certainties. William H. ("Bill") Ireland, president of the Ontario Conservative Association, has not called the "leadership" meeting; and its date and results will depend largely on Ottawa events of the next six months.

In the candidate's list, the name of William J. Stewart crops up with continued frequency since his retirement from the mayoralty. Of the names mentioned last June, two stand over, Earl Rowe, M.P., and Wilfrid Heighington. Meanwhile, as the party has revived from the depression of last July, two members of the Henry Cabinet have been included in the list of probabilities—Colonel W. H. Price and Leopold Macaulay.

Henry Has Influence

Question mark — over and above Ottawa—is George S. Henry. While the party's strong men say that he has grown in general esteem since last June, they figure him as a factor mainly in his attitude toward a successor or toward his own chances. In any case, it is claimed, his weight will favor a delay in the calling of the convention.

In the House, the Conservative members have displayed an unexpected unanimity. "Leadership" differences, it is reported, have been shelved for the time being. The result has been a fighting opposition in spite of the doubts cast on the general value of the strategy employed. From this point of view the Conservatives have mainly proved the strength of the Hepburn Government.

With Denton Massey and J. Earl Lawson named as strong factors, the situation develops as the House nears prorogation. Called for "after the session" and unofficially scheduled for May, a "yes or no" on the convention will probably be shortly forthcoming — all with an eye directed sharply on the Dominion election.

In recognition of his flights across the South Atlantic, Jean Mermoz, the famous French airman, has been awarded the Grand Prix of the Acadaemie des Sports of France.

HAVEN'T you noticed that your happiest hours occur on days when you feel your best?

Have more of these happy days. You and all your family. Guard health while you have it. Keep on the sunny side of life.

The greatest enemy of health is common constipation. It may cause loss of appetite and energy. Certainly it kills enthusiasm! Yet it can be banished by eating a delicious cereal.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" and vitamin B to relieve common constipation. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. How much pleasanter to eat this delicious ready-to-eat cereal than to take patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

Exhausted Nerves Cause of Many Ills

Do sudden noises make you jump . . . the radio set you on edge? Are you irritable, impatient . . . snappy with your family? Do you easily get the "blues"? Digestion poor? Spend restless nights?

Exhausted nerves probably explains it all. For remember, it is our nerves that govern and control everything that goes on within us — every activity of brain and body. When sufficient nerve-force is lacking, the entire human machinery slows down—some of our organs function properly. Restore nerve-force and improvement immediately takes place.

KOLA ASTIER will help you. This wonderful preparation developed by Dr. F. Astier of Paris, is what leading European doctors themselves take when they get tired out and nervous and want quick new strength. It is a sustaining tonic that never lets you down—that leaves no depressing after-effect. It tones, strengthens, sustains, promotes abundant nerve-force. So highly does the medical profession look upon Kola Astier that since 1928 alone over 10,000,000 bottles have been used, mostly as a result of doctors' prescriptions.

Start taking Kola Astier today and see how quickly pains, nerves, pains, cheerfulness, mental keenness, and physical vigor, pep and endurance return. You don't risk a penny. Your money back unless that first bottle convinces you that Kola Astier is benefiting you. Your nearest druggist has KOLA ASTIER or can quickly get it for you from his wholesaler.

RADIO BOARD'S LIFE EXTENDED

adjournment takes place at six in the afternoon.

It was Humphrey Mitchell (Labor, Hamilton East) who proposed political discussions on the air, and the idea drew support from Hon. Ernest Lapointe (Lib., Quebec East). Mr. Lapointe said the British Broadcasting Corporation allowed political leaders to speak over its network, and apparently a satisfctory system had been worked out. There were three political parties in Canada entitled to recognition, and if the commission could make a division between these parties the various groups and interests within parties could do the rest among themselves. Sir George Perley, Acting Prime Minister, expressed sympathy, but was doubtful if an arrangement of time satisfactory to all groups could be worked out.

Would Ban Politics.

Mr. Euler said he was opposed to private broadcasting in Canada. If public ownership was to be successful, there must be no politics, and the confidence of the people must be maintained. In the last threte years, public confidence in the Radio Commission had been lost, he claimed.

There was a deep suspicion, Mr. Euler said, that politics led to appointments to the Commission, particularly regarding the Quebec Commissioner.

It was originally intended to build five powerful stations in different parts of the country but they were not built.

Three years ago there were 49 private radio stations in Canada and today 59, Mr. Euler said. Except in Ottawa, Quebec City and Windsor, Ont., nothing had been done to promote public ownership.

Owned by Columbia

The Windsor station, he claimed, was owned by the Columbia Broadcasting System of the United States. It was advertised as a part of the Columbia chain and customers were told it would cover Detroit.

The Windsor station, Mr. Euler said, "has been deliberately given over to the United States for United States purposes."

There was a small station at London, Ont., said Mr. Euler, and it would have been better to place a big station at the centre of Western Ontario instead of on the edge at Windsor. The big station at Windsor was allowed to establish itself and the London Free Press was enabled to sell its station and acquire another.

The whole Windsor situation was "bedevilled by politics to an extent that became a public scandal," said Mr. Euler.

In setting up new wave lengths the commission had created "bedlam," he went on. A certain amount of confusion might have been expected but not as much as there was.

Fewer But Good Programs

The programs generally were 'mediocre,' said Mr. Euler. It would be better to have a few good programs than so many second-rate ones.

Col. S. C. Robinson (Cons. Essex West) said Mr. Euler's criticism of the Windsor station was without foundation. In an investigation were asked he was sure the station would welcome it. The majority of the stock was owned by Canadians not by the Columbia Broadcasting System which had recently cancelled its contract with the Windsor station. It was providing satisfactory Canadian programs where none were possible before.

Sir George Perley said a change in radio control would not necessarily be made. "Personally, I still think we ought to be able to carry on this service by a commission, but what can be done, I do not know. I admit that frankly."

If all private stations in Canada were wiped out many parts of the country would be left without radio services, the Acting Prime Minister said.

The Public Works Bill provides $18,000,000 for works designed to provide employment and in addition authorizes the guarantee of loans for the purchase of railway equipment. It ran into a barrage of criticism from Opposition members, who claimed they were being asked to vote large sums of money without knowing how it was to be spent. On the other hand the ministers said they were ready and willing to give full details but were prevented from doing so by continual speeches from the Liberal side.

"Hypocrisy and humbug," was the way Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, described the Liberal tactics. He said if they wanted to hold up passage of the bill and prevent the works being undertaken they could take the responsibility. They had no policy and no leadership and were carrying on their usual obstructionist procedure.

Opposition to Stick

Dr. Manion's attack drew from Liberal Leader Mackenzie King a declaration the Opposition would sit for a week or a month if necessary in order to pass the bill and at the same time secure the information desired. As the bill had made no progress when adjournment time arrived Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, suggested the morning sitting for to-day, and Mr. King agreed.

A brief discussion preceded adoption of Senate amendments to the new Farm Loan Act. Liberals protested against this also, claiming they were opposed to some of the amendments and had had no time to consider their import. They had made their protest last week and the bill was held over until yesterday and delayed again until to-day. Mr. Rhodes said he wanted to get the bill through the Senate before to-night, so that loans could be made under the new scheme as soon as possible. The vote on the amendments was 62 to 40.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 17, 1935

A JUSTIFIABLE KILLING.

The proposal to establish the three-platoon system in Ontario fire departments, which would have necessitated firemen working in three eight-hour shifts, failed to impress the legal bills committee of the Legislature and was thrown out by that body yesterday.

As The Examiner pointed out the other day, such a plan could not be seriously entertained, in view of the present condition of municipal finances; for in the case of Toronto alone it would have meant an increase of $568,642 in the cost of fire-fighting services, with every other Ontario city affected registering a proportional increase in fire department overhead.

Such an unnecessary load thrown upon the shoulders of the municipal taxpayers at a time when many of them are finding it a most difficult task to meet their present civic obligations would have precipitated a chorus of protest from every city in the province, and the committee was well advised in tossing the proposed measure out in short order.

Just who originated the request for this change at such an unpropitious moment is not quite clear, but obviously it was some one whose sense of proportion has not been developed or he would never have come forward with a proposal of that kind during a period of depression with municipalities, hampered by relief costs, trying to keep their tax rate down to a point where it could be met by their harassed citizens.

THEY DEMAND STEVENS.

There seems to be a rather widespread feeling that a former pupil of the Peterborough Central School will be the next leader of the Federal Conservative party, which is just another way of saying that the mantle of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett is to fall upon the shoulders of Hon. H. H. Stevens, former Minister of Trade and Commerce.

If Mr. Bennett finds it impossible to carry on—and it is the general opinion that such will prove to be the case—many political observers believe that the demand of the rank and file of the Conservative party throughout the country that the leadership should go to Mr. Stevens will be so vigorous that it will be impossible to refuse to act upon it.

By many thousands of Canadians, and they are not all supporters of the Government, the former Minister is given full credit for having forced the investigation into mass buying, price spreads and unethical business practices, and they regard him as the logical national leader to bring about the reforms that investigation has shown to be necessary.

Should Premier Bennett recover sufficiently to return to active service, this army of Stevens admirers will insist that the man who started the whole movement shall be restored to the Bennett Cabinet; on the other hand, the enforced retirement of the present Premier would see from the same quarter a determined effort to make Mr. Stevens his successor.

Either of these developments would mean, of course, a shake-up in the federal ministry with the withdrawal of several members of the Cabinet, but apparently the rank and file among Government supporters is prepared to let the others go so long as they are assured that Mr. Stevens will remain.

PLAY BALL!

To millions of residents of the United States and to large numbers of their Canadian cousins as well yesterday was one of the most important dates in the year, marking as it did the opening of the big league baseball season.

While cold weather marred the occasion and caused the postponement of some of the scheduled fixtures, the long campaign was nevertheless started with some brilliant baseball played, and the enthusiasts are happy, confident that there will be many bright warm afternoons for the long list of games that lies ahead, and embued with that early season enthusiasm that makes even the weakest line-up look like a pennant possibility to the home fan.

The deep interest that is taken in professional baseball, even among thousands who have never seen a major league contest, would be amazing were it not such an old story, while the number of Canadian followers of the game is perhaps even more remarkable in view of the fact that very few Canadians have ever made the long climb to the top of the baseball ladder.

The situation is almost exactly the reverse of the hockey set-up, for whereas the great winter pastime originated in Canada and its leading exponents are all native sons of the Dominion, with the United States having to depend upon this country for its supply of players, baseball started in the United States, and the two Canadian cities that have franchises in professional baseball organization look across the border for their playing material.

The main thing to-day is that the lid is off, the season is under way, and the continent will have a wealth of incidents over which to argue during the summer that we hope lies just ahead.

THE LAST-MINUTE RUSH.

One reform that Premier Hepburn should add to his program of changes is the drawing up of the agenda for future sessions of the Legislature in such a way that important business shall be carefully considered, and the present spectacle of major measures being shoved through at record speed avoided.

There is really no excuse for that sort of thing.

The Legislature has been in session for many weeks, and over a month was taken up with the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

It was not until prorogation was in sight that really important bills began to make their appearance, and since then the House has been sitting night and day, with measure after measure being rapidly put through the machine, while a comparative handful of sleepy legislators attempts to give an imitation of seriously considering the import of all this legislation.

Although the House is expected to prorogue tomorrow night, not a single item of the estimates had been considered until yesterday, which means, of course, that the whole spending program of the Government will have to be hurried through at a pace that will not permit even the most cursory examination of the various votes; at the same time, too, the finishing touches will have to be put on some very important pieces of legislation, each of which should have unhurried and calm consideration before it is put on the statute books.

Under the circumstances it is impossible for members of the Legislature to attend to their duties properly, and the province will be lucky indeed if it does not have to suffer from the effects of some measure or other that went through the mill at such speed that there was no chance to iron out its weaknesses.

It is an old story, this last-minute spurt after long weeks of dawdling, but the present Legislature seems to be an aggravated case because of the large number of bills, some of them far-reaching in their scope, left over until the eleventh hour.

SPEED MAIN FACTOR.

There is a tradition in some quarters that speed is a minor factor in highway traffic accidents, but in a table prepared by an insurance company, setting out the causes of such accidents in the United States last year, it is stated that 22 per cent. of the accidents resulted from exceeding the speed limit and that 21 per cent. of the fatalities were in such accidents.

But that is not all. The report goes on:

> Nine out of every ten automobile accidents which in 1934 involved driving errors resulted from to omuch speed. Although the table indicats that less than one out of every four accidents was due too much speed. Although the table indicates that edged that most of the other accidents as listed also involve too much speed for time and place.

Here is how the table lists them: Exceeding speed limit, 22.1 per cent.; on wrong side of road, 16.5; did not have right of way, 224.4; cutting in, 3.5; passing standing street car, .5; passing on curve or hill, 1.7; passing on wrong side, .5; failed to signal or improper signalling, 5.1; car ran away, no driver, .6; drove off roadway, 10.8; reckless driving, 9.5; miscellaneous, 4.3.

But speed, says this insurance company, is the most serious factor.—Sault Ste. Marie Star.

WILL THIS BENEFIT POLICYHOLDERS?

The House of Commons Committee on Insurance wants an amendment to the Insurance Act reducing the interest rate on loans against insurance policies to five per cent., will recommend this to Parliament. The existing rate on such loans is six per cent.

The Journal suggests that before accepting this recommendation Parliament should consider it carefully.

Loans at five per cent. may be a good thing—temporarily—for policyholders who want to borrow against their policies. They may be anything but a good thing for policyholders who don't want to borrow against their policies. Parliament would do well to remember that the latter are in the majority.

Except for the relatively negligible interest of shareholders, the life insurance companies are composed of their members, who are the policyholders. The funds administered by the companies originate with the policyholders in the form of premiums, and are in reality the totals of their individual equities. Consequently, and inevitably, any legislation adversely affecting these funds, advenely affects the individual equities of policyholders. Moreover, as the insurance companies point out, the earnings on the invested funds are a primary factor in the determination of premium rates, policy guarantees and privileges, and dividends; and reductions in earning power must inevitably be reflected in upward adjustment of rates, reductions in dividends, or modification of guarantees and privileges. It is simply a matter of earnings being interwoven with policy values and cost of insurance.

But there is something else, and more important. It is that life insurance companies are not bankers, should not be regarded as bankers. The real function of the life insurance company—and its real service—is the provision of financial aid to the family of a breadwinner removed by premature death, and to provide sustenance of the insured himself should he survive to old age. It is concerned with thrift, with security. Cash surrender and loan privileges guaranteed in policies are consequently secondary and incidental provisions, and should not be encouraged to the prejudice of the primary purposes of the insurance. A low rate of interest on loans, encouraging policyholders to borrow, would have the effect of impairing family security, since loans are in effect a borrowing from beneficiaries.

Further, borrowing conduces to voluntary or involuntary termination of policies—something serious in itself.

The Journal could cite numerous other objections to low interest rates on insurance borrowing. The main objections, however, are the really serious ones, are those we have mentioned, namely: that cheap loans would be at the expense of policyholders; and that they would tend to undermine that feature of security which is the bedrock upon which insurance rests. They would be at the expense of beneficiaries.

The business of "reforming capitalism" is a serious business. And reforms may be necessary. Let us all try to remember, however, that mere change is not improvement, and that made hastily or thoughtlessly, it involves danger of severe hardship.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

What this Legislature would seem to require is a three-platoon system. There is too much overtime to assure efficiency in handling public business.

According to the Toronto Telegram, Mr. Cahan is going places—in other words, there is a demand for the head of the Secretary of State.

That long Easter recess will also give the Dominion Government a chance to re-align its forces for the forthcoming federal election. Although the House will be closed, a great deal will undoubtedly go on behind the scenes.

Ontario Securities Commissioner Godfrey has found that there was no "leak" in connection with the cancellation of the Quebec power purchases contracts. The finding will surprise no one—not even Col. W. H. Price.

Judging from the many amendments it has made in recent legislation, the Senate has no idea of being merely a rubber stamp for the House of Commons.

That Hepburn-Henry cross-fire act should seek an audition on a radio amateur night program. What's a chord in G among friends?

There are only two police guarding the Dionne quints. How are the other three to get their airing in their prams?—Toronto Mail and Empire.

EXPIRING FIXED ASSESSMENTS

Editor Examiner,

Dear Sir,—Your editorial in Saturday's Examiner on the bill now before the legislature providing that industries now on fixed assessment shall pay full rate taxes on relief costs is of special interest to the ratepayers of Peterborough.

There appears to be some mistake in calculating the city's gain at $16,000.

In 1934 the total industrial exemption in Peterborough amounted to $4,697,475, the expiration of the C.G.E. assessment reduced this total exemption to $2,961,900 and it is on this amount the relief gain would occur.

As the relief rate is likey to be between 2½ and 3 mills the city's gain would be in the neighborhood of $8,000 for the year (certainly a worthwhile sum) in addition to this there will be the increase in taxes from the C.G.E. of approximately $34,000. A total gam for the year of over $40,000.

This yearly gain will be automatically augmented as the remaining fixed assessments expire.

Assuming that the tax rate remains as at present the result would be as follows:

End of 1935 city gains	$40,000
End of 1937 add gain of	2,692
End of 1938 add gain of	983
End of 1939 add gain of	8,307
End of 1941 add gain of	56,762
End of 1942 add gain of	5,895

Last exemption expires giving a total yearly gain thereafter of $113,639.

This large annual gain coupled with a substantial reduction in the debenture debt should make possible a marked reduction in taxation, and this year marks the first real step in that direction and to retain this advantage we must follow a rigid economy plan of "pay as you go" and consent to be taxed only for real necessities.

Yours truly,
A. B. Cunningham.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Mastin.)

MAN, A PINCH OF SULPHUR

The other fellow: I've been reading in the papers that somewhere a chemist took a man to pieces and found he's worth just about 98 cents in chemicals on the present market. Of course, if prices rise a bit he may eventually get to be worth $1.25—or maybe $1.31—but even at that $1.31 isn't so much, and what do you think of that? Don't you feel sort of cheap?

Me: Not so you could notice it. I figure that's great.

The Other Fellow: How do you figure that? Here man goes swelling about the earth, conquering everything and boasting of his greatness—and all he's worth is a heap of spoiled chemicals. He swaggers about his wonderful brain and I read that all it is is a pinch of sulphur—about enough to make a few matches or perhaps enough to get the fleas off a dog....What's so swell about that?

Me: I pinch of sulphur isn't much. I will admit. But before you start sniffing a man and his humble substance, please consider what man has done with that little bit of sulphur. Toss off his great inventions if you will. Say nothing about his amazing machines. Throw them in the ash heap. Let them go...But think of his dreams, his agonies, his ambitions, his mighty triumphs, his glorious defeats....Remember Newton with that pinch of sulphur, deciphering the secrets of the illimitable spaces and bringing down to man the laws of the universe. Remember Plato, Keats, Milton, Dickens; remember Saint Paul and remember Abraham Lincoln....Remember Shakespeare and his inventory of man: "What a piece of work is man! How whole in reason! How infinite in faculties!....In action how like an angel! In apprehension how like a god!"

The Other Fellow: Just a pinch of sulphur praising itself....How about that fellow Pascal, who said: "What a chimera is man! What a confused chaos! What a subject of contradiction! A professed judge of all things, and yet a feeble worm of the earth! The great depositary and guardian of truth and yet a mere huddle of uncertainty! The glory and the scandal of the universe!"

Me: But how grand for a pinch of sulphur to rise from the earth and combine with other elements and be a part of the glory and the scandal of the universe!....You lose the argument. Let us say no more about that complicated bit of sulphur which is the brain of man.

What's in the Name of Canadian Cities and Towns?

by FRANK H. WILLIAMS

KINCARDINE, ONTARIO

Kincardine, once the centre of shipping and fish industry of half a century ago, had its origin during the time when James Bruce, the Earl of Elgin, was governor-general of Canada. It occupies a commanding position on Lake Huron.

While this locality was being surveyed the progressive citizens made liberal use of his names. They named the county Bruce for him and a lake town Port Elgin, while the name Kincardine was taken from the second part of his title.

The town plot of Penetangore (Kincardine) was laid out in 1849 on the Penetangore river. The two pioneer settlers were William Withers, an Englishman, and his brother-in-law, Allan Cameron. They erected a log cabin, which served as a tavern, later being converted to a store. Withers, visioning the coming of settlers, built a dam and erected a sawmill, and the town was born.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

CANADA'S SECOND PREMIER

On this date (April 17) in 1892, eternal sleep came to a great Scot, Alexander Mackenzie who had been prime minister of the Dominion, 1873-78. He had come to Canada when 20, lived at Kingston for six years, after which he moved to Sarnia where he was a builder for another six years. Then he in 1852 became editor of the Lambton Shield, a Reform journal, and got into politics, which took him to the Canadian Assembly in 1861, where he supported the principle of confederation but declined to coalesce with Macdonald, whom he hated. Elected for Lambton to the House of Commons in 1867 he was leader of the Liberals and so called by Lord Dufferin to form a ministry in 1873 when Sir John resigned over the Pacific scandal charges.

He took office at a difficult time; business was depressed, racial feelings were high over the Riel incidents and the party was not united. It was an honest government, too honest for the electors, who returned to Macdonald at the first opportunity. Mackenzie took his defeat in 1878 badly, declaring: "If political crime and political chinanery are to be preferred to such a course as we pursued the outlook is an alarming one." Goldwin Smith said of Mackenzie, "Bred a stone mason, a stone mason he remained," and Laurier always said that Mackenzie was the best debater in Parliament, "a good man on his legs."

The manner of his deposition as party leader was tragic. When defeat came in 1878 he talked of resignation, but, urged by friends, carried on as opposition leader until 1880. Then one morning just as the House of Commons was about to adjourn at 2 a.m. he rose and said: "I yesterday determined to withdraw from my position as leader of the opposition and from this time forth I will speak and act for no person but myself." That was all; but behind the words was a story of how he had been called upon by the Liberal caucus to resign as leader, of how a delegation had waited upon him and were told by Mackenzie that they were the voices of "a conspiracy of a few men" and left them in doubt as to what he would do until his announcement in the House. For twelve years Mackenzie sat on the Liberal benches, slowly worn away by a fatal paralytic malady, taking less and less interest in the proceedings, a mere ghost of the fighter he once had been. He outlived Macdonald by a few months, but Sir John was an active leader to the end. Alexander Mackenzie was a "back number" for 18 years, a tragic figure to the men in the gallery.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

The difficulty in answering the many letters which come to this department on the subject of colitis is that hardly any two of them refer to the same condition. There are many kinds and varieties of colitis and, indeed, each individual case differs from every other.

Strictly speaking, colitis means an inflammation of the colon or large bowel, but in its less severe varieties it may mean irritation rather than inflammation.

There are some forms of colitis with very serious and widespread changes—ulcerations through almost the whole course of the large bowel. They are probably caused by a specific germ.

Similar are the cases of amebic dysentery which produces ulcers throughout the large intestine. Milder cases called colitis, with intermittent attacks of diarrhea without much prostration, may be due to amebic infection and go unrecognized. Since amebic dysentery has become such an important health problem in the United States, such cases will be more frequently detected and weeded out.

Caused by Nerves?

Intermediate in severity is mucous colitis in which large amounts of mucous are formed and discharged. Not a true colitis, in the sense that it is not a true inflammation, the basis of the condition seems to be more of a nervous condition. It may be a part of the manifestations of more serious states of physical debility. During the course of the disease, periods of constipation may alternate with the mucous diarrhea. Indeed, even if an apparent diarrhea exists it may be actually constipation—or retention, for "the caecal cesspool seems never to be emptied."

In treatment, the main effort should be directed to upbuilding the general health and improving the tone of the nervous system. The patients often have lost self-confidence, take no interest in their work, and need a prolonged relief from their regular routine. An executive who says, "Doctor, I cannot face my directors at tomorrow's meeting" will, under judicious treatment, regain all his old power. Men, contrary to usual belief, are just as frequently affected as women.

For the local condition, most physicians of experience advise mild rather than vigorous treatment. A weekly purge with castor oil prevents attacks of colic. Mild intestinal lavage may be helpful.

Spastic Type Frequent

The most frequent condition that goes under the name of colitis is spastic colitis. The cause if complicated, almost always being a combination of a number of factors. A nervous, easily exhausted temperament, a long period of anxious introspection concerning the internal organs, especially the bowels, great apprehension about the results of constipation, with consequent hammering at the system with all kinds of cathartics and colon flushings—that is the foundation. Most of the patients appear for help during the third and fourth decades of life, when the strain and stress of life begin to tell.

The fact, briefly, is that these people have simply punished their colons until they balk.

The symptoms are a feeling of tightness and discomfort over the entire abdomen. The X-ray may show the colon contracted down to the size of a small rope.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. Industrial Leaders Weaken - Listless Mining Session

LIGHT LOSSES FEATURE TRADE

Smelters Off Three, Ford More Than Half and Nickel Nearly 3-4.

GENERAL LIST DOWN.

TORONTO, April 17 (C.P.).—Ford of Canada, International Nickel and Consolidated Smelters were offered down to-day and active selling in these issues gave the industrial section of the Toronto Exchange leadership in a mild decline. About 75 per cent. of the price changes represented losses. Smelters was off about three points, Ford more than a point on heavy trading and Nickel nearly ¾.

Wagner's "Parsifal" Gatti's Final Opera

NEW YORK, April 17 (A.P.).—Giulio Gatti-Casazza goes on with his last show at the Metropolitan Opera to-day.

The massive, bearded Italian impresario presents Richard Wagner's "Parsifal." It will be repeated Good Friday afternoon.

Then, it's retirement for Mr. Gatti in his villa on the shores of Lake Maggiore, not far from Stresa. With his wife, Rosina Gatti, ballet mistress at the "Met," Mr. Gatti will sail for Italy April 27.

With his farewell opera, the impresario gives his latest sensation a new role—Kirsten Flagstad, the Norwegian soprano, as "Kundry." Lauritz Melchior, Danish tenor, will sing the role of "Parsifal."

Mr. Gatti's successor, Herbert Witherspoon, will move into the place during the coming week and complete his plans for the future seasons.

Edward Johnson, noted tenor from Guelph, Ont., will be one of the men assisting Mr. Witherspoon.

Checking Up

CLARION, Pa., April 17 (C. P.). — Peter Pascorell, 91-year-old railroader, walked into the office of Prothonotary D. E. Elliott and asked, "What about my divorce?"

"I can't find the record," said Elliott, after browsing about. "When was it entered?"

"In 1896," said Peter.

It developed the case apparently had been forgotten after continuance for a couple of terms.

Pascorell hired a lawyer to see it didn't happen again.

IRREGULARITY IN THE MINES

Silvers and Base Metals Have More Recessions Than Gains at Close.

GOLDS HOLD UP.

TORONTO, April 17. (CP).—The Toronto mining share market had a listless day, with volume down and prices marked by irregular movements. The golds were fairly well represented on the up side but silvers and base metals had more recessions than gains at the close. After three days of declines however the market for the two latter groups appeared in a steadier position and recessions were of minor importance.

STAFF CHANGES BELL TELEPHONE

Three Changes in the Local District Office Are Announced.

HONOR HERB WILSON.

Three staff changes are pending in the local district office of the Bell Telephone Company to take effect on May 1st.

Herbert A. Wilson, district traffic superintendent here for the last seven years, is being removed to Toronto in the capacity of personnel supervisor general office, Toronto; Robert H. Lundy, district wire chief at Peterborough for six years is going to Oshawa as plant wire chief; and George Harper, district plant supervisor is to be transferred to Toronto, after two-and-a-half years service here.

F. Burnham Boswell has been named as successor to Mr. Wilson, and it is understood that he is connected with the Burnham family formerly of this city, being a grandson of the late Dr. Burnham who died in Toronto recently. Mr. Harper is to be succeeded by E. Smith of Cobourg, while announcement regarding the remaining appointment has not yet been made public.

Last evening, Mr. Wilson was the guest of honor at a dinner and presentation tendered to him at Empress Hotel by his colleagues of the Peterborough district staffs.

About forty persons were present at the dinner including H. H. P. Johnston, district manager, P. L. Smith, divisional traffic superintendent, Toronto, and other local and district officials from Peterborough, Campbellford, Cobourg, Lindsay, and Port Hope.

On behalf of the gathering, Mr. Smith asked Mr. Wilson's acceptance of a smoking cabinet as a token of the esteem and popularity in which he is widely held by his colleagues, of the Traffic Department. Mrs. Wilson was presented with a charming bouquet of roses.

Several impromptu speeches in which the various speakers voiced regret at Mr. Wilson's pending departure and wished him success in his new sphere, along with piano solos provided during dinner by Bert Lacey, helped to round out an enjoyable and memorable occasion.

During his residence in the city, Mr. Wilson entered fully into several service, sports and social activities being a charter member of the Kinsmen Club of which organization he was first secretary; and also being an ardent lawn bowler, and tennis player besides playing a good hand at bridge.

surprise. Germany's old comrade-in-arms, Turkey, and the Latin-American nations led by Argentina had decided to approve the resolution.

Canada on Committee.

GENEVA, April 17.—(C P Cable). —Canada was included among the 16 members of the League of Nations committee appointed this afternoon to consider measures to make the covenant more effective against future unilateral repudiations of International obligations, as called for in the resolution passed by the Council to-day.

No New Commitments.

LONDON, April 17. — (A P).—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald reported to the House of Commons to-day the recent conference at Stresa agreed, "in spite of the changed situation," to push the "contemplated negotiation of a general settlement with Germany."

"Great Britain and Italy," said the Prime Minister, "both re-affirmed their Locarno obligations at Stresa. . . Let me repeat, Great Britain assumed no new commitments at Stresa."

would be no remission of fines for violation of regulations respecting such horses.

Farmers in the past, found guilty of misrepresenting the grading of their animals, had applied and in many instances been granted a remission of fines by order-in-council, he said.

"They will stay fined in future," said Mr. Marshall. There is going to be no humbug about it."

The minister announced the problem of contagious abortion was being turned over to the Ontario Research Foundation for investigation. "We don't know a thing about the bacillus that causes this disease," he said.

Mr. Marshall predicted arrangements to establish Government milk testing to aid farmers. This action followed refusal of many milk distributors, particularly in the Toronto area, to buy from producers whose herds were not inspected.

A sub-committee was formed to report on problems facing burleigh tobacco growers. The committee included: Douglas M. Campbell (Lib., Kent East), A. St. Clair Gordon (Lib., Kent West), L. H. Wigle (Lib., Essex South) and Dr. A. C. Trottier (Lib., Essex North).

ANNUAL TAG DAY HUMANE SOCIETY

"Violet Day" Be Held on Saturday by Humane Society.

WORTHY CAUSE.

Easter Saturday is the annual tag day of the Peterborough Humane Society.

It is the society's "Violet Day," when their taggers sell button-hole bouquets of violets, and by this means obtain funds for carrying on the splendid work to which the Humane Society is dedicated.

If you buy and wear a violet boutonniere on Saturday you not only assist the Society in the small contribution you make, but you also endorse the Society's purpose and manifest your approval of their practical accomplishments in securing humane treatment and a "square deal" for our domestic and burden-bearing animals.

Violet Day headquarters on Saturday will be in a store north of Brock Street, and on the east side of George Street, where violet bouquets for motorists may be obtained at fifty cents each by those who sympathize with the Humane Society and its ideals.

MAPLE SYRUP, 90 CENTS

SMITH'S FALLS, Ont., April 17 (CP)—As a result of a record-breaking flow of sap in this district, maple syrup sold as low as 90 cents per gallon, the lowest figure in the past decade.

Eggs, also plentiful, brought the producer 11 cents per dozen when payment was accepted in trade, and 10 cents per dozen when sold in cash transactions.

HOUSE APPROVES SLUM ABOLITION

report of the Royal Commission investigating amalgamation and made an unsuccessful effort to have Walkerville left out of the New Windsor which Mr. Croll's bill proposed to create.

Opposition also centered on another bill, premier Hepburn's amendment to the Liquor Control Act, and Conservatives were equally unsuccessful in debate on third reading of the bill to eliminate a clause permitting establishment of beverage rooms in local option municipalities which have voted to establish a liquor store.

Estimates of two departments, Agriculture and that of the Attorney-General, were passed. Chief discussion arose over the Government's action in closing Ontario House at London, England, home of Ontario's Agent-General.

Earlier in the day the Government had refused a resolution of Col. W. H. Price which urged approval of unemployment insurance legislation drafted by the Federal Government and the Legislature carried by 64 to 17 the Premier's amendment expressing confidence in the present administration to co-operate with the Dominion and other Provincial Governments in establishing unemployment insurance.

Henry's Charge.

Discussion of the Liquor Act amendment was featured by the charge of Opposition Leader George S. Henry that properties of three Toronto hotels were owned by O'Keefe's Brewery. He listed the hotels as the Alexander of which Thomas O'Connor was named as proprietor; Brockton Hotel, Frederick Tremble, proprietor; Clairmont Hotel. Clairmont Hotel, Limited, proprietors.

Mr. Henry, attacking the Government for issuing too many beverage room authorities said the Ambassador and Ritz Hotels at Windsor and another at London, which he could not name, were owned by "McNamara Brothers."

He made no charges that breweries operated the hotels, but warned the Premier that during license days the "tied-house system" had been in vogue. These were hotels operated by breweries and distilleries "And," he added, "this has much the same appearance."

The amendment to the Liquor Act allowing beverage rooms in local option districts which voted for liquor stores will rectify the situation whereby beverage rooms in Galt, Wallaceburg, Lancaster, and Alexandria were closed.

Agriculture School.

Little-known history of the Kemptville Agriculture School was revealed by Minister of Agriculture Duncan Marshall during discussion of Departmental estimates. He said before former Premier G. Howard Ferguson proceeded with construction of the school he consulted with him regarding agricultural schools to be constructed in Alberta. Mr. Marshall wished the Eastern Dairy School at Kingston had also been located at Kemptville.

While Mr. Henry characterized closing Ontario House as "a grievious blunder," Mr. Marshall said it served no useful purpose since marketing of the province's products could be conducted through Canada House.

Charging discrimination against Toronto, Conservatives protested against the agricultural estimates, not including provision for an agriculture department exhibit in the Ontario Government building at the Canadian National Exhibition. Mr. Marshall said the Department was not cutting down its grants to fairs and said the Government's contributions to the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto disproved charges of discrimination against Toronto.

He said, however, the Department intended to save the $25,000 necessary for a "decent" exhibit in the Government building.

Discussing estimates of the Attorney-General's department, Col. Price levelled chief criticism at the Attorney-General dismissing magistrates by telegram during reorganization of the magisterial system.

Col. Price praised Norman F. Newton, acting Middlesex County Crown attorney, for his handling of the trial of David Meisner on a charge of kidnapping John S. Labatt of London, and criticized Mr. Roebuck for his "public condemnation" of Mr. Newton by announcing he was sending W. B. Common, senior solicitor for his department, to London in a supervisory capacity shortly before termination of the trial.

During debate in committee of the Amalgamation Bill, Mr. Henry read resolutions from Windsor, East Windsor and Sandwich, urging the Government postpone passage of the bill until they knew the contents of the report of the Royal Commission.

"We believe in a merger," said Mr. Henry, "but not in dragooning municipalities into a merger about which they're in the dark."

A Question

Leopold Macaulay (Cons., York South) who introduced the amendment to exclude Walkerville from the amalgamation, questioned the Government concerning the statement of Mayor Russell Farrow of the municipality that Mr. Croll did not disclose in his address on the bill Monday night that Walkerville had reached an agreement with 70 percent of its creditors. He aso asked concerning Mr. Farrow's contention the minister refused to sanction a Wakerville bond issue.

Mr. Croll, reading a letter from the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board disapproving the bond issue, declared he did not run the board.

First member this session to read the Bible during a debate, Wilfrid Heightington illustrated the situation by reading the parable of the talents and said the situation was a clear case of one municipality managing its affairs with prudence while the amalgamation bill was an attemut to press upon this municipality the burdens of others which had not been so prudent.

"It is the intention of the Government to put the bill through this session," said the Premier.

"It's slavery that you're forcing on these people" said Mr. Macaulay.

CAMPBELLFORD

Haliburton Highway In Deplorable Shape

CAMPBELLFORD, April 17 (Examiner Correspondence). — While there have been very few complaints about road conditions this Spring in this particular district, Charles H. Turnbull, traveller for a Hamilton firm, who visited here on Tuesday, stated that the Haliburton highway between Minden and Locklin was in a deplorable condition; taking him five hours to cover some 15 miles and at certain spots having to be drawn out by teams. A funeral cortege also suffered the same experience on the same road; requiring the combined efforts of three teams of horses to pull them through the heavy going.

bution to the sinking fund increased by $104,008. Total reserves of the Commission, Chairman T. S. Lyon's report stated, increased $4,781,535 over 1933, an amount "less than in some former years."

Notwithstanding withdrawal of $2,868,828 from the contingency reserve fund of the system and deposit of only $129,514 in the fund during 1934, the net debit chargeable to the municipalities of the system totals $162,952. In 1929 there were no withdrawals from the contingency reserve fund, and deposits of $3,117,605 were made. The 1929 credit to the municipalities, as shown in the report, was $1,236,208.

Announcement of the new rural power ratecharges together with the previously announced free power scheme, will provide an estimated reduction of power costs or provision of free power totalling $100,000 during 1935.

These changes include a new maximum of six cents a kilowatt hour for first consumption rates in districts where the present rate exceeds that figure, application to all districts of the maximum two-cent second consumption rate, and establishment of a new .75 cent third consumption rate, the last mentioned to benefit particularly those power users who utilize electricity for heating hotbeds and water.

Two-Inch Snowfall Campbellford Area

CAMPBELLFORD, April 17 (Examiner Correspondence). — When Campbellford citizens awoke on Tuesday morning, they were greeted with an entire change of scenery—fully two inches of snow had fallen during the early hours. The snow shovel, which had been laid aside, again came into action and between the sun and the high wind which prevailed all morning, the sidewalks and roads were quite dry before noon. Neighboring farmers welcomed the late snowfall as the land was sadly in need of moisture, very little Spring ploughing having been done as yet.

MRS. G. E. SPICER ELECTED HEAD

Mrs. E. Wand Resigns as President of Local Home and School Association.

REPORTS READ.

After four years of capable leadership as president of the Peterborough Home and School Council Mrs. E. Wand was released from that office at the regular monthly meeting of the Council held last evening in the green room of the Y.W.C.A. The election of the new officers took place at the close of the business meeting. All the eight schools of the Council were represented and Mrs. W. R. Morris and Inspector Mowat were also present. Mrs. Wand presided, and correspondence read by the acting secretary, Mrs. J. L. Hughes, was dealt with, following the opening and reading of the minutes. The report and statement of the retiring treasurer, Mrs. T. Hendry, were read and accepted. The President expressed the appreciation of the Council to Mrs. W. R. Morris for kindly acting as auditor, and to The Examiner and Y.W.C.A. for many kindnesses rendered.

Mrs. Wand expressed regret at the impending departure of Mrs. Hughes, who had given valuable help both to the Council and to Confederation School. Mrs. Harrington, also a member of Confederation Association was present for the last time, as she sails for the Old Country next month.

Reports Read

Reports of convenors of committees were given as follows: Mrs. T. Monk for Recreation; Mrs. H. Tremaine for Better Films and visual education; Mrs. H. H. Graham for League of Nations; Mrs. J. L. Hughes for Religious Education; Mrs. J. Kingsbury for Telephone; Mrs. N. Stanger for Review and Pins.

Prizes gained at the quilt contest on April 6th and purchased by Mrs. Monk, were later presented by Mrs. Wand to the winners.

Before vacating the chair, the retiring president delivered a splendid address, dealing with the main points required to make a successful president. The address received hearty applause.

Inspector Mowat occupied the chair for the election of officers. Mrs. H. H. Graham reported for the nominating committee and presented the list of names selected. A ballot was taken for convenors of commitees for visual education, telephone, and review and pins.

Officers Elected

The officers elected are as follows: President, Mrs. G. A. Spicer; 1st Vice-Pres., Mrs. C. Stanton; 2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. H. Tremaine; Secretary, Mrs. H. Turner; Treasurer, Mrs. W. Rogers. Librarian, Mrs. E. G. R. Clark; Press Representative, Mrs. J. O. Wylie; Convenors of Committees: Music, Mrs. E. Wand; Religious Education, Mrs. Richard Parnell; Recreation, Mrs. T. Hendry, assisted by Mrs. Roy Parnell; League of Nations, Mrs. H. H. Graham, assisted by Mr. A. Mowat.

The newly-elected officers were then installed by Mr. Mowat, the little form of service for this occasion being used. The new president in occupying the chair thanked the members of the Council for their confidence in her and asked for co-operation in carrying on the work. Mrs. W. R. Morris spoke a few words of welcome to the new president and referred to the progress made under the leadership of Mrs. Wand. The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Our King and Queen on their Silver Jubilee

The King and Armistice Day

The Great War took much out of the King. So hard did he work during those hectic and tragic years, that when it was over, he was near a nervous collapse. But he had to keep going.

He had to put up a brave front to his people, struggling as they were to rehabilitate themselves. So it meant that he must continue his hard work.

Always deeply religious, King George made it a special task to appear as often as possible, at every memorial service for those killed in the war. He stood humbly through rain and cold to pay homage to the dead. In deed, it was on such an occasion, at the laying of wreath on the great cenotaph in London that the King contracted the illness that nearly robbed the empire of its King in 1929.

Our picture today shows His Majesty in the act of placing a wreath on the cenotaph in 1922. He visited every part of Great Britain, and even made visits to France and Belgium to pay his respects to those who gave their lives in defence of the empire.

RESCUE CREWS DRIVE AT SHAFT

Scotians Reach Spot 500 Feet From Miners Trapped by Explosion.

HOPES OF LIFE ABANDONED.

STELLARTON, N.S., April 17. — (CP)—Grief-stricken relatives of seven doomed miners stood around the pit mouth of the Allan shaft today while rescue workers slowly battered their way through walls of debris toward the scene of yesterday's explosion.

More than 24 hours after the blast the volunteers were still about 500 feet from the spot where the seven had been entombed and all hope of finding them alive had been abandoned. Among the volunteers were some of the 164 men who escaped from the shaft soon after the explosion yesterday. It was their belief the missing seven could not have lived through the night. If the trapped men had survived the blast they could not have escaped the poisonous 'after damp' which followed an explosion of 'fire damp' in a mine.

Touching scenes were enacted at the pit mouth when the survivors came up, to be greeted by anxious relatives. By noon yesterday 4,000 persons had gathered, and many remained far into the night awaiting news of Richard Clark, 50; Sandy Beaton, 55; Abrsham Hennessey, 45; Ignate Bourniah, 43; Jack McEachern, 28; James McEachern, 30; and Ross Flemming 46.

But there was no word as the grim battle with coal and stone continued in the depths of the mine.

Magistrate's Court

The fact that he was hauling a load of culverts for the Department of Highways, when the offence was committed, did not include any special privileges to Robert Reid, local haulage contractor, who was fined $10 without costs, for overloading a motor vehicle. The information was laid by Highway Traffic Officer A. E. Hornick, who alleged that the defendant was overloaded to the extent of 3,900 pounds.

A similar penalty to the above was exacted from James Conroy, motorist, for speeding over an intersection within the city limits.

Limerick, Irish Free State, has decided to not hold its Round-the-Houses motor race on the thirteenth of the month, and the event has been postponed from July to August 3.

Two Long Service Medals Are Presented To Members Of Canadian Mounted Police

Three men who first met as "rookies" at the depot of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police (Now Royal Canadian Mounted Police) who subsequently wore the double chevron as corporals in the force, and ultimately rode together at the Coronation of His Majesty King George V in London, were re-united in Toronto yesterday when Lieutenant-Governor Dr. Herbert Bruce presented long service medals to two active and five retired members of the famous "scarlet clad riders of the plains."

Two out of the trio have risen to higher rank in the service, and were included in the awards made by the Lieutenant-Governor, one of them being Superintendent C. D. LaNauze, and the other being Inspector A. E. Oaksleigh-Reames, officer commanding "O" Division.

Third member of the trio was ex-Corporal Fred Marshall, now Inspector of Game and Fisheries for Peterborough County. On his visit to Toronto he was accompanied by three other ex-members of the force, in the persons of ex-Constable David Silvester (now Constable Ontario Provincial Police); Frank Barrett, 252 Park Hill Road, and William R. McIntosh, now proprietor of McIntosh Service Station.

George Hendren, another ex-"mountie" resident in this city was unable to be resent. Each of the five former members of the old Royal Northwest Mounted, now living here, saw a great deal of frontier service in the Northwest and Yukon Territories.

INCINERATOR COST $15,000

North York's new incinerator cost $15,000, not $70,000 as mentioned in yesterday's report of visit of the council's deputation to the Toronto suburb. It was built for a community of 70,000 people, and the comparatively small outlay impressed the local committee as a real economy in the increased efficiency it provided for the disposal of garbage.

IN MEMORIAM

WEBSTER—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, John Webster, who departed this life, April 17, 1934.

We loved him, yes, we loved him,
But God, He loved him more,
And took him home with Him to dwell
On yonder golden shore.

In our hearts his memory lingers,
Sweetly, tender, fond and true;
There is not a day, dear father,
That we do not think of you.

—Ever remembered by Wife and Family.

PORTLAND, Ore., April 17. (CP) Fred Gates, human balloon, died yesterday from an internal hemorrhage. Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Eggs for Easter, the words seem to belong together, and as a matter of fact they do have an affinity. Each represents embryonic life, a beginning. They are symbolic of the springtime of life and nature. There is a certain beauty of meaning coupled with and enveloped in the two words. So let us enjoy eggs at Easter. The more attractive ways the eggs are served, the better.

• • • • • •

Plain boiled eggs can have quaint designs over the shells by wrapping them tightly in printed cloth, especially of not too fast dyes and then cooking them. Impressions of pattern can be imprinted thus. In bygone days this was a favorite method of decorating boiled eggs served at Easter breakfast. Today there are vegetable colorings with which boiled eggs can be painted. If before doing this, little motifs, tiny scraps of paper cut to look like chickens, bunnies, or just squares, circles, etc. are lightly pasted to the shells, they will form silhouettes in the midst of the color when the papers are removed. These fancy shells of the simple boiled eggs give them just the right touch for Easter breakfast.

• • • • • •

Daisies made by cutting the whites of hard boiled eggs into lengthwise segments and arranging them like daisy petals about a centre of mashed and creamed yolks, well seasoned, is a dainty Easter luncheon dish. More of a garden effect is gained if the yolks are made into individual portions each with the white petals around it and crisp water cress like daisy foliage is arranged about each, with radish tulips dotted about in the serving dish.

• • • • • •

To make the tulips, cut the tops of the radishes into petal points without slitting the sides as for radish roses. With a sharp knife schoop out enough of the centres of the radishes to make them cup shaped like tulips. Put a sliver of raw carrot into each cup. As the daisies should be hot, the cress foliage and the radish tulips must be ready and quickly arranged on each individual plate or on a serving platter holding many daisies. When serving the daisies use a sliver pie knife or one with a wide blade which will slip under the flowers.

A very pleasant and successful Spring tea was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. J. A. McNabb, George street, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, in aid of the society's Flower Fund. The guests were received by Mrs. Margaret McNabb and Mrs. Andrew Jack, president of the organization. General convenors were Mrs. W. Gordon Hall and Mrs. Wesley Brown, and ladies assisting in showing the guests to the tea-room were Mrs. Robert Ross and Mrs. A. E. Barrie. Tea was poured by Mrs. D. W. Clark and Mrs. P. J. A. Hall, assisted by Mrs. T. H. Gilgour and Mrs. W. A. Burrell. Mrs. John Anderson was treasurer and Mrs. W. L. Ferguson had charge of a sale of home-made cooking. The decorative scheme was very lovely and excited much interested comment. Glowing grate fires in the pleasant rooms, with a profusion of spring flowers and pussy willows, gave a springlike note. In the tea-room, many lighted lamps and candles added to the bright atmosphere of the tea. The table had a very pretty arrangement in a cloth of gold damask crossed by bands of orchid tulle ribbon that tied in large bows at the side. In the centre, on a mirror reflector, was placed a majolica bowl filled with daffodils, snapdragon, narcissus, tulips, sweet peas and pussy willow branches. At either end of the table were silver vases filled with sweet peas and in opposite corners were placed tapers of gold and pale pink, in junior silver holders. The candles that provided soft illumination on the buffet and side tables were also in golden shades.

WARRIORS' BALL MONDAY NIGHT

Bus Browne's Eleven Piece Orchestra Will Provide the Music.

PROCEEDS AID LEGION.

All plans are made for this year's Warriors' Ball which promises to be the finest dance of the season. The ball will be held on Monday, April 22, in the Canadian Legion Hall, with Bus Browne's eleven-piece orchestra from Toronto playing. This is the first time this orchestra has visited Peterborough. It has already long list of good dances which it has played at, and some of these are: Margaret Eaton Girls' Christmas banquet; Simpson's Girls' Residence 'At Home'; Humberside Collegiate Ex-Pupils' dance; and the College of Art's dance, which is one of the most colorful masquerades of Toronto's social season. Tickets are in demand, and the committees on program and decorating have everything well under way. The Rangers' band is scheduled to give a program from eight until nine-thirty, when dancing will commence. There will be three novelty dances, and the lunch is in the capable hands of Mrs. Joseph Mills. The entire amount received from ticket sales will go to help the Canadian Legion.

50 MILES FARTHER NORTH

At about the same time that yesterday's hand was played, today's hand appeared about 50 miles further north. This time the opponents, not the declarer suffered, and how!

The spirit of madness was rampant with two of the bidders. East dealt. He hoped to stave off a high adverse score by making an opening psychic of 1 no trump. Only South knew that the call was not honest, and he started to trap opponents. South wanted to stave off genuine strong bids, so he bid 2 spades, taking the call out of West's mouth, so the latter made his own psychic bid of 3 hearts. North might have doubled that call, but he was so strong in hearts that he supported South by bidding 3 spades. South stuck his head out of the window just as the sash fell on it, by bidding 4 hearts, with neither sid evulnerable. South doubled. If he had not done so his partner would have doubled. They had opponents just where they wanted them to be. Only South's early psychic spade call kept West from shifting into that make.

The opening lead was the king of hearts. When North saw himself hold the trick, and South's comeon of the 8, a low heart was led. South's ace won, dropping declarer's 10, and showing plainly that West had been psyching. South led back his last trump, that North might pick up the third trump showing in dummy.

North led a low spade. South's ace took the trick, then that player ran off three tricks in clubs and three tricks in diamonds. At the end of these 10 tricks, North had left only two long trumps and the king of spades. No matter what South led his partner must win the last three tricks, giving North and South a grand slam.

Law 34 states that a slam bonus may be scored only by the side bidding and making the slam. The defenders could not claim the grand slam premium, but they scored aplenty for putting West down 10 tricks doubled.

The interpreters of the international laws of contract bridge do not contemplate any bidder going down more than seven tricks, as their tables of penalties do not go beyond that setback. Seven tricks down when doubled incur a penalty of 1,750 points, when not vulnerable. The penalties for the eighth, ninth and tenth tricks down are, however, 450, 500 and 550 points, respectively, giving us 1,500 points to add to the 1,750 for the first seven tricks down. Collecting 3,250 points for defeating opponents was better than bidding and making their own grand slam.

While laying gas mains in Dungannon, North Ireland, workmen recently discovered a thirty-six-foot well, believed to be 100 years old, yet containing 11 feet of clear water.

Stubborn Dodger Crew

Stengel Has Signed Rough-and-ready Ball Club Under Brooklyn Banner.

HEAVY HITTERS.

JUST AS Bill Terry was rudely shocked when Casey Stengel's uncouth Flatbush Fusileers beat his Giants out of the National League pennant in the last few days of the 1934 season, so the rest of the National League is going to be surprised by the doings of the Dodgers this year, unless all signs fail. Stengel has slammed together a fighting, rough-and ready ball club that matches his own personality, and Casey, you know, is one of those stubborn fellows who is never licked.

The club has caught Casey's spirit, which is, in a few words, spill the beans, dump the apple cart, cross the statisticians, outguess the wise guys—and win. The club has punch, a good infield and outfield, good reserves and pitching staff that may turn out to be 20 games better than expected. It is one of the most improved teams in the league, and with any kind of breaks will be right up in the first division with the rest of them. Take the infield—Sam Leslie at first, Tony Cuccinello at second Linus Frey at short and Joe Stripp at third. All these young men can field, and they can hit—particularly Leslie and Stripp. Frey, a budding star at short, should hit .300 this year. Cuccinello hit .300 for Cincinnati and appears to be about ready to do it again.

IN THE outfield Koenecke stands out, a hard hitter and capable fielder who finally has found himself. Bordagaray, former White Sox, and a dangerous hitter, is battling Buzz Boyle for an outfield job. Dan Taylor must be regarded as a .300 hitter, too, with his lifetime average of .299. Bordagaray is no faultless ball hawk, but is a fast man and just about the best pinch hitter that will be seen in the National League this year. Lopez and the reserves take care of the catching. The Cuban is a nastly hitter who is likely to have a .300 year any time, though his big league average is .286. Stengel has another fine pinch hitter in Babe Phelps, No. 2 catcher.

Since Stengel took command of the Fusileers, he has taken pains to develop young pitchers. If these live up to their promise Brooklyn will be pretty hard to beat, and some of those one-run ball games that were ed to victories. Munge, Leonard, to victories. Munge, Leonard, Babich and Benge probably will be the Big Four. Frank Lamanske and Bob Logan have been coming on rapidly. Watson Clark has given convincing signs of a comeback in training camp. There are Leslie Munns, Tom Baker, Bob Edwards and Harvey Green to draw from. And Tom Zachary still is around.

IN THE cold light of averages, the staff is not so hot. A comeback on the part of Clark, however, and improvement by Munns would help its appearance. If Lamanske and one of the other young men make the grade, Brooklyn will have a formidable staff. Considering the Dodgers' pitching performances last year when the club finished seven and a half games out of the first division, with only a little added help from the moundsmen the club could climb surprisingly. As a whole, the team is on the verge of being good. It is sure to fool somebody.

Three Other Games in International Loop Listed to Go On To-day.

BEARS FAVORED.

While Rochester Redwings Will Provide Chief Opposition For Newarks.

NEW YORK, April 17. —(AP)—Robbed of one of its main attractions by the cold weather, the International League, oldest of the minor circuits, hoped to get its other three 1935 inaugurals written into the records today.

Low temperatures led Syracuse Chiefs to call off their opening game today with Toronto Maple Leafs but the other three games still were on the schedule, with Rochester at Newark, Montreal Royals at Baltimore and Buffalo at Albany. It was estimated about 30,000 would see these three contests.

In advance of actual competition, Newark Bears were favored to show the way through the 154-game schedule for the fourth straight year and enter the playoffs with the three other ranking teams.

Red Wings Figure High

The Bears' chief opposition probably will come from the Rochester Red Wings, last year's second place club, the hard-hitting Buffalo Bisons and Albany Senators, strengthened by the addition of Hack Wilson, former major league home run king.

Except for Toronto Maple Leafs, winners of the playoffs after finishing third during the regular season, the other clubs, Syracuse, Baltimore and Montreal, also have added strength either by the addition of promising rookies or major league cast-offs.

HOME RUNS YESTERDAY

Yesterday's Stars

(By the Associated Press)

Babe Ruth, Braves—Drove in two runs, scored two, on single and homer as Braves topped Giants, 4-2.

Wes Ferrell, Red Sox—Blanked Yankees with two hits.

Gabby Hartnett, Cubs—Collected home run, double and single against Cardinals, bringing home winning run in 8th.

Van Mungo, Dodgers—Stopped Phillies with five hits and drove in five runs with three singles.

Glenn Myatt, Indians — Doubled in 14th to give Indians 2-1 victory over Browns.

Walt Hoyt, Pirates—Pitched Pirates to easy triumph over Reds.

HERMAN NEUGASS

Clocked in 9.4 seconds in the 100-yard dash. Herman Neugass, above, of Tulane University, is hailed as a coming U.S. sprint star. Southeastern conference championship honors and national success are predicted for him.

FINAL SCORE 47-21.

WINDSOR, Ont., April 17.—(CP)—On the remarkable shooting ability of Willie 'Moose' Rogin, their husky centre, Assumption College rode into the throne room of Eastern Canada senior basketball by defeating Notre Dame de Grace of Montreal, 47 to 21, here last night.

The massive 'Moose' accounted for 27 of the Purples' total points to almost single handedly gain the crown for the Assumptionites. It was the second successive victory for the winners and placed them in the finals for the national honors to be played at Vancouver within a week's time.

Ferrell's Pitching Baffles the Yanks and Gomez Drops His First Game to Boston Sox.

By HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Old Father Time, it appears, will be lucky to get even a draw with George Herman Ruth.

Overshadowing all other developments as the Major League baseball season got away to a halting start in frigid weather yesterday were the amazing exploits of the portly aging Babe.

The injury to Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, unstable pitching by a half dozen established stars, heavy hitting at Cincinnati and Philadelphia—all these faded into the background as the mighty Ruth caleld into the National League to lead Boston Braves out of the financial wilderness, squared accounts with Carl Hubbell, slender southpaw of New York Giants.

Also Stars Afield.

Facing the left-hander for the first time since the all-star game last summer, when he went down, swinging, at a third strike, Ruth smacked Hubbell for a single and a home run to account for all the Braves' runs in a 4-2 victory over the Giants. That was what 25,000 fans had braved pneumonia to see and the Babe didn't let them down. They hadn't expected, however, the 41 year old home run master to star afield, but his sensational gloved-hand catch of Hubbell's low liner in the fifth saved Ed Brandt and the Braves some embarrassment. Brandt, by the way, gave up only five hits, but it was definitely the Babe's day.

At Chicago, the world champion St. Louis Cardinals saw their pennant aspirations almost come to grief on the first day of the campaign. A line drive from Freddy Lindstrom's bat struck Dizzy Dean on the left leg, just above the ankle, in the first inning, and the great right-hander was carried off the field. An X-ray failed to disclose any broken bones but the Dizzy One probably will be out for a week nursing a severe bruise.

The Cubs nipped Dizzy for one run before he was rendered hors de combat, added two more off Bud Tinning in the second and scored what proved to be the winning runs in a 4-3 victory off Ray Harrell in the eighth.

Rounding out the full National League program, Pittsburgh Pirates concentrated a 14-hit attack in two big innings to whip the Cincinnati Reds, 12-6, while Waite Hoyt kept the Reds pretty well in control, much to the displeasure of 27,400 fans at Philadelphia. Only 3,000 saw Brooklyn Dodgers shell the Phillies, 13-3 behind Van Mungo's five-hit pitching.

Terrell Blanks Gomez

The biggest crowd of the day, 29,287, swarmed into the Yankee stadium to see a brilliant pitching duel between Wes Ferrell, veteran right-hander of Boston Red Sox and Vernon (Goffy) Gomez, slim southpaw of the Yankees.

Ferrell, in mid-season form, gave the Ruth-less Yankees only two hits, faced only 29 men and won 1-0. Gomez, losing to the Red Sox for the first time in his career, was nicked for only six hits but an error by Lou Gehrig permitted the winning run to score in the sixth.

The only other American League game produced another fine pitching duel at St. Louis between Mel Harder of Cleveland Indians and Buck Newsom of the Browns. Glen Myatt's double finally broke this up with a double in the 14th that gave the Indians a 2-1 triumph. Harder allowed only eight hits; Newsom 12.

Cold weather deferred the inaugurals at Detroit, with the champion Tigers entertaining the Chicago Whitesox, and at Washington, with the Senators laying host to the Philadelphia Athletics, until to-day. A third opening to-day, weather permitting, will find Cincinnati renewing its series with Pittsburg in the Pirates' home lair, Forbes Field.

The aggregate attendance for yesterday's six opening games was 103,687 as compared with 187,053 for eight games a year ago. The four National League contests attracted 70,900 against 104,717 a year ago. The two games in the American League drew 32,787 as against 82,336 for four in 1934.

Dempsey Is "On The Bike" Now

Sports writers covering the Dempsey-Tunney fight in Chicago made much of the fact that Tunney saved himself from a knockout by "riding his bicycle." Now the party of the first part, Jack Dempsey, has taken to the bike, but it's a different one, in Artie McGovern's New York gym, where Jack is taking regular workouts.

TO FIGHT ON MAY 28

VANCOUVER, April 17 (CP) — Welterweight Champion Jimmy McLarnin will leave here tomorrow for Los Angeles, en route to New York where he will defend his title against Chicago's Barney Ross on May 28. Jimmy received confirmation last night the bout had been arranged, from his manager, Pop Foster, now in New York.

"Why don't I try for a knockout in the first round?" Jimmy repeated a reporter's question. "That's an idea. It would save a lot of fooling around, but it takes two to make a knockout and I don't think Barney would co-operate."

ATTRACTS ATTENTION IN A DAY MOST PLAYERS DO IN LIFETIME

Rushed to Hospital With All Dramatic Flourishes After Being Mowed Down by Ball.

POPULAR IDOL.

(By Paul Mickelson)

CHICAGO, April 17 (AP) — The baseball season already is old for that great man of the pitching hill, Jerome "Dizzy" Dean.

Although the 1935 campaign was only a day old to-day, Dizzy already has had more experiences, attracted more attention and furnished more headline copy than many hard plugging players do in a lifetime of toil.

He has been fined $100 for missing a train.

He has been on the carpet before Kenesaw Mountain Landis, Commissioner of baseball.

He has been mowed down by a batted ball and rushed with all the dramatic flourishes to a hospital.

So, all Dizzy has left to do to retain his headline average for the year is to win 30 games again for the St. Louis Cardinals and repeat his World Series glory in the Fall.

Dizzy's left leg was sore to-day. A big red spot showed where it had been painfully bruised from a line drive off Freddie Lindstrom's bat.

Edmonton Girl Grads Set For Cage Finals

EDMONTON, April 17 (CP) — Percy Page's Edmonton Commercial Grads headed eastward to-day to make their first Canadian basketball title defence in Ontario since 1927 when they went to Toronto and trounced the Lakesides. This time they will face Windsor-Walkerville Alumnae.

The Page girls left here last night with nine players. The first game of the championship series will be played Saturday night at Windsor.

The 1935 Grads, as high a scoring brigade as any of the 15 or so that Page has kept on top of the heap, are made up of four veterans, two players who joined the world champions in 1934 and three freshmen. There is a feeling, too, that tall Noel MacDonald will turn out to be one of the greatest women players the East has ever seen.

Opening-day assignments are as follows: At Baltimore—Nallin and Hubbard; at Newark—Jorda and Parker; at Albany Kearney and Clarke; at Syracuse—Van Graflin and Sweeney.

SPORTS — Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two. DAY BY DAY

(By C J P.)

Girls' Softball meeting is at eight bells this eve in Duffus'. Officers, managers and prospective managers should attend as there are several important matters to be settled. One point to be cleared up with the P.W.S.U. is what class of ball our loop is entered. It will be intermediate, but will it be intermediate 'A' or 'B'? If the Lakeshore League and most of the others are in the 'A' class and are not too strong, then this might be the spot for the Peterborough circuit as playdown trips would be shorter. And we think the secretary-treasurer should have an assistant, since the two jobs are combined now and this affiliation will mean a lot of work and responsibility for one person.

• • • • • •

Everything is set for the delegates to the O.A.S.A. convention here Friday. About half of them will arrive Thursday afternoon or evening as the executive meets that night. General meeting, banquet and tour of the town will be Friday with the visitors departing Friday evening. According to inquiries coming in here there will be a big crowd from distant points like Windsor, Niagara Falls, Ottawa and the north. The east should be well represented for a change as it's a long time since the convention was held in Eastern Ontario. Art Bowden of Oshawa is running for the executive from this section as well as Dave Leether of this city.

• • • • • • •

The O.A.S.A. is not an old sporting organization by any means. It is practically an infant compared with such sports as lacrosse, hockey, baseball and others. In fact the Softball Association was formed in 1923. But it has had amazing success. The game spread like wildfire and it's a pretty backward town in Ontario that hasn't an affiliated league. It is a good game for participants and fans and the organization should become bigger and stronger as time goes on. Commissioner Landis said last year that softball does not hurt baseball at all, that there is plenty of room for both games and that each sport really helped the other.

• • • • • •

Percy Bond will represent the A.A.U. of C. at the softball convention Friday. The immediate past prexy of the O.H.A. is also vice-prexy of the Central Ontario branch of the Union. He told us yesterday he enjoyed the trip to Halifax for the annual meeting of the C.A.H.A. and thought the delegates had accomplished a great deal. Commercial hockey had not been brought up in the discussions at all, the O.H.A. believing more could be done in this respect by waiting a year till the demand was greater throughout Canada. He didn't think much of the refereeing of the final game between Montreal Royals and Halifax Wolverines, a rough battle in which the Royals were penalized unnecessarily, but he felt Halifax would have won anyway.

• • • • • •

Mr. Bond is one of the most progressive men on the O.H.A., a fact which Toronto writers admit. He is all for allowing more and more freedom for amateurs and has done quite a bit in this direction. He feels that a step in the right direction was made by the C.A.H.A. in asking the Amateur Union to define an amateur in Canada and just how far he should be permitted to go without losing his amateur standing. He also feels—and we've always been for this—that a pro in one sport should not be barred from playing with amateurs in another sport. Percy admits that times have changed and that the simon-pure moguls aren't nearly as tough on pros as they used to be. He looks for even more freedom for the amateur athlete.

• • • • • • •

Several important Church Softball League rules were changed at an executive meeting last night. It was decided to raise the entry fee for junior and senior teams to 75 cents with the loop supplying balls in final games, the juvenile and bantam sections keeping to the same four-bit fee. And the age-limit of junior players was lowered from 21 years to 20 years. One other change was made in allowing players to take part in finals of a higher series without having to play a certain number of games in that higher series. A team may claim a game by default if its opponent has not proper equipment at game time. Entries close April 22nd and the committee meets next Tuesday to draw up schedules. Opening date of play will be April 29th.

• • • • • • •

Despite chilly weather, the Big Leagues opened their baseball campaigns yesterday before large crowds. Hubbell's defeat, Ferrell's grand win, Dizzy Dean's injury, a 14-inning game and other bright spots were features in the day's play. Babe Ruth once again stole the thunder. The aging Sultan of Swat made his National League debut in spectacular manner, hitting a homer and single, driving in all his team's runs and pulling off a circuses catch in the field as Boston beat the Giants 4 to 2! The greatest showman in baseball, the Bambino always rises to real heights when the spotlight is on him. He's a real money player, something the Toronto Leafs weren't in their recent Stanley Cup playoffs.

The second annual meeting of the Peterborough Sailing and Aquatic Club was held last evening in the 'Y'. It was a real successful session and the members are looking forward to a big year. Officers are: President, B. D. Hall; vice-president, R. E. Cutting; sec.-treas., L. W. Scott; executive committee, G. S. Mathews, C. H. Rogers, W. R. Thompson, K. A. Duffus, G. H. Eastwood and Dr. G. R. Scott. The club plans to purchase four English model dinghies, sloop-rigged with Marconi mainsail from the Peterborough Canoe Club and also four new canoes. They intend to develop canoe paddling and racing and dinghy sailing and racing. Probably 100 members will be long to this club this year. Fees are reasonable and those interested may obtain full information by calling Mr. Scott at 294.

SOCCER OPENING MONDAY, MAY 6TH

Brintons Will Open Season in League Fixture—Other News of Interest.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of soccer fans took place last evening in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms, under the auspices of the Peterborough and District Football Association, with President Ben McMaster in the chair. Those present included T. Westwood, secretary; William Anderson, past president; Vincent Stewart, vice-president; G. Farrance, S. Ivison, and R. Whitehead, executive.

Clubs Represented.

Canadian General was represented by J. McMaster; Lawrence O'Toole, Canada Packers; A. Thomas, Brinton Athletic; and J. Isle, C.C.F. Lindsay and Deloro were not represented.

The Caledonians officially notified the executive they would not organize this season, but the executive requested players having in their possession sweaters or boots, the property of the club, return them to W. Rankin.

Copies of the rules and regulations will be typewritten so that all members of the clubs will become acquainted with them.

Each team will pay into the association: Three dollars as entry fee, five dollars guarantee fee, five dollars for all cups, and ten cents for each registration form. Entry fee must be paid before receiving registration forms and these will be distributed on Tuesday evening, April 23.

Opening Game on May 6.

The opening game will be played on Monday, May 6, on the Brinton Ground, with Brinton Athletic playing a league fixture against a team to be selected at next meeting. The executive are awaiting instructions from Deloro and Lindsay before selecting the opponents.

Asa Downer and Albert Frick have been officially registered as referees for the ensuing year. There is an opportunity awaiting others who wish, to notify the secretary.

British Consols Game.

Official communication was received from British Consols stating that they would be willing to play a game with one of the clubs of the city some time later in the season. Perhaps arrangements can be made with this Toronto aggregation in an endeavor to create greater interest in the scientific code.

The association has been advised to keep off King Edward Park until the ground becomes fit for playing upon. It is expected to have the usual accommodation, but the hut will be put in the east end of the field.

Clifford Castle, official groundkeeper, has the goalposts erected, and put new boxes into the ground so that the uprights would not sink.

After serving the soccer association faithfully for many years, Walter Harrington, who acted on the executive and as referee, is leaving the city to return to England next month. The fans wish him every success in his new field of endeavor.

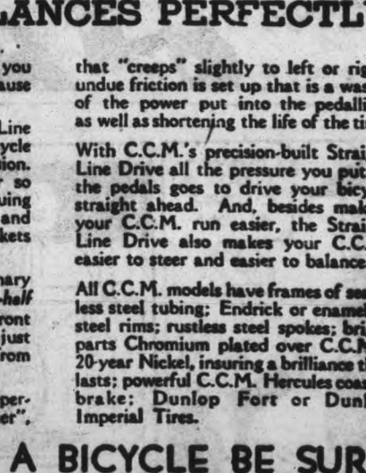
The Bicycle with the STRAIGHT LINE DRIVE



THE TWO WHEELS TRACK LIKE ONE

RUNS FASTER STEERS EASIER
BALANCES PERFECTLY

ONE of the big reasons why you should choose a C.C.M. is because of its Straight Line Drive.

To produce the C.C.M. Straight Line Drive, all of the parts of the bicycle must be made with watch-like precision. Then they must be put together so accurately that, when the final "truing up" of the bicycle occurs, the front and rear wheels, and front and rear sprockets line up truly.

It is not uncommon to find ordinary bicycles with a difference of from one-half to three inches in the tracking of front and rear wheels. You can realize just how far short such bicycles fall from having a Straight Line Drive.

With a bicycle that doesn't track perfectly, that runs a little "off center", that "creeps" slightly to left or right, undue friction is set up that is a waster of the power put into the pedalling, as well as shortening the life of the tires.

With C.C.M.'s precision-built Straight Line Drive all the pressure you put on the pedals goes to drive your bicycle straight ahead. And, besides making your C.C.M. run easier, the Straight Line Drive also makes your C.C.M. easier to steer and easier to balance.

All C.C.M. models have frames of seamless steel tubing; Endrick or enamelled steel rims; rustless steel spokes; bright parts Chromium plated over C.C.M.'s 20-year Nickel, insuring a brilliance that lasts; powerful C.C.M. Hercules coaster brake; Dunlop Fort or Dunlop Imperial Tires.

These 1935 values are outstanding for bicycles of the famous C.C.M. quality

GYPSY GIRL

THE STORY OF AN IMPASSIONED ROMANCE

By McDONALD FEADER

PICTURES

Read This First.

Consuelo, a beautiful gypsy girl, longs to dance with all the world at her feet. In love with her are the Dummy, a deaf mute, and Marcu, both members of her tribe. She has only hate for her mother, Anica, but is extremely fond of her father, Girtza. The father reprimands Anica for her treatment of Consuelo. When Anica finds Consuelo dressed in her own wedding skirt, she beats her with a whip. Marcu rescues the girl and her father then turns the whip on Anica.

(Now go on with the story.)

CHAPTER 4.

The dance was over. The gypsies had gone back to camp. Only laggers and concessionaires stayed in the hot smelling air of the fair grounds. In town the little restaurants and ice-cream parlors were swarming with people. Getting a moment's respite, they were, before going back to the "domze" that night. A wild time it was, too, for these farmers and workmen to have a free day in town and spend their hard earned money on such foolishness as eating dinner in a restaurant and buying endless pink lemonades and sticky popcorn and trying their luck in the shooting gallery.

And the ladies—oh, how foolishly they spent their money! But who could resist the bright pillow covers with American flags and shamrock and harps and horses and calla lilies. The pattern, the hook-needle, the yarn all for the price of a dollar and it was so easy to do, just punch the needle through and pull it back, and presto, a rose was made.

But their talk was not all of their purchases. "The gypsy told me of money and a trip." "The fortune-teller said that I'd marry soon—" "The gypsies look bad. I don't see why the sheriff let them stay in town—" "Did you ever see anything cuter than the little bear by the gates, how he rolls and blinks his little black eyes—" "Ah but that gypsy girl with the long hair can dance. Never have I seen the like of it and I've been to the big cities and to shows that played for weeks on end in the same theatre and they never ran out of people to come. Yet in all my experience I have never seen dancing as this wild gypsy dances." "She is beautiful—but gypsies are a bad lot and I have told my son to keep away from them. One of my horses didn't come to the barn last night—" And so on and so on.

At the gypsy camp the noisy and hurried preparations for dinner went on. Going back to the fair that night; baskets must be sold: Consuelo was going to dance again: Anica must take up her stand at the fortune telling booth; Zina and Marcal to wrestle; Voda to make little Honey roll and perform his merry tricks and make the children laugh and toss their pennies; and the Dummy to sell his pictures; and all of the hundred and one things the gypsies could do to make money out of the gorgio fair.

Down at the creek Consuelo dangled her restless feet in the water, cooling the dusty toes. She lay back against the moss, eyes closed. Perhaps she was weary or perhaps she was only weaving her dreams into form. For a long time she lay motionless and the jingling music of her was silenced. It, too, was resting.

The Dummy came down the trail and saw her thus and the artist soul of him was stirred and he stood and stared at her. In his mind he painted the picture of her lying there, the graceful curve of her body, the drooping of the hands, the wistfulness of her face which never held that wistfulness in animation. He would paint her so and because he could not speak or hear he was gifted with a mind that carried to the smallest detail the thing he saw so that once seen it was never forgotten and at his call would stand forth so clearly that his fingers could reproduce that which he had seen. In his own heart he knew this but the time of testing had not yet come. It would—too soon.

Consuelo yawned and sat up.

"Hello, my Dummy."

He sat down at her side.

The girl reached into the deep pocket in the folds of the torn wedding skirt and drew forth a handful of coins. She let them run through her fingers into her lap displaying with pride the money she had earned. She counted it then. Six dollars and seventy-eight cents. Three pennies. She picked the pennies up in disgust. They had tossed her pennies. Pennies for the dance that was a part of her very life.

She threw them into the stream and then almost instantly laid the other coins upon the moss and, wading out into the water, picked up the bright coppers. She made a little face at the Dummy and put the pennies back into the pile.

Lovingly she fingered the money. Six dollars and seventy-eight cents. She'd turn over to Girtza a dollar seventy-eight and that would leave her five dollars. Five dollars. With that much she could buy that set of ruby earrings from Gita—Gita was too young to wear such fine earrings. Five dollars all her own, and no one knew about it except the Dummy, and he didn't count. Maybe another five, or more tonight.

She sifted the silver through her fingers and then sorted out the dollar seventy-eight and laid it to one side. She tossed a nickel back into her pile, then a dime and counted it again. She added another dime. A dollar and a half and the contemptible three pennies—that was enough to turn in. She hated to part with that much. Would like to have kept it all, but something was disturbing her conscience, perhaps the memory of Girtza stepping down from the van after he had beaten Anica. She was glad then of the blue marks on her neck. Undoubtedly that was why he had let her wear the skirt and why the whip had not been used again.

She turned to Dummy.

"Why do you suppose papa whipped Anica to-day? Do you think it was just because she tried to choke me or was it because he knows that Anica is in love with Marcu."

The youth shook his head. His lips moved vaguely, but no sound came from them.

"Don't! Oh, my dumb one, you make me want to cry when you do that! Why can't you talk? My darling, you're everything that any girl would want—yet you might as well be dead-" She put her arms around his neck. "Dummy, I love you, I swear I do." Her lips were hidden that he might not see. "I'd go to the end of the world with you if—" her voice broke. "If you could ask me to!"

The warmth of hed soft body, her arms about him, maddened him and he held her to him passionately, his dark eyes desperate. Then almost instantly he released her. His hands fell listlessly to the moss, a futile gesture the girl knew so well.

Blank empty silence between them.

The low whistle sounded through the wood. Once, twice, three times.

"Supper's ready." Consuelo said. She picked up the money, keeping hers separate. The dollar fifty-three jingled in her pocket as she swung along the trail to the camp, the Dummy following, but the rest was wound in her sash, held close against her body. She could feel the warm imprint of the coins against her flesh as she walked. It was good so.

Into the common purse went the few pieces.

"Where is the rest of it, little pig," demanded Girtza.

"That is all," was the reply.

"Give me the rest!"

"That is all," she repeated loudly.

"Now you will not lie to your father!" He reached out and slapped her across the face. "You may lie to the gorgios and cheat them if you can, but with me you will be clever, my young one, or I find you out!" He ran his fingers under her sash and extracted the money. He jingled it in his hand and his black eyes began to twinkle. He held out a dollar to her. "Here, little pig, this is for trying." He pulled her ear and sent her along with a clap on the back and he threw back his head and laughed his great laugh when she turned and stuck out her saucy tongue at him.

Sawed Off Shotgun Carried By Youth

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., April 16 (CP)—Pleading guilty to a charge of having in his possession a sawed-off shotgun capable of being concealed, William Saccone, 19, was sentenced to-day to two years in the Ontario Reformatory. Saccone admitted having been convicted last year of armed robbery at the Montrose Hotel, and was released on parole during October last year. Previously he had been placed on suspended sentence when found guilty of breaking and entering a drug store.

"Because of his age I hesitate to send him to the penitentiary," said the magistrate.

While there may be some prospect of advancement or increased fortunes on this day, according to the mutual aspects of the planets, yet there are likely to be dangers, detriments and difficulties to subdue or regulate. ACID IS YOUR ENEMY

. . . . Get rid of it before IT CAN HARM YOU!

INDIFFERENCE to over-acidity of the stomach can only lead to trouble and suffering. Do not neglect such symptoms as frequent heartburn, acid eructations, gas, "sour" stomach, acid indigestion, etc., for these signify that too much acid is present in the stomach. For immediate relief take Bisurated Magnesia. This preparation, though harmless to either child or adult, neutralizes and absorbs the excess acid.

O.A.C. PRESIDENT DENIES VIOLENCE USED UPON GIRLS

Brands Story Students Removed Visitors' Clothing as "Malicious Fabrication."

HAD NO COMPLAINTS.

GUELPH, April 17. — "Malicious fabrications" was the term applied last night by President G. I. Christie of the Ontario Agricultural College to news stories relating to violence being used on girls on the O.A.C. campus by students last Sunday night.

"I don't like to use the word 'malicious,' but I'm afraid it suits the case," Dr. Christie said last evening. "Whatever may—or may not have happened on the campus, these stories about the girls being man-handled is pure rot."

A group of girls, believed to have come from Kitchener, did congregate near one of the men's residences on the evening in question, Dr. Christie admitted, and were chased away.

Warned Off Campus

"They are supposed to have been calling to students whom they knew,' the President continued, "and it is reported that a group of students warned them off the campus. There is no rule against girls being on the campus, but they are not allowed inside the men's buildings.

"However," he proceeded, "whatever measures were used to persuade the girls to leave, you can quote me as saying definitely and emphatically that they were not mishandled, their clothing was not removed, and they were not treated with any physical violence. There is one report that several of the students threw a quantity of cod-liver oil and mercurochome on one of the girl's dresses, but I have not been able to confirm even that report. There has been no complaint made to me or the police by either the girls or their parents. I am, however, making a full investigation."

Denial in Legislature

Yesterday in the Ontario Legislature a similar denial was made by Hon. Duncan Marshall, Minister of Agriculture, under whose jurisdiction the O.A.C. is operated.

He was informed by Dr. Christie, the Minister told Hon. W. H. Price, in response to a question, that about seventy-five students had chased four girls off the campus, but he was further informed that the girls were not mistreated in any way.

He expected to have a full report of the incident on his desk by today, Mr. Marshall added.

YACHT CLUB LOOKS FOR GOOD SEASON

Will Purchase English Model Dinghies and Four Canoes.

The second annual meeting of the Peterborough Sailing and Aquatic Club was held last evening in the Y.M.C.A. There was a good representation on hand and enthusiasm shown as the club prepared for a bigger year than last. Officers elected were: President, Basil D. Hall; Vice-President, R. E. Cutting; Secretary-Treasurer, L. W. Scott; Executive Committee, which also includes the officers: Gordon S. Mathews, Claude H. Rogers, W. Ross Thompson, Karl A. Duffus, Graham H. Eastwood and Dr. G. Ray Scott.

It was decided to purchase four English model dinghies from the Peterborough Canoe Co., sloop-rigged with Marconi mainsail and also four canoes including a 20-foot one for four paddlers. The club plans to develop canoe paddling and racing and dinghy sailing and racing, enlarging its activities to include canoeing this year. From 70 to 100 members are assured this summer and other interested may obtain information from Mr. Scott, 387 Water Street, phone 204. The club will have 10 dinghies with the four new ones and the season will open toward the end of May.

Members are permitted to take guests out in club boats six times a season, provided these guests live within a radius of 15 miles of Chemong Park. Guests living outside this radius may be taken out any number of times. This club is expected to make rapid strides within a few years owing to the interest by boatmen locally and the ideal water conditions of this district.

FURTHER ELECTIONS IN CHURCH LEAGUE

Lew Agnew Elected Chairman of Executive Committee—Reduce Junior Age Limit.

Len Agnew was re-elected chairman of the executive committee of the Church Softball League at a committee meeting held in the "Y" last evening. Whitty Thirnbeck, Harry Marsh and Don Charlton were also present, the latter being named secretary-treasurer for the fourth term. Don Lewis was added to this committee while a suggested group of four sectional convenors was found impossible as all interested prospective convenors will be busy playing or coaching church teams.

With team organization going rapidly ahead, the opening date for play was set at April 29th and entries are called for next Monday, April 22nd, with the committee meeting Tuesday to arrange schedules. Entry fee for juniors and seniors will be raised to 75 cents a team. This will cover league expenses in supplying balls in final games. Juvenile and bantam sections fee remains at 50 cents.

It was decided to reduce the junior age limit from 21 years to 20 years. This may affect St. Paul's prospective junior teams and force them to change their plans. Another change made was in allowing players to take part in a higher section playoffs without playing a certain number of games with this higher section.

A rule is in force to permit teams to claim games by default if their opponents do not have proper equipment. Teams will be asked to enforce this rule. The umpiring system was not changed but if necessary may be taken up again, especially in the senior section. The league expects a busy two weeks arranging for grounds, collecting entries, etc.

As in other years, the league will be formally opened by members of the Ministerial Association and Boys' Work Board on Monday, April 29th.

MISS DIETRICH IS DISGUSTED

Believes Broadway Needs Mouth Washed Out With Soap.

VIRTUOUS HOLLYWOOD.

HOLLYWOOD, April 17—Marlene Dietrich thinks Broadway needs its mouth washed with soap.

The film actress returned yesterday from a month's vacation in New York and said current Broadway plays left her with that "dark brown taste."

"In comparison with Broadway," she said, "Hollywood is a paradise of virtue. I can't understand why motion pictures are attacked when nothing is done about plays which so flagrantly defy the conventions."

However, Miss Dietrich said she was going right back to New York for another month unless studio executives find a vehicle for her to begin work upon immediately.

She announced she was ready to do a picture under Director Josef von Sternberg in spite of film colony rumors that a breach existed between the actress and her discoverer.

The National Economic Council of China has appropriated about $1,500,000, to be spent this year, for irrigation and flood prevention projects in the interior.

BRITISH TESTING MORE AIR ROUTES

Transport Triplane at R.A.F. Proves Boon to Troubled Eastern Tribes.

HELIOPOLIS, Egypt, April 17.—(CP)—Built to carry 22 heavily armed infantrymen or alternatively a ton or two of supplies, the Victoria, standard heavy transport biplanes of the British Royal Air Force are engaged in exacting test flights over the African and Asiatic hinterlands. Similar machines are detailed to make the annual R.A.F. formation cruise to South Africa, starting from Heliopolis April 24.

Heavy transport planes have not previously flown over the Cairo-Aden route, though smaller British warplanes have made the journey and flying boats have travelled parallel to it over the Red Sea. The object of recent tests is to prove ground organization of the route.

In an earlier form the Victoria was employed in the evacuation of nearly 600 refugees, representing 11 nations, from Kabul during the Afghan civil war of 1928-29. The airplanes were flown from Baghdad to the Indian frontier, from which numerous flights were made over the mountains to the Afghan capital. There was no accident in the course of many difficult journeys over "impossible" country.

Early in 1933, these big planes were called upon to carry to a place of safety nearly 800 women and children in danger because of trouble with the Assyrian population in Iraq. They have also been used for the rapid transport of large bodies of troops. In 1932 a battalion of infantry was moved by Victorias from Cairo to Baghdad at the sign of serious disturbances among Assyrian levies attached to the Iraq forces.

Canadian Prelate Says Church Is For Capitalism

QUEBEC, April 17.—The Roman Catholic Church is in favor of a beneficient capitalism, J. M. Rodrigue Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec, said here Saturday night in addressing a dinner of the Quebec Chambre de Commerce on the union of moral values in business affairs.

The church is a believer in a moral and disciplined capitalism in which the state exercises the role of moderator, Cardinal Villeneuvre told the 400 people who attended the dinner.

Alfred Marois, president of the Chambre de Commerce, presided at the dinner.

Africa's first double-decked bridge has just been dedicated at East London.

CLEANSE your Kidneys

—as well as your house

Just as your household may need Spring cleaning, so your kidneys need similar attention. Winter takes toll of your energy—Spring usually finds you with weakened and impure blood. Healthy kidneys filter the impurities out of your blood—that is their normal function. If they fail, poisons gather and illness follows. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best Spring tonic. They restore the kidneys to normal action. Your system is cleansed and invigorated by a full supply of pure, rich blood. Don't neglect your kidneys.

13 Cities Have Companies Entered in Drama Festival

CANADIAN-WRITTEN PLAYS ARE ENTERED BESSBOROUGH CUP

Dominion Drama Festival First Initiated in 1932.

JUDGE WELL QUALIFIED.

Lord Bessborough Taken Prominent Part in Leading Movement.

By E. B. FARRELL
Central Press Canadian Correspondent

OTTAWA, April 17.—The inexadictable urge of people everywhere for make-believe, for an outlet for self-expression, for opportunity to "play a part", to enter the enummer's magic world has nowhere had a more sigificant development than in Canada during the past three years.

With some trepidation, Lord Bessborough and his helpers initiated the Dominion Drama Festival in 1932. Response was amazing. Even Old Man Depression couldn't dampen enthusiasm for theatricals. In cities, towns and hamlets from St. George's Island to Burrard's Inlet dramatic contests were organized. Less than five months after its launching almost 100 companies were competing in regional contests and when the Dominion Festival took place companies came distance of a 1,000 to 2,500 miles to battle for the National Trophy.

The second year was a greater triumph than the first and this year 125 companies compared with 90 last year took part in regional competitions. Starting Monday, April 22, the Dominion Drama Festival will open in Ottawa. Thirteen cities will be represented in the finals as the result of the elimination contests. They are Halifax, St. John, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Cobourg, Sarnia, London, Windsor, Winnipeg, Regina, Edmonton, and Vancouver.

Allan Wade of London, England, will be the adjudicator and is now on the high seas on his wdy to Canada. The first year Winnipeg won with a brilliant piece of melodrama adjudged the best production by the astute Rupert Harvey; last year J. T. Grein, doyen of British critics and "discoverer" of Bernard Shaw, gave it to Toronto.

Malcolm Morley, also of London, who was the adjucitaor for allt who was the adjudicator for all regional festivals recently concluded won golden opinions in every part of Canada for his fairness, ability and knowledge of the theatre. He has chosen 21 outstanding plays for the final showing.

Will Produce Great Works

Some of the greatest names in modern drama, names like George Bernard Shaw, John Galsworthy, W. B. Yeats, Noel Coward, J. M. Synge and others almost equally well known will be represented in the plays produced. Will Winnipeg repeat and score a second victory within three years? Its entry, "The Bear", to be given by The Masquers Club, must certainly be a strong contender. Toronto, however, the city most keenly devoted to drama in the Dominion, will also be a spirited entry. It would be a triumph, indeed, if "God Caesar", written by a Canadian, Marjorie Price, sister of the Dominion Carilloneur, and presented by the Playmakers' Club ,should "go over the top"; or it might equally well go to one of those other brilliant Queen City offerings, "His Widow's Husband", by Hart House; to "The Poacher", termed a "triumph in tensity", by Mrs. Morley, as presented by the Arts and Letters Club, or to the story of the inimitable Mr. Pepys "And So To Bed", by the Masquers.

From down by the sea are coming two strong contenders in "Vindication", by the Theatre Arts Guild of Halifax, and "The Travelling Man", by St. John Theatre Guild. Across the continent from Vancouver comes a play which those who have seen it say is certain to take high place, Bernard Shaw's scintillating "St. Joan", by the Embassay Players. Then again, the trophy may be annexed this year by a French-language play, two of these coming from Ottawa, and one from the French-Canadians of Edmonton. Gallant little Cobourg, with it sintriguing composition, "Smoke Screens", so highly praised by Mr. Morley, or "Pinocchio", an arresting translation from the Italian, have a chance to down the metropolitan contenders.

In that final decision, no one who, read Mr. Morley's regional summaries will fail also to include Windsor's first entry in a Dramatic Festival, "The Torch Bearers"; London's splendid and unusual offering "St. Simeon Stylites"; Regina's old favorite, "Devil Among the Skins", and "Sendeth Rain", the offering of the Royal Bank players of Montreal.

Judge Highly Trained

The personality of the adjudicator is a paramount factor in a national dramatic festival such as this. He must satisfy the players, the various audiences, give criticism that will be astute, impartial constructive, but not harsh, must have behind him the authority of knowledge, extraordinary mental quickness and long experience in dramatic analysis.

Allan Wade has been associated with the London stage for three decades. He has co-operated in acting, management and production, with people whose names are magical in the world of theatre, with F. R. Benson, Granville Barker, Charles Frohman, Lean Ashwell, George Carr and Raymond Massey.

In the early years of the century as secretary to the brilliant Barker at the Court Theatre, he was no small factor in that effulgent "advance" movement, a movement which consolidated the position of Shaw, and gallantly gambled on the first plays of Galeworthy, Masefield and St. John Hankin. In constant touch with these authors and their work he learnt much from watching the directing work of Barker at close quarters. He was with Frohman when he made a heroic attempt to establish a permanent reportory theatre in London; rejoined Barker for several years; acted as manager for the Lena Ashwell Theatre in Paris and later became secretary of the Incorporated Stage Society of London.

Two of Mr. Wade's most outstanding achievements were his founding, with three associates, of the Phoenix Society for the production of old English plays and his discovery of the work of C. K. Munro, perhaps the most thoughtful and profound of the younger English dramatists. He directed nearly all the production of the Phoenix, which included the four great Ben Johnson comedies and plays by Marlowe, Beaumont and Fletcher, Webster, Dryden, Wycherley and Congreve. Most of these plays had not been seen in the theatre within living memory and the work of the society had much influence in drawing attention to the neglected treasures of dramatic literature. Munro, of whom Bernard Shaw has said, "he has made me a back number," had all his first five plays, including his masterpiece, "The Rumour", produced by Mr. Wade, who, following this achievement, was responsible for introducing the work of the great Italian dramatism, Pirandello, to the English-speaking theatre.

Governor-General's Last

It will be the last festival to be conducted under the auspices of His Excellency The Earl of Bessborough, but those interested in drama feel confident that John Buchan, M.P., governor-general-designate, being himself one of the Empire's greatest writers, will take just as keen interest in the development of this work as its distinguished and enthusiastic initiator.

Besides Marjorie Price's effort, "God Caesar" three other plays by Canadian authors will be seen at the Festival. They are, "Bon Sang Ne Ment Pas," by Emma Morrier, vehicle of the Joachim Dramatic Club of Edmonton; "And Sendeth Rain", by P. N. Jacobson of Montreal; and "To The Dead Man", by K. W. Edge of Toronto.

In addition to their chance for the Bessoborugh Trophy, all these four plays will be eligible to win the $10 prize for the best play presented in any regional festival, written by a Canadian.

WHEN TRAPPED WILDCAT FOUGHT LIKE A WILDCAT

SAINT JOHN, N.B., April 17 (C.P.)—Killing a 34-pound wildcat wasn't so easy for Archie Copp, of Quispamsis.

Copp set some traps after he noticed the cat following him, and the next day found the animal caught by four toes of one paw. Seizing a club, he went into battle.

"The large animal made such ferocious jumps in my direction that I didn't know in which second that caught paw would break free and leave me facing an animal that had nothing in its mind but to kill," said Copp.

"Two feet of the chain attached to the trap were still frozen in the snow, and it looked as if at any time the animal might tear this loose and give himself more leeway. The trap was under some thick trees, and I had to crawl in under the limbs, which did not give me much room.

Every time I moved, the cat would leap toward me. Finally by a lucky blow across its nose I managed to stun the wildcat and then quickly despatched it."

NOT TIRED OF MOVIE COLONY SAYS DIETRICH

Present Contract Calls for Two More Pictures to be Made Within Year.

LEAVES FOR HOLLYWOOD

By EDYTHE DIXON

CHICAGO, April 17.—"Always these newspaper people ask the same questions." That, my friends, is the greeting we poor mortals who had rushed eagerly down to the train to interview here received from Marlene Dietrich of the movies.

While we concentrated on thinking up a quick reply that would prove to Miss Dietrich that we're really possessed of considerable ingenuity at thinking up questions, she was whisked into a circle of photographers and our opportunity was lost—for even the boldest of newspaper women is a little timid about shouting in a railway station. You know how terrific the echo is.

Still nursing our disappointment that we hadn't been able to redeem ourselves in the eyes of the glamorously beautiful screen star, we strolled over to watch the lovely Marlene pose for pictures.

Graciously, but with no show of interest, she posed as directed, in truly professional manner. The instant the last picture was shot, she hastened away, declining to say how she'd spend her time between trains.

Dramatically effective, Miss Dietrich's costume was in exquisite taste. A vivid green felt hat and scarf, worn with a tailored gray suit, black gloves and shoes that combined gray doeskin with black patent, provided stunning color accents. Over her suit she wore a luxurious mink coat, slightly mannish in cut, and in her arms she carried an enormous bunch of long-stemmed talisman roses.

Miss Dietrich, who accompanied her husband, Rudolph Sieber, to New York about a month ago when he sailed for France where he is a moving picture director, has been vacationing in the East. Now she's on her way back to Hollywood—and work. Not for a least a year does she propose to quit the film capital, explaining, in that low, throaty whisper of hers:

"My contract calls for two pictures, to be made within a year. I have no plans beyond that. I am not tired of Hollywood. I love it."

An Inventor

NEW YORK, April 16 (C.P.)—Abraham Lincoln, rail splitter and one time United States President, was also an inventor. He devised a system of legs to enable a vessel to walk over shoals. The invention got through the patent officer, but the records fail to show it ever got a ship through shallows.

William Groundwater of Rendell, aged 106 and oldest inhabitant of the Orkney Islands, says he feels about 60 and "could walk 10 miles a day if I liked."

OAK TREE BUDS SIGN OF SPRING GARDENERS TOLD

"Dick the Amateur Gardener" Addresses Horticultural Society.

BREEZY MANNER.

Remove Wrapping From Roots Before Planting Roses.

"When I see buds on the oak tree I know that warm weather is on the way," said R. F. Gunnell of Hamilton in a practical address on gardening at a public meeting of the Horticultural Society in the Public Library auditorium Monday night.

"They call it the wise old oak, and believe me that is true. But it is different with the soft maple which deserves its name, too. With a few warm days in the Spring the soft maple begins sending out its buds ahead of time. Then comes a cold spell and the ground is strewn with yellow shoots nipped by the frost."

"Dick the Amateur Gardener," as Mr. Gunnell is known over CKOC provided an interesting evening for a fairly numerous audience, but the pithy value of his cursory talk on various phases of gardening merited at least a capacity crowd. In a manner that was breezier than the method of address by most lecturers on things horticultural, Mr. Gunnell ranged over a wide field of topics from rock gardens to war onion and carrot maggots, and from the planting and care of rose bushes to the handling of dahlias, peonies, tulips, delphiniums and so on.

Mr. Gunnell illustrated his pruning practice on specimens of shrubs and bushes, cutting out the dead and damaged woods, leaving outside buds, reducing the branches to balance the roots, and at the same time thinning out the centre of the bush. Persons who are inexperienced in growing roses should first be warned of the necessity of removing the wrapping from the roots. Then when they dig the hole for planting, too often they make the roots fit the hole, instead of enlarging it to provide more space for the roots to spread.

Mr. Gunnell suggested that the earth at the bottom of the hole should be hilled up in a little mound on which the central stalk rests, the roots being free to find their natural course downward.

In regard to carrot and onion maggots and other soil pests, Mr. Gunnell said that in the first place the seed was planted too thickly. Then when the young vegetables were weeded out the vacant holes were left as convenient places into which the carrot fly dropped eggs all along the row, and within easy reach of the carrots, onions, radishes, that were left to mature. Mr. Gunnell recommended that the gardener take a two gallon pail of sand or grass clipped from the lawn, mix a pint of coal oil through it, and scatter the mixture between the rows of vegetables.

To rid the soil of such pests including wire worms that attack potatoes, Mr. Gunnell also suggested the use of carbon bisulphide. Holes are made twelve inches deep and about the circumference of the handle of a garden fork, and about seven feet apart. A teaspoon of the carbon bisulphide is dropped into each hole. A garden 40 feet by 100 feet can be treated at a cost of only twenty-five cents.

For the wintering of delphiniums "Dick the Gardener" quoted the practice of a successful grower who covers each plant with a little mound of ashes to keep out moisture and prevent the destructive heaving by frost in the Spring. Outside the ring of ashes a shallow trench is made in a circle and is filled with wood ashes and bone meal. The grower told Mr. Gunnell that she had never lost a delphinium by that method.

Hot Dog! All Must Be Thoroughbreds

WASHINGTON, April 16. — The government paused to-day to aid the lowly hot dog. People in Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington now are assured that when they order one it will be "uniform in length and thickness, firm and resilient," without a wrinkle, and with "an attractive dark-wine color," according to new United States standards.

the only way to deal with the birds would be with poison gas but that was dangerous.

Prof. L. J. Rogers of the University of Toronto opposed use of gas in the city as the "casualty list among humans would probably be greater than among the starlings."

Huey Long Is Moving To Cripple Enemies

BATON ROUGE, La., April 17 (AP)—Senator Huey P. Long's session of the Legislature moved behind soldiers' guns today to speed passage of more than a score of measures designed to strengthen his power and cripple his enemies.

High-lighted in the calendar were proposed acts and resolutions to place in the hands of Long's administration the finances of all local governing agencies and give him control over expenditure of funds obtained by them from the Federal government.

Long's National Guardsmen enforcing martial law here since Jan. 26, shouldered riot guns and automatic rifles before the heavy bronze doors of the House and Senate Chambers in the $5,000,000 skyscraper State House.

London to Spend $165,000 in Festivities, Mostly in Benefits.

AID TO CHILDREN

LONDON, April 17.—(CP)—Plans of the London county council for the London celebrations of the King's Silver Jubilee indicate the county council proposes to spend $165,000 on the festivities, most of it for the benefit of people in hospitals and institutions and the school children.

The council's employees are to receive a day's holiday with pay on Jubilee Day, May 6, the general national holiday. In addition to the general public holiday elementary school children in London may be given two extra halfday holidays.

In public assistance institutions all inmates will be entertained May 6 with special fare, while recipients of outdoor relief will be granted an additional two shillings for each adult and one shilling for each child.

The London county council will also take its part in the general celebrations. The county hall will be floodlit during the celebrations, firefloats will pump floodlit jets of water. Even the Woolwich ferry boats will be flag-dressed. Facilities will be afforded for bonfires and fetes in the parks.

JUSTICE McEVOY LAID TO REST

TORONTO, April 17 (CP)—Prominent associates of the Bench and Bar were present to-day at the funeral services and interment in Mount Pleasant Cemetery of the late Hon. John Millar McEvoy, K.C., Justice of the High Court Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario, who died last Saturday, aged 71.

Rev. Stanley Russel, pastor of Deer Park United Church, where the late Justice worshipped for the last seven years, officiated at the services at the residence and later at the church.

"MAPLE LEAF" GOT THE CREDIT!

• Maple Leaf Truck Blazes Trail to Sault Ste. Marie . . . Bucks Snow and Floods Leaving Others Stranded on Way

AS THE Sault Ste. Marie Star points out, no silk hats await the truck drivers who open up "spring navigation" along Canada's highways and by-ways. But just as exciting as any sailor's yarn are the feats some of these men can tell about.

Take the case of S. J. Walsh of the Bluebird Orchards, for example. Defying March snow, ice and floods, he started out for Sault Ste. Marie from Newcastle, Ontario — a trip of more than 600 hazardous miles.

Fifty-six barrels of apples were on the platform of his Maple Leaf heavy duty truck, yet the powerful two-tonner made the grade all the way in "apple pie" style. There was not a single breakdown—not even a pause for a minor adjustment. They didn't add any oil to the crankcase—it didn't need it. They got exceptional mileage to the gallon of gasoline.

Read what the "Soo" newspaper has to say about this record-smashing trip. Then drop in at our showrooms. Get the facts about Maple Leaf Heavy Duty Trucks—facts which prove that breaking records, like making profits, is all in the life of a Maple Leaf Truck owner.

TRUCK GETS HERE FROM TORONTO

There was no harbormaster with a silk hat awaiting S. J. Walsh and two companions when they landed in the Sault today, but their arrival perhaps rates as much fanfare as that of the first steamer each spring.

It marked the first motor communication with Southern Ontario this season and probably set something of a record also, for it is doubtful if any truck or passenger car has previously managed to negotiate the length of the Trunk Road before April 1.

Walsh, owner of the Bluebird Orchards at Newcastle, 40 miles east of Toronto, with Walter Couch and Irving Goldstein, managed to barge through to the Sault with a two-ton truck.

Between Victoria Mines and Nairn there is a foot of water on the road with promise of even more extensive flooding.

The stretch from Blind River to Thessalon took the trail blazers a full day.

"They told us at Blind River we'd never get through," Walsh said. "There were half a dozen trucks hung up there waiting. I called them up from Thessalon and gave them the laugh."

From Iron Bridge in to Thessalon proved the most difficult portion of this stretch. Unused by cars this winter, this part of the Trunk Road had previously been traversed only by sleighs. Bucking the less than 40 miles of drifts took eight solid hours, from eight o'clock in the morning to four in the afternoon, after the truck had left Blind River at six o'clock in the morning.

The last lap of the journey, from Thessalon to the Sault, took from six o'clock this morning to noon.

More Humane Methods Advocated by British Animal Welfare Leader.

$5,000 IN EXPERIMENTS

CAPE TOWN, April 17.—(CP).—Advocating mechanical means for the slaughtering of animals as more humane and more satisfactory than the knife in human hands, G. R. Shelvoke, a leading figure in animal welfare circles in England recently toured the abbatoirs of South Africa.

Mr. Shelvoke spoke of the progress of electrocution devices for abbatoirs and described the electro-lethal method of rendering the animal insensible by a series of low tension alternating current shocks. This was being practised in Britain with varying results.

"Even today authorities in England are not in agreement whether the electricity causes unconsciousness or merely a general paralysis which makes it impossible for the animal to give expression to its pain," Mr. Shelvoke said. "The Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has spent $5,000 on experiments to prove what the position really is, but has reached no final conclusion."

AMENDING B.N.A. ACT IS FEDERAL, PROVINCIAL JOB

Telegrams to Ottawa From Various Attorneys General Favor Conference.

URGE DOMINION PLAN FIRST

OTTAWA, April 17.—(CP)—The matter of amending the British North America Act is one for discussion between the Dominion and the Provinces, according to various provincial Attorneys General, telegrams from who were read today to the parliamentary committee considering the B.N.A. Act.

The provincial administrators believed the Dominion should formulate its plan first and then submit it to the provincial authorities, after which a conference would ensue.

Premier L. A. Taschereau of Quebec wired:

"Surely the committee cannot expect that the views of the Province of Quebec will be discussed by an exchange of telegrams or letters. In a matter of such importance I suggest that a conference of the Dominion and Provinces should be held."

Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island favored a conference.

General Conference

"The question of what, if any, provision is to be made for amendment of the Canadian constitution from time to time," said Hon. T. C. Davis, Attorney General for Saskatchewan, "is one which ultimately must be decided by conferences between the governments of the provinces and the government of Canada with the possibility of a previous preliminary inter-provincial conference. In view of this fact it would appear to be unwise for the provinces to be giving their views before a committee of the House of Commons."

Mr. Davis suggests the commitee make its report to the House and that this report be made available to the provinces.

Hon. W. A. Major, for Manitoba, declared he would submit his recommendations after prorogation of the Provincial Legislature.

New Brunswick declared that a brief would be submitted to the committee after adjournment.

The Province of Ontario had not yet replied to the committee's request for provincial views, said Chairman P. W. Turnbull.

"I Notice the Difference in this Tissue"

"I'M not a chemist nor a paper expert, but I can tell the difference between Northern Tissue and other bathroom papers I have bought. Northern is so white and so soft. It seems more like cleansing tissue. And I like the way it comes all completely wrapped."

You, also, can easily compare toilet tissues. Get a roll of Northern Tissue and actually compare it with the bathroom paper you are now using—for whiteness, for softness, for absorbency. Then remember that Northern Tissue is sterilized for absolute safety.

PASSENGER SERVICE HAS BEEN BADLY CURTAILED BY C.N.R. IN PETERBORO

Gaps and Omissions in Time-table Not Conductive to Success.

ESPECIALLY GOING EAST

Recent discussion of the railway passenger service out of Peterborough directed attention to the time tables of the two lines operating through this city. Perusal of the schedules affords information, already known, which suggests to those who are concerned about the future of the C.N.R. certain gaps and omissions that are not conducive to its success in the local area.

Service for the public of Peterborough has been reduced on both railways, and a glance at the time tables affords an interesting comparison of the present and rather disquietin accommodation, especially to the east, with the more numerous trains of a few years ago before the depression and the automobile cut in on railway patronage.

First Train of Day

The first C.N.R. train of the day arrives here from Belleville at 8.56 a.m. and goes through to Toronto, via Lindsay, reaching the western terminus at 12.15 p.m. The old southbound morning trains to Port Hope and Belleville have been discontinued for so long now that they are hardly a memory.

At noon, 12.15 p.m., the passenger train from Toronto goes through to Port Hope, arriving there at 1.15 p.m. West bound passengers have to wait until 3.37 p.m. at Port Hope for a Toronto connection. There is no train going east through Port Hope until 4.07 p.m. It is due in Belleville at 5.20 p.m., and passengers proceeding beyond that city have to wait there until 6.05 p.m. for a fast train which reaches Montreal at 10.30 p.m.

The next train into Peterborough leaves Port Hope at 4.10 p.m. and arrives here at 5.05 p.m.. It goes through to Toronto, but provides no connection at Blackwater Junction for Orillia and northern Ontario, a former service that has been cancelled. Passengers for the north have to go by way of Toronto.

The last train through Peterborough arrives at 8.20 p.m. and reaches Belleville at 10.30. Passengers for Montreal have to wait at Belleville until 12.26 p.m., reaching the eastern city at 6.30 a.m. There is no local means of connection at Port Hope with the 10.57 a.m. east bound train on the lakeshore line which reaches Montreal at 5.15 p.m.

The first westbound train through Port Hope is at 5.39 a.m., arriving from Montreal. From then until 3.37 p.m. the westbound schedule is a blank.

The C.P.R. Trains

The C.P.R. schedule is more compact, especially between here and Toronto.

The day's first train through Peterborough on the C.P.R. leaves Toronto at 11.35 p.m., is due here at 1.35 a.m. and reaches Ottawa at 7.45 a.m.. An immediate connection in the capital at 7.50 a.m. is provided for passengers going to Montreal where they arrive at 12.05 p.m.

The second train leaves Toronto at 9 a.m., is due here at 11.15 a.m., and arrives in Montreal at 8.20 p.m.

The last train of the day is the "local" leaving Toronto at 5.10 p.m., and arriving at its destination here at 7.60 o'clock

The west bound trains are quite familiar to the travelling public. The first one leaves here at 5.15 a.m. arriving in Toronto at 7.20 a.m.; the second leaves at 7.20 a.m. (the local), and reaches Toronto at 9.45 a.m.; and the afternoon train from the east arriving here at 3.50 p.m. is due in Toronto at 6.15 p.m.

PICTURES ON UPGRADE, SAYS MAJOR WARNER

Sharp Improvement in Hollywood's Big Industry is Evident.

VISITS MOVIE COLONY

CHICAGO, April 17.—That the moving picture industry is definitely on the upgrade is the statement made recently by Maj. Albert Warner of Warner Bros., who was in town between trains en route to Hollywood from New York. He said:

"The major studios are turning out better pictures than they've ever turned out before and the result is a sharp improvement in business."

Maj. Warner said that his chief reason for visiting the film colony at this time is to look into the production of "Page Miss Glory," the new Marion Davies picture, which he declares will be a sensation.

"Work on 'Page Miss Glory' is progressing marvelously and I've had such remarkable reports on it that I felt I had to get out of Hollywood and see it," Maj. Warner said.

Concerning rumors that several of the leaders in the motion picture industry would move their studios outside California because of the state income tax measures just passed by the Legislature, Maj. Warner said:

"It's too early to predict what we will find it wisest to do. The tax, however, seems to me not to be healthy either for the state or for individual interests. It will take some time to see just what we should do."

THIS MUST STOP!

In Ontario, during 1934, there were nearly 10,000 automobile accidents.

512 people were killed

8,990 people were injured

...a considerable increase over 1933. It must be evident to all thinking people that this must stop.

Hon. T. B. McQUESTEN, Minister of Highways.

SUPPOSE THIS HAD BEEN YOUR CHILD!

The number of children killed and injured by automobiles in Ontario is appalling!

Children by nature are carefree. You must think for them, and for other pedestrians, constantly. Be sure your brakes, tires and lights are effective. Drive slowly and be particularly careful wherever there may be children... especially on holidays and week-ends. Train yourself so that safe driving becomes second nature to you.

If you don't, some day you may find yourself not only severely penalized but also minus a driver's license —for life!

AUTO TRADE IS GAINING FAST

U. S. Volume Heaviest of All Time During Past Five Years.

DEMAND IS STRONG

DETROIT, April 17.—The nation's No. 1 industrial colossus, the motor car industry, is in high gear. In haulaway trucks, in freight cars and in driveaway processions the product of the assembly lines is moving from factory to dealer and on to consumer in heavier volume than at any time during the last five years.

Demand Increasing

Gaining momentum steadily under the impetus of a swelling consumer demand, the industry has assembled more than 1,313,000 passenger cars and trucks since January 1. Within the next ten days it will have covered only 16 weeks of 1935, but will have produced as many units as were manufactured in all of 1932. Output for that year, lowest point in the depression, was 1,431,-000 cars and trucks.

Current production is close to 20,-000 passenger cars and trucks a day, and probably is near the year's manufacturing peak. Nowhere, however, is there any indication of a recession in manufacturing activity, nor a curtailment of buyer interest.

Unfilled Orders

One of the factors on which executives base their present outlook on the industry—the most optimistic they have held during the last five years—is that almost since the beginning of the year, consumer demand has absorbed a great percentage of the output, leaving nearly every factory with an accumulation of unfilled orders. New car registrations for the first quarter of the current year show that close to half of the assemblies have been moved on to buyers.

Leading producers generally admit that current activity exceeds their earlier expectations; they anticipated a first quarter output of 1,000,000 units to compare with 749,-502 units a year ago. Actual production for the first three months was 1,096,563 cars and trucks. They expected on January 1 that the year's aggregate production in the United States and Canada would total 3,200,000 units against 2,885,000 in 1934. The total for 1935 is more likely to aggregate 3,800,000 units.

To Rush New Models

Following seasonal traditions, there will be a tapering off in both manufacturing and merchandising volume after mid-year, but there are few if any authorities in the industry who expect it to be of very sizeable proportions. As soon as marked recession of interest in current types develops, the industry will be ready to swing over into the production of next year's models. The fact that the New York automobile show date has been fixed for the first week in November this year is taken as evidence that the bulk of 1936 model work will get under way around October 1, as agreed upon by members of the Automobile Manufacturers' Association. If this new model activity spreads over the industry at that time, the aggregate output for 1935 might easily touch 4,000,000 units.

PELEE ISLAND BILL SANCTIONED

Council Will be Authorized to Issue License for Pheasant Hunting.

FISH, GAME BILL UP

TORONTO, April 17 (C.P.)—History of pheasants on Pelee Island was outlined to the Ontario Legislature Game and Fish Committee by D. J. Taylor, Deputy Minister of Game and Fisheries, yesterday when aproval was given to a bill of L. P. Wigle, (Lib. Essex South) to provide for issuance by the island council of pheasant shooting licenses during the period in which shooting is permitted.

Six pair of pheasants were placed there in 1927 and the number increased greatly, said Mr. Taylor. After consulting with resident, the department decided on a $3 fee for hunting pheasants there last fall. The department also agreed to purchase any surplus birds remaining after last fall's hunt but the island had none.

"These birds which three months before had been eating them ragged had turned into an asset," said Mr. Taylor.

The bill provides a closed season partment will fix the fee to be charged by the island council.

Fish, Game Changes

The committee then turned to the lengthy bill amending the Fish and Fisheries Act.

The bill provides a closed season for beaver and otter, changes the open season for taking wild ducks and geese in northern Ontario from the present period of Sept. 1 to Dec. 15 to a new period of Sept. 15 to Nov. 30.

In southern Ontario this season for wild ducks and geese will be Oct. 1 to Nov. 30 instead of Sept. 15 to Dec. 15.

The bill permits use of dogs in hunting deer but allows only one dog to four hunters. No police dog may be used in deer hunting.

FINDS MOTHERS MORE TOLERANT

Social Worker Says Fathers Not so Likely to Adjust Themselves.

DUBLIN, April 17.—(CP)—While public houses here and there were closing down, gambling was on the increase and the hospitals sweepstakes were insinuating the habit into thousands of homes hitherto immune from the demoralizing pursuit, declares a report adopted by the Dublin Synod of the Presbyterian Church in Ireland.

Multitudes of their people, said the report, saw no harm "in putting 10 shillings into a sweep ticket." It would not be very long before they saw no harm in putting the same amount on a racing horse or a running dog. The Presbyterian Church wished for sterner legislation in connection with gambling and drink and it would be a help if a law were passed prohibiting young girls from entering public houses after 6 p.m. as there was far too much drinking by young girls.

It was decided to forward the recommendations to the Free State government.

FORTY-ONE BETHESDA MEMBERS GUESTS OF ROSENEATH Y.P.S.

Entertaining Program Given By Members of Visiting Society.

MISSIONARY TOPIC

ROSENEATH, April 17 (Examiner Correspondence). — A delightful time was spent in the Town Hall on Wednesday evening when the Young People's Society had as their guests forty-one members of the Young People's Society of Bethesda, near Harwood. Misses Ruby Blodgett, Rosella Taylor, and Beatrice Sandercock made the hall very home-like in their decorations with house plants, etc., all giving a dainty touch of spring.

Through the absence of the president, Miss Clara Neiman, the gathering was called to order by the vice-president, Miss Florence Macklin, who voiced her pleasure of having the honor to welcome the young people from another circuit, yet all were the one society and doing the same work. After the opening hymn prayer and brief address, Miss Macklin gave over the program to Miss Ina Rosevear, president of the Bethesda Y.P.S., and who responded nicely to the address of welcome, and followed with the worship call, reading three verses of a hymn.

Joe Walker read the Scripture lesson from St Matthew 25, 34 to 40. A reading by Mrs. McLean and prayer by Miss Rosevear. A short drama along missions and missionaries was dramatized in "Missionary Work in India. A young India boy was taken splendid by Master Jack Patch, while Miss Dora O'Connell was most original in her manner as a missionary returned from India.

A prayer was given for the people of India.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith favored the gathering with a vocal number; Mrs. Alex. Merriam gave the current events. Miss Elma Harper, a piano solo; a reading by Miss D. O'Connell and a duet by Mrs. Isaac and Mrs. Lawton, "Beautiful Ohio."

This part of the meeting was closed and Miss Rosevear introduced Mrs. E. Drope, who proceeded with the recreation period. Addressing the audience for a few moments, Mrs. Drope mentioned that visiting the various leagues in the different communities deeply impresses one with the spirit of unity in our Young People's Society. That our coming together in this way will be a benefit to each and all of us and may this evening only be the beginning of many more social meetings of this nature.

The remainder of the evening was spent in games and contests. The closing number was a contest put on by Mrs. Ednel Blodgett of Roseneath, "Things Found on a Watch," and followed with singing "Blest be the tie that binds," and repeating the Mizpah benediction.

Delicious refreshments were served and a social time spent in chat and laughter.

U.S. ATTORNEY IS DENOUNCED

High Court Declares His Work is to See "Justice Done."

CONVICTION UPSET

WASHINGTON, April 17.—In a scathing denunciation of a United States attorney in New York, the supreme court asserted yesterday that the function of the prosecution is not to win a case but to see that "justice shall be done."

These statements were made by the court in setting aside the conviction and year and a day sentence of Harry Berger of Brooklyn, N.Y., on charges of conspiracy to counterfeit notes of the Dallas and Chicago federal reserve banks.

Berger was tried in the federal district court for eastern New York and the conviction was upheld by the second circuit court of appeals.

Without mentioning the name of the prosecuting officer, the court said he was "guilty of misconduct" and "over-stepped the bounds of that propriety and fairness which should characterize the conduct of such an officer in the prosecution of a criminal offense."

"The United States attorney," the court said, "is the representative not of an ordinary party to a controversy, but of a sovereignty... Whose interest, therefore, in a criminal prosecution is not that it shall win a case, but that justice shall be done.

"As such, he is in a peculiar and very definite sense the servant of the law, the two-fold aim of which is that guilt shall not escape or innocence suffer. He may prosecute with earnestness and vigor—indeed, he should do so."

FINED $25 FOR SLINK VEAL

LONDON, Ont., April 17.—(CP)—Harry Jackson, North Dorchester butcher, to-day was convicted by County Magistrate C. W. Hawkshaw of having a quantity of "sling" veal in his possession and was fined $25 and costs.

HOLLYWOOD, April 17. — Leo McCarey, who directed "Ruggles of Red Gap" called up Charles Laughton in London the other night to tell him how well his picture was doing.

Joan Crawford

Laughton, who was pleased over the courtesy, broke in with excitement to announce he had just found another story for them to do together and proceeded to outline it, at transatlantic toll rates, for 10 minutes. Then he asked "Well, how do you like the story?"

The director answered, "At these prices, it drags a little!"

SEEKS OWNER OF LOST PUPPY

Frank Mitchell is Adopted by Dog on Saturday Night.

PREFERS BEDROOM

WINDSOR, April 17.—Maybe he got mad and left home because he wasn't invited to the dog show. At any rate, Saturday night, a pup who doesn't seem to be strictly a thoroughbred scratched at the door of Frank J. Mitchell. He took to the former commissioner like a duck takes to water. Mr. Mitchell said that the pup, which appears to be a wire haired terrier, has made himself perfectly at home, and so far as withstood all attempted eviction proceedings. He is evidently some child's pet and has been trained to do various tricks. He seems to prefer the bedroom and refuses to sleep anywhere else. Mr. Mitchell has called up every resident within two blocks but so far no one has come forward to admit ownership. "If the owner isn't found pretty soon, I'm going to form such an attachment for him, that I won't be able to let him go," Mr. Mitchell warned.

IRELAND SPURTS IN SHOE MAKING

Free State Now Has 3,000 in Industry as Compared With 850 in 1924.

By JOSEPH DENNIGAN
Canadian Press Correspondent

DUBLIN, April 17.—(CP)—Expansion of the boot and shoe industry of the Irish Free State during the past few years was shown in a paper read before the Statistical and Social Inquiry Society of Ireland.

Whereas in 1924 there were six factories employing 850 persons, there are now 16 factories operating in the Free State providing work for 3,000 employees. Nine of the factories are in Leinster, four in County Louth, six in Munster and one in County Monaghan.

Between 1924 and 1930 production rose from seven per cent of the Free States total requirements to 14 per cent. Since then the number of pairs of boots and shoes produced in the country has increased to 1,912,000 compared with 1,747,000 imported last year.

Imports fell from $8,670,000 in 1927 to $3,510,000 in 1934 but while actual production of the home factories was 1,903,000 pairs last year, it is estimated that existing factories are capable of producing 2,783,000 pairs.

Owing to the reluctance of Irish investors at the outset, many of the existing factories were erected by British firms who brought skilled operatives from Northampton to train local workers. The absence of tanneries in the Free State makes it necessary to import the greater part of the raw materials though the Free State is a large producer of hides and skins.

Imported boots and shoes are now subject to a scale of tariffs ranging from 20 per cent to 60 per cent as well as very stringest quota restrictions. Within the last two months, a factory has started the making of infants' footwear, all of which has hitherto been imported.

BEWAILS MANNERS OF SOME SMOKERS

Male Observer Says Equal Rights Should Mean Equal Courtesy.

TORONTO, April 17. — (CP)— Somebody should open a school to teach women and girls smoking manners, writes a man-about-town to The Canadian Press.

"Mind you, I am not objecting to women smoking", he declares. "That's their own business and they have and apparently enjoy equal rights with men in this field.

"At the same time I suggest the enjoyment of smoking by the fair sex should be accompanied by the courtesies expected of men. For instance, why should a woman blow smoke into one's face at meals? Frequently she takes a chair in a restaurant or perches on a stool at a lunch counter, powders her nose, digs out a cagiratte and puffs away without the slightest regard for the tastes of her neighbor indulging at the moment in a salad or a bowl of soup."

The writer asks if anyone ever heard of women inquiring before lighting up whether other people present had any objection to their smoking.

"If equal rights mean anything," he goes on, "they should mean equality in manners, too. In the old days when a young male upstart dared to smoke in the presence of the opposite sex without asking their leave he was soundly cuffed by an indignant oldster for his rudeness. If this rule worked both ways the restaurants and other public places would resound with the smacking of fair cheeks these modern days."

Chorley Park Is Up For Sale By Ontario

ADEQUATE OFFER PURCHASES IT HEPBURN SAYS

Only Enough Money Voted to Maintain Lieutenant-Governor's Residence in "Idleness."

AFTER OCTOBER 31.

Premier Sticks to Position Despite Bitter Attack By Conservatives.

TORONTO, April 18.—(CP) — Chorley Park, official residence of the lieutenant-governor, the king's representative in Ontario, is for sale.

While there are no "for sale" signs on the spacious lawns of the Government House in Rosedale, whose present incumbent is Hon. Dr. Herbert A. Bruce, Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn early today declared if an adequate offer was made for the place, it would be accepted.

His statement came during discussion of estimates in the legislature after it was announced from Oct. 31, the Ontario Government will vote only enough money to maintain Chorley Park in "idleness", and if the lieutenant-governor wishes to remain there and provide the balance of the expenditure, it rests with his excellency.

Although Conservatives fought the move bitterly, Premier Hepburn did not alter his position. He stated in Nova Scotia the lieutenant-governor had no official residence; Alberta had decided to discontinue maintenance of its lieutenant-governor's home; and similar action was contemplated in Manitoba.

DUST BOWL AREA GETS LIGHT RAIN

Fall However is Far Short of Amount Needed to Revive Crops.

SCHOOLS STAY CLOSED.

KANSAS CITY, April 18 (CP.).—Farmers and stockmen of the United States dust bowl looked hopefully to-day for a share of the spring rains which were falling on nearly all sides of the sector.

Light showers and sprinkles invaded scattered parts of the affected area, but the fall was far short of the amount needed to settle the dust and supply moisture with which to start spring crops and revive the grass lands. Over most of the sector—embracing parts of Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico and Colorado—a dust haze still lingered along with tantalizing clouds.

In Morton County, Kansas, the standing order was:

"No rain, no school."

Acting upon the request of parents, who feared that school buses might be stranded in the storms, school boards announced schools would not be reopened until it rains.

Meanwhile, State and Federal officials hurried through a survey of the stricken areas.

HEATED PROTEST FROM GERMANY IS HELD SECRET

Hitler's Resentment to British Arms Stand Couched in Strongest Possible Language.

PARIS HAILS LAVAL.

Nazi Circles Charge Simon Drew Germans Out to Get Cards on Table.

By Melvin K. Whiteleather

BERLIN, April 18.—(AP)—A British embassy spokesman revealed today Reichsfuehrer Hitler had sent Great Britain a diplomatic note which he described as "a sizzler," although he declined to divulge the note's contents.

He said the note, clothed in the strongest possible language, was relayed to Sir Eric Phipps, British ambassador, from Hitler through Konstantin Von Neurath, German foreign minister, yesterday.

The central argument expressed was said to be yesterday's action by the League of Nations council condemning German rearmament positively means the end of any talk of Germany returning to the League.

Resents Britain's Stand.

It is known Hitler resents Great Britain's action in siding with France and Italy. German circles saying he was led to believe Great Britain would stick to her role of mediator. These sources said Hitler felt strongly Great Britain had departed from this role in ranging herself on the side of France and Italy, following the conversations here betweeen himslf and the British statesmen, Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, and Capt. Anthony Eden, Lord Privy Seal.

In foreign office quarters, resentful remarks were made to the effect Sir John merely drew the Germans out and got them to lay their cards on the table.

Laval Given Welcome.

PARIS, April 18.—(CP-Havas).—Foreign Minister Pierre Laval arrived to-day on the crest of a wave of popularity for his strong stand against German re-armament at Geneva and Stresa.

"It was a brilliant success for France and for Foreign Minister Laval to have obtained the moral condemnation of Germany," the Petit Parisien said.

Le Matin observed, "We must admit a good point for Poland in rallying to the views of Great Britain, France and Italy. Perhaps we can see the renewal of the Franco-Polish alliance which was lapsed into lethargy for some time."

His brother Mario flew out on the scheduled trajectory with the greatest of ease.

Hugo was dragged out, weeping and half suffocated by the property smoke released when the property boom is sounded. Otherwise he was unhurt.

OTTAWA HOTEL SWEPT BY FIRE 4 MEN INJURED

Cook Suffers Fractured Skull in Leap After Lowering His Friend.

$20,000 DAMAGE

Several Score Forced to Street in Night Attire—Firemen Scorched.

OTTAWA, April 18. (CP).—Hans Hauck, 34-year-old German pastry cook, died in hospital to-day from injuries suffered early to-day when he jumped from the third storey of the Savoy Hotel during a fire that gutted the building.

OTTAWA, April 18.—(CP)—Fire sweeping through the Savoy Hotel on Rideau street, in the uptown section of Ottawa, early today resulted in injuries to four men, one of whom is not expected to live, forced several score of persons to the street in night attire, and caused damage estimated at $20,000.

Hans Hauck, pastry cook, received serious injuries to his head when he jumped from the third floor of the burning building, previously he had lowered his room-mate, Arthur Klemm in safety to the street, although the latter suffered painful burns to his face and hands. Firemen Bert Meyers and M. Desmormeaux were burned about the hands and face in fighting the fire.

The fire originated in the Norris Shoe Repair Shop on the ground floor of the building. Flames shot through the front windows of the shoe-shop, up the face of the building and into the first floor windows. From there the fire spread rapidly. Hauck, wrapping his friend in a blanket managed to lower him from the third floor to a ledge at the first floor. From there Klemm jumped to the street. Hauck attempted to jump to the ledge. He landed on it safely but lost his balance and fell head first to the pavement. His skull was fractured.

BULGARIAN KING, COURT PREPARES TO FLEE COUNTRY

Gov't Faces Major Crisis Following Purge of Political Opponents.

AND ARMY HIGH COMMAND.

Drastic Measures Foreseen in Effort to Stave Off Bloodshed.

SOFIA, April 18 (C.P.-Havas).—With King Boris and his court reported ready to leave the country and the Government in the throes of a major crisis, Premier Petko Zlateff to-day was deserted by three of his chief Cabinet Ministers, following a swift "purge" of his political opponents and the Bulgarian army high command.

General Zlateff's apparent move to rid himself of all constraint in governing Bulgaria was believed to have reverberated to the throne itself, although he gained the Premiership in January with the aid of Boris. It landed former Premiers Kimon Gueorguieff and Alexander Zankoff in an internment camp with many of their followers, including three former police prefects. Considerable unrest was visible through the country.

Bloodshed Looms.

Interior Minister Krum Koleff, in making official announcement of the "purgative action," declared "the Government had to move fast and drastically to prevent a return to bloody events of the past."

With the recent strengthening of Franco-Italian relations, considerable agitation has arisen for Bulgaria's joining the Balkan Entente (Yugoslavia Rumania, Turkey and Greece), which is supporting the French policy.

The Government issued a communique stating its prisoners would be interned indefinitely on the Island of Saint Anastasia in the Black Sea near Burgas.

The communique stated the arrests were made for violation of a decree against political party activity. Gueorguieff was arrested by authority of his own decree, for it was he, when he was Premier, who suppressed party activities.

JOHNSON ADMITS N R A MISTAKES

But Believes Abandoning It Now Be Like Burning House to Oust Rats.

CLAIMS LAW SOUND.

WASHINGTON, April 18 (A.P.).—Plainspoken as usual, Hugh S. Johnson told the United States Senate Finance Committee to-day the mistakes of NRA were due to his administration and to abandon it would be "like burning down your house to get rid of a few rats in the attic."

He freely admitted mistakes and errors in NRA, but as faults of administration and not of the law. The Blue Eagle was set up, he said, to stop the trend of concentration of industrial power which was wiping out the small man.

Reviewing the developments in industry following the war, Johnson said they disclosed "a slow and implacable disintegration of the profit system, and especially of unregulated and uncontrolled operation thereof, as a reliable plan for keeping our people employed."

With collapse, Johnson said, only three types of concerns could survive. He named them as "the concern with the big war chest and a swollen surplus"; "the sweatshop," and "the ghoul-buyer and operator of bankrupt stocks and assets."

"This is where our economic system was trending from before the war and to its utter and complete collapse in March, 1933," he added.

ROYAL ASSENT GIVEN 97 BILLS BEFORE CLOSING

Address to King Expressing Province's Loyalty is Moved By Hepburn.

BLIND PENSIONS PASS.

Spectators Crowd Galleries as Lieutenant-Governor Closes Session of Legislature.

TORONTO, April 18.—(CP)—The first session of Ontario's 19th legislature was prorogued at 3.15 o'clock today by Lieutenant-Governor Herbert A. Bruce.

The ceremony was brief. At two minutes to three o'clock Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn escorted the Lieutenant Governor to the Speaker's chair.

By 3.05 o'clock Royal assent had been given 97 Bills and Dr. Bruce started to read the prorogation speech.

It referred to the Government's legislation to terminate Quebec power contracts and reviewed legislation of the session.

The House finished its business at 2.35 o'clock, after being in session since one o'clock.

Address of Loyalty

Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn moved in the Ontario Legislature to-day that a humble address be presented to His Majesty the King, expressing loyalty of the province on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of his accession to the throne.

The Premier moved the resolution as the Legislature was winding up business of the session in preparation for prorogation. He asked Opposition Leader George S. Henry second the motion.

The House had voted concurrence in the report of the Committee of Supply after it met at one o'clock and proceeded to consideration of ways and means.

Afterwards the Premier rose and moved the humble address be sent the King.

Spectators' galleries, practically empty when the House sat, began to fill up late in the day with visitors anxious to witness progrogation proceedings scheduled for three o'clock.

Blind Pensions Pass.

Minister of Welfare David Croll received unanimous support for his resolution that pensions be made payagle to blind persons in Canada over the age of 40 years.

Mr. Croll said 1,257 persons in Ontario would benefit under the proposal. Col. W. H. Price (Cons., Toronto-Parkdale) favored the measure.

NEGOTIATIONS MAY PAVE WAY FOR HUGE NEW ARAB EMPIRE

Britain Would Hold Upper Hand of Ibor Saud and Abdullah Join.

PALESTINE FEARFUL

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer

AMMAN, Transjordania, April 18.—An Arab king on David's throne! Abdullah, of the house of Hussein, who is now emir of Transjordania, and not satisfied with his job, is a candidate for the kingdom of Jerusalem. This is not a mere fantasy, a vague rumor to be discounted by Zionists, because they ardently wish it isn't so. It is a fact. As a Zionist, I fully realise the danger to the cause of the Jewish national home in Palestine of such a change in the near east. Unfortunately the supervision of the building of the Jewish national home in Palestine is not the sole nor the chief reason for Great Britain's presence in these parts.

Ibn Saoud is a mighty king now. He has virtually the whole of southern and middle Arabia under his control. Britain has never opposed him. He is an ally and an ally who can be trusted. Ibn Saoud has begun to feel a whole lot of late years for that old plan of a federated Arabic empire with himself in the role of emperor. This plan is not of his own conception. It is the plan of the British colonial office. Such men as Colonel Lawrence, Ronald Storrs, General Bols, Keith-Roach, St. John Philby are its partisans.

The plan miscarried, chiefly because the foreign office, for reasons of state, inserted the project of a Jewish national home in the plans for an after-war settlement of the PHOENIX, Ariz., April 18. — (CP)—John P. (Jack) Taylor, one time water boy for Jim Jeffries, the fighter, has been searching for a gold nugget since 1906. After looking in the hills all those years, he at last has found one—of all places—embedded in the asphalt of a Phoenix street. An assayer gave him 80 cents for it.

Trout Season Opens As Usual On May 1

TORONTY, April 18.—"There definitely has not been any change in the date of the opening day of the speckled trout season in Ontario," declared D. J. Taylor, Deputy Minister of Game and Fisheries, yesterday. "The date remains the same as it was in the past, namely, May 1.

"A number of people are under the impression that the trout season opens on April 15. This is not so. Any person catching trout before May 1 is breaking the law," he said.

Commenting on the arrest of five men at the Holland River last Saturday for netting game fish, Mr. Taylor explained that they will be brought into court and charged with illegal netting by the Department of Game and Fisheries.

Pastors In Germany Dragged Off To Jail

BERLIN, April 18 (A.P.). — Reports of coercive measures against confessional congregations and pastors who have refused to bow to Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller accumulated from many parts of the Reich to-day.

In Saxony four more recalcitrant pastors were hauled to a concentration camp, where their heads were shaven and they were made to don convict garb.

In certain parts of Hesse-Nassau, Prussia, villagers threw themselves in front of police autos which came to take arrested pastors to prison. It was only through the exhortations of the pastors themselves they desisted from making martyrs of themselves.

Two Indians Found Guilty Of Assault

LINDSAY, April 18.— In police court yesterday the Jacobs brothers, Indians, of the Curve Lake Reserve, were found guilty of assault, on a charge laid by a fellow Indian named Knott, who claimed the accused had tipped him out of his canoe and endangered his life. The first charge of attempted murder was reduced to assault by the crown. The case arose out of an argument in the vicinity of Pigeon Lake. The defendants claimed they were protecting their traps in taking the action they did. The magistrate found the defendants guilty of common assault, and let them go on suspended sentence.

Mrs. Vermilyea said she would protest the reported attempt of Mrs. Jack Schorr, Ontario, Cal., divorcee and former fiancee of Vermilyea, to obtain guardianship of the lad.

Toronto Trio Get 20 Years For Holdup

TORONTO, April 18 (C.P.).—Mr. Justice H. T. Kelly to-day sentenced Arthur Conley, George Reece and George Smith to 20 years' imprisonment each for their parts in the hold-up of the Pape and Sammon Avenue branch of the Imperial Bank, Feb. 26. The men were convicted by a jury Tuesday.

The same trio were acquitted on charges of attempted murder and shooting, with intent to maim, preferred in connection with the shooting of Basil Vale, bank manager, during the robbery. The trial lasted six days.

Smith's sentence runs concurrently with the 20 years given him by Judge James Parker in general sessions recently, for participation in the armed robbery of the Royal Bank of Canada, Greenwood Avenue, last December.

Hitler Is Enraged by League of Nations Vote

LIKELY REFUSE JOIN ANY PEACE PACT PROPOSED

Fear of Anti-German Military Alliances May Force Part in Negotiations.

VENTS ANGER ON BRITAIN.

Geneva Criticism Resented as Branding Teutons Inferior Nation.

By Melvin K. Whiteleather

Copyright, 1935, by the A. P.

BERLIN, April 18. — Nazi Germany looked to Reichsfuehrer Hitler today for a prompt and defiant retort to the League of Nations council's condemnation of the Reich's abrogation of her treaty obligations.

Nazi leaders forecast Hitler, stung to the quick by the council's action, might adopt any or all of these courses:

1. Refuse to enter any peace pact proposed so far.
2. Withdraw his offer to join in the western European defensive air pact.
3. Flatly refused to return to the League of Nations.

It was admitted, however, the Reichswehr, fearing a chain of anti-German military alliances, conceivably might influence der fuehrer to continue negotiations to keep Germany from total isolation.

The possibility also was seen Hitler might call for a new plebiscite asking the nation to endorse his foreign and domestic policies. The League's criticism was particularly resented because it was regarded as treating Germany as an inferior nation and thereby shaking the foundation stone of Nazi foreign policy—equality in the family of nations.

Deceived?

One fact stands out in all the comment: Germany feels she was deceived in her negotiations with the three western European powers and that, therefore, Great Britain's prestige as a mediator on the continent has virtually been destroyed.

A strong intimation was made in official quarters the smaller powers on the League Council were "blackmailed" into voting for the "so-called organizers of international peace. It was even suggested Foreign Minister Beck F. Poland may have struck a hard bargain with Pierre Laval, French Foreign Minister, in exchange for Poland's ballot.

Hitler's personal organ, the Voelkischer Beobachter, said, "Geneva has become the platform for world Bolshevism."

Yesterday's proceedings, it continued, "Show how right Germany was in withdrawing from the League."

The government-controlled press directed its attack particularly against the Bolsheviks, terming Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Foreign Commissar, the "diplomatic shock trooper of the big powers." The newspapers refrained from mentioning, however, the fact that the sole member of the council to abstain from voting against the Reich was Denmark, which is ruled by a Marxist government.

ONTARIO HOUSE PROROGATION IS SET FOR TO-DAY

SUPPLIES VOTED.

Subsidies For Colonization of the North to be Dropped Says Hepburn.

TORONTO, April 18.—(CP)—The first session of Ontario's 19th Legislature was in its dying stages today. After an all-night session in which estimates for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1936, were passed, all that remained today before prorogation by Lieutenant-Governor Herbert A. Bruce was discussion of three resolutions, voting supply and committee discussion of ways and means.

The House adjourned at 3.40 o'clock this morning to sit again at one o'clock this afternoon. After conclusion of business the Lieutenant-Governor was scheduled to arrive at Queen's Park and prorogue the two-months-old session.

Heenan Gives Details

Estimates of the Department of Northern Development and Lands and Forests provoked the greatest discussion as members pressed the minister, Hon. Peter Heenan, for specific details of his departments. Other features of the all-night session was an attack by Col. W. H. Price (Cons., Toronto-Parkdale) on government dismissal of returned soldiers and sharp opposition criticism of the government's intention to close Chorley Park, official residence of the Lieutenant-Governor after Oct. 31. At the same time the premier said Government House would be sold if a sufficiently large offer were received.

The supply vote and ways and means discussion are mere formalities. A brief debate was expected on at least one motion, a resolution by Opposition Leader George S. Henry for a committee to investigate charges made by the government in connection with negotiation of the Quebec Power purchase contracts.

Canada at large seemed ready today to join hands with the Federal Government and go looking for gold wherever the precious metal lies. The $1,000,000 gold-hunt project outlined to Parliament yesterday by Hon. Wesley A. Gordon, Minister of Mines, appeared to have supporters everywhere and no knockers.

When Parliament passes on the $33,000,000 public works bill, including the gold-search appropriation, after the Easter recess, the Government plans to send 900 men on a summer job of exploring likely mineralized areas in eight provinces, the Yukon and Northwest Territories. It won't be a job of prospecting.

TULSA, Okla., April 18 (A.P.).—A sobbing 15-year-old boy confessed yesterday, police said, that he threw acid in the face of pretty Mrs. Leah Webb Tuesday night because the young woman's husband promised him $20 to do it.

The boy, Marcus Clute, and Lamont Webb, 20, will be charged formally to-day with the crime which, doctors said, disfigured Mrs. Webb for life.

"Lamont told me that he didn't want her to be going out with other boys and he wanted to disfigure her," Captain Bassham said the boy told him.

Mrs. Webb, who obtained a divorce from her husband several weeks ago, was in a hospital here. Doctors said they did not know yet whether her eyesight would be injured.

NEW BUILDING START SHORTLY

Operations Will Start on New Campbellford Post Office Within Two Months.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 18 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — Mayor Frank Long with Councillors Bennett and Locke returned from Ottawa with the assurance that the work on the new post office would be started within two months.

In his interview with the Hon. Mr. Stewart, Minister of Public Works, the Mayor stressed the need of work for the unemployed of the town, also stating that there was plenty of stone in the bed of the Trent River which could be used for foundation work, and suggested that a tower be built for a clock.

The Minister assured the delegation that the Government intended to build the post office, but in the meantime plans had to be prepared tenders called for and accepted, and final approval be given before the actual work of construction could begin.

ROSENEATH

BALE PREPARED ARCTIC MISSION

Splendid Reports Read at Monthly Meeting of St. James' Women's Auxiliary.

AT ROSENEATH

ROSENEATH, April 18 (Examiner Correspondence).—The regular monthly meeting of St. James' Women's Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. Ernest Timlin, and was well attended by the members and a few visitors. The president, Mrs. Herbert McCracken, presided over the meeting.

Following the opening exercises, Mrs. Clara Braithwaite read the Scripture lesson from the Psalms 101. Reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. Frank Brown; treasurer, Mrs. Rupert Nichol; Little Helpers, Mrs. Ross McCracken; Mrs. Earl Braithwaite reported sales from the travelling suitcase for the month of March, amounting to $1.80, and Mrs. Clara Braithwaite takes charge of the selling for the month of April.

On motion, Mrs. R. B. Nichol and Mrs. H. J. McCracken were appointed to pack a bale to send to the Arctic, and all articles to be left with Miss Jessie Johnston before Good Friday. It is necessary that this bale be sent immediately that it will reach its destination in the Arctic in time for Christmas.

Where Donations Spent.

In a letter read by the secretary from Mrs. Wood, of Toronto, was most interesting and enlightened the ideas of the members where collections and donations of money were used. On the women's day of prayer last year the collection was $5,240.00, and the secretary read out the different objects to which various sums were donated. It was mostly given for Christian literature for different missions.

The extra-cent-a-day fund for March was $450.00. There were three appeals read: $75.00 was asked for toward a new church building at Greenville. The Indian village of Greenville was swept by fire and the church was burned. The people work in factories and have asked their employers to keep $10.00 a month of their wages toward rebuilding a church. The second appeal was from Saskatoon for $100.00 toward pressing debts on two small churches. The third appeal is for $400.00 toward helping in Western Canada.

It was voted that the first and second appeal be filled, and the balance be given to the third.

After a letter from a young man in Athabasca was read, it was decided upon that the members get busy and make gifts for Christmas.

Miss Jessie Johnston was appointed delegate to attend the annual Diocesan Board meeting in Toronto on April 30 to May 4. Mrs. Ernest Timlin was nominated a substitute.

On motion by Mrs. J. T. Drope and Mrs. W. Houghtailing, that the treasurer pay $7.00 for Sunday School supplies for the year 1935.

Yarn was then distributed to the knitters of the society, who were soon busy, and others went to work making toys for the bale. When time came to close the meeting the pastor, Rev. P. H. Battersby, offered several prayers for missions and mission workers.

A delicious cup of tea, sandwiches and cake made a perfect completion for the pleasant and profitable afternoon.

Mrs. R. B. Nichol kindly offered her home for the meeting in May.

GENEVA PARLEY WORKS ON PACTS TO PREVENT WAR

France Presses Plans For Assitance Treaty With Soviet Russia.

CZECHS MAY JOIN.

Simon Works on Speedy Conclusion of Western Europe Air Alliance.

GENEVA, April 18 (AP)—Statesmen of Europe turned away from denunciation of Germany's violation of the Versailles Treaty to the negotiation of new pacts intended to guard against future war.

Pierre Laval, French Foreign Minister, who played a leading part in yesterday's criticism by the League of Nations Council of the Reich's unilateral abrogation of the treaty's military clauses, returned to Paris to press plans for concluding a mutual assistance pact with Soviet Russia. Swift, joint action against an aggressor nation is the essential element of the Franco-Russian Government.

A fundamental point of the projected accord is that the council will be convoked in extraordinary session within 48 hours in the event of a threat of war.

If the council should then fail to decide unanimously which nation was the aggressor, France and Russia, like all other states, would be free under the covenant to "maintain right and justice."

Quick Joint Action

This is interpreted to mean that France and Russia would be at liberty to act quioky together.

Members of the Little Entente—Czechoslovia, Yugoslavia and Rumania—met to consider the future of the proposed Danubian pact in the light of what generally is expected will be Reichsfuehrer Hitler's refusal to join in guaranteeing Austria's independence as a consequence of the League Council's action.

A Czechoslovak mutual assistance pact with Russia, modeled along the lines of that advanced by France, was outlined in conversations between Litvinoff and Dr. Eduard Benes, Czechoslovak foreign minister. Dr. Benes was expected to go to Moscow in June to sign the accord.

It was understood Laval and Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, plan to work for speedy conclusion of a defensive air pact among the western European powers for quick aid in the event any of the signatories is attacked.

Revive Old Eastern Pact

There was even talk of reviving the once-prophesied eastern Mediterranean pact among Yugoslavia, Greece, Bulgaria and Turkey.

The prpposed Rome conference on the Danubian pact is likely to be postponed from May to June.

The next step in the League program to bring international pressure to bear to penalize treaty violators will be the meeting of the committee named yesterday to decide what economic and financial penalties may be applied. The committee, to which Canada was appointed is expected to convene late next month. League officials expect its work will be delicate and difficult.

ISOBEL ELLIOTT GETS INVITATION

Will be Guest Speaker at Easter Thank-offering Meeting of Roseneath W.M.S.

ROSENEATH, April 18.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society met at the home of the president, Miss Gladys Blodgett, on Tuesday afternoon and was fairly well attended, considering the very busy season of the year.

The usual opening exercises was presided over by the president. Mrs. Delbert Brisbin gave the Bible reading, Psalm 66. The devotional leaflet on "World's Minded Friends" was read by Mrs. L. W. Scott.

A discussion on making quilts for the fall bale, and on motion by Mrs. Andrew Brown and Mrs. Lily Turner, that each one make two blocks, 18 inches square, of heavy material and make quilts ready in near future.

Arrangements for the Easter thank-offering were completed. Miss Isobel Elliott, of Formosa, will be the guest speaker and will appear the last Sunday in April. It is also expected that the Cobourg quartette will be in attendance at this service, which means a rare treat is coming to those who are lovers of good things.

The treasurer, Mrs. John A. Nichol, reported having sent $35.00 to the Presbyterial.

Most interesting reports were given by Miss Gladys Blodgett, Mrs. A. J. Campbell and Mrs. L. W. Scott of the Cobourg Presbyterial held at Campbellford, and were extended a hearty vote of thanks for their splendid work.

Pleasing comments were given the former Mission Band leaders for gaining the banner for the year, and was presented to Miss Irene Brown, who is the leader of the band for this year.

Mrs. Davey volunteered to provide an extra program for the May meeting.

The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Scott. Refreshments and afternoon tea awas served, and a social half-hour was spent.

HAMILTON, April 18 C.P.). — Judging from the length of time it took workmen to demolish the post office tower, the late Eli Van Allen, who built the edifice, must have intended it to last several hundred years. LIBERALS BLOCK PUBLIC WORKS BILL IN HOUSE

Balk at $1,000,000 Outlay For Tunnel Planned to Island at Toronto.

COMMONS ADJOURNS.

Stewart, Manion, Weir, Duranleau, Gordon Answer Questions Five Hours.

OTTAWA, April 18 (C.P.). — As members of Parliament scattered over Canada to-day for a five-week Easter vacation, the $33,000,000 the Government proposed to spend on unemployment relief works remains tied up in the Federal treasury. In an elongated sitting yesterday the Ministers fought to get the public works bill through the House of Commons but Liberals pressed for more and more details of how the money would be spent and finally balked at an expenditure of $1,000,000 to build a tunnel at Toronto.

For nearly five hours Hon. Hugh Stewart, Minister of Public Works; Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways; Hon. Alfred Duranleau, Minister of Marine; Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labor and Mines, and Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, answered questions about the various works contemplated in the bill.

Sandwiched in between their questions, Liberals charged the whole scheme was camouflage, criticized the letting of contracts under last year's program, and wondered where the money would come from. The Toronto tunnel project involved digging under the western entrance to the harbor to connect the mainland with Toronto island, and drew the most determined opposition.

Would Abandon Idea

Ross W. Gray (Lib., Lambton West), suggested the tunnel scheme be abandoned and the money spent in some other work to provide employment in Toronto. William Duff (Lib., Antigonish-Guysboro) said the City of Toronto should build its own tunnel, and the people of the rest of Canada should not be taxed to connect that city old age pensions for persons who have reached the age of 65 years.

Feature of Mr. Heenan's estimates was the unsuccessful effort of C. W. Cox (Lib., Port Arthur) to attack lands and forests administration of former Conservative governments.

"The policy I am going to criticize," said Mr. Cox, "was carried on during the term: of three ministers; first, G. Howard Ferguson, that illustrious gentleman who could see the storm approaching on the horison and handed the ship of state over to the honorable member from East York. Having lost his nerve, he deserted his post as skipper for the less hazardous position of Canadian high commissioner in London."

"The second," Mr. Cox continued, "is James Lyons of the firm of the Lyons Fuel Company, who preferred or was asked to become an ordinary member of the crew, and later saw fit to denounce his leader in no uncertain terms, then thought better of it and attempted to come across again as one of the old fold. The third is William Finlayson, of mahogany yacht fame."

Squelched.

After Mr. Henry and Leopold Macaulay protested against inclusion of contentious matter at such a late hour in the session, Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn finally suggested the speech be held over until the fall session.

Arthur Ellis (Cons., Ottawa South) charged estimated ordinary expenditure of the Northern Development Department was $500,000 in excess of ordinary expenditure for the fiscal year ending Oct. 31, 1934.

Conservatives questioned a vote of $1,000,000 for roads and another vote of $2,000,000. They also objected to separate votes for radio service.

Defending expenditure in the north, W. L. Miller (Lib., Algoma-Manitoulin) declared the north would justify itself and he outlined the importance of the mining industry to the province.

"Don't get the idea that the north is the source of wealth," warned Mr. Henry who said in a normal year with normal prices and crops the growth of the province's agricultural wealth was $300,000,000 and the north never produced anything like that.

Subsidies To Be Dropped.

During discussion of Northern estimates, the Premier said the Government would discontinue the practice of providing subsidies for colonization in the North. At another point he revealed the Government had hopes of making lignite deposits of commercial value. He promised to submit any proposition to the House before entering into an agreement.

A. H. Acres (Cons., Carleton) accused Mr. Heenan of creating unrest among Northern workers by promising to spend $16,000,000 in the North. He warned against making construction of the Trans-Canada Highway a one-year program because the expense was too great for the Province to bear alone.

After Col. Price read extracts from the Hunter-Myers report on dismissals of veterans from the Government service and letters telling of other dismissals, the Premier promised to adhere to the principle of veterans' preference and investigate the dismissals.

"I deplore these dismissals from every standpoint," said Col. Price. "I deplore the fact the Premier said on the hustings we did nothing for returned soldiers when we did a great deal. Let this Government err in generosity towards returned soldiers."

Statement Challenged

Col. Price charged in all liquor stores throughout the province returned soldiers had been dismissed but the Premier challenged the statement.

Instead of dismissing the vendor in the St. Thomas store, although the man was "a rabid Tory and went out of his way to oppose me", the Premier said he had another member of the staff dismissed when the Liquor Board recommended reduction of the staff. He added he left the vendor because he was a returned soldier.

"There is a total lack of proportion in the Prime Minister who is making of all people as a butt for his policy of economy His Majesty's representative in this province," declared Wilfrid Heighton (Cons., Toronto-St. David) opposing the Government intention to close Government House.

George H. Challies (Cons., Grenville-Dundas) criticized Provincial Secretary H. C. Nixon for not including in his departmental estimates a grant for the citizens' service association which aimed to rehabilitate prisoners. Mr. Nixon promised to consider the matter.

Col. T. A. Kidd (Cons., Kingston) objected to reduction of Government grants to provincial universities. He pleaded for reconsideration of the matter, especially the grant to Queen's University which had been slashed $35,000.

Outlining Kingston's aid to the University, he said if Toronto helped the University of Toronto in the same proportion as London aided the University of Western Ontario and Kingston supported Queen's University, Toronto's annual contribution would be $10,000,000.

"The University of Toronto is a gold mine for Toronto," remarked Mr. Nixon.

LIBERALS BLOCK PUBLIC WORKS

with a little island which was nothing more than a Summer resort.

Liberals were plainly blocking the bill and could take full responsibility for it, said Dr. Manion. They had been unreasonable in their demands for information and asked for more details than had ever been given in any government expenditures. In the last years of the Liberal government hundreds of millions of dollars had been voted for works all over the country. The Montreal Harbor bridge was on a par with the Toronto tunnel. When the Liberals started it the cost was to be $9,000,000, but when it was finished it was $19,000,000, he asserted.

Explaining a proposal to spend $1,000,000 on geological surveys, Mr. Gordon said the government proposed to send out some 180 exploration parties in the different provinces and Northwest Territories.

First Up After May 20

A few minutes before the gentleman usher of the black rod knocked at the door to summon commoners to the senate to hear the Deputy Governor-General assent to bills already passed the government admitted the impossibility of placing the Public Work Bill in his hands. Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, interrupted a heated exchange between Dr. Manion and Mr. Duff to move the committee of the whole report progress, thus putting an end to the discussion. The Public Works Bill will be the first one considered when the House reassembles May 20.

A pre-election note of controversy prevailed as the long Easter recess began. The opposition had fought against a long adjournment at every turn, and although defeated in that battle was successful in holding up the Public Works Bill.

Members who dispersed last night and today could look back on three months of work in the course of which a wide variety of matters had been discussed, and some dealt with by legislation. Among the important measures passed through all stages in both houses were the trade agreement with France, drought relief in the Prairie Provinces, a weekly day of rest, income tax adjustments for officers of the judiciary and defence services, creation of an economic council, amendments to the Farm Loan and Farmers Creditors Arrangement Act. All these were associated with the reform policy.

Salary Cuts Restored

Other measures enacted included the act respecting partial restoration of civil service salaries, two months extension of the act creating the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission, interim supply bills and authorization to the government to provide money to meet Canadian National Railway deficits.

Features of the session to date were brief debates on the speech from the throne, the forbearance of the opposition in the early stages and reversal of that attitude at the last, the volume of social legislation advanced by the government, and repeated demands of the Liberal opposition that the government complete necessary business at the earliest possible moment and call a general election.

Bills Waiting

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett was absent from the House for the last seven weeks, but a large volume of his reform legislation was advanced. In addition to those which were put through all stages, the following were awaiting disposal at adjournment:

Unemployment insurance, minimum wages and maximum hours of work, all of which have gone to the Senate.

Other measures remaining on the Order Paper at adjournment include amendments to the Criminal Code, the $33,000,000 Public Works and Industrial Undertakings Measure, Patents and Inventions, Weights and Measures, Soldier Settlement Board, and the resolution to establish a Dominion Grain Board.

Numerous private member resolutions and bills also remained on the Order Paper to be dealt with after recess if they are ever reached.

Reform measures, announced in the Speech from the Throne and not yet advanced in the form of legislation, include amendments to the Natural Products Marketing Act, safeguards for consumer and producer of natural products against unfair business practices and concentrations, amendments to the Company Act, establishment of a Department of Communications, and initiation of the Borstal system in penitentiaries.

Business of committees is not, generally speaking, completed. The House Committee has reported, but that studying the B.N.A. Act, and on banking still have work to do before they can make a final report to the Commons.

Many of the finest polo players in India will be visiting here and many already have made arrangements to play in important matches. Some of the visiting rajahs and lesser potentates will come prepared to show their prowess at their native sport.

ALL FOOD MADE HER ILL

Caused by Acidity—Corrected by Kruschen

"It is only fair to pass these facts on," writes a nurse. "I was suffering from over-acidity and flatulence to such an extent that I was completely ill. I couldn't take food. When I actually forced myself to take something, I would be wretchedly ill. I have now taken Kruschen for 12 months, and I have no doubt that it has righted my digestive system. I am now quite fit and able to work with vigor again."—Nurse E. S.

Indigestion is caused by a failure in the flow of the gastric or digestive juices. As a result, your food, instead of being assimilated by your system, simply collects and ferments inside you, producing harmful acid poisons. The immediate effect of the six mineral salts in Kruschen is to promote the healthy flow of the vital juices of the body. As you continue with the "little daily dose," it ensures the regular and complete elimination of all waste matter every day. And that means a complete end to indigestion.

rate lead to the best localities in which to work.

There is enough gold in Canada, Mr. Gordon told the House of Commons, "to pay for all the mistakes since Confederation." He hoped the provinces would co-operate with the Dominion in the undertaking.

Vast Untouched Area

Prairie governments were particularly eager to lend a hand. Hon. J. S. McDiarmid, Manitoba's Minister of Mines, said his government would give whole-hearted support to the exploratory work. "We have in this province," he said, "150,000 square miles of pre-Cambrian shield practically untouched."

Hon. Hugh Allan, Minister of Lands and Mines for Alberta, and Hon. W. J. Patterson, Saskatchewan's Minister of Mines, hastened to give assurance of their active support in the big search. University geologists were even more enthusiastic.

A "God-send" to students who were not otherwise assured of practical experience, Professor J. S. Delury, head of University of Manitoba geology faculty, termed the government plan. Manitoba would have 20 graduates ready for the mining field who, he thought, would be glad to join the parties.

Minister of Mines Paul Leduc of Ontario said he would welcome any action by the Federal authorities to survey mining possibilities of uncharted areas in the north. "If the Dominion effort can bring in any valuable information from these uncharted areas, so much the better for the province," he remarked.

CHEAP SOAP-CHIPS WASTE

Short on real soap—skimpy suds make hard rubbing—harsh bleaching alkalies fade colors—soap scum hard to rinse—leaves clothes dingy-looking

CLOTHES SOON GO TO PIECES

PRICES ARE GOING UP! Clothes cost more this year. Can you afford to risk them in cheap soap-chips?

When you're tempted by an over-size box of cheap soap-chips, stop and think. Think of the lack of real soap. Think of the harsh bleaching alkalies. What will they do to your clothes?

Hard rubbing . . . worn clothes

Thin weak suds mean hard rubbing . . . hard on you and hard on clothes! Threads "pull" and wear thin. Strong bleaching alkalies fade the color. Free, fatty acids make soap bad-smelling—hard to rinse. Sediment "speckles" the material . . . settles in seams and hems.

Is it any wonder your clothes soon look gray, worn and old?

But do you actually save on soap? No! "Second helpings" are needed to keep up suds. They soon eat up the big cheap chips box.

Compare that wasted soap with good, rich Chipso. Chipso is soapier. Just a handful builds up rich, thick, lively, lasting suds. They soak dirt loose in just fifteen minutes. You don't have to wear clothes thin with hard rubbing.

Yes—Chipso does your hard work for you. Yet Chipso is gentle—no harsh bleaching alkalies to fade the color or weaken material. Get Chipso at your store today. Use it every washday. Discover the truth of "clothes washed regularly with Chipso wear months longer."

SCRUB ALL DAY MEND ALL NIGHT

What a mistake—to let cheap soap-chips make you do this!

IT'S CHEAPER TO BUY GOOD SOAP THAN NEW CLOTHES

BLAME CHEAP SOAP-CHIPS FOR THIS FAMILY QUARREL—They're to blame for the ruined clothes that it costs good money to replace! Let's hope this wife will soon learn that good safe Chipso protects materials. It makes all your clothes wear longer.

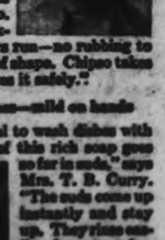
CHIPSO is safe . . . makes all your clothes wear longer

"MORE SOAP IN CHIPSO—MORE WEAR IN OUR CLOTHES" say women everywhere

"I get more suds out of Chipso," says Mrs. C. R. Benkert, "and they don't die down to scum like cheap chips do. It's so easy, with Chipso, to get clothes clean. I don't even use a washboard. Dirt comes out without hard rubbing. My white clothes are white as snow! Yet I never have trouble with things fading now."

Clothes look brand new

"All our clothes look brand new for a long time," says Mrs. J. L. Godsoe, another pleased Chipso user. "Sweaters do not shrink—they're soft and fleecy as new. The whole washing suited is safer with Chipso. No prolonged soaking to make colors run—no rubbing to twist clothes out of shape. Chipso takes the dirt—and takes it safely."



Quick for dishes—mild on hands

"It's economical to wash dishes with Chipso—a little of this rich soap goes so far in suds," says Mrs. T. B. Curry. "The suds come up instantly and stay up. They rinse easily—leave no odor. And they're so mild on your hands that you know there's nothing harsh in Chipso."

Chipso's richer suds loosen dirt quickly—save hard rubbing

THE RADIO COMMISSION.

The fact that the Federal Government has seen fit to extend the powers of the Canadian Radio Commission, pending the introduction of a new bill, gives color to the report that radical changes may be made and that the present commission may disappear.

Undoubtedly the general feeling throughout Canada is that public ownership of radio broadcasting has not been a success, and that the plan, which only a short time ago was enthusiastically acclaimed by all parties in Parliament and unanimously passed, has failed to line up to the ambitious promises of those who persuaded our legislators at Ottawa that all Canada was crying out for a nationalized radio.

The Examiner must confess that at no time did it find any evidence of a general demand for public ownership of broadcasting, and has always been more or less puzzled by the ease the political parties were cajoled into rushing into the experiment.

At the same time, however, there is this to be said to the credit of the commission, that it has brought to light Canadian talent that would never have had a chance otherwise, and that with the comparatively limited funds placed at its disposal, it has not done too badly in the work to which it was assigned.

Radio broadcasting is a decidedly expensive service, and the Radio Commission should not, therefore, be assailed for not providing adequate facilities for some sections of the Dominion, inasmuch as it is clear that Parliament has failed to provide sufficient revenue for any substantial scheme of radio extension.

A WORTHY CAUSE.

Citizens of Peterborough will have an opportunity on Saturday of endorsing the good work done by the local Humane Society on behalf of dumb animals by making a generous response to the annual tag day appeal.

No person who has read the monthly reports of the inspector of the organization could have any doubt of the necessity of such a movement, and the desirability of public support behind its efforts.

The argument that the police department could and should look after the protection of dumb animals hardly meets the situation, for obviously a very large amount of investigation is required, and unless a police officer was turned over exclusively to this work—an impossibility unless an extra man were to be hired for the purpose—nothing like the service that is now being given by the Humane Society could reasonably be expected.

While the organization is most economically operated, its work cannot be carried on without public assistance, and thus the tag day method has been adopted as offering a chance for citizens generally to make their contribution toward financing an activity that exists for the sole purpose of saving our animal friends from cruelty and neglect.

That is a most meritorious cause, and The Examiner hopes that on Saturday the public will testify to its interest in the Humane Society and to its willingness to help by making a worth-while and substantial response to this call for financial assistance.

LOOKING FOR NEW WEALTH.

The decision of the Dominion Government to expend a million dollars in investigating mining possibilities in all sections of the country where conditions seem to favor the possibility of worth-while finds will be welcomed by all Canadians who appreciate what a bulwark of strength the mining industry has been to Canada during the long period of depression.

The plan provides for sending out some 180 geological exploration parties, headed by competent geologists and recruited from mining students of universities. There will be some of these parties at work in every province, Ontario alone being the scene of the activities of thirty expeditions.

It is the feeling of more persons associated with mining that rich as have been the discoveries in Canada in recent years, there remains large fields of valuable minerals that so far have not been touched, and many miners have urged that the Government should lend financial assistance to prospecting parties.

The announcement, therefore, that exploration on a large scale is to be carried out should meet with general approval, particularly as the plan will provide employment for many mining students for whom without this venture there would have been very little in sight.

It is scarcely necessary to point out that if only one or two of these parties discover a new mining field the contribution to national wealth that would follow such a find would make the cost of this whole exploration scheme seem trifling.

The statement made by Hon. W. A. Gordon to Parliament yesterday must be regarded as good news for the whole country.

AN IMPOSSIBLE SITUATION.

The situation that exists in Crowland Township where striking relief workers are making it impossible for any jobless men who want to work on a relief sewer project to do so, is one that challenges the authorities and that cannot be allowed to continue.

The striking unemployed are demanding larger allowances but in the opinion of Hon. David Croll, Minister of Public Welfare, the scale provided was fair, and therefore they have not even the excuse that their actions have been motivated by a desire to correct an injustice.

The simple facts of this case are that a scheme of work has been provided for the unemployed, some of whom are anxious to take advantage of the opportunity, but that the lawless conduct of the remainder of the jobless is defeating the whole purpose of the plan.

This is a crisis that is obviously beyond the ability of the township authorities to deal with, and it is the plain duty of the provincial authorities to step in and handle the problem; the right of men who want to work to do so with impunity must be firmly established, and at the same time merchants must be protected against the intimidating methods employed by the strikers.

No body of men can be allowed to take the law in their own hands in this country, and the sooner these Crowland disturbers are taught that lesson the better it will be for them and for the whole province.

It is high time the rioters were told that the forces of law and order have not gone out of business in Ontario.

CANADIAN RAILWAY SITUATION.

There is an application before Parliament for the abandonment of 547 miles of Canadian National Railway lines. It is estimated they will save about $830 per mile, which equals $453,000 per annum.

If the Canadian Pacific Railway could abandon a like amount, that would mean 1,000 miles at a saving of about $1,000,000 per year.

Supposing the railways could abandon functionally duplicative mileage to the extent of 10,000 miles, that would mean a saving of $10,000,000 annually.

Certainly if the railway cannot better the traffic receipts, the only way they can make savings is by abandoning mileage.

Another thing that will have to be done by the railways is to simplify commodity rates. All these classifications now are so much humbug and require an identity of freight in the sheds and in billing, etc., etc., that cost the railroads much more than the high rate brings them in.

It costs the railways about 14c per 100 lbs. to identify commodities.

What the railroads will have to do is to strike an all-commodity-less-than-carload rate, so that when a driver goes to a warehouse door he will pick up so many pounds for so many miles at so much money, and the portion is collected right on the spot, saving all that billing and invoicing.

Hauling freight backwards and forwards and across Canada, the present rates are cut of all reason and the business is going to the small truck.

For instance, 50 per cent. of the total volume of goods haulded by the railways, such as wheat, lumber, etc., brings in only 28 per cent. of the railroads' revenue; that has been the rate structure practice upon which the roads of United States and Canada have been built.

The "why" of all this is that basic materials, like wheat and lumber, are carried at a big loss, and the railways have been making it up on the small package.

To beat the game, the manufacturers have been having their base materials hauled in at the low cost and then using the surface roads to deliver their goods.

So that the railroads are confronted now with having to drop all this high rate and super-rate structure and put in a commodity rate to regain their business.—Vancouver Sun.

MR. BENNETT'S FUTURE.

While spokesmen for the administration at Ottawa continue to issue statements to the effect that the Prime Minister will return shortly to active leadership of his party and tour the country as its head in the approaching general election, there is considerable speculation in political circles regarding the future of Mr. Bennett with the prediction being freely made that a leader other than he will face the people when the Government finally decides to go to the country.

In the fact that the Prime Minister has booked passage for England at a date considerably in advance of the time fixed for the jubilee celebrations, observers profess to see signs of his intention of consulting eminent physicians in London regarding his physical condition and ascertaining from them whether or not it will be wise for him to resume active duties and lead his party through a strenuous campaign, perhaps the most strenuous of his entire career. Should the verdict be an adverse one, it is being predicted that Mr Bennett will accept a peerage or a baronetcy at the hands of His Majesty and retire from active public life after having returned to Canada to wind up public affairs and assist in the selection of his successor.

So widespread is the feeling that the Prime Minister may retire that names of possible successors in the leadership of the Conservative party are already being canvassed with Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Hon. E. N. Rhodes and Hon. H. H. Stevens all being mentioned for the job. Each of these gentlemen has his supporters who are managing to slip in a word of commendation for their favorites in the course of public addresses, and those of Mr. Stevens, who broke with his leader some months ago and was asked to leave the Cabinet, have been particularly active recently. It is undeniable, however, that should he be chosen to carry on, it would be anything but pleasing to some of the Conservative members and even some of the Conservative Cabinet Ministers who do not see eye-to-eye with him in the course that he has pursued.

It will be the hope of every Canadian that Mr. Bennett may profit physically from his approaching visit to England as he has undoubtedly profited from the period of enforced rest to which he has been subjected through his recent breakdown. It will be, moreover, the hope of just as many Canadians that those physicians whom it is said to be his intention to consult in London will find him in such shape that he may safely continue to administer his present duties at a reduced tempo. If, however, the verdict should be to the contrary and Mr. Bennett should consider it advisable to retire from public life in view of his physical condition, he may do so in the full knowledge that he has devoted himself more intensively to the conduct of Canadian affairs during a particularly difficult period than possibly any other statesman in history, and that the Canadian people are not forgetful of the manner in which he has spent himself in their behalf.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Evidently Hon. Dr. Manion has his own opinion of the editor of the Manitoba Free Press, and claims the right to express that opinion when he sees fit.

Regular airplane service between Hawaii and the United States would seem to be assured, in view of the ease with which the clipper ship of the air negotiated the hop over the Pacific.

Walkerville will probably agree that there should be a speed limit placed on the activities of the Legislature.

Mr. Bennett's appearance and actions have convinced most of the Ottawa newspaper men that the Premier will be back in the centre of the political stage as soon as he returns from his visit to the royal jubilee. He may have been down, but he refuses to consider himself out.

The standard hotel business seems to have staged a remarkable recovery since sale of beer and wine by the glass was authorized. At least there are some 500 places with beer authorities that were not standard hotels a year ago.

CRITICISM

To Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—Critics may be likened to a small dog, in his own yard, inside of a tall fence, barking at the big dog as he passes by outside the fence. Some anonymous writer of a vituperative character can also be likened to the small dog. The doer of things are those who are criticized. The idler is lost sight of in the march of events. Those who are in the cause of right, need not fear criticism. Critics have always been, but to the strong-minded, they are rather a help than a hinderance. It is ours to take our part on life's stage and play our part to the end; standing for that which is good; it is our to be a doer, not a drone, and let the critics criticise.

THE CRASH

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Sir,—It must strike every thinking person as peculiar that our "self satisfied" people do not ascribe the conditions we are passing through as in any way a rebuke to their self-conceit which may not look as "horrible" as drink but as we see infinitely worse in its effects. A friend of mine writing to me from the west says that until people who pretend that they are Christians learn to submit to God instead of trying to compel the Almighty to submit to them and to their own preposterous self-efficiency there can be no hope and I agree with him.

Bankrupt in religion, morals, politics and business it is high time we cashed out and shut up. People whose critical faculty prompts them to think that it is logical to "criticize" the Bible but not themselves cannot be expected to see that if they are not satisfied with it they must renounce as all other sceptics do. But to criticise it and set it right! What next?

Just what we have. What kind of a mind must it be that would be attracted by the word "baby" in baby beef? Is it demens or amens? Apparently the amens have it.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

IS THERE A REAL YOU?

Suddenly you hear yourself saying something you didn't mean to say. And you think, "Can this be me? Am I really the silly ass who is saying these crazy things? It isn't. I know it isn't, but I'll never be able to convince all these people that I'm not like this!"

No, it may not be you, but you said them just the same, without meaning to say them. You opened your mouth and the words rolled out as if they were alive and maliciously determined to make you seem ridiculous.

And just as suddenly you SEE yourself doing something you never thought you'd do. It isn't like you. It isn't the real you at all, and yet you are doing it. You aren't the sort of fellow who snaps at waiters when the service is a bit slow, or who snarls at street car conductors who jerk the cord before he is quite on, who loses his temper for trivial reasons or insists on having his own way all the time or blows up and abuses complete strangers.

But there you are, right in the full limelight, blowing off steam, making an ass of yourself—and everybody who sees you is getting a wrong impression of you. They are hearing and seeing that other fellow. But they aren't seeing YOU.

That's what you say. That's how you comfort yourself. That's what I do—and I've never believed I was "different."

We take ourselves apart, we sort our various selves into little groups.

We say of the disagreeable things: "They don't belong to me." We say of the fine parts: "Those represent the real ME—the me that isn't harassed and driven and distorted by life. If only everbody could see me as I really am, how popular I'd be, how many friends I'd have!"

But that isn't true. We are all those things we find in ourselves.

We are silly and stupid and irritable.

We are generous and tender and thoughtful.

We are good and we are bad. We are the strangest mixture imaginable and sometimes we are in the mud and slime and sometimes we walk with our heads in the clouds and we are the noblest beings that ever lived.

That silly fool who made us ashamed—he's US. That brave hero who was nobly sacrificing for a moment—he's US, too. And the idiot lives with the hero and you'll have to put up with him as long as you live—and try to make him behave himself in company.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

The head of the department of medicine in a large university medical school said to me the other day, "Do you ever hear of constipation any more? It seems to me almost a thing of the past. I have not myself, personally, taken a cathartic for ten years. And I do not believe there has been more than one dose a year given to any member of my family—and those all to the children."

Well, if my correspondence is any criterion, he will seem to many to have reached a paradise of bliss. There is still plenty of constipation in the world. But there is a great deal in what he says. Constipation is no longer regarded as a serious disease entity.

There are, I believe, two reasons for this. One, and perhaps the most important, is the changing diet of people—at least, the American people. Within my memory of many of us who are not yet entirely in our dotage, the standard American meal was meat and potatoes. Somewhere in the late nineties the "extra vegetable" began to appear as a regular or frequent addition to the average (I emphasize that) American meal. Before that the prune, which bore the brunt of dietic humor in the old days as spinach does now, was about the only form of roughage that was evident. Except perhaps the midnight apple. And let no one sneer at the apple as a constipation preventative.

But gradually the preponderance of meat went down and the percentage of vegetables and fruits went up. Potatoes are now, in most households at least, a minor feature of a meal. Think of all the vegetables and fruits with which we escape monotony—most of them of quite contemporary introduction. Broccoli, asparagus, tomatoes, carrots, celery, endive, grapefruit—in many quarters they were considered poisonous when I was young. Cabbage, sauerkraut, slaw, cauliflower and dandelion have risen in the world—they belong once only on humbler tables. Now they are the delicacies of the season.

Salad has become a regular part of a meal. Indeed, for some business men and business women it is the meal in itself. And with its watercress and lettuce, celery, fruit slices and tomatoes, it makes up a good load of bulk to act as a cleanser. And if one uses mineral oil instead of olive oil (I defy anyone to tell the difference by taste if a little olive oil is put in and the whole skillfully mixed) in the dressing, it leaves out the fattening part and puts in the best laxative for chronic use.

The amount of fruits we use now in comparison to other days is simply overwhelming.

All of these articles are healthful and furnish the roughage or bulk that constitute a gentle but effective stimulus to the intestinal movements.

Furthermore, they are now produced and distributed so inexpensively that they are available to all.

A Thought

MY FRIEND.

My heart would be so very sad,
I'm sure it never could be glad,
Were I to live on to the end,
And try to do without my friend.
When others fail to understand,
He comes with His unfailing hand,
And heals again my broken heart,
And if I trust He does His part.
I need Him when the way is clear,
He gives me hope, gives faith for fear,
He gives me all I require,
To be like Him is my desire.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

"THE BABES IN THE WOODS"

ON THIS DATE (April 18) in 1842 the citizens of Halifax heaved a general sigh of relief and resumed business, which had been generally suspended for a week in a search for two missing children, Margaret and Jane Elizabeth Meagher, aged 4 and 6 years, had stepped out of their little home at Preston, waved a farewell kiss to their smiling mother and gone into the woods to get some spring flowers for "Mammy". Hours passed; the children did not return, the mother, frantic with anxiety, ran to neighbors and gave the alarm. Very soon search parties were organized, but the children could not be found. The news spread into the city; sympathizers came out and offered aid, fresh posses were sent everywhere, but there was no sign of the babes.

The search kept up for a week, without result. A fortune teller told that the children would be found in a certain small ravine, she was laughed at, that place had been gone over more than once; she persisted; the parents listened and with a small party they went to the place named, and there were the two babies tightly locked in each other's arms, sisterly consolation as death took them.

The story spread all over America, and in time all over the world. Its tragic simplicity caught public attention, and some one wrote "The Babes in the Woods" a poem taught thereafter to generations of other little girls. The two bodies were placed in caskets with loving care and buried in Woodlawn Cemetery, Dartmouth, and a visitor there to-day can, if he has good eyesight, still read the inscription which tells of the fate of the "Babes in the Woods".

A DAY OF BIG FIRES

April 18 is a black date in the calendar of our insurance companies. On April 18, 1856, Quebec City had one of those great conflagrations which were periodical there until the citizens awoke to the need for a capable fire brigade and an efficient water supply. Beginning early in the morning the flames swept by a strong wind, destroyed everything in their path for over 24 hours. In all 1,200 houses, and several churches, were destroyed, causing much suffering as the spring was backward and the homeless suffered much by cold. Many deaths were attributed to that misery, although there were no actual deaths from the fire itself.

On April 18, 1904, Toronto had its greatest fire. Here again a strong wind did much to enlarge the catastrophe. Starting in a warehouse early in the evening the fire soon got out of control and before it was checked by Divine interposition (in answer to prayer many believe) by a change of wind, half the business section of the city was a mass of smoking ruins. The money loss exceeded $10,000,000 and was regarded at the time as a blow from which the city would never recover. Instead it proved a blessing in disguise for it led the way for the abolition of the railway monopoly on the waterfront, made possible the great terminals of which Toronto is now so proud and gave opportunity for the building of larger warehouses to replace those destroyed. Yet even today 31 years later, if one looks carefully he can find some of the ruins left by that great fire of 1904. That night will never be forgotten by those who lived through it. Had the change of wind not come the whole city must have gone; and that change of wind was duly celebrated by the weary citizens all through the night and early next morning for that was one night when Toronto was wide open. The bars did a roaring trade and the police never said a word!

What's in the Name of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

NEW LISKEARD, ONTARIO

When John Armstrong visited Northern Ontario at the request of the Ontario government in 1893, all territory between North Bay and James' Bay was a wilderness, covered by heavy timber. In the following year settlement was effected by Mr. Armstrong, with the clearing of a plot of land.

The town was incorporated in 1903, with Mr. Armstrong as the first mayor. Prior to that the place had been named Liskeard, at his request, for a personal reason, but the post office department refused to permit adoption of this name as a town by that name already was in existence. The name was changed officially to Thornloe, but Mr. Armstrong was so insistent that the word Liskeard be retained that a compromise was effected by prefixing it with New.

LITTLE VOLUME IN PRE-EASTER STOCK TRADING

Nickel, Ford A, Some of Oils and Breweries Hold Most of Attention.

PRICE TONE STEADY.

TORONTO, April 18.—(C P)—Although trading remained in small volume today, apparently under the influence of Easter holiday diversions, the price tone of the Toronto industrial share section held strong till the close today. Volume was below 12,000 shares with Nickel, Ford A and some of the oils and brewing stocks showing the main action.

FOUR ROAD MEN ARE DISMISSED

Said to Have Quit Work Under Passing Shower.

MAY LOSE RELIEF.

Four Peterborough men who were recently dismissed from the Nogie's Creek road camp may be cut off relief if several accounts of their return to the city are confirmed.

An official report intimates that the men downed their tools when a sprinkle of rain blew up and started back to camp. On the way they met the foreman, and it is said that they told him they wouldn't work in the rain. It is alleged that they tried to persuade the other men to lay off with them.

The superintendent told them the rain was only a little shower, and if they would not continue to work they were dismissed.

The information has reached the relief authorities, and there has been some suggestion that these four men have made themselves ineligible for relief. It is also stated that they rain did not continue, and that the general rule in the camps is to give the men every consideration if the weather is unfavorable.

Verdict Of Insanity Saves Scheunemann

PEMBROKE, Ont., April 18. —(CP).—Found not guilty by reason of insanity, Leslie Scheunemann, charged with the murder of Herbert Berger in Alice township March 12, to-day waited in the county jail his transfer to some mental institution. Yesterday he heard a jury, after two hours' deliberation, declare the verdict of insanity.

The Crown sought to prove Scheunemann killed Berger on the latter's farm in Alice township, and after dismembering the body, burnt it and the farm buildings. The defence brought evidence to show the prisoner had been abnormal since being struck by a heavy plank in an accident many years ago.

Missionaries Flee Western China City

TORONTO, April 18—(CP)—Despatches from Shanghai that Canadian missionaries were evacuating the West Chinese city of Chengtu through fear of an attack by Communist armies, were partially confirmed today by Rev. Dr. James Endicott, general secretary of the board of foreign missions of the United Church of Canada. The Communists are reported within 150 miles of the city.

"We received a cable yesterday saying that partial evacuation of women and children had begun in Chengtu," Dr. Endicott said. "I do not believe that is anything like wholesale evacuation."

Only three canadians are in the Chengtu area as representatives of the China inland mission, according to Rev. E. A. Brownlee, general secretary of the mission. They are Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Sinton and Miss Merle Young. Mrs. Sinton's home was formerly in Barrie, Ont.

Active Buying in Majors With Most of Leaders Showing Gains.

HOLIDAY ATMOSPHERE.

TORONTO, April 18 (C.P.) — The holiday atmosphere penetrated the Toronto Mining Market to-day and trading dragging decidedly, but holders of stocks showed no disposition to cut prices.

In fact, all groups displayed more firmness than weakness and net gains predominated at the close.

Buying was quite active in the silvers and with exception of Castle, the white metal leaders were up at the close. Eldorado sold through most of the day around 172 for a gain of 7 to 8 cents, and Bear improved a few cents on heavy trading.

Noranda had a gain of 25 cents. Hudson Bay and Falconbridge weakened a few cents and Base Metals Corporation remained steady.

Hollinger was higher and Dome rushed ahead about a half dollar, while McIntyre traded at $44 for a $1 advance. Teck Hughes, Wright Hargraves as well as McWatters, Sisco and McKenzie edged forward narrowly.

Best Scottish Clyde Purchased For O.A.C.

TORONTO, April 18 (C.P.)—Minister of Agriculture Duncan Marshall told the Ontario Legislature Agriculture Committee yesterday arrangements have been completed to bring to the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph the finest Clydesdale stallion that ever came to Canada.

"The horse is Craigie Realization," said Mr. Marshall, "and has more championships in his pedigree than any other horse ever brought to this country."

The minister said he had won blue ribbons in every show in which he was exhibited in the British Isles. Mr. Marshall had always despaired of obtaining such a sire and he was obtained only because the owner knew the government was putting him in the agricultural college.

"He's the best Clyde in Scotland, I believe," said the minister.

Plans Are Discussed Annual Camp Shower

A meeting of the Y.W.C.A. Camp Committee was held this week to make plans for the annual camp shower which will be held on May 13. The shower is always a real help to camp and donations of jam, pickles, canned goods, dishes, books, sheets, pillows, camp beds, boats, etc., are always appreciated by the campers who find at Camp Inglestane a perfect holiday.

The committee also considered repairs and new equipment for camp which each year provide a pleasant surprise when campers on the first day of camp hasten around to see "What is new."

Camp board is $7.00 per week. The cottage is large and comfortable and the camp meals in the bright, cheery dining-room are always good, but of course what could taste better than breakfast on the shore or picnic lunch or camp fire supper on a day's outing when the camp motor boat with its load of campers explores new scenes.

Miss Helen Hilton, girls' work secretary of the Saskatoon Y.W.C.A., who is to be camp director this year, will have charge of most interesting programs of camp activities. There will be handcraft, swimming, boating, hikes, nature study, sing-songs, discussions, camp fires, dramatics, and sport competitions in badminton, archery, and deck tennis. Miss Florrie Lugsdin will again be at the camp to assist with the sports.

ROAD SURFACES TO BE TREATED

Suburban Area Commission Plans to Treat Two Sections With Mulch Mixture.

CUT DOWN BAD CURVE.

Two sections of road in the Suburban Area Commission's system will be treated with mulch mixture to provide the type of semi-permanent surface now on the stretch from Highway No. 7 to Chemong Park, according to plans for this summer formulated by the Commission during the past few weeks. The two sections, totalling in length about one and one-quarter miles, are those on Lock street Lansdowne to McKellar and on the Chemong road from Chemong Park to the Floating Bridge.

Cost Around $4,000

At a cost of $2,700 per mile, the job will total around $4,000. At each point, considerable grading and draining must first be done. No contract for either of the two jobs has been let. It is expected that the actual laying of the mujch surface will not get under way until well into the summer.

The inexpensive type of mulch surfacing was tried on the section from Highway No. 7 to Chemong Park last summer and has proved quite satisfactory for roads which are not required to bear particularly heavy traffic.

Cut Down Curve

The Commission has decided to cut out the dangerous curve at the Duffus farm on the Keene road a short distance outside the city during the summer. Grading will be carried out on the Warsaw road and culverts constructed. Grading of the Otonabee Flat Road was completed last year but one culvert remains to be constructed this summer.

A new Adams power-controlled grader has been bought by the Commission in conjunction with the county and will be delivered next week. Costing $4,200, the machine will be the largest and most modern grader yet available for the Commission's work. Up to the present, work of the Commission has been hampered by the lack of a grader with sufficient weight and power to meet the requirements.

LINDSAY.

GELERT COUPLE ARE BURNED OUT

Mr. and Mrs. R. McElwain Lose Home and Contents—Only 2 Coats Saved.

Suspect Start in Chimney.

... (Examiner Correspondence) ...

LINDSAY, April 18. — Mr. and Mrs. Robert McElwain who lives one mile from Gelert Haliburton county, were burned out of house and home on Friday night of last week, losing everything they had with the exception of the clothes on their back and two coats. The house was burned to the ground, the loss being only partially covered by insurance.

The fire broke out in the afternoon when Mr. McElwain was in the village. Mrs. McElwain was alone in the house and doing some light washing. She had started a fire in the kitchen stove and when she lifted the lid to put in a stick of wood the drafts seemed to cause a terrifftic roar. She ran out to look at the chimney and noticed smoked coming through the bricks. Mrs. McEwain then rushed back into the house and upstairs to find the room in flames.

Grabs Coats and Escapes

She had just time to grab her fine new fur coat and also her husband's overcoat and rush to safety. In doing so her hair partly scorched and the tissue paper wrapped around the coats caught fire. Carrying the coats outside Mrs. McElwain tried to return into the house but was blocked by smoke and fire.

Mrs. McElwain, who is a sister of Mr. R. E. Stinson, hardware merchant of Lindsay, had been married only two years and lost a quantity of valuables in the fire, including a large assortment of linens. Mr. McElwain has for some years been a director of the Farmer's Mutual Insurance Co. and was one of the company's inspectors. He lost a number of valuable papers in the fire.

NEGOTIATIONS MAY PAVE WAY FOR HUGE NEW ARAB EMPIRE

Arabian qestion. But the original plan was never abandoned.

Detest Each Other

Now if Ibn Saoud and Abdullah, respectively king of the Hedjaz and emir of Transjordania, could come to an agreement a great and important step toward a materialization of an Arabic empire could be made.

The mufti of Jerusalem that is to say the head of the Mohammedan community, a gentle man with the finest silken red beard I ever saw and blue baby eyes, has been visiting both Ibn Saoud and Abdullah.

But Abdullah detests Ibn Saoud. He has good reason too. Ibn Saoud chased Abdullah's father, old Hussein, out of Mecca, where he had been sherif (emir) all his life. Ibn Saoud fully reciprocates the sentiment for various other reasons, too long to enumerate here.

Yet the mufti of Jerusalem, a shrewd Oriental, has accomplished the seemingly impossible. He has acted as go-between and brought the two enemies at least a little closer together. They may meet some day. Such things don't go speedily in the east. They take their time about things here.

Build New Kingdom?

Before meeting his own and his father's arch enemy, Abdullah has visited London twice within the last few months. He is willing that his kingdom Transjordania shall be incorporated in an Arabic federal empire under presidency of Ibn Saoud. But on one condition: Palestine must be added to his own kingdom. Ibn Saoud would be emperor of Arabia, Abdullah would be king of Transjordania and Palestine. The relation would be something like that of the German kings of Bavaria, Wurttemberg and Saxony to the German emperor before the war. And the whole under the aegis and protection of Great Britain. Later Irak would be joined to the empire under a similar arrangement and—who knows? — maybe Syria, too, with a king on the throne of Damascus.

The colonial office feels a good deal for this plan. It is their old plan in fact. Ibn Saoud is a mighty monarch, but Abdullah as king of both Palestine and Transjordania would also be a mighty prince. Their respective strength and influence would about be equal in the proposed empire. They would balance. The English are strong believers in what is known as the balance of power. They have pursued a policy of balance of power in Europe for Centuries. Why should it not work in Arabia?

Protest from Jews

But now comes the difficulty. That difficulty is the Balfour declaration. The Balfour declaration is not the work of the colonial office. It was made by Lord Balfour as undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, a foreign office measure thus. It sets forth that his majesty's government looks with favor upon the establishment of a national home for the Jewish people in Palestine. Palestine is rapidly becoming such a home. And that puts the crimps in the Arabic federated empire.

The Arabs of Palestine are willing to come in, some of them at any rate, those who are followers of the Jerusalem mufti. But the Jews have no desire to share in the game. The Jews are still in the minority in Palestine. Some day they may overcome this disadvantage. But they could never overcome that disadvantage in an Arabic empire.

Moreover, it is difficult to see the Jews of Palestine serve in the army of an Arabic monarch, march against—well—against Ibn Saoud, for instance, if Abdullah and his liege lord should ever have a falling out, which is not an impossible eventuality.

Negotiate in London

But Abdullah is not satisfied with Transjordania as it is. If he goes into Ibn Saoud's empire he insists on bringing something more than Transjordania. He wants to be king of Palestine, with Jerusalem as capital. Jerusalem is a glorious city, growing mightily, full of prosperity. His own little capital of Amman, while these lines are written, is a dusty highway with gray Arabic homes and huts straggling alongside it, more huts than houses.

And then says Abdullah: Did not the Jews always say that Palestine and Transjordania are one and the same country, that these two lands belong together and never should have been separated? That's true, say the Jews, but we want the two parts joined in one Jewish state, not in a state under an Arabic king, with Arabs occupying the dominant position.

For the time being negotiations continue, but not in Jerusalem or Amman. Over in London!

EXCHANGE COAL FARM PRODUCE PLAN ADVOCATED

Exchange $25,000,000 Worth of Commodities Annually.

RESULT OF MUCH STUDY.

BELLEVILLE, April 18.—A two-way trade plan by which Canada and Great Britain would exchange $25,000,000 worth of commodities yearly for a period of fifteen years, has been laid before Right Hon. R. B. Bennett, Right Hon. Mackenzie King and been forwarded to Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, United Kingdom Secretary for the Dominions.

This is the latest proposal of the Belleville Trade Group in its program for expansion of intra-Empire commerce. It is the result of much study, of two years' experience on a smaller scale and the exchange of many communications with organizations and prominent business men in Wales.

The communications have been forwarded by Captain W. E. Schuster, Chairman of the group, who spent several months in Wales promoting the idea, and F. S. Deacon, Vice-Chairman. The plan is endorsed in behalf of the municipality by Mayor Tice and has the co-operation of the Belleville Board of Trade.

Details of Plan

Canadian farm products and Welsh and Scotch anthracite coal would be the commodities exchanged, according to the plans drawn up by the Belleville group.

A summary of the proposed agreement follows:

Canada would agree to import, within fifteen years, 2,000,000 tons of British anthracite, 250,000 tons of coke and 200,000 tons of bituminous coal, which would enter Canada free of all duty and tax, at a price to assure the producer of a fair profit.

Great Britain would import, in the same period, farm products to the same value—estimated at $25,000,000—to be sold in the British coal mining areas at a price to assure a fair profit. These products would enter Britain free of all taxes.

This proposal is offered by the Belleville group with the introductory explanation that Canada needs British coal and Britain needs Canadian farm produce. The pan is, therefore, submitted in the spirit of two-way trade, with a minimum of routine involved.

BEAGLING HITS GOLF.

NEW YORK— (CP).— Beagling, which once was a sport of kings and millionaires, is coming back to popularity on Long Island, but not by any doings of the super wealthy class. The famous packs of three decades ago have been replaced by smaller kennels. It is reported that disgusted golfers are among the more enthusaistic beaglers.

SHELTER GIVEN 800 TRANSIENTS BY RED CROSS

DID NOT LIKE SHOWER

Some Preferred Cells in Police Station to Bed at Red Cross Hostel.

The Red Cross Hostel, which will shortly be closing has already this season provided temporary accommodation for over eight hundred unemployed transients, according to the record kept by City Police of tickets issued since the institution opened last November.

While a recent perusal of the police records showed that a total of 817 tickets had been issued entitling each man to a night's free accommodation, the figure does not represent the total number of transients who passed through the city during the winter.

Actually there were over nine hundred wanderers who registered at the police station, the remaining hundred or so men preferring for various reasons to spend a night in the cells in preferenec to occupying a bunk at the Hostel.

Why any man should prefer to pass a night voluntarily behind the bars of the lock-up, might be beyond the comprehension of the average man on the street, but some of the reasons might prove to be interesting.

As opposed to the hopeless down-and-out who dreads the Hostel because it involves the necessity of every man taking a shower bath, and conforming to other standards of cleanliness, it was stated by police, there is the more rare individual who having become accustomed to a lonely outcast sort of existence hesitates to cause unnecessary trouble.

That might sound hardly credible, yet Constable Gordon Puffer stated it to be a fact that he personally dealt with more than one homeless, hungry individual who declined to accept the hospitality of the Red Cross on the grounds, "it is a Society doing a good work, and it is not for the likes of us to impose upon it."

But while such unselfish men are rare enough, even among the ordinary ranks of everyday life, to say nothing of the so-called "hobo" class, there are others, all too frequently who swing to the other extreme. For instance, there was one ill-kempt aged man, who claimed to be over seventy years old, who regularly turned up at the Hostel at intervals of two weeks throughout the winter and accepted the warmth and shelter provided as a matter of course.

There are some odd characters "on the road," as any police officer can testify; yet not all of them are by any means leading a normadic existence from choice born of idleness.

All too often there is a grim background of thwarted hopes; of indominable courage in the face of difficult odds; of long periods of unemployment; and of the soul-wearying and discouraging search for the job that cannot be found.

Occasionally one gets a little glimpse of artistic or mechanical ability that given a chance for direction along the right channels, might eventually lead the possessor of such a gift into that place in society where he rightly belongs.

As an instance a "hobo" who recently received a brief sentence in the county goal upon conviction for vagrancy, spent his enforced leisure "on the hill" in fashioning a tableau of the Crucifixion which he cleverly enclosed in a glass bottle.

The effort, which was quite an achievement when one stops to consider the meagre tools which the transient had at disposal, was seen by The Examiner in the detective's room at police headquarters.

It was presented by the wandering craftsman to Detective Sergeant William Meagher.

The tableau, carved from little odds and ends of wood, occupies the whole of the inside of the bottle, and one marvels at the ingenuity required to get the various pieces through the narrow neck of the bottle, and then undertake the more difficult task of assembling them inside the bottle with the help of improvised pieces of wire.

It represents the crucified Christ nailed to Calvary's cross, between two smaller crosses in accord with the Biblical story of Christ's sacrifice for the redemption of mankind. A ladder is reared up at the rear of the larger cross, and at the base of the cross is a mallet and other tools used by Christ's tormentors.

JESUS VICTIM MAN'S FRAILTY

Seemingly Harmless Motives Actuated Accused's and Magistrate.

Rev. C. D. Daniels' Address.

The motives which brought about the crucifixion of Christ were not the heinous motives which are today commonly associated with atrocious murders, Rev. C. D. Daniels of Mark Street United Church told the Kiwanis Club at their noon luncheon to-day. They were motives which were thought good enough for everyday life. They were the same motives which are to-day responsible for world unrest and trouble, seemingly harmless motives which individuals the world over are today harboring, he declared.

No uncontrollable lust for blood activated the Pilate, the arm of Rome, in permitting the Jews to put Christ to death, Rev. Daniels said. The only fault of Pilate was the sin of being weak-kneed. He felt it an injustice to molest Jesus and yet yielded to fears that he would be discredited back in Rome, he said.

Similarly, the fault of the Jewish leaders was a normal fault found the world over to-day. They, in their anxiety for power, saw that either Christ must go or they would fall. They knew which side their bread was buttered on, the speaker said, and yielded to instincts of self-preservation, he said.

As for the Jewish people as a whole, they were activated by mob motives, having been led to believe that the welfare of the Jewish world was at stake, he pointed out.

"The things that really caused the crucifixion were not heinous things. They were just the passable little things which separate us from our ideals of good and allow us to condone injustices and wrong doing in our everyday existences. If we in this room were divided into those who would have been among the defenders of Christ and those who would have been among the crucifiers, there would be many on the wrong side of the line.

"We have been reading of happenings in Europe in our newspapers. Something is going to happen over there soon. And we are going to blame Hitler. But we need not put the blame on Hitler. The blame will rest on every single individual in the world who has contributed through his minor motives to the present mess the world is in."

An unusual feature of the luncheon was the presentation of several highlights from the production "San Toy," to be staged by the St. Paul's Church Choir in the Opera House Friday next week. Under the direction of Martin B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O., and Major H. Dodds, the persons contributing to the short entertainment were Murray Sedgwick, Horce Hope, and Don McKay as San Toy, Fo Hop and Yen How, and, as wives, Phyllis Coleman, Isabel Hamilton, Isabel Jackson, Ivy James, Sarah Sands and Grace Thompson. The sample of the music and costuming which may be expected by patrons of the production next week won appreciate applause.

Car Dealers Find Way To Cut Costs

Local automobile dealers are finding it more economical, it is stated, to have motor cars shipped from the manufacturers under the system that was inaugurated by local dealers this year.

Under the new system it is learned, cars are being shipped from factories at Oshawa, Windsor, Walkerville and other automobile plants, on special tractor-trailers built to carry four or five cars at once. So far as shipments of cars for Peterborough are concerned, they are transported as far as Port Hope on the specially designed trailers and are then driven here under their own power for delivery to local dealers.

Formerly local dealers have been under necessity of bearing the expense of sending drivers direct to the manufacturers to accept delivery of cars and to drive them to Peterborough. The expense has been no inconsiderable item in the past, as it involved (in the case of a man going to Windsor, for example), single rail fare plus "sleeper" out of Toronto, and incidentals.

Diesel Engined Trucks Operate on Highway 2

Powered with Diesel engines, transport vehicles are being operated on Highway 2 at a minimum of expense, according to Highway Traffic Officer A. E. Hornick of this city, who is at present on weigh scale duty near Welcome.

The officer stated that the Smith Transport Company is operating three of the trucks which are of English make, and that Sills Transport Company owns at least one of them.

Marking a new departure in automobile engine design, it is stated that the Diesel motors are run on crude oil costing but ten cents per gallon, as compared with gasoline at 25 cents a gallon. Diesel engines run on a different principle from gasoline engines, the fuel being ignited within the cylinder by compression instead of ignition.

Constable Hornick said he learned from one of the drivers of a Gardiner Diesel truck that operating fuel costs on a run from Oshawa to Cornawll, merely amounted to $1.90.

Obituary

MRS. R. N. PERRIN

Word of the death of Mrs. R. N. Perrin, mother of Mrs. J. Douglas Paterson of this city, was received today. She passed away at her Toronto home on Westminster avenue this morning.

The funeral will take place in Toronto on Saturday.

JAMES THOMAS CANNIFF

The death of James Thomas Canniff, veteran printer and former resident of Peterborough, occurred at the home of his daughter, Mrs. D. B. Fleming, in Toronto yesterday. He was in his eighty-second year.

Mr. Canniff was born in the village of Cannifton, which bore the family name, on April 7, 1854. As a young man he learned the printing trade and worked on a number of large daily papers in both the United States and Canada. He is well known to older printers in Peterborough, having served with both the Review and The Examiner here during the years immediately preceding the Great War.

He was an ardent fisherman and sailor and enjoyed many visits to Stoney Lake. Always an active man, he made a habit of rowing six miles each day for his daily paper even as late as 1932 when he had reached 60 years of age.

Mr. Canniff was a member of the International Typographical Union and the Canadian Order of Foresters for more than 50 years. He is survived by three sons—Bertram E. of Calgary, Stanley W. of Ottawa and Douglas L. of Toronto; and one daughter, Mrs. D. B. Fleming, also of Toronto. Funeral services will be held at the residence of Mrs. Fleming at 10.30 o'clock Saturday morning with interment in Prospect Cemetery, Toronto.

WILLIAM BARRETT

Funeral services for William Barrett, who died on Sunday last were held at the Church of Our Lady of Sorrows in Chicago yesterday morning, with interment following at Mount Carmel Cemetery.

Mr. Barrett was well-known in Peterborough and Havelock having spent his summer vacations here on several occasions with relatives. Besides his widow, formerly Margaret Armstrong, he leaves a brother and sister in Ireland. William Armstrong, Peterborough, and Charles Armstrong, Havelock, are brothers-in-law.

Stellarton Buries Its Mine Blast Dead

STELLARTON, N.S., April 18. — (C.P.)—Plans for re-opening the explosion-torn Allan shaft were uncertain to-day as a town in mourning prepared to bury seven miners who met death behind a barrier of fallen coal and stone.

Rescue workers menaced by deadly gas had to batter their way through more than 600 feet of debris to recover the bodies in the 1,500-foot level of the mine.

All day Tuesday, Tuesday night and Wednesday the volunteers labored, before reaching the spot where four miners lay dead.

Further on were the bodies of three others who apparently had escaped the full force of the blast only to fall victims of "after damp," dreaded gas.

HUMANE SOCIETY HAS BUSY MONTH

Dr. Thomas Johnston Reports Month Full of Activities.

EXAMINED 100 HORSES.

The extensive activities of the Peterborough Humane Society whose annual tag day is on Easter Saturday are indicated in the April report of Dr. Thos. Johnston, V.S., Inspector for the society.

Dr. Johnston's statement is itemized as follows: horses examined, 100; dogs brought to shelter, 25; dogs humanely destroyed, 20; dogs placed in homes, 2; dogs claimed by owners, 1; cats brought to shelter, 14; cats destroyed, 13; cats given to homes, 1; other animals examined, 25; poultry houses examined, 1; summons issued, 3; convictions, 1; dismissals, 2; complaints investigated, 10; warnings, 7; emergency calls, 7; stables inspected, 3; telephone calls, 200.

Dr. Johnston has also been called to many cases outside the city. A summons was taken out against a man in Brighton for extreme cruelty to stock by lack of fodder and also for unsanitary stable conditions. Some of the stock died. The case was tried before a magistrate, and was adjourned three times to give this man a chance to improve his stable. On final proof that adequate changes had been made the case was dismissed with costs.

The driver of a rural mail route was ordered to leave his horse at home because the animal was staggering from need of sufficient food. In an adjoining township livestock was wrongly seized and retained without enough feed, for the animals. This case was tried before Judge Smoke who ordered release of the stock and damages for neglect of the animals while they were held. Inspector Johnston was informed of horses being ill treated at a camp near Rockcroft, and the superintendent was warned that legal action would be taken if there was any recurrence of the complaints.

Another case was reported to the Inpector to the effect that a horse and cow were not being properly cared for. The cow had been removed before the Inspector's visit, and the horse was found to be well fed. The owner was given orders to supply bedding which was lacking. Other conditions at this place were referred to the Sanitary Inspector.

When you buy the Humane Society's button hole violets on Saturday your contribution goes into the fund which enables the Society to continue this kind of supervision which otherwise would probably be negected.

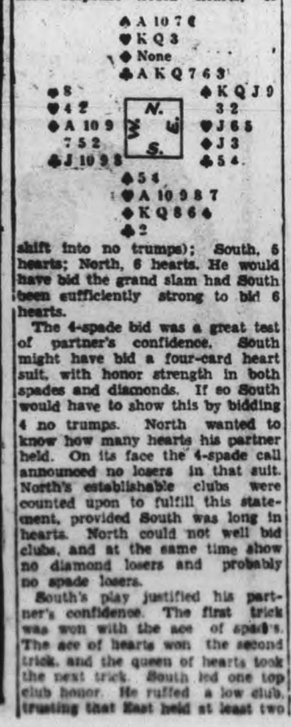
CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. V. Shepard
"Teacher of Teachers"

BRILLIANT ACCOMPLISHMENT

For years I have known of the enthusiasm for contract bridge in Calgary, Alberta. The following sample of brilliant bidding and play has just been received from an old Calgary friend, Mr. Fred J. Green. The hand appeared in the Renfrew club, with A. L. Barr sitting South and Mr. C. T. Woodside sitting North. Both bidding and play are well worth studying.

Bidding went: South, 1 heart; West, 2 diamonds; North, 3 diamonds, showing powerful support for his partner's call, and no losers in opponent's suit—the best possible method of spurting South to a slam attempt; East, 3 spades; South had to pass, and so did West; North, 4 spades, forcing partner's response (rebid hearts, or shift into no trumps); South, 6 hearts; North, 6 hearts. He would have bid the grand slam had South been sufficiently strong to bid 6 hearts.



The 4-spade bid was a great test of partner's confidence. South might have bid a four-card heart suit, with honor strength in both spades and diamonds. If so South would have to show this by bidding 4 no trumps. North wanted to know how many hearts his partner held. On its face the 4-spade call announced no losers in that suit. North's establishable clubs were counted upon to fulfill this statement, provided South was long in hearts. North could not well bid clubs, and at the same time show no diamond losers and probably no spade losers.

South's play justified his partner's confidence. The first trick was won with the ace of spades. The ace of hearts won the second trick, and the queen of hearts took the next trick. South led one top club honor. He ruffed a low club, trusting that East held at least two

Police Department To Buy Automobile

Chief Constable Samuel Newhall was authorized to purchase a new car for use of the Police Department at a special meeting of the Police Commission sitting under chairmanship of Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., yesterday afternoon.

Estimates from five local automobile dealers were carefully considered and as high as $300 was offered as the trade-in value of the old car, which the Chief claimed had outlived its usefulness to the Department. The lowest estimate of $595 cash for a new Ford V8 car was accepted from Messrs Hood and Cummings.

His Honor Judge Sheldon L. Smoke was insistent in his demand as to how payment for the car was going to be financed, and was finally assured that it would be paid for out of the $25,000 appropriation which was made for the Police Department estimates for the current year.

Chief Newhall declared that the car was an absolute necessity in order to maintain efficiency of his department, and stated that while its purchase would necessarily be made at the sacrifice of certain incidentals, he felt that it could be satisfactorily accomplished, as it had been on a former occasion two years ago.

Old Dutch is a cleanser so pure,
It is used without harm I am sure;
So it cleans all my metal,
My pots, pans, and kettle,
Its place in my home is secure.
Written by Mrs. E. A. Stinson, Peterboro, Ont.

Old Dutch saves work and money for thousands of women because it cleans quicker and does more cleaning per penny of cost. The reason is, it is made with surface-saving SEISMOTITE (pronounced sis'-mo-tite)—a natural cleaning and polishing material of volcanic origin that is specially processed and compounded with other fine ingredients according to the famous Old Dutch formula. Old Dutch adds years to the life of porcelain and enamel, glassware and metals, kitchen utensils and painted surfaces because it doesn't scratch.

Prove to yourself that Old Dutch lasts longer and costs less to use by dating the next package you buy. There is no substitute for Old Dutch quality and economy.

More than thirty members and guests of the King's Own Bible Class of St. James United Sunday School were present last night at a delightful class party held at the home of Mrs. J. S. Spurway, George street, where business and pleasure were equally mingled. Presiding, Mrs. A. Rosborough, the president, conducted the opening devotional and business sessions. The latter was of a most interesting character. One important feature was deciding upon an allocation to be paid into the current expense fund of the church. One hundred dollars was unanimously voted to this fund. They also presented a request for members to take the weekly church envelopes for contributions, which seven of the class accepted. A splendid report was given by the treasurer and in the secretary's minutes it was shown that this class is active in all good work. Letters from shut-ins and bereaved members, bore grateful testimony to much kindly ministering by the class. It was also reported that the Wednesday afternoon work meetings held the undivided interest of the members. As the fancy articles for sale and the beautiful quilts were silent evidence. Mrs. L. V. Wood, convenor of the program committee, took charge and opened this period with a snappy spelling match which was very much enjoyed. Probably due to the cold spell, the "ice" contest proved very appropriate. The prize, a pretty picture, was won by Mrs. G. Rowe, while Mrs. Bearne carried off the consolation offering. Order was called for the devotional part of the program. Much regret was expressed at the absence of the class teacher, Mrs. A. E. Moorhouse. The theme of worship was "Transforming Friendship," which opened with a short sing-song of suitable hymns. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Wood from John 15:1-8 after which Miss Hanbidge offered prayer. Prayer also was the title of a reading by Mrs Finnie. The beautiful story of the "Angelus" was told by Mrs. Croft, who also gave an account of the life of the painter, Jean Francois Millet. "Prayer Changes Things" was sung, and "The Transforming Friendship" followed. This theme was divided into four sections and given respectively by the leaders: The Gift of Friendship, by Mrs. A. Allen; The Reality of Friendship, Mrs. Hess; The Personal Nature of Friendship, Mrs. Woodcock; The Inherent Power of Friendship, Mrs. Miller. A delightful musical number, "Living for Others" was sung by the King's Own Quintuplets, Mesdames A. Rosborough, Al Davis, Bert Pitchford, J. Croft and W. E. Sloane, accompanied by Mrs. Earl Eakins at the piano. The 'quints' responded to the appreciative applause with an encore. As a fitting climax to the fine program was the Irish reading "Marty Mahone'" by Mrs. Rowe. Mrs. Gordon Adams, with an efficient committee, served dainty refreshments at cosily arranged tables, where everyone enjoyed a social halfhour. On behalf of the class, Mrs. Bearne expressed sincere thanks to Mrs. Spurway for her gracious hospitality; to Mrs. L. V. Wood for the very entertaining program, and to Mrs. Adams for the delicious viands.

At the home of Mrs. Mervin Pickel, the members of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Mark's Church, Otonabee, met yesterday for their regular session, and to present a gift to Mrs. Pickel, Senior, on the seventieth anniversary of her birth. A nicely-worded address was read by Mrs. T. E. Graystock, and the gift, a pretty tea tray, was handed to Mrs. Pickel by Mrs. J. L. Hughes. A suitable response was made by the recipient, who was deeply touched by the remembrance. The meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. W. Robinson. Mention was made of several members who are ill, and hopes were expressed for their speedy recovery.

Make Tidy Meal Of Salty Onion

TORONTO, April 18 (C.P.)—Food given out by the Scott Institute Mission to hungry men runs into quite a lot of weight.

One surprising item is 100 pounds of salt per week. "The explanation of this," says the superintendent, "is the habit of some of the men to slip two or three slices of bread into their pockets and some salt. In their room or wherever they sleep they usually have some bread and salt and a bit of onion before they turn in for the night. Where they get the onion I cannot say, but onions are cheap and such a meal tides them over till the 11 o'clock lunch hour comes."

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Divisional dishes for serving foods are decidedly popular. It cannot be said that they are a novelty, for they have been made for generations; but, nevertheless, their return to fashion and the many styles in which the dishes now appear give them the semblance of novelty. So, if you have your china closet, your silver chest, and your tea table up to date in furnishings, they must include some dishes that are duplex, triplicate or even of greater numbers of separate compartments. These dishes may be called conserve dishes, refreshment dishes, hors d'hoeuvre dishes, or any of the names by which these comprehensive dishes or sectional trays are termed.

• • • • • •

A single one of these compartment dishes can be used for numerous purposes. For example it can be used for hors d'hoeuvres for a first course in true French style. The canapes could be in one dish, a salad combination in another, broiled bacon rashers skewered about tiny shrimp in another, with olives in a fourth. Or for a relish dish, jelly could be in one or two of the compartments with chowchow in another, olives in another and gherkins in another. There is no hesitancy to duplicate kinds of relishes in different compartments.

• • • • • •

Various cheeses may be in different compartments with crackers piled in a centre one and the dish could then be used for the final course of a meal.

• • • • • •

The dishes themselves may have the shaped compartments made in one with the dish, or, what is even preferable, the dishes may be removable, thus simplifying keeping them clean. The tray or platter holder may be of lacquer, glass or china with dishes of similar ware. There are many which grace a table beautifully some of silver with glass dishes fitted together inside.

Special Choir Music All Saints' Church

The rendition of the "Darkest Hour" on Good Friday by All Saints' Church choir will mark the 20th anniversary of a service of passion music by the choir. During past performances such well known choral and solo works as the "Crucifixion", "Penitence, Pardon and Peace", "Olivet to Calvary" and the "Darkest Hour" have been given.

To judge one of these masterpieces by comparison with another is better left to the individual as their worth to humanity can only be computed by the more effectiveness of one or the other on the individual.

"The Darkest Hour" pours forth its story of the Cross in magnificent music calling as it does for very fine work by the chorus and soloists; its greater appeal however lies in the tremendous climaxes only obtained by close application on the part of the choir as a whole.

In repeating "The Darkest Hour" this year the extra training and knowledge gained from past experience will, the choir feels, enable it to make a more perfect rendition of this exacting work.

The public is cordially invited to this service of devotion commencing at 8 p.m.

LINDSAY

Valentia Home Lost In Disastrous Fire

LINDSAY, April 18 (Examiner Correspondence).—Fire caused from overheated stovepipes completely destroyed the frame residence of John Chalmers, about three miles north of Valentia yesterday. A brisk wind was blowing at the time and the house was an easy prey to the flames. Nothing was saved of the contents, but two incubators and a trunk. Mr. Chalmers had moved into the house three months ago and had purchased five incubators intending to start a hatchery. The large barn of J. Starr, on the poposite side of the road, narrowly escepted destruction. There was no insurance.

Helen Woottan gave a reading on Christian stewardship, and the study book was taken very ably by Grace Sargeant. The meeting closed with a hymn and the Mizpah benediction. MOUND STAFF LOOKS "SOFT" REBUILT MACKS

Athletics Rank With Leaders in Batting and Defensive Averages.

MUCH DEPENDS ON FOXX

IN THE patient manner of a boy building a house of blocks which persists in tumbling down, Connie Mack is trying to reconstruct one more pennant - winning baseball team. But the club doesn't seem to be there this year, and the reason lies with the pitchers. The Athletics have a punch. Only Detroit and Cleveland had a better batting average last year. Also, it is a better than average defensive club.

Pitching! Connie Mack, for whom more great mound stars have toiled in other years than have been assembled by any other manager save McGraw, certainly has need for superlative patience in these latter years. Otherwise, with the staff as it appears now, he surely would check the whole business as a bad job. Jimmy Foxx, great first baseman of his championship teams of 1929, 1930 and 1931, has given the office that he will serve adequately in his new position behind the bat. Hooks, a Texas league pick-up, may pass the test at first. The rest of the infield and outfield is set, with Williams at second, McNair and Wurstler at short, Pinky Higgins at third and Cramer, Bob Johnson, Coleman, Finney and Moses (the one from Galveston) in the outfield. That's a good line-up, and if there were a couple of Chief Benders on the staff, the club might go somewhere. But Mack has only one twirler who won more games than he lost last year, Johnny Marcum, whose totals were 14 victories against 11 defeats.

THE OTHERS are Dietrich, Cain, Cascarella, Alton Benton, Mahaffey, Charlie Lieber, Caster and Wilshere. Mostly they are still strangers to major league ways. The only veteran of the cast is Mahaffey, who won six and lost seven last year, mostly in relief parts. Certainly all of them appear promising. Cain led the club in earned run ratings, allowing 4.40 runs per game, but the best he could do was win nine while losing 17. Dietrich, who won 11 and lost 12 last year, has shown lots of stuff in training camp. He has a great fast ball and appears headed for a big year.

Cascarella had his baptism of fire last year, and was beaten in a dozen games while winning 11. He seems to have plenty of stuff, too. Young Benton, rookie last year, won seven and lost nine. Vernon Wilshere, who came to the club last year from the University of Indiana, is the only left-hander. He needs seasoning, which Mack plans to give him as he goes along. Lieber is a rookie, but his several years of Pacific Coast league experience give him a good background. He has a good fast ball and baffling sinker.. Caster, like most of the others, is just another new face until he proves something. The veteran Charley Berry is r[illegible]ef catcher, with young Charley Moss as third string. Another youngster being kept is Lamar Newsome, spare infielder. With the pitching staff such as it is, the Athletics rate continued submersion in the second division.

YESTERDAY'S STARS
(By the Associated Press.)

Buddy Myer, Senators—Scored first run against Athletics after walking and drove in last with single.

Chick Hafey, Reds—Slammed triple, double and single against Pirates, batting in three runs.

Sam Jones, White Sox—Limited Tigers to seven hits in seven innings.

Big Miller, Red Sox—Clouted pinch single in tenth to drive in runs that beat Yankees 4-3.

500 PLAYERS TAKE PART IN CITY SOFTBALL

Pastime Once Played by Older Athletes Developed Into Speedy Game.

ORGANIZED HERE IN 1921

Softball ghosts of yesteryear will flit through the convention rooms when the Ontario Amateur Softball Association meets here to-morrow—ghosts of classy softball players who performed in Peterborough before the O.A.S.A. was organized. The association had its inception in 1923 but softball was played here before that. In fact, organized softball began here in 1921 but "indoor" softball" was played in the local Armouries and in the "Y" before the '20s.

Over 500 softball players will take to the diamonds in Peterborough next month, carrying on in the game originated by an older local generation. The style of play has changed considerably since those post-war days—and those pre-depression years! Originally a game for older men, it is now played by young athletes and has developed into an amazingly speedy game, one which draws hundreds of fans nightly to the abbreviated diamonds. Peterborough now has the City Softball League, the Girls' Softball League, the Southend Softball League, the School Softball League and possibly a few others this year.

Organized Here in 1921

The game became organized as a city sport here in 1921 when the P.A.A.A. was formed under Walter Smaill, professional coach. The various sports under this association were assigned to interested citizens to operate. J. E. Sullivan was elected president of the City Softball League with Walter Fitzgerald secretary. These two men did a great deal for the game that year and for several succeeding years. Under their care, the sport grew rapidly and flourished with large entries, long and interesting schedules and good finances. After the "Y" and Armouries' schedules, softball shifted to the Brock St. rink, then to Central Park outdoors and finally to its present stand at Central School grounds. Alex Kay and the late Curly LeBarr did yeomen service as umpires in the early days.

As many as 80 and 90 games a season were run off some 12 years ago in the City League. At one time, two large sections comprised this circuit, the Industrial Section and the Club Section. Such teams as the Belmonts and Firemen went out as Peterborough representatives in playdowns when the O.A.S.A. was organized. Other prominent squads of bygone days here included: K. of C., Dragoons, C. G.E., Woollens, Quaker Oats, Brintons, Lawn Bowlers, Kiwanis, Rotary, Triple Link, Y. M.C.A. and in more recent years the Westclox, Harrison's and Sugar Bowl. Players such as Benny McLean, Cy Hashill, Chief Gimblett, Joe Dunkerley, Hap Harrison, Shag Shaughnessy, Hip Hardill, Herb Wolff and a host of others starred on local diamonds a decade or more ago.

Not only has the game provided first-rate entertainment for players and fans here by the hundreds the past 15 years, but Peterborough has received considerable advertising by teams in Ontario play-downs. George Dormer's Sugar Bowl squad has had great success in recent years and won the championship of Eastern Ontario two years ago. Besides this affiliated league, girls' softball and minor boys' softball has made rapid strides and this sport is a major one locally now. The game promises to be bigger and better than ever this summer and will have an added boost by the city's first annual O.A.S.A. convention here this Good Friday.

CAGERS TO TOUR JAPAN

NEW YORK (C.P.)—As a goodwill preliminary to the 1936 Olympic Games, a team of California basketball players, most of them former college stars, will make a tour of Japan this spring. Clarence Anderson, who played for Southern California in 1933, will be in charge of the team.

ERNIE SMITH IS UNOPPOSED AS LOOP HEAD

W. J. Innis of Paris Also Has No Opposition for Treasurer's Post.

MUCH BUSINESS ON AGENDA

Considerable business will face the general meeting of the O.A.S.A. annual convention here to-morrow afternoon. The election of officers should see plenty of competition as only two officers are likely to be returned unopposed. President Ernie Smith of Hamilton and Treasurer W. J. Innes of Paris will have no opposition but contests are expected for the two vice-presidents and the secretary, while 16 have been named for the four executive positions. A bank balance of $327 will be reported in the treasurer's statement. The general meeting will be in the Empress Hotel at two o'clock, immediately after the banquet.

There are prospects of a drastic change in the policy of the O.A.S.A. whereby the controlling body of softball in Ontario will forego its split of play-off gate receipts because of an amendment to be brought up by an executive member. The idea is suggested that a registration committee be established to handle complete records of the 20,000 or so players, with a charge of 25 cents for each player to register so that the O.A.S.A. would derive revenue lost in passing up the play-off split. And the amendment also suggests the creation of a registered list of umpires under the association's control throughout Ontario. The officials would be paid and received appointments through the provincial body.

From Hamilton comes the amendment that the O.A.S.A. form a commercial group composed only of commercial teams. This group would be entirely separate from the O.A.S.A. group and declare their own championship and not play-off with the O.A.S.A. groups. Players playing in commercial group may also play in the O.A.S.A. group. And an addition to the constitution: "That no amateur team or player or town be allowed to play against professional teams or players in any game where admission fee, collection, ticket sale or drawing is charged or held."

From the Border Cities: That section F, bylaw 1, regarding declaration of winners be rigidly adhered to and that this section be enlarged to cover all play-off dates within a time limit. That Section D, Bylaw 3, be amended to increase fee of umpire to a minimum of four dollars. That official bat be not more than 36 inches in length. Section 10, Rule 40, last sentence be amended to read: "baserunner who holds his base on a fly ball may advance moment such fly ball touches the person of a fielder with the risk of being put out."

Quality for Play-offs

The St. Catharines amendment says: "If a player playing in an Industrial and another series, plays in 50 per cent of the league games in each series, he be qualified to take part in the O.A.S.A. play-offs in both series." And the executive suggests that in future, Northern Ontario champions be declared in all series in the O.A.S.A.

Mr. Collett's amendment: That a player desiring to play in a higher class in another district must first secure permission of the district association he is leaving. Mr. Grant's amendment: Article 5, re officers—Change to provide for equal representation of each zone district on the executive of the O.A.S.A. "The officers shall be past president, president, life members, first and second vice-presidents, secretary, treasurer, one A.A.U. governor (all elected at annual meeting), six zone executive members (elected in their respective zone districts), and two executive members to be named by the incoming president.

Treasurer Innes' Amendment: That a registration bureau be established by the O.A.S.A. with a permanent office in a central point and correspondence acknowledged where all records shall be kept promptly. That a registration fee of 25 cents a player be charged for all players under the O.A.S.A. jurisdiction, this charge to entitle players to a playing certificate, registration card and one rule book. Rule 13, Section 1—Change weight of ball to read not less than 6¾ ounces nor more than 7 ounces.

CUBA HAS A WORD FOR IT

HAVANA (CP) — Cuban baseball fans, to whom baseball is almost a religion, have done wonders with the Spanish and English languages in creating their own diamond expressions. Baseball becomes "beisbol" to the Cuban fan and home run is "jonron." When a batter strikes out he "punctures himself" —"se ponche."

First President

J. E. SULLIVAN
First president of the City Softball League when the loop was first organized back in 1921 under the P.A.A.A. Mr. Sullivan with Walter Fitzgerald as secretary did much good work in laying the foundation of the present prosperous circuit.

HALIFAX WINS ALLAN TROPHY

Wolverines Cop Historic Cup By Taking Second Straight From Ports.

FINAL SCORE 4-3.

By GEORGE C. MURRAY

HALIFAX, April 18. (CP).—This seaport city drank from the Allan Cup for the first time in her colorful history last night after her Wolverines defeated Port Arthur Bearcats, 4 to 3, to make it "two straight" in the Canadian amateur hockey championship finals.

With the battered silverware and the Dominion title, Jack Conn's valiant pack won the right to represent Canada at the 1936 Olympic Games in Berlin, and even those wanted by professional teams intimated they would shun contracts to make the trip.

Hudson Is Halifax Star

To blond Ron Hudson, who came down from South Porcupine, Ont., four years ago, went the honors for last night's triumph. With a record of having scored in every play-off game since the Wolves started against Charlottetown in February, the brilliant right winger home two goals for Halifax in the sizzling second period.

Mickey McGlashen and Owen Lennon, his mates on the Wolverine first string of snipers, accounted for the other two, while Port Arthur's scores came from the sticks of Bill Thomreon, Jimmy Hagarty and Num Friday.

BEARS START 1935 SEASON WITH 16-3 WIN

Bell Leads Newark Clouters at Expense of Rochester Redwings.

LEAFS - SYRACUSE OFF.

(By The Associated Press)

Newark Bears, who have finished on top of the International League standing for the past three seasons only to get belted out of the playoffs before they ever reached the Little World Series, have made another flying start toward the pennant with the start of the 1935 campaign.

Braving wintry weather that wiped two of the opening games off the program a little further north, the Bears entertained 5,000 fans, including Governor Harold Hoffman of New Jersey, by slamming out a 16-3 decision over Rochester Red Wings.

Baltimore Orioles and Montreal Royals gave an even wilder demonstration of loose early season play before Baltimore finally won out in the ninth 13-12.

8,000 See Opener

A crowd of 8,000 saw the weird struggle which saw four Oriole hurlers and three for Montreal fail to hold the batters in check and each team commit four errors. Bob Gibson, newly acquired shortstop, produced the odd run in the ninth by smacking a hit against the fence after two were out. Woodley Abernathy clouted four of Baltimores 15 hits while Pete Appleton and Jimmy Ripple contributed homers to the Montreal cause, Ripple knocking in five runs.

Cold weather in New York state forced the postponement of the Buffalo-Albany and Toronto-Syracuse games. They may get into action to-day if the temperature rises.

Welcome Delegates

Welcome, Ontario softball delegates! Peterborough, a live softball centre, extends greetings to members of the O.A.S.A. and other softball visitors arriving here this evening and to-morrow morning for the first annual O.A.S.A. convention ever held in this city. Local league officials, the Mayor and other prominent men will welcome guests officially at the banquet to-morrow in the Empress Hotel, but followers of the game here and Peterborough citizens generally through The Examiner extend greetings now and wish them success when they convene Good Friday.

ASSOCIATION PLANS BASEBALL TOURNEY

OMEMEE, April 18.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A meeting of the Athletic Association was held in the Council Chamber on Monday evening, April 15. Reports were given by convenors. Messrs. H. Jones and W. Wilson were appointed as a committee to interview property owners as to the building of fences. C. Mills is to place a gate on his property on the east end of the athletic field.

The convenors of 1934 are to meet with the treasurer and a full report given. Floyd Parsons, W. Stephenson and Dr. McPhee were appointed as delegates to attend a meeting which will be held in Peterborough by representatives from Lakefield, Keene, Bridgenorth and Warsaw for the purpose of making uniform rules for the baseball tournaments to be held in these respective places.

After much discussion it was decided by a good majority of members to hold a street dance on the evening of May 24, and that two orchestras be engaged, one for round dancing and one for square dancing.

Roy Faulkner was engaged at a fee of $10 to look after the cleaning of the street before and after the dance, the erection of detour signs and snow fences, also soft drink stands, pianos and refreshment booths. Committees are to meet again on the 29th of this month.

The Athletic Society showed their respect to the late George Dickson, who was always a willing helper, by sending him a spray of flowers and a letter of sympathy to his father, Mr. W. Dickson.

Girls' Softball Executive Favors Junior Group

NEW SECTION WOULD SUPPLY PLAYERS FOR OLDER CIRCUIT

Omemee to Play in Second Half of Schedule—Seek New Entry.

APPOINT SCORE KEEPER.

The possibility of forming a junior section of the Girls' Softball League this year was discussed thoroughly at an executive meeting held in Duffus' last night. The matter will be checked upon before the next meeting, May 8th, which will be the closing date for entries. With a full representation on hand, considerable business was handled.

With President Ev. Thomas in the chair, the minutes were read to open the session The report of the delegates to the P.W.S.U. annual convention in Toronto followed. Team entries were then called with Westclox, C.G.E. and Keene joining. Omemee stated they would join provided they were permitted to play only in the second half, as school examinations would not allow their players the time during the first half. After some discussion, it was voted that Omemee enter the second half.

Those present decided to get in touch with Lakefield, Bethany and Bailieboro in an effort to get another team in the league. Any local squad would be welcomed. It was felt that the schedule should open about May 18th and be run in two halves, winners of each half playing off for the league title and the right to go into the Provincial playdowns.

Favor Junior Group.

The president then suggested that a junior section should be organized this season to provide sport for more players and to bring along replacements for the future as every year found a number of players dropping out of competition. This was agreed to an a general discussion followed. The consensus of opinion was that various members of the executive check up with prospective sponsors of junior teams and report at the next meeting. Choate's, Brinton's, Westclox, C.G.E. Maple Leafs and others were mentioned as prospects.

The league will advertise as in former years for a groundkeeper and for umpires. Jack Graham was re-appointed to take care of the scoreboard this summer. Certificates were given out to the teams and are to be returned at an early date for mailing to the P.W.S.U. They decided to make May 8th closing date for entries. It was voted that in league playoffs, each team receive one-third of the gate and the league one-third. The official softball will be used. The meeting then adjourned.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

Paul Runyan may become one of golf's greatest champions. In fact he will be numbered among the golfing immortals if—. And the IF is big enough to keep this sometimes brilliant shotmaker out of this select class.

He must make a change in his swing! Runyan's swing, in the eyes of the average golfer, seems good enough. It has enabled him to shoot in the sixties on several occasions during the winter tourneys.

But, fundamentally, it isn't sound. It lacks the smoothness and rhythm possessed by Jones, Sarazen, Mac Smith and others whose records for consistency over the years in argument enough in favor of the CORRECT swing.

Electrics Intershop League Re-organized

April 29th was the date set for the final acceptance of entries in the C.G.E. men's inter-department softball league which was re-organized at a meeting held in the gatehouse last night. Indications are that there will be six strong outfits with the Refrigerator Cabinet department, hockey champions of the past winter, being the class of the league. Games will again be played at King Edward Park, and the next meeting will be held in the gatehouse on May 1st

Officers for the coming season are: President, Dee Sproule; Vice-President, J. Reeve-Newson; Secretary-Treasurer, Earl Kearns, and an executive committee composed of Bill Bennett, Max Wilson, Gordon Tollington and Harold Darling. It was also decided that the C.G.E. would not sponsor a team in the Men's City League.

Bulgarian Leaders Jailed After Raid

SOFIA, Bulgaria, April 18. (AP) Severe political leaders, including at least one former prime minister, were arrested to-day in a surprise raid ordered by the Minister of the Interior. Former Premier Alexander Zankoff was taken to the internment camp at Burgas on the Black Sea.

Other arrests followed in rapid succession, the authorities taking into custody former Police Director Natseff and Colonel Porkoff.

The Government move followed interception of a letter, allegedly written by Zankoff to political leaders, in which military influence in the government regime was severely criticized.

Timon Gueorguieff, who became premier last May 20 in a coup d'etat, also was arrested.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two.

(By C. J. P.)

Welcome to the softball delegates here for tomorrow's annual O.A.S.A. meeting. A raft of them will arrive this evening for the executive meeting and the rest will come tomorrow a.m. We're glad to have them here this year, the first time Peterborough has been selected for this convention. The guys that breeze into town tonight and tomorrow for this jamboree aren't players—no, they're organizers and the brains behind the game. In a few weeks, they will be forgotten again—until called upon to settle protests or arrange playoffs—while the players will be hogging the spotlight. So, we take pleasure at this time in hoisting the frothing beaker and upending it to our O.A.S.A. guests!

The gals' softball executives went into a huddle at Duffus' yester gloaming and cleared the decks for an early sailing—if you'll podden a mixed metaphor or two. Looks like Keene, C.G.E., Westclox and Omemee are the only sure entries, and the latter only for the second half. However, attempts will be made to induce another team or two to climb aboard before the closing date for entries which is May 8th. Lakefield, Bailieboro and Bethany were all mentioned as well as Auburns and Quaker Oats.

• • • • • • •

A four-star suggestion was made by Ev. Thomas that the Gals' Loop should have a junior section to it—players not necessarily being under 18 or 20 (as it's the heighth of optimism to expect gals to divulge their true ages!), but those who are beginning or aren't on the regular squads. The idea is to bring along players for future service on the P.W.S.U. teams and to give every lass a chance to get into the game. It's an okay idea and something may be accomplished along this line shortly. The Brintons, Choate's, C.G.E., Westclox and Maple Leafs are some of the prospective sponsors mentioned, but anyone will be as welcome as the landlord's absence the first of the month.

George Dormer has been appointed manager of Fashion-Crafts in the 1935 edition of this outfit for the City Softball League. 'Tis shouted around that Bud Hickey's Clothiers will be tougher to take than a cut in pay, and Dormer's appointment wont do rival managers' headaches much good. Although we still think George should be handling his own Sugar Bowl team again, but he insists the Bowl is now just a place of business. Anyway, the Fashion-Crafts hold their first workout this Saturday at two bells in Central, and everyone wanting a tryout is invited.

A dispatch from Newcastle yesterday said that, at a recent Lakeshore Baseball League reorganization meeting, Raybestos and C.G.E. of Peterborough, along with Cobourg, Port Hope and Bowmanville had signified their intention of entering this intermediate league this year. These officers were elected: President, Orme Gamsby of Orono; vice-prexy, Alf Brown of Port Hope; sec.-treas., Dr. E. F. Stacey of Peterborough. Another meeting will be held in Port Hope Tuesday to draw up the schedule. We're certainly glad to see two local intermediate teams. C.G.E. always field a good squad and Bill Kay—who sacrificed his Raybestos team five years ago in order to get our seniors going—is sure to come back stronger than ever. These teams will take care of a flock of good intermediate players here and provide ex-E.P.I. fans with plenty of good ball.

Arrangements are going right ahead for a Spring series between Smith's Falls and the Petes early in May. Knotty Lee has been in touch with the Canadian Pacific Recreation Club—and the C.P.R. clubs don't fool when it comes to sponsoring sports—in the Falls and has found them more than willing for such a series. Probably three out of five games will be played, if satisfactory guarantees are made, first tussle in Smith's Falls May 6th with return go here May 11th. Both clubs feel these games would be far better than the usual Spring drilling for their players and it's barely possible that the financial possibilities also intrigue them to some extent.

• • • • • • •

Smith's Falls won the championship of the E.O.B.A. last Fall and did their darndest to have the O.B.A.A. winners playoff with them for the all-Ontario title. But 'twas no sale. Needless to say, it would be a feather or four in the caps of the locals should they knock off the Falls in a Spring series. By the way, the locals will be known this year as Johnson Motors—rather than Sea-Horses—and will be sporting smart new uniforms and new red leather windbreakers when the C.O.B.I. schedule opens. The players will begin practising sometime next week.

Coming out of hibernation, the Kingston quill-pusher ups and says: "With hockey and curling finished and with snow still flying, it's pretty hard to get local fans to think of baseball, but just the same they can expect a good season with the Ponies stronger than last year. Vin McQuaide is back in the outfield with Mickey Compean back at shortstop. Bud Clancy, a pretty nifty hurler any time, should solve the pitching problems of the team and it would not be surprising if Speedy St. Louis performed behind the bat this season. St. Louis caught one of the games in Oshawa last season and did a good job of it. Brick Stone will probably be back at first, thereby giving Kingston the same infield they had two years ago when they went to the finals for the Ontario championship."

BOSTON RED SOX TURN BACK YANKEES FOR SECOND TIME

Bishop's Ninth Inning Homer Gives Redmen 4-3 Victory—Gehrig Clouts Homer — Senators Trounce Athletics 4-2 at Washington.

DETROIT TIGERS DROP FIRST GAME TO CHICAGO; REDS TURN TABLES ON PIRATES TO TAKE 7-4 WIN

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Boston, the centre of baseball interest during the winter, apparently has no intention of relinquishing that place now that the 1935 season has acually begun.

When the curtain rose Tuesday it was Babe Ruth and the Braves who held the centre of the stage. Yesterday it was the Red Sox, who indicated in no uncertain terms that they are out to get into the pennant fight and stay there as they turned back the mighty New York Yankees for the second time in succession.

10th Inning Victory

Tangling in a second mound duel, the Red Hose won out 4-3 in the 10th inning after they had escaped a defeat by the slim margin of a ninth-inning homer by Max Bishop. With Charley Ruffing hurling great ball, the Yanks took the lead when they solved Gordon Rhodes' delivery in the seventh. Bishop socked his homer behind a pinch single by Roy Johnson in the ninth to tie the count, then another pinch hitter, old Bing Miller, took over the job and drove in the winning runs after a walk and an error by Lou Gehrig had put runners on second and third.

Gehrig Gets Homer

Gehrig did his best to atone for the misplay when he belted the first of the 50 or more homers he hopes to hit this season after two were out in the last of the 10th but the bases were empty.

The triumph put Boston up at the top of the standing as the only team with two victories. Most of the teams which started the campaign off Tuesday were kept idle by cold weather or rain although belated "openers" were staged at Washington and Detroit with some 45,000 fans turning out to bring the total for this year's first games up to 146,687.

With President Roosevelt on hand to throw out the first ball and remain through the game to bring good luck, Washington's Senators got off to a flying start before 21,000 customers by trouncing the Athletics 4-2. They scored all their runs in the first two innings before "Sugar" Cain and Bill Dietrich settled down to pitch three-hit ball the rest of the way. Jimmie Foxx produced the only Philadelphia runs with an eighth inning homer.

Tigers Lose First Game

Before a crowd of 24,000 the champion Detroit Tigers lost their first game of the rebuilt Chicago White Sox, 7-6 as Zeke Bonura smashed two doubles and a single, starting each of Chicago's three rallies.

Cincinnati Reds, who lost their own opener, gave the Pirates a taste of their own medicine by moving on to Pittsburgh and taking a 7-4 decision before 10,000 opening day fans. Paul Derringer was hit freely but was effective over the route while Chick Hafey and Henry Erickson did some hard hitting, the latter contributing a homer.

GYPSY GIRL

THE STORY OF AN IMPASSIONED ROMANCE

McDONALD FEADER

READ THIS FIRST:

Consuelo, a beautiful gypsy girl, longs to dance with all the world at her feet. In love with her are the Dummy, a deaf mute, and Marcu, both members of her tribe. She has only hate for her mother, Anica, but is extremely fond of her father, Girtza. The father reprimands Anica for her treatment of Consuelo. When Anica finds Consuelo dressed in her own wedding skirt, she beats her with a whip. Marcu rescues the girl and her father then turns the whip on Anica. Consuelo's father slaps her when he catches her trying to hold back money she has made dancing at the county fair.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

It was not quite dusk when Marcu slipped away from camp, but by the time he had reached the fair grounds the lights were already on and the crowds were gathering. He did not stop but walked on into the town and through the crowded streets. He seemed to know his way for he did not hesitate until he came to a side street on the up side of town where it was lonely and deserted. He walked slowly then and glanced around often. No one was on the street. One light was flickering weakly overhead. He edged close to the windows of a little shop and suddenly disappeared.

He stood back in the entrance and glanced about him again. Assured that no one was around he stared down into the show window. His eyes focused upan a large diamond ring. He backed further into the shadow until he was pressing against the door. Instinctively his right hand rested upon the knife hilt hidden under the wide silk belt. Now he drew it forth and stooping dowin inspected the door lock.

His left hand pressed against the latch, the knife blade ready to insert when, to his utter surprise, the latch gave way and the door parted a half inch. He sprang back and hid the knife under his belt and waited. There was no noise. After a moment he pushed the door open a little more. The interior of the shop was quite dark and as far as he could tell, deserted. Again he glanced out into the street. There was no one around.

He pushed the door open further and slipped in, listening intently. He crossed to the window.

His eyes were upon that glittering diamond that rested so insecurely there. He was breathing hard. Now! He reached out.

Something pressed again his ribs.

"Did you want some'ing?" a quiet voice asked.

Marcu drew in his breath and turned around. He stood facing a short little man, a long barreled rifle in his hands. The gypsy's eyes narrowed, his hand rested uneasily upon his belt.

"Yes, I want that diamond!"

* * *

Breathless, applause still ringing in her ears, Consuelo jumped down from the wooden platform into the darkness. Her hands were filled with silver, the pocket in her skirt was heavy. Money—money! She was laughing inside. She wanted to fling the coins into the air and pick them up again. On the last encore they had tried to hit her ankles. Little stinging pricks against her legs. When the dance was over and she was picking up the money one big fellow tossed a silver dollar and it went down the neck of her blouse. How they laughed and she laughed with them. Now she emptied her hands into her pocket and reached for the dollar. It was warm and wet.

Someone brushed against her in the darkness.

"Pretty good dancer, ain't you?" It was the low voice of the sheriff.

She did not answer.

"How about keeping your promise to me? I'll meet you down at the bridge—" He was pushing against her and then his arms were around her and his lips upon her neck.

The girl slid from his clumsy embrace and her hand reached out and slapped him across the face.

"Pig! Dog of a white man!" The words were in Romany.

"Eh? Eh, what's that you say?"

She laughed and ran away quickly.

The lights were friendly now, good things to have about you. She went out the entrance of the fair grounds to join the rest of the band when Marcu called to her. At first she did not see him for he stood in the shadows.

"Consuelo, come here!"

"I have had enough kisses fortonight!"

"I will not kiss you now, I promise. I have something for you."

"A 10-cent bracelet, I suppose," she scoffed, but nevertheless crossed to him. "What is it?"

"I can't show you here. I'll go to the camp. You sneak away from the others and follow in a few minutes—and don't bring that Dummy with you either." Impulsively he placed his hand on her shoulder. "You'll like what I have for you, my dear one." With that he was gone.

Consuelo shrugged her shoulders. She crossed to where Voda stood with the little honey bear. There were a few children around him but most of the people were still inside the fair grounds. Honey came rushing up to her, his funny black eyes beggin, his paws held up. She pulled his ears and boxed his nose and the little bear sat down with a thud and the children laughed.

She seated herself beside Voda on the wooden box and the bear curled up at her feet and closed his black beady eyes.

"He likes you," said Voda.

Consuelo nodded.

Voda leaned closer to her.

"Everybody likes you." He began to play with the money in his pocket. "The gorgios were rich tonight. Honey and I made lots of money. Enough money—here" he held it out in the palm of his hand —"to buy a pair of earrings, or a necklace, or silk for a blouse or a scarf." He placed his free hand over hers. "Enough money here to buy a kiss?"

"No." But she let his hand linger.

"I will have more when the people come out of the fair. Honey is resting, but when they come out I will wake him and make him roll and stick out his pink tongue and dance on his hind feet. I will set him on the box and wrestle and I will let him knock me down and jump on top of me. Oh, how the gorgios will laugh and they will toss their money—lots of money. I will put on a fine show for them and it will all be for you, my black-haired one. Do you think you might spare me a kiss?" His face was very close to hers, his breath upon her cheek.

"Yes. But as she spoke her hand closed over his and grabbing up the silver coins she was off the box and running away.

Voda sprang up and started after her but Honey awoke and seeing his master running, thought it was time to wrestle so reached out and got Voda around the leg and the man went sprawling in the dust.

Far enough away Consuelo stood and laughed at him.

"Lazy one, I said yes. Now you are too late. The moment has passed and all is lost for you, but I have your money and you would have had payment if you had not been so slow, so that is fair enough."

Volda was brushing the dust from his clothes, and the children, although they didn't understand a word of what was being said, were laughing loudly and poking their fingers at the gypsy man.

Voda shook his fist at her.

"Little pig! Thief! Robber! Your kisses would be dry and stale like an old woman's and no hot blooded gypsy wants them. If you come back near me I will take you over my leg and give you a hard beating, little thief!"

"It is all you are good for, big fellow!"

"Liar!"

"Old man! No good for anything! Teaching Honey has made you as simple as he is—a mutt, idiot!"

"Dog of a liar!" Voda screamed at her and shook both his fists but he did not dare leave Honey and chase her and make her take back her spiteful, untrue words. So he was glad that she went down the road and out of his sight.

Almost before she realized it Consuelo was halfway back to the camp. She paused then and made as if to turn and go back into the town but then she thought deep about what Marcu had said. She began to picture jade necklaces and hammered gold earrings and her heart beat faster. Surely it was something nice or he would not have been so mysterious about it. So she went to the camp.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, April 19

Although there is a decided augury of upheaval and change on this day, according to the lunar directions, this abrupt and unforeseen upset in the affairs will be for the benign purpose of bettering the position and interests and should be eventuate in some unexpected success. New projects of importance may be launched and with the friendly aid and encouragement of influential personages. It is a time for pushing for such high goals.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of much progress and profitable achievement, which may involve a decided disruption of current interests, associations and engagements. Unforeseen change in connection with advancing new plans and projects also may be involved.

A child born on this day may be talented, efficient, adventurous and ambitious.

For Saturday, April 20

The planetary configurations governing the affairs of this day are interpreted by the astrologers as bringing many worth while benefits. These may be at the behest of those in places of power and prestige and are likely to partake of the element of chance, speculation, gaming or pure friendship. Such opportunities should be wisely and discreetly manipulated with tendencies to excesses, extravagance and indulgences duly regulated.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year in which there are excellent prospects for promoting the position and increasing the fortune, particularly through the friendship and co-operation of those in places of power. And while there is an element of chance and speculation, yet such propitious prospects should not be imperiled by extravagance or self-indulgence.

A child born on this day may have an extravagant and indulgent disposition, with much popularity.

In his 47 voyages, Captain Abraham Kean, aged 80, commander of the sealing fleet of St. John's, Newfoundland, has caught more than a million seals.

Many a Man

Has escaped a nervous breakdown

It is now becoming generally known,
By word of mouth from one person to another,
That scores of nervous, worried business men
Attribute their escape from nervous collapse
To the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.
Business cares and worries of recent years
Have made men old before their time.
Almost daily you read of prominent men dropping out
In the very prime of life.
Others have survived, because they learned in time
Of a way to restore nerve force to the body.
As a result weak, halting vital organs
Have again assumed their natural functions.
Rest and sleep have become possible,
And mind and body have been restored to normal.
If you find yourself slipping
Ask your friends about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.
In almost every family there is some one
Who has profited by use of this modern restorative.

Our King and Queen on their Silver Jubilee

A Royal Family Reunion in 1922

Today is reproduced one of those rare pictures of the royal family together:—and even this picture omits Prince George, youngest son who is now the Duke of Kent.

The picture was taken in 1922 just after the return of the Prince of Wales from an eight months' tour of India. It shows, LEFT to RIGHT, Queen Mary, the Prince of Wales, King George, Princess Mary. BACK ROW, Prince Henry (Duke of Gloucester), the Duke of York and Viscount Lascelles, husband of Princess Mary.

These years after the war—up until 1925 at least—were years of great trial for the King and Queen. Beset with labor troubles, the Irish situation a puzzle to all government leaders, the question to pacify a growing opposition to British rule in India constituted great worries to his majesty, desirous as he was at all times, to preserve peace and unity among his people. The period of rebuilding after the war years was taking a form that no one could have foreseen or planned for.

But during this period the king was most active; he was in constant touch with his ministers; he made special appeals to the people and personally took action to bring together labor and capital at this time in open conflict.

CURATE NAMED TO ST. JOHN'S

Walter Gilling of Ingersoll Will Succeed the Rev. E. R. James.

GRADATE OF TRINITY.

Formal announcement was today made by Venerable Archdeacon Dr. R. C. Blagrave, rector of St. John's Church of the appointment of Mr. Walter Gilling of Ingersoll as curate here.

Mr. Gilling a recent graduate of Trinity College is to be ordained on Trinity Sunday in Toronto, and is to assume his duties as assistant to the rector of St. John's Church on July 1.

Commenting on his appointment of Mr. Gilling, Archdeacon Blagrave stated: "He is a very fine type of man. I spoke to the provost of Trinity College before I asked his acceptance of the appointment and the provost remarked upon him as being one of the best men out of Trinity College this year. He is a young man of very strong character and devotion, and I shall be delighted to have him."

Mr. Gilling succeeds the Rev. E. R. James, a superannuated clergyman who has served as assistant to the rector at St. John's for five and a half years. Mr. James concludes as assistant at the end of this month.

St. Andrew's W.M.S. Hears Miss L. Esplen

The Easter thank offering meeting of the St. Andrew's United Women's Missionary Society was held in the church parlors on Tuesday afternoon. Miss F. Dixon presided over the meeting, which opened with the call to worship. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. A. Porteous while Mrs. M. A. Kerr made the dedicatory offering prayer. The reports of the various secretaries were read and approved. A short talk on "Jerusalem" was given by Mrs. L. M. Scott. Miss Lillian Esplen, the guest speaker for the occasion, gave a very impressive description of the Passion Play at Oberammergan which she witnessed last year and the splendid manner in which she described this was much appreciated. The music during the meeting was in keeping with the Easter season. Mrs. Ross Williamson sang a well rendered solo, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Radford.

Magistrate's Court

Charles Fife of Hunter street west to-day appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., on an adjourned charge of permitting drunkenness on premises which he occupied as a tenant. Police offered no evidence against the defendant and the case was dismissed.

While chopping wood, sixty-nine-year-old Mrs. Charlotte Edwards, of Westminster, England, ran a splinter into her finger, causing her death.

MILLBROOK

W.A. DELEGATE IS APPOINTED

Will Represent Millbrook Society at Anglican Convention in Toronto.

APRIL MEETING

MILLBROOK, April 18.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Mrs. George and Mrs. D. R. Fowler were joint hostesses for the April meeting of the Anglican W.A., held at their home on Monday at 8 p.m., with the president, Mrs. C. M. Westmacott, in the chair and membership well represented.

Mrs. L. J. Morton read the lesson, and the president took the opening prayers, while among the reports of officers was that of the Dorcas secretary, Mrs. H. J. Russell, who stated that the annual bale is now completed and will be packed and shipped on Friday of this week. This year the bale will be sent to the W.A. house, Toronto, Christ Church, Bailieboro, which has prepared half the outfit required for an Indian boy, while St. Thomas' W.A., Millbrook, has given the other half of clothing, etc., also sending its bale to Toronto. The contents will be re-packed at headquarters in Toronto and sent on to the Blackfoot Indian School in Alberta.

During the business discussion it was decided not to send a delegate to the annual W.A. convention in Toronto, opening on April 26, but to secure reports from the daily press and from individual friends in the Queen City. The raising of sufficient money to meet the year's pledges was discussed at length, and it was decided not to have the usual silver tea in June, but to try out the scheme of a "travelling basket," in which each member puts one new article, takes out one, and places the value in the mite-box included in the contents. Each member also promised to try and raise two dollars as a contribution to the W.A. funds.

The program included the reading of an article on prayer and its value to missionaries "on the firing line," and also a sketch of the life of Mrs. Tilton, of Ottawa, the founder of W.A. work in Canada. This year marks the fiftieth jubilee of the organization of the Anglican Women's Auxiliary, and special celebrations are being arranged for. Mrs. Tilton's memory will always remain green, she passed away a few years since, but her work goes steadily on.

The study book, "Our Goodly Heritage," was completed by Miss Rose Macnamara with an outline of the work at St. Clemens, on the Labrador coast, which has been successfully carried on for many years, and now has three churches, besides schools and a schooner which plys along the coast. This field of service was not shown in the slides covering the book, and recently enjoyed at a public gathering in the parish hall.

The May meeting, the closing one for the current season, will be at the home of Mrs. C. M. Westmacott, when a review of the year's study will be taken up; next year the W.A. will study the work among the Jews in Canada. The hostesses served a dainty lunch during the social hour at the close, and were warmly thanked for their hospitality before the gathering dispersed.

Grace Y.P.S.

Grace Presbyterian Young People's Society held its Easter meeting in the church basement on Monday at 8 p.m., with the social convenor, Miss Jean Bothwell, in the chair, and leading in the worship period.

George McKnight read the lesson and the leader gave an inspiring talk on "From the Cross to the Resurrection," following which a quartette, "The Old Rugged Cross," was sung by Dick and Ed. Williams, A. T. Armstrong and Reg. McKnight.

The Easter atmosphere was further emphasized by the reading, "Taking Christ Down From the Cross," by Ada Peers, and Margaret Armstrong took up the literary theme, giving a vivid word picture of the life of Shelley, with selections from his writings.

The business period brought the decision to hold a progressive crokinole party on Monday, April 22, and to have an open meeting on May 3, with a lecture by Rev. Mr. Trumpour, of Cavan, on his experiences while with the Y.M.C.A. in Mesopotamia during the World War.

A recreational period and the benediction closed an impressive service.

HASTINGS.

Arrangements Made For Easter Bazaar

HASTINGS, April 18.—(Examiner Correspondence.) — The April meeting of the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church was held on Tuesday in the basement of the church with seventeen members attending. The president, Mrs. Henry McMillan, presided, opening the meeting with prayer, followed by Scripture reading and the singing of hymns.

The main business of the meeting was in completing arrangements for the annual Easter bazaar and tea to be held on the usual date (Easter Saturday) in Lynch's hall. Conveners were chosen for the various booths and tables and those chosen were: Candy booth, Misses Jessie Whitred and Kathaleen Skinkle; fish pond, Mrs. S. Spooner; fancy work, Mrs. C. Plant, with assistants; home cooking, Mrs. (Dr.) Wilson and assistants. Two convenors were chosen for each of the four tables for the tea.

The ladies will be very grateful for donations, or assistance of any kind that will help financially towards this event.

APSLEY

SOCIETY CONDUCTS CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

APSLEY, April 18. — (Examiner Correspondence). — The Apsley branch of the Women's Institute held its April meeting at the home of Mrs. Wellington Lane.

The institute has been working with the Council and the health officer to forward the cleaning-up of the village street. A suitable garbage dump has been secured, and signs prohibiting the dumping of garbage elsewhere are to be erected in the near future.

Plans ar being made to have music taught in the schools of this vicinity.

The program committee gave a very favorable report. The outline submitted to the meeting included debates, health talks and many other interesting numbers.

Mrs. Stanley Windsor gave a timely paper on gardening, in which she stressed the value to mankind of the flower garden as well as the vegetable garden.

Mrs. James Downing gave a very interesting summary of current events.

After the conclusion of the meeting Mrs. Lane and assistants served a dainty lunch.

MRS. N. H. WILSON,

MILLBROOK

SOCIETY PROGRAM IS MUCH ENJOYED

St. Andrew's Y.P.S. Entertains Session and Congregation.

MILLBROOK, April 18.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The Young People's Society of St. Andrew's church invited the session and congregation to be its guests at the regular gathering on Monday evening the choir for the worship period being taken by Phyllis Kidd, who gave the talk on "The Triumphal Entry," the lesson having been read by Harold Wainman. Marian Earle issued the "call to worship," and Jean Stinson and Francis Jones sang, "In the Garden," the leader closing the period with prayer.

A piano solo by Beatrice Jones was much enjoyed, and the business period was in charge of the president, Mr. B. B Dawson. Announcement was made that next Monday April 22, Gordon Muspratt, citizenship convenor, will have charge of the meeting, and as a feature of the programs each convenor gave a two-minute talk on the activities of the various departments for which the speaker was responsible. This was one of the most inspiring items of the evening, and gave the guests a clear idea of what the Y.P.S. means to accomplish, and has been accomplishing, during the year.

Mr. E. Denike Pennell, B.A., gave the address on Monday night, his theme, "Method in Madness," being cleverly handled, and holding closely the attention of the listeners. The meeting closed with the recreational hour under the leadership of Ken. Kidd and the hymn, "At Even Ere the Sun Did Set," with a suitable poem read by Phyllis Kidd, and the benediction. The young people expect to have a return visit from the George Street Church Y.P.S. in the near future, and are looking forward to an enjoyable and profitable gathering.

GLASGOW SETS DOUBLE MARKS WITH 2-1 WIN

Rangers Lead All Way to Take Cup Victory From Hamilton Academicals.

87,286 ATTENDANCE.

Arsenal Favored to Win English League Championship For Third Straigt Time.

HAMPDEN PARK, Glasgow, April 20 (C.P. Cable). — Glasgow Rangers, League champions, won the Scottish Football Cup to-day for the ninth time, defeating Hamilton Academicals 2-1 before a crowd of 95,000. The Rangers led at half-time 1-0.

By their victory the Rangers created two records. They already held a wide margin as Cup-holders on eight occasions, while with Celtic they had won the double, the Cup and League championship, on three previous occasions.

Official figures set the attendance at 87,286. A drizzle dampened the ardor of thousands of fans, and when the game started this had developed into a heavy downpour.

The two teams played at a fast pace throughout, but it was not until the second half that Rangers displayed the classy football that has carried them to the top of Scottish football for so many years. Had conditions been as good in the first 45 minutes the game undoubtedly would have gone down as one of the best finals in Scottish Cup history.

GLASGOW, April 20 (C.P. Cable) Only Four games were played in the Scottish League first division to-day and with the championship clinched by Rangers interest centred in relegation-threatened teams.

St. Mirren in 19th position, won 2-1 at home but did not gain any ground; Ayr United, Queen of South and Dunfermline, tied for 17th position, who also registered wins. Ayr visited Motherwell and came through with a 3-2 win and Dunfermline, also away from home defeated Airdrieonians 3-2. Queen of South was host to Albion Rovers and celebrated a 1-0 win.

Almost Certain Winners

LONDON, April 20. (C.P. Cable). Arsenal, great London soccer team, is almost certain of winning the championship of the English League for the third straight time.

The Gunners defeated Huddersfield Town at Highbury 1-0 to-day in the second game of the heavy Easter holiday program that faces all English clubs. While Arsenal were victorious Sunderland, the challengers were held to a 2-2 draw by Birmingham, fighting to avoid relegation to the second division.

Manchester City appear to have slipped out of the contention, the main road squad again going down to defeat at home. To-day Preston North End defeated the City 2-1.

HITLER REJECTS ESTABLISHING NEW 'GUILT LIE'

Indignant Message Sent Abroad is Nazi Chief's Birthday Gift to Himself.

NATION CELEBRATES.

Details of Protest to be Made Public During Day in European Capitals.

By RUDOLF JOSTEN

BERLIN, April 20.—(AP) —An indignant protest to the powers represented in the League of Nations council was Reichsfuehrer Hitler's gift to himself, the nation and the foreign powers today on the occasion of his 46th birthday.

This protest was to be handed by the German ambassadors and ministers to the respective foreign offices at the capitals of the various nations during the course of the day and was to be given out for publication in Germany at 5.30 p.m., Berlin time.

Hitler himself remained most of the morning at the chancellery. A few minutes after eleven o'clock General Werner Von Blomberg, defence minister, visited Derfuehrer to thank him for restoring conscription to the nation. Twenty minutes later an honor company of the Reichswehr (German army) marched by under a youthful chief commander.

The "Guilt Lie"

Although the nature of the protest was withheld in Berlin before its publication, political circles generally expressed the opinion it lays emphasis on the fact Germany rejects the establishment of a new 'guilt lie.'

Not only did the press emphasize Germany's return to militarism as a cause for celebrating, Der Fuehrer's birthday but presents and messages emphasized this idea.

The league of German civil servants raised one million marks which was given to Hitler for "Ertuechtigung," or in other words for military purposes.

The brown-shirted storm troops were reported to have given a squadron of military planes.

Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propagand, told Germany on the leader's birthday "the entire nation loves him because it feels safe in his hands like a child in its mother's arms."

AGED WOMAN IS FOUND IN LAKE

No Inquest in Death of Mrs. Margaret Howden Coroner Decides.

MISSING ALL NIGHT.

An all night search for an aged woman ended shortly after seven o'clock this morning with the recovery of the body of Mrs. Margaret Howden, 75, of 201 Romaine street, from Little Lake near George street government wharf.

Police were notified of the woman's disappearance from home at 8.30 last evening by her daughter-in-law with whom she had been living. The woman's coat was found over a capstan at the wharf, after which police called a rescue squad from the City Fire Department around seven this morning.

The body, almost fully clothed, was discovered by Fireman Orville Wilson in the vicinity of the McDonald Lumber Company's mill, and was removed to Comstock's Funeral Home.

Coroner Dr. Herbert N. Young viewed the remains and declared an inquest would not be held.

Predeceased by her husband, Mrs. Howden is survived by one son, Bert Howden, stated to be living in Haliburton.

PREMIER BENNETT SAILS.

NEW YORK, April 20.— (C.P.) Resting quietly in his cabin aboard the Paris, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett sailed at 11.15 o'cock this morning for England.

He was accompanied to the ship this morning by his sister, Mrs. W. D. Herridge, who is returning to Washington.

May or August?

CARLISLE, Pa., April 20. — (CP)—If you are hoping for fame, consider the month of your birth.

Dr. E. C. Herber of Dickinson college told the Pennsylvania Academy of Science August appears to have produced the largest number of famous persons; May, the least.

The conclusions resulted from a study of 40,000 prominent persons.

LT.-COL. PRINGLE YUKON PIONEER TAKEN BY DEATH

Crusaded as Presbyterian Minister Against Vice Conditions in Mining Camps.

MODERATOR IN 1891.

LOWELL, Mass., April 20 (C.P.)— The death early to-day of Rev. John Pringle, United Church minister, severed a link with pioneer days in the Yukon gold fields and deprived Canada of one of her foremost missionary workers.

Lt.-Col. Pringle died in a hospital here while he was en route to his home in Sydney, N.S., from Bermuda. He was 82 years of age.

Dr. Pringle was a native of Charlottetown. Educated at Prince of Wales College there, Queen's University, Kingston, and Dalhousie University, Halifax, he was ordained as a minister of the Presbyterian Church in Canada at Georgetown, Ont., in 1878.

Crusader Against Vice.

When the Klondyke gold rush began he went to various outposts in the Yukon and became a keen crusader against vice conditions in the early mining camps.

His services were recognized by his election in 1891 as Moderator of Manitoba and the Northwest territory. Dawson, capital of the Yukon, remembered him too for his campaign on behalf of the Good Samaritan Hospital there and the part he played in breaking up lawless and vicious practices in the frontier settlements.

Oshawa Priest Faces Ban From His Church

OSHAWA, April 20. (CP)—Notice of application for an injunction which if granted would prohibit him from holding services in the church, has been served on Rev. A. Sarmatuik, priest of the Greek Catholic Orthodox Church here.

The notice of injunction has brought to a head differences that have existed since three months ago when Father Sarmatuik, as pastor of the Ukrainian Catholic Church here, was notified by Bishop Ladyka of Winnipeg he must separate from his wife and family if he wished to carry on as pastor of the church.

The priest refused and proceeded to establish an independent parish, affiliated with the Ukrainian Greek Catholic Orthodox Church with headquarters in New York City. One of the five plaintiffs in the action is Rev. Olesiw of Hamilton district, representative of Bishop Ladyka.

Thieves recently stole a massive staircase from a house in France, the family awaking next morning marooned on the upper floor.

TORONTO, April 20. (CP).— By an overwhelming majority, the Ontario section of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation to-day refused admission to a delegation from the Ontario Labor Party, by President Arthur Mould of London.

TORONTO, April 20.— (C.P.)— With 200 or more delegates present from the organization's various clubs, branches of the Independent Workers' Association and locals of the United Farmers of Ontario in attendance, the third annual convention of the Ontario section of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation opened here to-day. Mayor James Simpson welcomed the delegates.

Continuance of the economic depression, with trade and industry remaining below normal, was noted by John Mitchell, of Hamilton, in his presidential address.

"There has been increasing activity in the almost panic-stricken efforts to put further restrictions on commerce with the paradoxical aim of improving the economic situation," said Mr. Mitchell.

"Tariff barriers went higher, import restrictions became a more common weapon. The production of wheat, rubber, tin, cotton, coffee and many foodstuffs came under the ban of restriction in most countries of the world."

Five-Year Plan.

The president spoke of a continuance of two interesting experiments in economic reconstruction — the five-year plan in Russia and the National Recory Act in the United States.

While Russia had not fallen victim to the "restriction epidemic," he believed the "much heralded re-

THE FIRST EASTER IN JERUSALEM

"And when the sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of James, and Salome, had brought sweet spices, that they might come and anoint Him. And very early in the morning the first day of the week, they came unto the sepulchre at the rising of the sun.

And they said among themselves, Who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the sepulchre?

And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away: for it was very great.

And entering into the sepulchre, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a long white garment; and they were affrighted.

And he saith unto them, be not affrighted: Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified: He is risen; he is not here; behold the place where they laid Him.

But go your way, tell His disciples and Peter that He goeth before you into Galilee; there ye shall see Him, as He said unto you."— From the gospel of St. Mark, Chapter 16, verses 1-7.

Customs men said Brown disappeared after he had been stopped at the border last night when he was unable to produce a license or registration to operate the automobile he was driving. The car, which he abandoned at the Richford Custom House, officials said, was the property of R. R. Laberge, of Shelburne, Vt., and had been stolen recently in Burlington.

Robbers Strip Cleaners and Dyers Plant, Even Taking the Radio.

MISS $400 IN SAFE.

BELLEVILLE, April 20. (CP).— Three thousand dollars' worth of bright dresses, coats and spring suits were stolen from Sprague's Cleaners and Dyers plant early to-day and more than 200 Belleville Easter paraders will walk to-morrow with an old dress, an old suit or perhaps even a winter overcoat.

In backing a truck up to the front door the robbers removed everything except two coats, a dress, and two suits which they left hanging in the window to prevent suspicion.

They started to carry out the cash register, but dropped it and took the radio instead. They overlooked the safe, which contained more than $400 in cash. This is the third robbery within the last week and city police believe an outside gang is operating, selling the goods in Montreal or Toronto.

Fear 25 Fishermen Lost On Schooner

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., April 20.—(CP Cable).—Twenty-five fishermen aboard the Newfoundland schooner Alsatian, long overdue after a voyage to the Banks, were feared lost to-day.

Shipping men here expressed the conviction the 92-ton Banker had been crushed in the ice off Newfoundland— the same fate which they believed overtook the Gloucester schooner Arthur D. Story a few weeks ago.

No word of the Alsatian has been heard since she sailed from Harbor Breton, Nfld., March 3. She should have been back with her catch two days ago.

Skippered by Captain Lawrence of Bay L'Argent, she carried 22 fishermen, a cook and a boy. All were believed to hail from Newfoundland's Fortune Bay district.

TORONTO, April 20. — Falling fifteen feet down the elevator shaft in the Babayan Building, 34 King Street East, yesterday afternoon, Alan W. Neal, son of Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Following an investigation by Detective John Mimmo, police reported there was an outside door to the elevator shaft on every floor which could be readily opened with jackknife or nail file. Provincial and city authorities were making a further investigation to-ay.

Called From Shaft.

Neal came into the building about 1.45 yesterday afternoon and went to the elevator shaft where keys to offices are kept on holidays. As he was about to enter the elevator, someone called him to his office. Before he returned, the car was taken aloft.

POLICE DRAGNET OUT FOR SLAYER OF W. K. BALDWIN

Stranger Sought After Tragedy at Mill Near Quebec Border.

YOUNG SUSPECT HELD.

Victim, Realtor and Philanthropist One of Best Known Men in Province.

BALDWIN'S MILLS, Que., April 20.—(CP)—As police of two countries sought his slayer, the province of Quebec today mourned the loss of Willis Keith Baldwin, 78, former Liberal member of parliament, realtor, philanthropist and one of the best known men of the eastern townships.

Canadian and United States police searched for a young, short, blue-clad man, a stranger to this district, seen near Mr. Baldwin's store Thursday night, the night of the killing. A youth, believed to have been in the stranger's company part of Thursday afternoon, was held by authorities as a witness for the inquest.

Slugged at Store

Mr. Baldwin was found unconscious, gagged and bound, in the general store he operates here. He died while being taken to his home by relatives and neighbors who, surprised to find the store locked, broken in the door. Sobsequent investigation by Dr. Rosario Fontaine Montreal medico-legal expert, showed Mr. Baldwin had suffered a triple fracture of the skull, apparently from three blows.

He was known to carry large sums of money but none was found. The till had been rifled of a small amount and the telephone wire was cut. The 100-year-old mill which has always been in possession of the family was inherited by Mr. Baldwin from his father, John P. Baldwin, and was destroyed by fire last week.

The fire was believed of incendiary origin as a kerosine tin was found in the ruins. Police speculated as to whether or not there was any connection between the the fire and the killing.

Head of Many Firms

Merchant and lumberman, Mr. Baldwin was born in 1857. After his education at Stanstead College he was with his father's firm from 187 to 1882, later founding W. K. Baldwin Company. He was a director of a large number of companies, including Southern Canada Power Company, Lewis Oil and Refining Corporation, Canadian Glass Products, Limited, and was president of Perth-Pekispar and Mining Company and of Jay Copper and Gold Mining Company, Limited and vice-president of Rouyn Gold Mines Limited. He sat in the Commons from 1917 to 1930 for Stanstead. One of his Philanthropies was the presentation to every child born in the county of a bankbook with an entry of one dollar.

SPEEDIER SAILS TO BE SOUGHT

Inventor Hopes to Enable Windjammers to Compete With Engine Driven Craft.

TEST IN WIND TUNNEL.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., April 20. (AP).—Improvements in sail over age-old rigs, developed through the modern study of aero-dynamics, are envisioned by John Hays Hammond, Jr., noted inventor, as capable of enabling windjammers to compete successfully with steam or diesel propelled vessels.

Working on the theory there has been little noteworthy advance in sail rigs since the development of the schooner rig more than 200 years ago, Hammond announced he planned experiments with two modern inventions, high speed motion pictures, and aviation's laboratory proving ground, the wind tunnel, which he hoped would be productive of faster and more efficient sailing rigs.

The inventor, son of the celebrated mining engineer, disclosed he had purchased a schooner which he would use as a floating laboratory for his experiments. The boat is the Diamantina, sturdy Nova Scotian-built fisherman later turned rum runner. She is 120 feet long, has an auxiliary engine, and ships a crew of six.

I think it will be possible to have more efficient types of sailing craft through experiment in sails in the modern wind-tunnel used for aero-dynamic investigation," he told the Associated Press, "and by using high speed moving pictures to test smoke direction and speed."

Hammond will operate out of Gloucester, making studies of experimental rigs along the coast, and later trying them in heavy gales and various types of winds and seas in other parts of the world.

Jobless Vancouver Band To Try Farming

VANCOUVER, April 20.—(CP)—Leaving the rumble and roar of the city behind, 17 depression-hit city dwellers to-day were embarked on a new adventure—the founding of an agriculture settlement in the fertile farm country of the Salmon River Valley on Vancouver Island.

They left Vancouver yesterday—13 men and four women— aboard the S. S. Chelohsin to join four who left a week ago.

The land to which they are going is ready to crop now and settlers took with them their household effects, tools, implements and livestock. A saw mill already is in the district. Mechanics and carpenters in the group of settlers have agreed to re-open the disused mill to supply lumber for house construction and the government has advanced $500 towards operation of the unit.

FISH and GAME COLUMN

So far as fish conservation is concerned the next few weeks are the most important of the whole year. The maskinonge and bass in the rivers, lakes and stream of this district are beginning to "run," in other words they are spawning.

The removal of these spawning fish from the water at this period means an almost inestimable loss in fish for local waters for the future. The removal of one fish at this time, it has been estimated, means the loss of 10,000 later on.

When the fish are spawning is the heyday for the poacher. His task is easiest then. In fact it is really no task at all. The fish are in the shallows, busily engaged in spawning and all watchless of danger.

The poacher usually takes fish not for his own consumption but to sell. If residents of the district, particularly of the city, would refuse absolutely to purchase these fish that are smuggled into the city and sold at back doors, the poacher would soon stop robbing us of our supply of fish. There would be no money in it for him.

In refusing to buy these fish citizens would not only be obeying the laws of Ontario, but would also be taking a direct and important part in maintaining the supply of fish in local waters.

The fishing in this district annually draws thousands of tourists who spend thousands of dollars with merchants, farmers and at summer resorts. The tourist business is one of Central Ontario's best enterprises. When the fish are gone, the tourists will not return.

THAT DOG QUESTION AGAIN

After a great deal of argument pro and con among hunters and conservationists for several years, the Government has seen fit to again permit the use of dogs for hunting deer. Why the Government took this action it is difficult to explain. In doing so our legislators appear to have lent ear only to a small group of hunters and forgotten the interests in the deer of the province of the citizens at large. As far as we can learn the majority of deer hunters, at least in the district, are opposed to the use of dogs.

Without entering into politics, it seems that the new law limiting the number of dogs to be used to the size of the hunting party is impossible of enforcement. How are the game overseers, upon whom this duty will fall, to check on the number of dogs used by each party. This job will require a Sherlock Holmes.

Deer have increased greatly in number in this district since the law banning the use of dogs in the hunt was put in force. The reason for this increase in deer in this district is easily explained. There are few if any wolves in this district, but further north wolves are plentiful. The deer came into this district as a sort of sanctuary from the wolves. Since dogs were not being used in this district, the deer had nothing to disturb them.

The hunting season usually runs into the breeding season of the deer. It has been proved that does which have been chased by dogs during the breeding season are usually barren that year.

The Government is to be praised for its decision to put a closed season on beaver and curtailing the season's limit for wild ducks and geese.

THE ONLY "COMBING"

As a local game enthusiast remarked yesterday, "It was predicted that the Opposition would go hotly after the scalp of Hon. Harry Nixon and the Government over this dog question. Nothing happened, the Opposition did not raise a voice. The only person who seems to have given Mr. Nixon a combing was our friend Jim Gravestock, and he gave him a dandy."

MORE TROUT SOUGHT

Through the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association a number of applications for trout fry for many local streams have been sent into the Department. Members here are optimistic that the Department will again look kindly on these applications and ship down a quantity of fry to restock streams in this vicinity. While no direct word has been received as to the Department's decision on these applications, it is expected that along about June the fry asked for will be released in the district. For several years now the Department has co-operated fully with the local association in connection with the trout restocking.

Several applications for pheasants have been mailed to the Department by residents of this district. Chris Graham, secretary of the local association, still has a quantity of application forms on hand for those desiring to use them.

DEFENDS CHAMPIONSHIP

Gregory Clark, Toronto newswriter and fine outdoor sportsman, headlines the meeting on Thursday night of the Toronto Anglers' Association. "Greg" has the title of champion liar and in a 15-minute address will endeavor to defend his title against all challengers. He does much of his fishing around Fenelon Falls and 'Cayguon. On Thursday he was in Peterborough getting some interviews with some old-time local athletes.

A CHANCE TO LEARN HOW

Fly and bait-casting fishermen of this district are promised something entertaining and instructive for Saturday afternoon, April 27. A trio of crack casters from Toronto will give a demonstration of this art—for art it is. The three rod wielders who have accepted Chris Graham's invitation to stage the show here are Stanley Howard, one of the best bait-casters of the Queen City, Jack Wade, champion bait-caster, and Fraser Galbraith, an all-round rod man who has held several titles in bygone years.

Fishermen here should not miss the opportunity of improving their skill. Those planning to attend the exhibition should bring their rods so that they can really benefit from the instructions the Toronto masters will give out.

The demonstration will begin at 2.30 in the afternoon. If the weather is fine it will take place on the greensward in front of the armouries, and if it is wet it will be held in the armouries.

SPECIAL OFFICERS

Fred Marshall, fish and game inspector for this district, has a telephone, the number being 378. Any information about infringements of the fish and game laws should be passed on to Inspector Marshall. All fish and game enforcement officers in this district will be particularly busy during the next few weeks endeavoring to protect the spawning fish. Special officers are helping in this work. The Boy Scouts have also volunteered to assist.

APPLY FOR PARTRIDGE

As another example of the constant efforts being put forth by the executive of the association here to increase the supply of fish and game in this district, it can be stated that steps have already been taken to assure a fresh supply of Hungarian partridge to be shipped here in the autumn.

GEESE ON THE WING

Geese have been "honking" over the city for several days. More than a score of these feathered tourists dropped down on the pond at Andrew Dobbin's farm, three miles out the Port Hope highway, for a rest on Thursday afternoon. The geese had a great time playing around in the large pond and their antics attracted many spectators to the spot.

A REMINDER TO BOYS

Surely it is hardly necessary to remind boys of Peterborough and district at this time to refrain from practicing their marksmanship with catapult and air-gun on our recently-arrived song birds. Year by year it seems that our song birds are getting fewer in number. It is a fact that all thoughtful citizens are making every effort to protect them. It might be well for parents to discuss with their children the extreme value of our birds. The Boy Scout movement is doing a worthwhile work in acquainting boys with their responsibilities to our birds.

WANT INFORMATION

Trout fishermen are getting their rods all polished up in readiness for the opening of the season on May 1. The editor of this column has recently received several inquiries concerning the location of streams in this district which have been restocked with trout. For Saturday, April 27, the writer will endeavor to secure this information.

NUDISTS PLAN TO DEFY LAWS

Over Million Adherents of Sun Cult Prepare For Summer Activities.

IN 18 STATES.

NEW YORK, April 20 (A.P.). — Undaunted by threats of restrictive legislation, a million or more practicing nudists in the United States are going ahead with militant plans for the summer season in 18 states, their leader said.

Rev. Ilsley Boone, Baptist minister who is United States spokesman for the International Nudist Conference, said more than 3,000,000 Americans now are supporters of nudism, but that not all of them practice it.

Meantime, he is preparing for tests of the bill passed by the New York legislature prohibiting gatherings of three or more nude persons —in the event that Governor Herbert H. Lehman signs it — and is directing a campaign against a similar measure in Michigan.

The New York legislation would make it a misdemeanor for any person to appear unclothed in the presence of two or more persons of the opposite sex.

The nudist conference now has 51 organizations officially listed with it, almost double the number last year. Nearly all of the organizations have their own secluded camp properties, where members live, discarding clothing he said.

Nearly 3,000,000 pounds of diamonds were transported by air last year from the State mines at Alexander Bay, South Africa, to Cape Town.

BEAUTY BEATEN BY WEST POINT FOOTBALL HERO

Former Follies Girl Accuses Husband of Being Too Handy With "Dukes."

FACE BADLY SWOLLEN.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Lovely Harriet Hagman Sebastian, one-time Follies and Vanities beauty, is nursing a sorely bruised body and tearfully told that she had been kicked for a goal by her ex-football playing husband.

The 24-year-old wife of Lieut. Henry A. Sebastian, a gridiron hero in his West Point days, is in the army hospital on Governors Island, her face puffy, one eye closed, her neck black and blue.

"See that," she said, "and that," indicating bruises. "I'm that way all over my body. But you should have seen me Sunday. My face was like a balloon.

"I'm going to sue for separation. A divorce may come later, but I'll never go back to that man."

At A Dance

The Sebastians and friends had danced and drank cocktails at the Officers' Club, Mrs. Sebastian related. Her husband and his mother took another couple home in their car.

When the lieutenant did not return for her, she went home. She said:

"He was in the bedroom in a stupor. I woke him up and told him, 'Thats no way to act—you should have come for me'."

Whereupon Lieut. Sebastian, 6 feet 1 inch 190 pounds, leaped at Mrs. Sebastian, 5 feet 4 inches, 106 pounds.

She said:

"He gave me a straight arm like he used in football. My head banged the floor with terrific force. He picked me up, then hit me in the chest, neck, legs and stomach. Then he threw me into a chair and beat me again."

Sonny stopped, said his wife, when his mother intervened.

KENTUCKY MAN PREACHES HOUR FROM GALLOWS

Denies Crime—Forces Woman Accuser to Defend Self Before Throng.

1,500 WITNESS SCENE.

Lectures to Youth on Folly of Crime Before Trap is Sprung.

SMITHLAND, Ky., April 20.—(UP)—An amazed, electrified populace that stood in a natural amphitheatre and watched the legal hanging of 22-year-old William Thomas De Boe, last night recounted the fluent words of his sermon on the scaffold.

For nearly an hour—59 minutes to be exact—De Boe, a confessed robber, lectured in emphatic tones to the society that demanded his life for outraging the wife of a Iuka, Kentucky merchant, a crime he denied.

While more than 1,500 spectators from Tennessee, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky crowded the slopes of a hill looking down into the 100 foot enclosure for the scaffold, De Boe poured forth the last reactions of a doomed man.

The crowd was silent when the young white man demanded to know whether his accuser was in the crowd. She was, but she remained silent until De Boe's insistences impelled her to cry out:

"Here I am!"

His first words as he mounted the scaffold in the back of the one story brick Livingston County jail at 5.22 a.m., were:

"Is Mrs. Marjorie Johnson in the crowd?"

Silence answered him. Again he asked, and again silence. Nine times he asked for his accuser. Then she stepped forward.

Accuser Defends Herself.

De Boe, mild, calm, speaking with a southern accent demanded: "Woman, are you satisfied?"

His accuser, flustered and excited, defended herself when De Boe asserted:

"If I had $300 or $500 to give her, she would not have made the charge."

Mrs. Johnson flushed and shouted: "Not for a thousand dollars! Not for a thousand dollars!"

Visibly shaken, the woman yet stood steady and straight as De Boe cried:

"You would, yes, you would, too."

"No I wouldn't either!" she hurled back.

Eyes of the assemblage watched her as she defended herself, quite

AMELIA EARHART OFF TO MEXICO

Plans First Flight Alone By Woman as Good Will Gesture.

CARGO OF AIR MAIL.

BURBANK, Calif., April 20 (A.P.). —Amelia Earhart was blazing a new trail in the skyways to-day on a non-stop flight to Mexico, D.F.—a flight no other woman has made alone before.

The conqueror of both the Pacific and the Atlantic and holder of the United States transcontinental non-stop record for women took off from the Union Air Terminal at 9.55 p.m. last night (12.55 a.m., Saturday, E.S.T.) and headed her big red monoplane for the capital city of the southern republic.

She had hoped to depart unannounced, and in a brief reticent conversation before the take-off, declared there was "nothing sensational about the flight."

After No Record.

"I'm not after any record," she said. "It's just a good-will trip, and I don't think I'm news for the flight."

The flier was bareheaded as usual, as she climbed into the same plane which she used in her Pacific crossing.

Miss Earhart, who carried a cargo of air mail, said she hoped to reach her destination in 12 or 13 hours, and explained she was not seeking to erase the record of Leland Andrews of eight hours and nine minutes, "because I haven't the equipment."

Originally Miss Earhart had planned to follow a direct compass course, 1,700 miles, to the Mexican capital, but after obtaining later weather information she decided to fly down the west coast, possibly as far south as Guadalajara, before swinging east.

Her publisher-husband, George Palmer Putnam, is awaiting her in Mexico.

Janetville

At the regular meeting of the Young People's Society in the United Church on Monday night, the president, Victor Blatherwick, presided. The Scripture reading and comment were given by Miss Edith Jobe and Miss Jean Stinson.

Rev. H. C. Wolfraim gave the society a donation of money from the Twenty Club, which was heartily accepted. It was decided to accept the invitation to visit the Bethany Young People's Society on April 24, when Misses Jean Stinson and Norma Stacey will be in charge of the program.

The following numbers were then enjoyed: Reading, "The Convert," by Miss Edna Robinson; vocal duet, Messrs. Harry Lathan and Carson Howe; violin solo, "Out in the Cold Again," Mr. Frank Russell, accompanied by Miss Bessie Howe.

Rev. H. C. Wolfraim then introduced the guest speaker, Miss Gertrude Pogue, of Reaboro, who is already known to many Janetville people, who are more than interested in the fact that she has dedicated her life to the service of the Master as a missionary in Abyssinia, Africa. Miss Pogue, who has a winning personality and a face which radiates the gospel of Christ, chose her text from Isaiah 6 and Acts 16-6, and gave a vitally interesting address on the subject, "The Vision, the Voice and the Volunteer," and at the close of the meeting answered questions on the route taken to Abyssinia, the climate and location of the country, and the customs, habits and religion of the people.

CAMPBELLFORD

Anglers Preparing For Trout Season

CAMPBELLFORD, April 20 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — With the opening of the trout season only ten days away—fishing for these speckled beauties opens May 1—local followers of Izaak Walton are awaiting impatiently for that great day to come. Brook trout fishing has always been looked upon as the favorite sport of Campbellford fishermen, and it is never a question of how many, but who got the biggest one—last year Frank Bonnycastle and Carl Johnston were runners—but with the low water this year everyone will have to work hard.

In the meantime rods have been brought down from the attic and tackle fully inspected to be in readiness for the start at daybreak.

In fish of the game species it will be found that the female is darker than the male.

The Golden Text

John 11: 25—"I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth on me, though he die, yet shall he live."

Sabbath Message For The Shut-Ins

Written for The Examiner by the Ministers of the City and District.

EASTER GLADNESS.

By REV. J. E. J. MILLYARD of George St. United Church.

St. John 20:20—"Then were the disciples glad, when they saw the Lord."

THEY were glad, to begin with, because one whom death had taken from them had come back again. That was a unique experience; so unique that neither the writer of these lines nor any person who shall read them has ever had it, or ever will have it. Again and again we cry:

"Oh, for the touch of a vanished hand,
And the sound of a voice that is still."

But there is no answer. Our dead do not return. Jesus, however, returned. As the Apostles' Creed says, He "was crucified, dead, and buried," but "the third day He rose again from the dead." And then, when evening had come, and His disciples were gathered together, and "the doors were shut . . . for fear of the Jews," suddenly, in spite of those shut doors, He stood in their midst. And, just as Mary and Martha had been glad when their brother, Lazarus, had been brought back from the tomb, so now they were glad.

They were glad, too, because now they knew that all Jesus had claimed to be, and all they had come to believe Him to be, He was. He had claimed to be, and they had come to believe Him to be, "the Christ, the Son of the living God." But, when He died, their faith was shaken. He had done His best to prepare them for the shock the cross would be to them. But He had only partially succeeded. They were very human. And, when at last the final tragedy was over, and His body lay in Joseph of Arimathaea's tomb, they just could not help asking, "After all, was He the Christ?" Then came the resurrection, and the proof of it in His appearance among them. And every doubt that had arisen concerning Him vanished, and they were glad.

Then again, they were glad because the great cause to which they had committed themselves was now assured of success. It is not necessary to think that at the moment they thoroughly understood what that cause was, and how it was going to be promoted. They didn't. But they did understand that with One as its leader, who had conquered even the grave, they need have no fear of its ultimate issue. They had made very real sacrifices for that cause. And when Jesus died, and His enemies were exultant, proclaiming that He had gone the way of other false Messiahs, they had to face the question of whether they had made their sacrifices in vain, of whether they had given their allegiance to something which had now turned out to be only a mirage. And, until they knew that Jesus was alive again, their answer limped pretty badly. But then it became at once clear and strong in its affirmation that they were in a movement that was certain of victory, and they were glad.

And eventually, if not immediately, they were glad because they had now a new reason for believing in immortality. There are various reasons for believing in immortality. And no doubt some of these reasons had made the disciples of Jesus believers in it before they had anything to do with Him, and further, would have been sufficient to keep them believing in it even if His resurrection had not taken place. But, when that resurrection did take place, it is easy to see that their belief in immortality had now beneath it another foundation altogether from what it had previously had, or ever could have had otherwise. And it is easy to see, too, that, so far as they were concerned, this new foundation was absolutely unshakeable against any assaults of unbelief that could be made against it. And so the first Easter did indeed bring gladness to the disciples of Jesus.

And Christian people to-day share in their gladness. Christmas is a happy occasion. I would not detract to any extent from the joy with which Christian people celebrate it. But Easter, I think, should move them to a greater joy, standing, as it does, for the fact that Jesus came back again from the dead, and thus guaranteed His Messiahship, the triumph of His Kingdom, and life eternal. And so, in no mere formal way, but with profoundest conviction and emotion, a vast multitude will sing to-morrow:

"Christ the Lord is risen to-day:
Alleluia!
Sons of men, and angels, say
Alleluia!
Raise your joys and triumphs high:
Alleluia!
Sing, ye heavens; thou earth reply,
Alleluia!"

The Resurrection

By DEAN O'SULLIVAN.

The feast of Easter is called the Solemnit" of Solemnities and justly so, for all the other feasts of the year depend for their dignity upon it. It is the triumph of our faith, the pledge of our hope and the cause and pattern of our own resurrection to a life of grace.

It is the keystone of the arch of truth. The foundation of faith is the divinity of Jesus Christ. By raising Himself from the dead—and friends and enemies alike bear witness to the truth of His resurrection—He proved that He was God and thus set the seal of His divinity upon all His works. St. Paul grounds the certainty of the Christian faith upon the resurrection. "If Jesus Christ," he says, "be not risen again your faith is vain, for you are yet in your sins. And if in this life only we have hope in Christ we are of all men most miserable. But now Christ is risen from the dead, the first fruits of them that sleep." Christ appealed especially to His resurrection as a proof that He was God, for He foresaw that His divinity would be called into question, that there would be many who would look upon Him as a holy man and great teacher but who would deny that He was the second Person of the Blessed Trinity, and He wished that they should have no excuse for their unbelief.

The resurrection is the pledge of our hope, the hope that we too shall one day rise again with glorified bodies like unto that of the risen Saviour, that hope which Job expressed in these words, "I know that my Redeemer liveth and that on the last day I shall rise out of the earth, and clothed in my flash I shall see my God." The resurrection of Jesus Christ is the cause and pattern of our resurrection. As death came to all men through Adam so all, who are regenerated, live again in Christ. He is the head of that mystical body of which we are the members, and as the members share in the glory of the head so all who are united to Him by charity share in the glory of His resurrection. "If the dead rise not again," says St. Paul, "neither is Christ risen again." But someone will say: How will the dead rise again, or with what manner of body shall they come forth? St. Paul answers him, "Senseless man, that which thou sowest is not quickened except it die first." The grain of wheat which is placed in the ground in springtime must first decay before it springs up to a new life. And this which is accomplished gradually in nature God will accomplish in an instant on the last day. In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, the dead shall rise again, for this corruptible must put on incorruption, this mortal must put on immortality and then shall come to pass the saying that is written. "Death is swallowed up in victory. O death where is thy victory O death where is thy sting?"

This is the glorious hope of all who are loyal to Christ our King, who have risen from the grave of sin and who hearken to the warning of St. Paul, "If you be risen with Christ, seek the things that are above where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. And now let me close with a little pen picture of Easter, which I sketched when I was pastor, not of the newest but of the oldest church in the Diocese.

Easter Sunday morning has dawned at last, and the bright April sunshine is streaming in through the lofty stained glass windows of the old church. The winter is past, the snow is melted and gone, the flowers are appearing, the trees are budding and the voices of the birds are making melody in the land. Nature has burst asunder her cerements and risen and, O, the perversity of men who behold this annual miracle and refuse to believe in the resurrection of its Author!

During the singing of the Gloria as I looked at the altar all bedecked with flowers and lights, the thought came to me: How beautifully the Church imitates the ritual of nature! In the grove on yonder hillside, worship is going on. Nature is offering her tribute to the risen Saviour and singing her grand exultet. In both shrines there is a wonderful similarity in the rubrics. But yesterday, this sanctuary was robed in sombre purple, in keeping with the solemn and mournful dirges in which the Church gives expression to the compunction in the hearts of her children and their compassion for their crucified Saviour. But now all is bright and gay, and grateful mothers have brought palms and lilies roses and carnations, tulips and narcissi to bedeck the throne of Him Who has conquered death and the grave. Likewise yonder grove, a short time ago, was bleak and grey. The earth was wrapped in a mantle of discolored snow and the shrill March winds were sighing a Miserere through the trees. Now it, too, is gay in its new dress of pale green, and mother earth is offering white and pink bouquets of the first spring flowers, whose perfume like incense pervades the warm bright atmosphere around nature's altar. Borrowing from the poet's idea, I see in each of those stately pines that lift their giant arms to pray, the patriarchs of my congregation who have for long years been in their places before the altar; and in the saplings and graceful white birches I see the youths and maidens who are offering to their God the homage of their fresh young hearts. Raising my eyes aloft to the choir I find the completion of my parallel. That exultant note which they have struck finds its counterpart in the paean of praise that is being rendered by the chorus of feathered songsters in yonder trees. The breasts of the little warblers are almost bursting with exultation and I am sure that they are singing "Haec dies quam fecit Dominus: exultemus et laetemur in ea." "This is the day which the Lord hath made; let us rejoice and be glad therein."
